12: Chapter 12 What the Heck Is This Thing?

Editor: Henyee Translations Ye Qianming's heart was furious, and the Combat Energy around him surged even more fiercely!

The spring water, which had already turned completely transparent, was stirred by the aura around him, swirling like tornadoes rising into the sky!

At this moment, his eyes suddenly narrowed, looking toward a certain spot on the bank.

There, the little thing he had just acquired was missing!

It must have escaped when that woman barged in just now!

Thinking of this, Ye Qianming's eyes instantly squinted.

He had been too angry earlier and failed to notice how that woman had broken through the Universe Energy Array he had set up!

Though he had only casually set up a Sixth-level Array Formation, there shouldn't be anyone in this small place of Dongli Country who could break it!

Remembering how Luo Qingtong had effortlessly left, without any obstruction, Ye Qianming's eyes suddenly darkened.

That woman was indeed not simple.

Whoosh!

He rose from the spring, and a set of clothing appeared silently in the air, instantly wrapping around the man's outrageously perfect body.

The next second, his figure swiftly vanished from the spot.

And where the Green Spring had been, only a huge crater remained.

It was clear that the crater was entirely man-made!

Obviously, this Green Spring was not a natural healing spring at all!

It was a healing place created by the man himself!

Whoosh, whoosh, whoosh!

Luo Qingtong's figure shuttled through the forest.

With her injuries greatly healed and strength restored, she felt much more agile!

"I never thought that spring water would be so powerful!

It healed my injury in an instant!" Luo Qingtong marveled.

But that spring seemed specifically tuned to heal meridian injuries and had no effect on the poison in her eyes.

Could it have been a healing place the man specifically made for himself?

Thinking of this, Luo Qingtong coughed lightly.

It seemed she had not only teased someone and snatched their healing spring, but also seized their personal healing opportunity!

If it were a public spring, Luo Qingtong wouldn't feel anything about it.

Treasure found belongs to those who see it first!

But if it were someone else's exclusive medicine liquid spring, specifically brought for healing, that would be embarrassing!

Oh well, since it's already taken, it's taken!

The man didn't look simple at all; there might not be any chance to encounter him again in the future!

Moreover, if they did meet, and he got into trouble, she could always lend a hand!

With such thoughts, Luo Qingtong instantly felt at ease.

At this moment, she suddenly felt something heavy pulling on the hem of her clothes.

Whoosh, she lifted her hem, and upon seeing it, immediately got a bunch of black lines.

"What is this thing?"

She looked at the Little Fragrant Pig biting onto her clothes and not letting go, speechless.

When did this little thing attach itself to her?

Seeing its tiny, palm-sized body, Luo Qingtong pinched its little tail and hoisted it up.

"Where did you come from, little thing?"

Did you follow me out from that spring?"

She raised an eyebrow.

"Heng Ji!"

The Little Fragrant Pig flailed its four legs, unable to flip over because of her action of holding its tail, constantly flapping about.

Its little appearance looked quite cute and adorable.
