

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 149

Catherine felt terrible today when she left Kelsington Bay, unlike last time.

She didn't act composedly and talked about her feelings again in front of Ivan.

At night.

Ivan accompanied his mother to her room and played chess with her, then Aubree said, "Ivan, it's late. You should go to sleep. You still have work to do tomorrow."

"Okay, mom," Ivan replied gently.

He knew that Aubree wouldn't come out anymore so he went to see Alfie and Diana and said to them in a rather low voice, "Mommy wants to see you. You guys wanna see mommy?"

"Yes!"

"I miss mommy so much!"

"Shh!"

They got so excited. They had to pretend to be strangers when they saw each other in the day, which made them feel so bad.

Ivan then took them to Darcie's room.

She locked the door, took off her mask, and pounced to hug them, "My babies!"

"Mommy!"

They also held her. They missed this familiar and warm feeling in their mommy's embrace.

She was satisfied with just a short reunion with her kids.

She caressed their little faces, took them to the couch. As she looked at them, she suddenly found that there was a cavity in Alfie's tooth, "Open your mouth!"

"What's wrong?" Alfie didn't dare to open his mouth with a bad feeling.

She cupped his chin and said, "Open your little mouth. Let mommy see that cavity!"

Alfie turned to look at Ivan and then back at his mommy embarrassedly, opening his mouth.

Jennifer looked into his mouth and her face turned from gentle to serious, "Have you been eating candies and not brushing your teeth correctly?"

"..." Alfie blinked his eyes and wanted to lie but then he realized his mommy was a doctor.

Jennifer then looked at Diana, "Diana, now open your mouth."

Diana was scared and took a look at her daddy and then opened her mouth.

Jennifer glanced at Ivan and then looked into Diana's mouth, and there was a cavity in there, too.

She stood up and stared at Ivan with her hands resting on her hips.

"Daddy didn't buy us the candy, mommy. Don't blame him." Alfie hung onto the corner of her clothes.

Diana held Jennifer, "Mommy, it wasn't daddy."

Now they were closer to daddy after a few days?

"Got any more candies?" Jennifer reached out her hand, "Give me."

Ivan put his hand on his forehead and nodded, "I'll go get it." Then he walked out.

Hey! He just gave in like that!

No more candies for them in the future?!

Daddy was really obedient to mommy!

A few moments later, Ivan came in with a huge bag of candies in his hand and gave it to Jennifer.

"For god's sakes!" Jennifer was angry, "They shouldn't have eaten candies at this age! You are coddling them! That's not good for them! Do you know that?"

"Sorry." Ivan admitted sincerely, "I won't do it again."

What?

Alfie and Diana didn't enjoy this.

How could he be so henpecked as the CEO of the Marsh Group?

Jennifer had confiscated all the candies but it wouldn't affect the relationship between her and the kids.

She held them and asked them about what had happened these days, what they had learned at school, what they had played, what they had eaten, and how did they get along with their grandma.

Seeing the maternal glow exuding from her petite body, Ivan felt happy and peaceful.

It was so lucky for him to marry such a woman.

A smell of roses permeated inside Aubree's bedroom as Pippa just put those flowers in various kinds of vases.

Aubree felt like she was immersed in an ocean of roses.

Indeed, Aubree was in a good mood tonight.