

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 105

Everyone rushed to Spencer and surrounded him with worried eyes.

Spencer casually put one hand in his pocket, with a basketball swiveling on the index finger of the other hand.

“Boss, we were reported about disturbing the neighborhood.” Someone shouted, “This is bullshit!”

“Boss, the police had an inspection here and said that our equipment was not qualified with great safety concerns.” Some members are depressed. “I just can’t understand. What security risks can exist with only a few computers?”

“Spencer, they also found there’s excess methanol in our game room! If this was true, we would’ve had leukemia already. It’s just ridiculous!”

Spencer listened with a calm look. The basketball on the index finger of the other hand was swiveling increasingly quickly.

“Spencer, our club has been closed down. All equipment has been cut off power, and we are asked to leave here within five hours.”

Spencer was not depressed. Instead, he said in a relaxed tone, “Then let’s move out of here.”

Before the club members could recover from his words, Spencer held his basketball and walked toward the club. “Our team is disbanded from then on. Everything has an end. And I am tired of pursuing dreams!”

“Spencer, are you serious?”

“Boss!”

All the club members didn’t believe Spencer and followed him one by one.

“Spencer, did we offend someone?”

“Don’t say it anymore.” Spencer threw the ball. “Just move all of your equipment back.” Then he called a big van to carry the equipment.

Only then did the club members realize Spencer was serious.

“Spencer, I don’t want to leave you!” A club member didn’t want to give up.

“Well, Spencer loves this more than any of us.” Another club member interrupted and whispered, “Something must’ve happened, or he won’t give up like this.”

“We can solve the problem together. Why did he carry the burden alone?”

“What if our enemy is one of the most powerful people in Arkpool City?”

“Do you mean Ivan Marsh did this?”

“I guessed.”

Spencer kept silent in the club, and no one knew what he was thinking.

Soon the big van of the moving company came over.

Everyone was too busy to talk. An hour later, all the core equipment was moved.

Standing in the empty hall, Spencer once again looked around. He would keep everything that happened here in his mind forever.

Spencer chartered a nearby bar and held a farewell party for each club member.

“Drink as much as you like!” Spencer raised his glass. “No one should be sad or cry! Don’t worry. We’ll see each other again. You can train yourselves at home on your own! You are all adults! So, I don’t have to always keep an eye on you!”

Downstairs the building of the Marsh Group, Ivan’s car drove towards the kindergarten.

Ivan had promised the kids that he would take them out to play.

Ivan sat in the back seat of the car. His fine features always distinguished him from the others.

A phone call came in, reporting to Ivan about whatever Spencer did. The person on the other end of the phone even knew that Spencer had moved away from the club and was now drinking with the clubs’ members as well as a few beautiful women.

Ivan hung up the phone with an ugly look on his face.

Spencer attached great importance to his club, but he discards it to fight against Ivan.

Alfie was waiting for Ivan in kindergarten.

He held Diana’s hand and stood at the door, looking out expectantly from time to time.

“Alfie, what if Daddy forgets to come?” Diana looked as lovely as a doll. “Shall I call him?”

“Okay, you can remind him to pick us up.”

Diana took out her cell phone and dialed Ivan’s number. Ivan said he was on his way over and would arrive soon.

Ending the call, the children both waited happily.

A few minutes later, Ivan’s car stopped in front of the children. Ivan opened the door and got out of the car, escorting the children into it.

“Daddy, where are you taking us?!” Alfie was looking forward to the meal.

Diana was also in a good mood. “I want to eat steak, Daddy!”

“Okay,” Ivan said to the driver. “Go to downtown.”

“Okay, Mr. Marsh.”

Meanwhile, Jennifer returned to Emerald Bay, carrying a few bags of ingredients for making the cake.

Seeing the smile on her face, Jordan wanted to say something but stopped, wondering why Jennifer ate with Spencer. Ivan was in anger, and what Jennifer did make him furious.