

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 132

"If she knew it was me, she would directly say no." Jennifer knew, "She doesn't want to see me, let alone like me, but I really want to help her."

"Ten days is a bit short." Rowan frowned, "Let's move in first, and then see if we can get a few more days."

Jennifer put forward her analysis of the situation, "If she doesn't guard against us and let us see the real condition of her body and skin, I don't think it will be a problem. As long as her physical treatment works, the psychological therapy will be easier."

Rowan had never seen Aubree's skin under clothes before. After all, he was a man.

But he had seen her hands. Both were badly burned.

To make the best use of these ten days, they decided to sacrifice their rest time.

The car finally stopped at Kelsington Bay. Their room had been arranged upstairs.

Rowan's bedroom was next to Darcie's, and a large drug research room had been organized too.

The butler and Pippa both came to help carry the medical equipment into the house.

These are all necessary for developing medicine.

On the terrace of the second floor, the safety net looks a bit bizarre to the whole building.

Alfie and Diana squatted in front of a pot of lush plants, peeping at them in the yard, and their eyes fell on the woman wearing a black dress and a black mask.

"Mommy is so cool!"

"Do you think grandma will recognize her?" Diana asked.

"No." Alfie took her hand, "As long as we don't spill the beans, grandma won't be suspicious. And I have a great idea!"

"What?"

"You'll know when we get down there!" Alfie took Diana's hand and led her downstairs.

The servants and the butler helped carry the things upstairs, and the two little guys made way for them on the stairs.

Rowan took Darcie into the living room and Darcie was introducing herself.

"Hello, Madam Aubree, my name is Darcie." Jennifer had done voice acting a few years ago. Although she was not a professional, she had good control of her voice.

Not only did it surprise Rowan, but it almost fooled Alfie and Diana.

What was going on? How did her voice change like that?

Aubree was not particularly thrilled about her arrival.

She size up and down this young girl with a high ponytail, and asked coldly, "Why are you wearing a mask?" It felt like she was mocking her!

"You are worried that we will expose your injury to the public, and I'm also worried that you will expose my appearance." Darcie calmly responded, "I have always been low-key and don't want to draw attention, so you probably won't be able to find my picture on the Internet. I suppose you must have surveillance cameras here."

Aubree's eyes swept over her and then fell on Rowan, "I only give you ten days. Sign the agreement."

Pippa handed out a piece of paper and the agreement was very simple.

Rowan stretched out his hand to take it and Darcie also saw the content above.

The general idea was that they would only be given ten days, and if there was no progress at all, they would be driven out and also have to pay for bringing the emotional damage to Aubree.

Moreover, in these ten days, they were not allowed to leave or take pictures here, nor could they disclose the details of Aubree's injuries in the future. Otherwise, they would be charged for liquidated damages.

"Okay." Darcie took out the pen from her bag, and signed her name readily, "But you also have to cooperate with us. We won't make unreasonable demands. Everything we do is done from a doctor's point of view."

On the stairs, the kids looked at this woman and wondered why she didn't become an actress. She had got the talent!

If it weren't because they knew she was their mother, they wouldn't recognize her!

Aubree was quite condescending, "You should go up and settle down first. Tomorrow is the first day."

Rowan signed the agreement as well and then Pippa took the agreement and brought them upstairs.

The kids came down and they deliberately ignored them, as if they never knew each other!

As he walked downstairs, Alfie said to his smart watch loudly, "Okay, Mommy, I know! We're doing fine at Grandma's!"