Chapter 14 A Small Favor_1

But just then, Doctor Li exclaimed in astonishment, "The blood! The bleeding has stopped!"

Everyone looked intently, and sure enough, the flow of blood from the chest was gradually getting smaller.

In the end, it stopped completely without a single drop flowing out!

At this scene, everyone present was dumbstruck!

Who on earth is this kid?

The bleeding that even Doctor Li couldn’t stop, this kid managed in just a moment?

Could it be that he is a disciple of Doctor Li, outperforming his master?

While everyone was buzzing with discussion, some recognized Ye Fei’s identity.

"Wait, isn’t this person Ye Fei?"

"The whole of Tianhe City knows about him becoming a son-in-law who lives with his wife’s family..."

But now, the more they recognized Ye Fei, the more shocked they became.

After all, Doctor Li’s and the good-for-nothing’s identities just didn’t match up.

However, what was even more unexpected followed.

After disinfecting his hands, Ye Fei picked up a scalpel nearby and directly cut open the wounded man’s clothing over his chest.

He was going to perform surgery!

"Kid, you... Be careful, that’s our captain!"

The hearts of those soldiers lifted to their throats once again.

Originally, they had no confidence in Ye Fei's ability to perform the task.

But after seeing what Ye Fei was capable of just now, the words they had ready were forcefully swallowed back.

In response, Ye Fei turned a deaf ear.

First, he infused his internal energy into the body of the injured man, protecting the area around his heart and all potential wound sites.

Through this process, Ye Fei also fully understood the severity of the injuries.

All of this, as if he had conducted an X-ray examination on the patient within a few seconds.

Ordinary people would deem it a wild fantasy, but for a master of the medical arts, it was merely trivial.

Then, they saw Ye Fei's hand move quickly with the scalpel, opening up the wound!

Removing the bullet, cleaning the wound, applying medicine, and suturing.

It was done in one go!

All of this might sound slow, but in reality, it took only a few short minutes.

A surgery that seemed incredibly risky to anyone else concluded just like that.

"Is, is that it?"

"No way, it's only been a few minutes, and the surgery is completed and stitched up?"

"Moreover, he cleverly avoided all dangerous areas, without any accidents of bleeding!"

All the medical staff were stunned!

At the same time, their faces were tinged with embarrassment.

Those who prided themselves as scholarly experts on ordinary days, were not as adept as this youngster.

It was truly a disgraceful display!

For a time, many of the doctors who had been hesitant and refused to step forward, started to make excuses to leave the scene.

Only Doctor Li remained, his emotions unsettled for a long time.

He was the closest and had seen the most details!

"If one really had to describe this surgery with words..."

"No, this wasn’t just a surgery, it was magic!"

The more Doctor Li spoke, the more agitated he became, as if he had witnessed the dawn of the future in the medical field.

"Ye, Divine Doctor..."

"Hmm?"

Ye Fei interrupted in time.

"Oh, Mr. Ye, today we owe you a debt of gratitude for saving a life!"

"I, on behalf of the Medical Association, extend to you our highest respect!"

The soldiers who had previously doubted Ye Fei also ran up to him.

Saluting respectfully.

"Brother! We are all blunt men, ignorant of your greatness!"

"Please don’t take to heart what was said just now!"

"We were all worried for our captain!"

To this, Ye Fei simply waved his hand nonchalantly.

"I am a doctor too, I merely did what was my duty."

Upon hearing his words, the soldiers clearly didn’t want to leave and halted Ye Fei once again, saying, "No way!"

"Our captain has always said we should repay kindness!"

"You saved our captain, we must thank you no matter what!"

"Right, exactly!"

As they spoke, Ye Fei’s footsteps, which were about to depart, paused slightly.

He suddenly came up with a brilliant idea.

Considering the attire of these men, they must be from the Daxia Military Department.

That’s the most authoritative department in all of Daxia!

If he could invite these men to sit at that banquet...

"Since that’s the case, I do actually have a small favor to ask."

Ye Fei raised his eyebrows mischievously and shared the details about the birthday banquet.

The soldiers listened, then hesitated.

They were invited to attend a banquet? To show support?

Just that?

"Um, my benefactor, are you sure, it’s just this little thing?"

Ye Fei didn’t respond with words but simply nodded seriously.

The hospital matters were soon settled.

Naturally, Doctor Li was more than happy to discuss further with Ye Fei.

After that.

Because the injured person came from the Military Department and had a special status, everyone was given a gag order about today’s incident, not a whisper leaked out.

But this did not affect Doctor Li’s high regard for Ye Fei.

"Mr. Ye, I hope you will consider joining the Daxia Medical Association!"

"It’s rare to encounter a medical prodigy like you in Daxia, truly a once-in-a-century talent!"

Upon hearing this, Ye Fei just smiled and declined, "Whether I am part of the association or not, I still heal and save people. There’s no need for me to join your association."

"As for your kind thoughts, I take them to heart."

And with that, Ye Fei turned and walked away.

Leaving only Doctor Li alone, silently lamenting.

"A pillar of talent, a true pillar of talent!"

"Not seeking fame, entirely devoted to saving lives."

"That Daxia has such a youth, is a fortune for our country indeed!"
