

Surviving in Woman's world as a novel villain.

Chapter 181 179. Let Me Fuck Around

"So Alex, Have you slept with Xin Yan yet?"

The group was going to their destination but the car had a deathly quietness. It was so quiet that if you pay attention you can hear the heartbeats of people present in it.

Grace was worried about her mother, So she was not in the mood to talk, Xiao Bai was tired so she was asleep in Alex's arms, Sandra seeing another woman in Alex's arms was going through her own issue.

Alex figured out that it is best to keep his mouth shut so as not to trigger some Asura field event, So it was Liza who took on herself to fix this quietness, Which she somehow figured will fix by asking the question.

She out of nowhere opened her mouth and threw the bomb of questions in front of everyone. Suddenly everyone's ears were like a cat standing up waiting for his answer.

'Are this unicorn crazy!!!?'

Alex was sweating buckets as he was not at all prepared for this question at all, He looked at Liza, Who had an ignorant look on her not knowing the severity of her own question, She should be just asked as in her eyes Alex can't have anything to do with Xin Yan.

So she unknowingly put Alex for the first time in a situation where he did not have a counter ready for, Which is quite a feat for someone whose all nutrition goes in her boobs making her upper floor quite empty for EQ.

"Ahem Not yet but soon."

Well, Alex helplessly had to answer it. He can't appear as a hypocrite in their eyes. If he is or not it does not matter as long as he controls how people see him, Be will be fine.

"What!!? Are you serious? Xin Yan out of all the people?"

Liza exclaimed as she heard his answer, She genuinely asked that question for fun wanting to tease Alex for praising Xin Yan before by making him embarrassed but she was not ready for his answer.

Unlike Alia, Xin Yan neither has the look nor background that would be able to match Alex, So why did he want to sleep with Xin Yan? She was nowhere near him, Him he wanted to sleep with someone she is right there, Why can't he choose her?

"What people? Please do tell me I too will fuck them given they are women, Real women."

Alex decided to go with the shameless route, He was not able to do it before as there was no existing feeling for him in their hearts before but knowing that they have pretty solid feelings for him, It would be no problem if he did decide to be full shameless.

Not only this way he could be able to sleep with any woman he wants. If he played his cards right these women not only will feel jealous but will even help him. The only problem is that he comes up with the heat of the moment.

Unlike before he planned and went through all the possible reactions and their countermeasures, It is a pure leap of faith, So the odds of this bet working or not much but seeing there is not much loss and gains are too tempting he decided to go it.

"Alex, This is an addiction, A sexual addiction, You need help, Let me help you."

Liza hearing his words went from being angry and jealous to more concerned about his well-being. She looked at and counted how many women she knew of Alex slept with and came to the conclusion that too many, Way above a healthy limit.

So she was concerned about health of Alex, As it's recommended for the average man to only have sex one time with 3 days break in-between as they have too weak physiques to recover the lost energy.

Though being awakened warriors fasten that recovery speed but Alex is just at peak F-Rank warrior, So he should be able to have more sex but not as much as he was currently doing, Which might be very harmful to him.

"Don't need to worry Liza, I am more than good in bed, As for I have an addiction, That is true but in my defence, I would literally die if I don't fuck around."

Alex stopped Liza who wanted to leap forward at him to check his vitals, He because of Golden Kidnely doesn't have as weak a physique as men have in this world, And he also has a beast body, Which also gives him quite some boost in his physiques.

But as he said if he did not fuck around and deal with heroines to cut the wings of protagonists, He will really die, So he has to fuck around to save his ass from getting killed.

"We will talk about that later but first let me check your vitals."

Liza ignored his words as these are default words that every addict says, She was more concerned about his health right now.

"Did you not hear-"

"Alex please let her check, What if there is really something wrong?"

"Yes, Alex let her check, This much sex is really not good for health."

Alex wanted to dismiss Liza's argument as he knows there is nothing wrong with him, He was more concerned about how to twist and turn the facts till the solution will be in his favour.

But he was able to shut down her argument, Grace and Sandra who just paying attention to their discussion spoke up as they both thought that Alex being this horny is not a natural thing.

They do have ulterior motives behind their action but the core thing is that they care about his health and want to make sure nothing is wrong with him, Especially Grace as her mother is in hospital making her more sensitive to things like this one.

"....Okay but after that hear me out."

Alex was speechless as these women turned against him but after giving it a thought, He concluded that it will not hurt to let Liza check him rather it is quite beneficial for him, So he agreed.

"Thank you, Please give me your hand."

Liza go into her doctor mode and spoke to Alex in a relaxed tone as she does with her patients, She was glad that he let her check him as she thinks that his sex rampage of Alex is suicidal.

Now she just had to check how much damage it's done to his body and so she is rightfully able to put him in the hospital away from all those women, So he will not damage himself anymore.

Of course, as a doctor, she knows when, where and how much is good for him, So she is qualified and can be close to him if he "needs" her help with things.

"Huh!!? How is this even possible? No, it's completely defying the physical boundaries of the male body."

But as Liza touched his wrist and ran some techniques to check his body she was shocked to her core. She could not believe what she was sensing in his body, She refused to believe it and like a maniac started to check again and again but the results stayed the same with no change in them.

"What happened? Is everything alright?"

"Yeah, doctor lady, stop freaking out and tell us, What's wrong with him?"

Grace and Sandra become anxious seeing Liza freaking out. They asked but did not get an answer from her as she was non-stop checking Alex making others think if she was losing it or what.

"No-Nothing is wrong with him, Everything is perfect."

Liza finally stopped as she wiped the sweat beads from her forehead. After giving her a moment to calm down she answered them with still shock on her face, She still could not believe what she felt even after all her testing.

She used all in her arsenal to check his fear that she was getting the wrong result but other than a few minor changes all stayed the same, So she had to yield in front of it and accept that as truth.

"How could you expect us to believe that he is alright after your freak out? Come on, spill the beans, We can handle it."

This time Sandra and Grace were in sync as they in worry-filled voices asked Liza, They are on the verge of crying out but they hold back waiting to hear what was wrong with Alex, So they can deal with the issue.

"Did you not hear? I said nothing wrong with him, He is perfectly fine, He is perfectly fine, How is that even possible??"

Liza said slowly as she looked at Alex in shock but unknown to her Alex could see the craziness also present in them as her medical maniac talent was ready to take over her any moment being stimulated by him.

"Now do you understand, That's why you guys should let me fuck around."

Alex ignored their look at Liza as he was not worried about it, Liza has feelings for him above 100, So she will not go as far as to dissect him to see the reason if tells her the reason for it.

Well, there is a reason why it has maniacs in the name.

"??????"

Grace and Sandra were speechless not understanding what was happening, Can anyone explain them? They could not handle this much suspense.

(A/N : What reason do you think he will give them?

Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 182 180. Sex Is A Secret Of My Energy

"Ahem Liza can you please explain what's going on? Why were you acting like that when he is fine? It's not good to hide a medical problem. No matter how bad it is, tell us so we can deal with it together."

Grace calmed down her emotions and asked Liza in a calm but still worry-filled voice, She not showing how much it is affecting but because of her mother, she is currently too sensitive to words like illness.

Fear was creeping through her heart, The fear of losing a loved one was overwhelming her senses, But she is the only sensible one there, Xiao Bai is still a "kid", She did not know who and why Sandra is with them and Liza is not looking much reliable in her eyes, So she had to be the woman to handle the situation and find the way through it.

"Did you not hear when I said everything is perfect with him? What's more, did you need to know? Are you gals stupid or something?"

Liza got annoyed by their repeating the same question over and over. It was already hard for her to accept the fact she came to know right now, Which was contradicting her own medical knowledge she learned all her life.

So she lashed out at them in frustration, She already told them their answer, It's their problem that they do not want to expect, She was not bound to explain to them in detail, She had her own issues to solve here.

"Hey, doctor lady, We are being patient here but that didn't mean we can take anything you throw at us, Forget it we are going to the hospital anyway, We will find Xin Yan Alex was talking g about, She might give her real answer and even solution, At least she should be better than this unreliable one."

Sandra, who was sitting next to Liza too, had enough. She was burning with jealousy and then Liza threw that question out of nowhere and then Alex's answer was like rubbing salt on her fresh wounds.

But then the medical thing came up and that other thought halted. Her all focus shifted to the well-being of Alex, Then the reaction of Liza solidified the belief in her heart that something major was wrong with Alex.

She is ready to pull out those hidden connections of hers, Who she has not connected with for years but she knows they are just one phone call away from her. It's just the mess after reconnecting with them is the issue.

Yet she was ready to take a gamble. There is her old friend in that connection, Who can cure pretty much any illness given that she can identify it. That's why Sandra was so eager to know her problem with Alex, So she could inform her friend so they will come prepared.

So the annoyance of not getting an answer from Liza was quite real, She did not know how much time they are going to come here, So it would be better to contact them as soon as possible but Liza was wasting this precious time by not telling her and so she is harming Alex as a result.

"Lady clerk, That's too much, Liza is also helping Alex, Also remind her why are you here?"

Grace quickly spoke in defence of Liza, No matter what they think about each other or say is their own issue but no one from outside can do that, They have to stay united from outside criticism.

This is what Grace thinks as they have to have at least simple respect for each other if they are going to share one man. It's okay to have rivalry but mutual respect is a must in her eyes for smooth sailing with their relationship.

After all, although the government all-round legalised men having more women, They even encouraged it but that did not mean society had accepted or they got used to that rule yet, many people are opposing it.

Most of them are women but there are also some men also known as pick me up men by the people who are favouring these rules, Not to mention blue pill and WGTOW is a popular thing.

So she was sure that it would not take long till both sides would start to bash their relationship. After all, no matter how careful one is there is always something that offends, especially men supporting multi-relationship rule.

As she thinks those men have an easy life and did not have to face the consequences of their actions, So there is no accountability for them, Which is a thing she will say in front of Alex as she is not stupid.

Though the other side is also not good but because of how bad the opposition is it makes them look like good guys, Which will definitely go to affect them as they had to get used to getting called as a beta woman and Simd(Suckers Idolizing Mediocre Dick).

The last is easy to disprove as Alex's "tool" is nowhere near being called mediocre but rather it is divine, A perfect match made for her, So there is nothing to worry about getting called Simd as it's their fortune they get his attention.

But any woman will be broken if someone calls them Beta, So as emotional support, they need to be together.

"I-I am that- "

"She is a new member of his "harem", He should- no did fucked her, So get used to seeing this annoying fly around us."

Sandra was speechless not knowing how to answer getting called out by Grace. She was shambling words trying to put out a sentence that will define their relationship and her reason for being here but she found that there are no words to describe her situation.

So Liza jumped in but this time with weird excitement in her voice as her eyes wandered in between Alex and Sandra before she spoke to Grace answering her.

This time there was no sourness in her voice but was pure excitement with a crazy look in her eyes, Her medical manic talent finally overcame her will as her curiosity about Alex's condition multiplied thousands of times.

".....That's Sigh That's not important now, Tell us about his condition but in detail please."

Grace was taken aback by Liza's answer, She as response looked up and saw the scarlet blushing face of Sandra who was daring to meet with her eyes, She confirmed that Liza said the truth.

She needed to take a slight break but then she once again went back to being responsible and put the focus back on Alex's condition as that is more important than anything right now.

Sandra was glad that Grace did not ask any questions as she did not know how to answer them. Hearing the last thing she too decided to shut up and hear what the not-so-reliable doctor had to say about Alex.

"Ohh it's nothing much, He is perfectly fine, Do you know what that means? That means there is nothing at all wrong with him."

Liza looked at these two worried women and with a wide smile on her cute face she answered them in excitement waiting to see the astonished look on their faces.

"Wait let me "fix" her."

"You stop here, Liza, you continue."

After hearing their answer from Liza, Sandra could not bear the answer of Liza which was like a stuck disc kept repeating the same thing, So she wanted to smack and beat Liza as any sane person will do when an electronic appliance does not work properly.

But she was held back by Grace making her pretty much lay on her big, comfy, soft twins. She had to say she is for the first time quite jealous of the figure of another woman.

Grace ignores Sandra as she hears weirdness in Liza's words but she wanted to know more about it so she asked Liza to continue talking so she can get to the root of Alex's excessive libido.

"As I said there is nothing wrong with him, Which is not right at all, no one can have a perfectly healthy body, There are always problems in everyone's body, From normal joint pain to Insomnia, Mild headaches or just simple flu, But there is always something going on in the body.

Our body fights 24×7 to keep us alive, Though they might not fight like war but there is always a battle going on in it as the aftermath leaves behind collateral damage to be solved for the next day, Which gives us those mild problems.

But in his case, nothing is going on in it at all, He is 100 percent fine without any damage to be fixed in his body, Do you know what that means? It means his body's immune response is so strong and efficient that it did not give foreign entities time to cause any damage before his body dealt with it.

Also, his healing power is also way beyond the superhuman level of F-Rank, As even if his immunity is strong, His body should have been getting damaged just by simply moving around, And yet there is no damage at all.

So Alex cares to tell me why you are like that, Of course, you only have to tell me as a doctor-patient relationship, You can be assured your secret will be safe with me."

Liza started to blurt out many things as her eyes became crazier and crazier. Her desire to know the reason behind Alex was increasing second by second. It will not be that long till she will completely lose it.

"No need to keep a secret between us, Sex is the secret of my energy."

Alex looked at a trio, the woman one of which had crazy eyes looking at her, While the other two were throwing daggers at the crazy woman for trying to exclude them.

He just takes a simple then just revealed, Now he just has to hope they will buy into it.

(A/N : What do you guys think his "secret" will be?

Also, they removed the cover photo 😊

Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 183 181. No Less Then Miracle

"...."

Silence, A pin drop of silence spread in the car as three sets of eyes with different emotions in them locked on Alex.

They both have a different set of questions in their mind but no one has the courage or guts to ask them fearing those questions might hurt his feelings and make him angry at them.

They might somehow be able to handle his sleeping around but his being angry with them is unbearable. They would not take the risk of offending him because of their curiosity, If he is fine they rather not ask questions.

After all, everyone knows curiosity kills the cat. They did not want to ruin what they have because of their useless curiosity.

"Can you tell me how Sex is your secret? Do you use a dual-cultivation technique or have some weird powers to devour the yin power of a woman, Which you use to strengthen your body or is it something else? Like a genetic mutation that allows you to have this enhanced stamina and libido or-"

"Stop there my cute unicorn, You are not right but also not wrong, A few days ago I found changes in my body, A strong sense of being with another woman crept over me from time to time, It was not the first time it happened with me though, So I ignored it and go with my day.

It's just that feeling did not go away but got stronger and stronger till I could barely hold myself back from turning into a beast and start attacking women in my sight. So I called my sister who after hearing my symptoms asked me to perform some steps, Which I did and find out quite a surprising thing, Which you might also shock you."

Others were able to hold back their curiosity but Liza who was in maniac mode could not. She needed an answer to clench her hunger for knowledge, Especially a medically unique one like Alex's condition.

So she without thinking much asked a barrage of questions to Alex trying to narrow down what might be the cause of Alex's weirdness, And to figure out if she could use that on her men to help with the low libido of other men and hence low birth rates.

Alex, seeing that Liza might go on like this forever throwing darts in the dark expecting to hit the target, decided to interfere as he had given something to her to calm down her curiosity a little.

So he started to tell her his "story" slowly not because of dramatic effects but because he needed a buffer time to create and verify that story to prevent any overlaps in it, He never did this before like this in the heat of the moment but he was 60% sure he could pull this off

After he said so much without saying much, He stopped at the cliffhanger as all stories should stimulate the curiosity of the listener. This way he will make sure they will not look into the story as much as they will into what will happen next.

"What did you find?"

As expected Liza calmed down a little knowing she would get the answers she wanted without having to do research herself but when Alex ended his speech she was once again stimulated by it and was eager to know what he found out.

The other two are no different than her but they were rather better at controlling their emotions than Liza as the world is not so forgiving to them, So they have learned to control their emotions.

But they too are as eager to find out the result of Alex as Liza is, Especially Grace as she was more curious about the world of Alex because it's all new to her. She needs to learn these things to understand Alex and his troubles better.

Snadra on the other hand also needs to know the answer to it but for totally because of the opposite reason. She needs to know the reason for her excessive libido of Alex, So she can be able to figure out ways to lower it.

If she is able to do it then the possibility of Alex being with another woman will lower a lot or might even completely eliminate it, That's her reason as FL for needs to know the result Alex found.

"Well turns out I have special physiques that to related to dual cultivation one, Which is quite strong too and-"

"IMPOSSIBLE!!! Sorry Alex but your result is wrong. You did not have a special physique that is too related to dual cultivation, I might sound sexist but it is very rare for men to have special physiques but it is impossible for them to possess dual cultivation one.

Male body inherently is too weak and simple to get those awakened genes in the first place. It in itself is a rare occurrence and on top of that getting mutation genes needed for a special physique is even harder for males to get but very very rarely in the extreme case, they somehow get it.

But in the last 2500 years of history of our modern world, Not even once have any men had a dual cultivation physique. A weak male body was not able to handle the immense power those physiques store in them.

Even if someone is born with a dual cultivation physique, They will not survive past 24 hours, So you don't have a dual cultivation physique."

Alex decided to reveal the "result" to make some excuses for sleeping around but before he even could go to that part Liza's stern voice stopped him in track, She this time not look cute at all.

Her face was stiff and her voice also became less friendly when she started to talk in a professional voice eliminating any possibility of Alex having a special dual cultivation physique.

Her change in attitude took Alex back. He was not sure what he said triggered her but the information she revealed was also quite scary in itself. He knew this world hates men but to this extent it is still hard to wrap his head around it.

It was still reasonable for a male to have fewer chances of awakening their superpowers as their bodies are weak, So they are less likely to activate those super genes even if those are passed down to them but this thing is going too far.

He can tell that someone purposely targeted dual cultivation physique to prevent men from having them and seeing how low libido and small size of their "tool" have in this world, He was confident that his guess is correct.

As for this world of male protagonists and such for argument, it might not be the case as Alex was thinking it is just too idiotic an argument in his mind to pay any attention to, As for the protagonist this will be a good thing rather than a bad one.

Protagonists and such are not destined to follow these rules thanks to their big daddy up there, So for them, these rules are good as they will make their competitors weak and also make sure that most if not all Heroines will stay virgins.

This might be just a little touch of logic in this wishfuliment novel logic, Which might be the final extent of the logic they can afford to put in.

"Liza, Even though you didn't mean to but it does sound sexist."

"Yeah, Doctor lady, Man is as if not stronger than women."

Alex was thinking about the new revelation here, So the duo in the car took the step to earn some points in the eyes of Alex and said things even they might not believe in.

It's reasonable for someone to lick Alex as that's her nature but Sandra as being proud FL is quite not suited to her nature but then thinks she might be doing this to gain Alex's attention, It's look not that weird anymore.

"I am not being sexist, I was doing this so I can eliminate it to search for the real reason and-"

"You are pointing out the facts, I know that Liza, You don't have to worry about it, and I will not call you sexist for pointing out the facts, But mind checking me just to make sure I really did not have dual cultivation physiques?"

Alex did not think Liza was being sexist, she was a doctor just telling him the actual facts which he agrees with now knowing how this world works, But unknown to her he is a man with the system, So those rules are useless against him.

So he asked her to give him a diagnosis as proof is better than words.

"Also you two, Don't say something against your conscience, It's not so feminine which is not so attractive for men."

Alex stretched his hand towards Liza as he activated his legendary incubus physique he got from Helen then he turned his head towards the two of them as he directly exposed them.

Two women looked down in shame not daring to meet his eyes, While Liza with a smug smile held Alex's wrist and ran her other more powerful searching technique just to make sure as even though she thinks he can't have dual cultivation physique, She had to be sure of it.

After all, there are always exceptions for everything, Alex being this handsome is one of the exceptions, So he might also be in it as well.

"This...Is this real??! How? This is no less than a miracle!!"

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 184 182. Did It On Purpose

Liza holds his wrist as her own spiritual power entered in his body and starts searching for the signs of special physiques in him.

Soon her eyes opened wide in shock as she felt the existence of an extraterrestrial dormant force inside him.

She knows what that force being there means, Alex did not mistake it as this is indeed a sign of a special physique that was strengthening his body in a slow phase.

Now Liza was not able to assess the situation for a while as she was in utter shock. If this body is really a dual cultivation physique then Alex really is a natural miracle.

He will be one of his kind that not only will be paid attention to by the big families but also the military, and governments of other countries and might even force those hidden clans and powerhouses to come out to take a look at him.

'No, I have to make sure.'

Liza but stopped herself from overthinking, If she could not make a mistake in identifying a big thing like this as the consequences of it will not be that forgiving, neither for her nor for Alex.

So she stopped keeping her distance from that power in him and got close to it for further examination. There is still a chance that this is just a normal physique, not a dual cultivation one.

Though it will still going to put Alex out of the ordinary group, But it will not cause too much commotion and she hopes this will be the case as she fears that that old woman with bad intentions will also start to target him.

After all Dual cultivation physiques are natural cauldrons, Even if Alex was ugly those S-Rank women might still try to get their hands on him hoping it will help them in their breakthrough.

Not to mention with his looks, even if someone is not interested in breakthroughs try to get their hands on him, There is still a limit on how long the background of Winchester is able to deter those with motive.

Because if the benefits outweigh the threats then there are many people who hope to get lucky and strike a gold, So she really hopes Alex does not have any dual cultivation physique.

Boom

But that wishful thinking of hers got broken as soon as her spiritual power got near the core of his special physique.

That power core did not have any particular shape it kept changing with the pink aura surrounding it, As it fLiza'sza's spiritual power came near it, It quickly reacted as its tentacle came out and moved towards her power.

Liza too quickly reacted and tried to take back her power but she was too late as those tentacles grappled around her and started to fondle around it like a monster in those cultured animes.

"Argggghh"

Outside Liza unconsciously moaned, It was not sure if not because of pain or something else but her face was becoming red visible to naked eyes, A sweat beads were forming on her smooth white forehead.

Her figure also started to shiver a little, Her breathing hastened a lot as her two bioweapons started to jiggle back and forth completely ignoring the basic rules of gravity.

"Are you okay Liza?"

Alex asked her in a concerned voice as if he was not the cause of her current condition.

The core of special physiques should be divided all around the body not concentrated in a single place, He was the one who used his god-level acting skill to create that in his body.

Liza might have not found out because of her shock, Which he took full advantage of. When she was not prepared, he urged his Legendary Incubus body aura and the results were in front of it.

There is no reason behind this action of his other than just to tease Liza, He decided to have a little fun while he can.

"Yeah, Are you alright Liza?"

"Hey doctor lady, please don't tell me you are stupid enough to provoke the core of it and get a backlash from it."

Grace also became concerned about the sudden change in Liza. She asked in a concerned filled voice, She wanted to help her but she did not know how to do it.

It is all new to her, Even if she heard the stories from her mother, This is a reality, not a fairytale that she always assumes her mother made up, So she still needs little time to adjust to this world-changing event.

It was Sandra who looked at Liza as if she was looking at a mentally retarded person while saying the stuff she did not mean to say because just as she said it she was in shock closing her mouth hurriedly hoping others will not pay attention to her.

Which they did not as Grace's attention was on Liza, While Liza herself going through her trouble but Alex who became curious when he heard her words.

He knows Sandra is FL, So she should have some hidden background and shit like that which did not make much sense if you think about how a powerful family could not be able to find their "lost" daughter?

But even if that were the case, She still would not be able to know this information because of the plot she saw. Her story should be in the initial period, Nothing more than the past 10 chapters.

As a veteran of reading novels, He knows little much that no sane author will give their MC superpowerful background at the start, So there are more secrets about Sandra, He needs to know about.

"Huff Huff Mummm!!"

Alex's attention was grabbed by the now seductive moans of Liza as her legs crossed on each other, Her eyes were still closed, might be trying to do her futile effect of releasing from those tentacles.

She is in Alex's body, Where he controls everything, So she can't escape without Alex's mercy, Which he has given her by taking pity on her.

"Y-you do it on purpose Huff"

Liza after being released from those "slimy" tentacles quickly pulled out her spiritual power out of him, She looked at him with resentment as her face flushed even more in embarrassment.

She is the doctor of both mortals and awakened warriors can tell that's not how core will react at all, He did it on purpose, There is no other possibility.

"Yes, I did it on purpose. After all, you doubt me, I have to give you some punishment but you surprise me. You were able to cut the connection with your spiritual power but you didn't.

Rather you even stay, Which means you enjoyed it, right?"

Alex seamlessly admitted, Why should he not admit it? It will only do good for him if he does.

Plus he also gets a chance to tease her by hitting the two birds with one stone.

"By the way, now you believe me when I say I need to have sex?"

Alex did not let Liza answer as he knows she will say something stupid in embarrassment making herself even more embarrassed, So he took the lead and took the topic back to him.

He actually needs their assistance for a few women, Especially Sandra as her special status in FL makes it very easy for them to deal with other heroines which might be hard to deal with for him.

"Hum, Yes I get it now, Your physique is like a dual edge sword, it makes your body strong when you sleep with other women, Which is a plus point of your body but as price, you live on the borrowed price.

If your body did not get a supplement of Yin energy from women your body started to weaken and use its power to supplement itself, Which will start to weaken your body, Till it will not be able to keep it and collapse.

As for why you have another different women all the time is also simple as each woman has a limited amount of Yin energy, After that they need time to recover it, But if you still sleep with them not only are you still not going to get enough Yin power to survive but also those women because lack of Yin power will fall sick.

The reason why you were getting this horny is also quite simple. It's because of your increase in strength and use of energy, You unlike others do not get your spiritual power from your surroundings to gain power like others but rather get it by having sex.

So the more you use your power the more sex you need to fill that gap. That's why you constantly had the urge to sleep around as you are always low on energy."

Liza looked into Alex's eyes, thought about it for a second of cause and started to say it without taking much break.

After she was finished she puffed her already huge breast proudly to show off how smart she is and was ready to get praise from Alex.

'....Genius!!'

That's how Alex could describe her at this moment but with completely different reasons Liza was proud of.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 185 183. Easy Mode

Alex looked at Liza with lots of love in his eyes. He could not explain how much he started to like her now after saying those words. All he could say was that it was a blessing fallen from high heaven.

He before just wanted to say that his physique forced him to have a strong urge for sex as he thought it would be too obvious if he said that he needs to have sex outright.

Others are easy to handle but FL is like Sandra could not be tricked by him at all with these petty lies as her FL sense will tingle and she will find out he was lying to her.

But if it was said by Liza, A doctor but most importantly a woman that would be a different case as FL tends to believe females more than males, As most of FL is wired like that by the author.

So it's understandable how good Alex is feeling right now. Thanks to her not only is he can able to push Sandra till she could help him with other women but also he did not have to pretend in front of them.

Though he still has to make sure not to do too much so as not to hurt them with his actions, Other than that he is free to do whatever he wants and how many women he adds to the harem.

[Ding! Host, It's my duty to tell you that what she said was not a lie nor it's said by only because of being under the effects of Peach Blossoms eyes, What she is telling has truth in them.

Dual cultivation body work like that, Helen was a case of that lack of sex.]

Alex here was glad that his problems were reduced all but it seems the system did not like him being happy, So it pop-up out of nowhere and dropped a bomb on him.

'WHAT!! I need to have sex or I really die?'

Alex was shocked by this revelation from the system. He thinks that since this is a product of the system it should not have any side effects and the fact that he did not feel any sign of the side effects also solidified his belief.

But then thought that not a single day passed in which he did not sleep with women, So it's likely he just yet to reach the point where the lack of sex signs becomes prominent and starts to show the side effects.

Didn't Helen have to go through decades before she was not able to handle it and fell into a coma? She as an S-rank warrior needed 2 decades for signs to come out.

So he as an F-Rank should at least be able to go on without sex for a week before his body starts to show signs of weakening itself.

[Ding! No Host, You don't have to worry about it because you used [Sex-Copy] skill through the system, So the system took out all the cons out of it and gave you the most suitable one.

Your "Legendary Incubus Body" is free of those restrictions that all Dual cultivation physiques have, It's just you have to make sure to have enough sex or its efficiency of keeping you strong will start to go down.]

The system quickly responded to Alex's question as it can guess that Alex misunderstood itself, After all those rules it says only apply to the normal stuff, not to the ones gotten from the system.

'Wait! If I don't use the system to use Sex-copy skills, I have to deal with the cons of having a Dual cultivation physique?'

Alex calmed down upon hearing the system answer. It's okay for him even if his Incubus body will not efficiently strengthen his body if somehow he is deprived of sex as there is Beastmaster Physique that will help him with it.

But then a question arose in his mind whether if he did not use the system and just used skills as was supposed to be used then didn't that mean he will be at quite a disadvantage?

And if that is the case then why does the system not say anything about it usually, it has a habit of just pop-up and ruining the fun.

[Ding! Yes Host, If you used the skill on your own you had to deal with the cons of it as that's the rule.

The system is an auxiliary thing for the host. If a host uses it then you will get the benefits of it but even if you don't want to use it it's your choice as all the skills, talents, talents and such are already granted to the host.

All can be used without needing the interference of the system but because there is no system interference, System can't fix the problem with the rewards or give additional benefits.

It's all in the host's hands how to use the system. You can use it just to receive rewards and only rewards or use it for additional benefits.]

The system answered Alex's question in detail which Alex could understand and not feel bad about the system as he felt before.

'So using the system is like playing in easy mode?'

Alex was in system space, So did not have to worry about others worrying about him for blanking out as time "slowed" down here, So he asked his final question.

He, unlike before, did not suspect the system, There is no need to as it's completely on him how to use it, He just lucked out because of his laziness that he did not suffer.

As for why the system did not tell him about this before it was easy, He did not even need to ask as he already knew the system would say he did not ask, As a villain he should have asked questions and paid attention.

[Ding! Host, If you want to put it like that then that's the case, It makes it easy and way fewer problems if the system is used than not using it.]

The system was very patient as it explains it to Alex, Alex must know these rules, Though if Alex didn't ask it the system could not have told it to him as it's a system for the villain, not the protagonist.

'Okay, I understand now. Even if it's a system, I should ask a question. Good to know, So be ready to bombard with a question system.'

Alex get what he wanted to hear and decided to do what the system wanted him to do that is ask questions, Though he ask and pay too much attention to others but when it's come to the system he was slacking off, He decided to change that.

[Ding! The host, System is made to give service to you, So it is always happy to help. Ask any question you want if you are authorised to know, You will get an answer.]

The system did not bother with Alex warning it about his questions rather it is more than happy to help as that's the purpose of the system, To serve its host.

Hearing and answering the system, Alex did not talk much as there is a trio around him who needed to be taken care of, So he just closed the system window.

"So you are telling us he will die if he does not have enough sex?"

Even though Alex did experience the change in "time" as he came out of the system space, he still needed to take a second to get used to it but as he just recovered from it, Words of Grace fell on his ears.

He turned around just to see the worry-filled face of Grace as she was in a concerned voice asking Liza, Who herself was quite confused and scared for him.

"Yes, He will literally die if he does not get enough sex. Normally our bodies can handle that Yin Yang balance on their own without needing outside help but when it comes to Dual cultivation physiques that's a different story.

His body is full of Yang energy thanks to his physique hence why he is so much horny, Plus he is an awakened warrior which means he needs more energy than an average person.

And on top of that, He is a man. This means the energy that would have to replenish it by the Qi, Mana or even spiritual power in the air could not be able to do it properly thanks to their low compatibility with men.

So all that void of energy forces him to get that through the reserve of Yin Yang in his body, Which was supposed to be used for nourishment of the body. Which is both good and bad.

Is good because that is one of the purest forms of energy and also not that hostile towards men, So it's easy for them to gain strength but it is also bad because once that energy runs low, A person in the best scenario falls into a deep coma and the worst will then end."

Liza did not hold back as she spilled out all the information she could without hiding anything as any good doctor should but she did this more for selfish reasons, As knowing this fact alone was too much of a responsibility and She could not handle it.

Grace should know as she can see she was better at controlling her emotions than her, even though Grace is a college student and she is the head of a big family.

"....."

The car suddenly becomes silent as no one wants to break the tranquillity as they feel comfort in this comfortable area themselves to tackle the problem.

"Fuck!!! Let me make a call."

Then Sandra, who did not say a word after Liza's reveal, exclaimed as she said to the group.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 186 184. Good Unicorn

Everyone on the call turned towards Sanda with a questioning look on their face not knowing what she was talking about.

Meanwhile, Alex here also was quite anxious, FL leads might be even more unpredictable than a protagonist, He was afraid that Sandra's will to get him for all herself might trigger her halo effect and took the solution out of nowhere.

After all, he can't use logic to judge this species as they too are loved by a world lot, And on top of that in this women-centric world FL might even have more power than they usually do, So his worry was quite valid here.

"Call? Call who? And what for?"

It was Liza who sitting beside her spoke in a suspicious voice like she had an idea of what Sandra wanted to do but needed to confirm it, As it's been not fair if she gave judgement without knowing things.

"I can't say who I am going to call but It was regarding Alex's condition. That person might have a solution for the issue regarding the backlash of dual cultivation physique. There might even be a chance that it will cure his libido and constant urge to get with women."

Sandra without flinching a bit answered Liza, From the moment she heard that Alex had a dual cultivation physique, She started thinking of countermeasures for it.

She did not need to hear the explanation of it as she knew very well what that is and what that thing cost to a person, All she was focused on to "fix" the issue.

First the obvious one was just to take away that physique from Alex but on second guess thinking how painful and even harmful leaving lasting consequences behind not to mention it can also be life threatening to do it, so she rejected it.

The second idea she came up with was to find physiques that are counter to his, Which will nullify each other but again the threat of one being overpowered creates imbalance and destroys his body with a blast, So she had to reject it.

The third one was to find some counter medicine or blockers but that will still harm him as a by-product, So this idea was also rejected by her.

She was running out of ideas but she also did not want to accept the fact that she had to share Alex with any other women at all. She can ignore his past as it's given a reasonable reason for it.

But she can't watch him in someone else's arms or say someone in his arms, Sandra thought that as she with jealousy and anger looked at Xiao Bai sleeping on Alex's lap without any worry or shame.

She could not bear it, She knew she could not blame Alex for it as he already told her everything about him and they had yet to have any proper relationship but she can put all the blame on women who like bees always surround him.

Sandra didn't want any more women around him to grow, She had yet to know about Alia and how to deal with her, She didn't want any trouble popping up, While she was trying to make Alex all for herself.

So she decided to call that person. She knew even if others could not find the solution to it, That person would definitely have it. That's why she wanted to make a call to deal with this issue as soon as possible.

"Are you stupid or do you want to harm Alex? I can forgive your ignorance but if you want to harm him that would not be forgiven by me, So choose your words wisely."

Liza snapped at Sandra confirming it was like she thought, She knew the severity of the situation. If this news got out then even if Belladonna, A living nightmare interferes she can't guarantee she could keep Alex safe.

That's how important dual cultivation physiques that too in man have it for those hidden forces, After all in the modern era there was no man born with it until now.

So there definitely will be commotion about it, Now only that but also Alex's physique grade is not low, Though she could not tell which grade it should be but given that how much power it has it is now low graded at all.

So for Alex's safety, it's best not to let this thing out of this car. Actually an ideal solution will be to just cut grass and roots here, To make sure this thing will not leak out but she knew Alex will not allow it.

That's why these people are still alive, But Liza is still concerned about Sandra as she did not like her for some reason as if she encountered her natural enemy, So she was on guard against her.

As for Grace, she did not care about it because she got to know her, And can tell she will literally do anything for him, Normally she should have been called Simd. It's come to Alex. It seems all logical.

"Are you threatening me? Because trust me you don't want to be on my bad side."

Sandra, hearing the "question" of Liza, also snapped at her and answered back with the same energy.

She hates it when someone thinks so highly of themselves and looks down on her. She is disgusted by people like them, So she makes sure to teach them a lesson.

It's just that she can't be as willful to this doctor lady as she can with anyone, Plus Sandra does agree with Liza that this information should not go outside this car as it's just going to bring lots of trouble, especially with women for Alex.

So she did not want to do too much as at the end of the day they both wanted the same thing the safety of Alex. It's just the way Liza said she did not like it as in her eyes Liza should not have much strength to back up her claim, It's just felt like boosting of Liza for her.

Also, Liza said this in front of Alex, She can't appear weak in front of him, She did not want to lose respect in his eyes for her.

"Ohh, Quite a big word of those but are you able to back those up as a simple clerk? Don't try to swallow something bigger than your mouth."

Liza too understood what was happening here, Both did not want to look weak in front of Alex, Though Liza failed to realise that the Lolita dress she was wearing can make her cute not fierce.

But that's just even more point for her in Alex's mind, As he lovingly looked at her, He didn't know that this unicorn can be this useful, He here was a running gears in his mind trying to think of the ways to prevent Sandra from making a call but Liza successfully do it for him.

Not only that he did not even risk being caught in a lie by FL, So it's not an understatement to say that like her, If she always is this good then he will definitely reward her with something good.

"You-!! That's it, I am making a call-."

"Shut up both of you, It's not all about you, Also Sandra it's best not to call anyone until I consult this with my mother, There are also questions in my mind about why did you know about this stuff but that will be asked later as we reached to hospital, Now get out out the car."

Seeing that if he did not interfere they might go on and on for hours, Alex had to interfere. He said to them in a stern voice as he reminded them that the car has been stopped in the parking lot of the hospital for a few minutes now.

"Alex the"

"Get out of the car, We will discuss it later."

Sandra was taken aback and then realised she was saying stuff that she as a normal clerk should have no way of knowing at all, She panicked and wanted to explain it to him fearing he would misunderstand her.

But Alex did not give her a chance as he with the void of any emotions said to her while not giving any indications of his current mood, Which was enough to calm down Sandra in fear and she decided to keep her mouth shut.

"Hum, You are lucky he stopped me. Let's go I also wanted to check on Ms. Smith's condition."

Liza gloated on Sandra convinced that she had won the argument, Sandra did not reply to her fearing it would anger Alex, So Liza felt she admitted defeat, Which put her in a good mood as she was too ready to get out of the car.

"You wait, Grace and Sandra, You two please step out of the car for a second, I want to talk with my doctor in private."

Alex, seeing Liza wanting to leave the car, stopped her as he asked two women to give them a space.

"Okay, We wait near the elevator."

Grace was the one who spoke while Sandra didn't have the courage to even meet with his eye, So Grace thought it was reasonable he should have some questions that he might feel odd asking in front of them, So he asked for a private space.

So after getting out of the car and closing the door she and Sandra walked towards the elevator while worrying about her mother and Alex.

"What do you want to ask me? I am happy to hel- Mummahh!!!!"

Liza waited for two of them to go away even though the windows of this car were tinted and is semi-soundproof, But just for his privacy she only decided to ask him when they were not in sight.

But as she was talking her eyes shot open as her lips got sealed making her unable to talk.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊)

Chapter 187 185. Bully Loli (Light R-18)

"Mumm!~ Ahhh~"

Slightly suppressed moans were reverting in the car, As Liza trying to figure out what was happening right now.

She was talking to Alex worried that he would be scared as who is not afraid of death? Even though he will be safe as long as he is having sex but it is still borrowed time.

As a doctor, she knew how to initially deal with it till she could send them to professionals to get proper help to accept and deal with it, So she was ready to have some proper talk with him.

She now also feels guilty that she had blamed him for sleeping around and ignoring her. Poor him could not control himself and for fear of Belladonna hurting her, He did not decide to get close to her.

After all, Belladonna will not care about little flies around him but if someone with the same family standing decided to compete with her for him then she will not sit ideally as it's like slapping her in the face.

So in her eyes, Alex decided to ignore her in good faith, And yet she blamed him and lashed out, Which guilt eating her inside out. That's why she was ready to bear whatever he wanted to say to her.

Even if he is ready to blame her, call her a liar and such for giving him this diagnosis, She was ready for his outbursts as it was his habit she knows, Which she hates and loves the most.

Because he only shows outbursts in front of the people who are close to him, He used to do it when he was little and now she was ready to handle it with determination to make him accept it.

And yet even after all those thoughts, She was not prepared for what was happening right now, Her brain froze, not being able to process what event was unfolding in front of her eyes.

This time the only most prominent thing was the pleasure, The immense pleasure running throughout her whole being and soul. This overwhelming did not help it as it made her brain even more confused.

She is like a pretty doll just letting things happen without any intention of trying to resist it. This feeling is alien to her but she likes it. The warm wet sensation on her lips was flaming an unknown fire in her heart.

Though her brain was frozen, But that didn't stop her instincts as soon her body started to react and become proactive. She unconsciously wrapped her white slender hand around the man in front of her as she pulled him even closer to her.

Her body also moved forward making her two bioweapons stick to his body as her mouth which was being violated by soft slender lips and one naughty dexterous tongue were dominating her.

She did not like this one-sided battle, So she decided to counter it with her own tiny pink one but to utter disbelief she was not able to do anything as that naughty tongue of his started bullying her small one.

It started to warp and coil around hers as if it was trying to knot them together but this entanglement even though still being dominated was loved by her as each interaction of theirs sent a current of pleasure like a wave throughout her body.

She did not know what was happening, Why or even how this was happening but she at this point did not care. Rather she was in no condition to care, Right now she just wanted to drown herself in this vast sea of pleasure in front of her.

Her body felt like it was set on fire, While her nether region was trying to extinguish this burning by trying to use waterworks but it just only made her itchy down there, It did not help with this fire.

But she rather likes to get burned in this fire of ecstasy than to stay in the cold world without experiencing this extent of pleasure.

"Huff Huff"

But as she was reaching, Just as she was about to try and extinguish this wildfire with the tsunami of hers, That naughty tongue stopped being naughty as it reacted back.

The sudden loss of that wet warm slippery thing nearly broke her heart but then even the soft petal-like lips lost their bondage as they got free from the "trap" of those two warm soft things.

Liza was breathing quickly, Her whole body was flushed in an intoxicating hue of red like am fine wine, The Lolita dress of hers showing off the fortune of her body as it was proudly there to be appreciated by him.

Right now this loli with a look of resentment, unwilling and wanting to look at him, Seeing this sight can make anyone guilty of whatever they do to make her look like this, Alex is also one of those people.

"This is your reward for being a good girl, If you keep this up, You might be even rewarded further than this."

Alex's body was bending towards Liza because of his seating position. After he broke their kiss he did not immediately go back as he ran his index finger on her well-carved face admiring the work of art.

Have to say, Even though she is supposed to be Loli and is just there in the plot to appease a few people, she has been paid quite an attention by that dumbass author.

Her golden blond hair looks like a thread of gold put on her head, Then there was her milky white elastic skin that was without any blemishes, Her wide smooth forehead, Which was added to her intelligent beauty module.

Just below that to show off her charm was a twin crescent shaped eyebrow, Her lotus-like eyelid which covered her full moon-like beautiful eyes, her tall slender nose bridge, Her rosy cheeks and then there were those two candy like sweet lips.

Which he was souring a few seconds ago, And he was not exaggerating as those lips were really sweet. He doesn't know the reason. Maybe she had eaten something sweet as she has a sweet tooth or it might be her inherent special trait of being a heroine.

Either the case she tasted so sweet that he was on the verge of forgetting there is that pickle jar Sandra waiting for them to turn this loli finally into a woman in her 40s.

But he had to stop as it's not good for anyone to make FL jealous, It's like a dual-edged sword. Very useful against any other heroine he might be going to have a problem with because of their unique halo.

But if he did not handle it carefully, Her plus point, Her FL is the one which will create the biggest trouble for him, So he had to stop. It's okay to give these "rewards" to her slowly as there is also the threat of Belladonna.

It would be great if this motivated her to be like this for a while. If that's the case then it will be great and he will give her deserved rewards with an open heart.

"That...Th-Thank you?"

Liza's brain finally came online, She has yet to let this thing sink in but she was rather confused about what she did to deserve this reward, She has no idea what she did to make him this happy.

If she knows then doesn't that mean she can receive rewards like this more often, even great it might even go to the next level, So she badly wanted to know about it.

It's just she could not outright ask that to him, Which will make him know whatever she did that made him happy was she done by accident and not trying to be a good girl in his mouth, Which she definitely did not want to happen at all.

"Tonight you will get my promised treat at my dormitory, And if I am in a good mood might even more, If you know what I mean hehe, Let's go don't let them wait too long."

Alex finally pulled back after admiring her beauty for a while as he said it to her, Yes there is indeed an ulterior motive behind this action but which action of his did not have an ulterior motive? But he this time is also going to make sure she too is happy for a while.

She helped him today quite a lot, She single-handedly kept FL at bay, Which is a feat even he is going to have a hard time recreating. So she deserved to be rewarded for her accomplishments.

After he said that he did not wait for her answer, He opened the door and walked out of the then headed straight towards the elevator with sleeping Xiao Bai in his arms.

"Come on Alex, the elevator is here."

Seeing Alex come out of the car and to them, Grace did not ask anything about his conversation with Liza, She just pressed the button and opened the elevator door for them to go to the 3rd floor.

"Sorry, We will not take the elevator, We will take the stairs as they are good for my heart."

Alex did not even spare a glance at the elevator as he quickly walked past it to the stairs. He did not forget about the "thing" he saw in it yesterday, So it will be some time till he is ready to take the elevator.

"Hey wait for me Huff Don't go without me."

Grace was confused about Alex's reaction as he hates stairs but before she could ask Liza to get out of the car and come running to them thinking they were going without her.

"We are not taking the elevator, Alex said it's good for the heart to take the stairs."

Grace looked at huffing Liza who was glad she made it in time and was about to enter the elevator.

"Well..Yeah, it's good for the heart to take a stairs for the heart but can't we take the elevator, Alex? Today I have a little problem walking those stairs."

Liza agreed to have Alex take the stairs but after what she had experienced in the car, Her legs are a little wobbly which is not suited for walking on the stairs.

"sorry now because- "

Bang

Alex understands what Liza wanted to talk about but he was not able to go into that elevator at all, As he was about to explain it a loud bang was heard from the elevator, Which grabbed Alex's attention.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 188 186. Selfish Wish

Alex in fear looked towards the elevator already ready to bolt the second he felt sometimes fishy even though S-Rank was lying in his arms.

He really did not like this feeling of the unknown, He was sure whatever that thing is-

[Ding! Ghost, That is Ghost host.]

Anyways Alex ignored the system like always as he was sure whatever that thing is after him, He had no idea if it is hostile to him or not, So he did not want to deal with it.

He has an SS-rank fire skill which is the weakness of this dweller in the dark but that does not guarantee his safety. That "thing" might be immune to fire, He can't take chances.

"What was that sound? Is everything alright here?"

Liza poked her in the elevator trying to see a d figure out what made that loud sound without any fear, As she is a woman of science even though she knew the supernatural exist in this world. She had yet to encounter it.

So her first thought was that something had fallen in it or some gears might have problems. If that is the case he wanted to see and report it to the management to avoid any accidents.

So she carefully searched the elevator trying to figure out if everything was alright. She even contemplated making a call to management and reporting it just to make sure.

"Didn't elevators often make sounds like this? The one in my apartment complex also made sounds like this one."

Grace was confused seeing her reaction to Liza, For her it's common for elevators to make some noises as the one in her building makes those sounds and she is used to it.

That's why it was weird to her that why Liza was paying this much attention to it as it's not that big of a deal in her eyes, She rather than wasting time here wanting to go to her mother to check on her.

"No they don't, What kinda elevators do you have in your building?"

Liza turned back to look at Grace in confusion and asked, She had never in her life gone into those old elevators, So she didn't know that those exist that's why she was genuinely curious about it.

"Well, It's quite old."

Grace was embarrassed to answer her, Though she never cared about her being born into a poor family but in front of Alex, who definitely has a strong background she subconsciously feels inferior.

Which is why she rather not say it, She should work hard and earn enough to be worthy of him.

"No, what I mean-"

"Enough about the elevator, Xiao bai looks light but she is quite heavy- Ouch What I mean is that it's hard for me to hold this cute girl for much time, So come quickly we should get going.

If you want Liza, You can hop on my back, Anyway it's easy to manage your weight as it is quite concentrated in one or rather two places."

Alex did not want to stay here any longer as his instincts were warning him of the approaching danger, Though he was not sure if that thing is dangerous or not but because he did not know, He will look at it as if it is dangerous.

So he quickly called those women who were arguing for no reason and was ready to leave. It's just as he was saying he did not think of his words and misspoke.

As he did that, Little cat cum tigress did not like it as she showed her dissatisfaction by biting his shoulder lightly. Yes of course she was not really asleep, It was an act as she was just greedy for the warmth of his body.

Alex knows that from the beginning but he let her be, Then he puts his attention to Liza. She said before that it will be hard for her to walk on the stairs, Which is not totally because of her wobbly legs.

He guesses that she is embarrassed because of her wet panties. She was afraid of others finding it out. That's why he purpose her to hop on his back as he knew she would not be going to do it.

Not only because she will not allow being carried by him as a woman but also because doing that will expose her soaked panties. If she outright denies then he will prove his hypothesis.

"N-no no, that's okay. I am feeling quite good now, Let's go I need to check on Ms. Smith."

Liza's face quickly changed upon hearing his words as she rumbled through words and answered him as quickly as possible to deny his offer, Then she quickly walked towards Alex and walked past him in a hurry as if she really was quite concerned about Gloria.

Alex shook his head confirming he was right, But did not say anything to tease her, This ammunition will be used on for later, So he looked at the duo near the elevator and gestured them to follow him as he too started to move towards the 3rd floor.

"Sigh Don't be afraid. If you are just honest with him, He might let it go. If he is still angry, Just do what he likes that's usually calm his anger down."

Grace looked at silent Sandra standing beside her, bowing her head down not daring to look at Alex, she felt pity for her and suggested the solution but as Grace did that she was shocked herself.

She questioned herself of why she was giving advice to this woman who might have an ulterior motive behind approaching Alex. She was supposed to put as much distance between them as possible so as not to give this woman any information that might hurt him.

But here she was giadviseder even though it might potentially hurt Alex, This made her angry with herself. She decided to walk away from her as it was not good to be close to her.

"Thank you, Any idea why he likes it?"

Sandra quickly lifted her head and looked at Grace with hope in her eyes. She was fearing that Alex should have misunderstood her, Which she understands as she does look suspicious in his eyes as she knows too much.

She was thinking about how to convince him and prove her innocence without revealing much as it will not be good for him to know too much, So when Grace said there is a way, She was desperate to grab that hope and any cost.

She even thought this Grace was not that bad. She might even let her stay close to Alex, not too close but did not need to push her out of his life.

"Do you have a mother?"

Grace surprised herself as she, who was ready to stay away from Sandra, stopped and asked her a question. She did not know why she did that but she just felt quite pity for her and then there was an urge to help that forced her to do it.

She was not sure how she wasn't able to control her emotions, she is not a slave to her emotions expectation being when it comes to Alex, It was really strange but she still just couldn't look away from Sandra's face and not help her.

So she asked the most important question, Which will decide the difficulty of her appeasing Alex. After all, she experienced it first-hand. She now just prays Sandra should have no mother.

Which on the paper sounds worse, Well even in actuality it is worse but she just can't help it, This woman is too dangerous as she now finds out, That cute simple face of hers can't be taken lightly.

She did not have any problem accepting new members in this harem but given that new members are not a threat, Which Sandra obviously is, There is a strong feeling in her heart that she did not like other women around Alex.

Though there was no solid proof but it was a strong gut feeling of hers and the way she was somehow able to make her this way, Grace was afraid that if she could convince Alex then he would not be with her anymore.

So for once, she wanted something selfish, She just hopes as this being her first selfish wish will be fulfilled.

"Mother? I have it but we don't have a good relationship with each other. Why did you ask?"

Sandra was not sure what turmoil caused in Grace's heart, She was just taken aback by her question but still, because of hope, She looked at her and answered.

If there is anything she can do to get his forgiveness or just understanding, She is ready to do it.

"Ohh, I suggest you improve your relationship with her. Then come to me to get your answer. For now, I have to go and see my mother."

Grace was disappointed at first hearing her answer but as she heard later she was quite glad. It's bad to be happy about someone else's misery but this was a rare instance where it's okay for her.

So Grace with a smug smile walked towards the stairs as she was also concerned about her mother.

Sandra left her confused but seeing Grace walking away, She decided to do what she said and try to fix her relationship with her mother. After that, she too followed behind her.

"Nooooo!~"

When everyone left there was a loud howl like a wild beast roaring in agony but no one was present there to hear it.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 189 187. Code Blue

Shiver

Alex was walking on the stairs and suddenly shivered out of nowhere. His body felt cold and he broke out in cold sweat. He slowly makes sure others do not find out about his abnormality turned towards the elevator direction.

'What was that?'

He could not help but say that to himself, This feeling came out of nowhere making him feel cold all over his body, This is a strange phenomenon and definitely a supernatural one.

Before he could ignore it as body sometimes does that shit but he is not normal nor people around him are, So he was sure there was something amiss going on.

The first suspect of his is definitely two plagues walking in this city, A rare specimen named Protagonist but thinking how he handles both of them they should not be in a condition to do anything.

So another one will definitely will his dear fiancé Belladonna, She might be pulling strings in the dark as this is all just game to her, There is a high chance she was doing this to spice up things.

But Alex did not; it might be the case as though it seems logical for her to do this. She is the kind of person who would rather like to do it personally and watch as her prayer struggles in the net she weaved than to be standing far and shooting her shots.

That's why he was so nervous about that "thing" dwelling in the elevator, He was sure that thing was targeting him. There was no proof of it but his instincts were yelling at if that was the case.

"You okay?"

A soft sleepish voice came from his arms making him halt his thoughts. He looked at his little cat still pretending to be asleep even though she asked him a question.

He shook his head and ignored it as if he fell for her "trick", she might have had a sense of his worry and nervousness, So she became alert and asked him, which is quite big of a deal considering how much she loves to stay in his arms.

She risked all that fearing he might be in trouble, Which is a way more maturity one expects from 1 day old, So he just patted her head with his hand close to her head.

"I am okay, It's just futile worry."

Alex said as he sped up his pace, Well it was time to meet that Milf he was eager to meet for quite some time. After all, Gloria was supposed to be his first milf but then came Helen and then Isabella out of nowhere and he did not pay much attention to her.

And now that he has a chance he wanted to establish and finalise the connection with her, Gloria is also not a simple woman like every other heroine, She has her own secrets, Few of them not even revealed in the plot till the end.

It was either because the author wanted to keep that sense of mystery around her for the sequel or he just forgot about it. He believes it's the latter as that stupid author not only did not create a sequel but most of the time forgot even her name.

So Alex is really curious to see women ignored and forgotten by authors just like Helen.

"Alex!! Are you sure you want to go there? Isn't there is that crazy- Mumm!!"

"You mean beautiful mature hot women, Grace?"

As Alex was about to enter through the door of the 3rd-floor entrance, Grace came running towards him but surprisingly she was not huffing at all as if that run on stairs was nothing to her.

After she came close to him, she grabbed his hand off his which was about to open the door and asked in a very concerned voice, She was worried for him and their future.

Before when they were here, Alex was nearly abducted and forcefully married by that old crazy woman on this floor VIP ward. She was afraid it might happen again.

Last time they were able to run off because they became lucky and that women did not pay much attention to them, but that is not always the case. What if she succeeds this time? Didn't that mean she had to give up on Alex?

She would rather die than to accept that reality, So she wanted him to stop here and not enter the ward being completely ignorant about the fact that the moment he stepped into the hospital "that" woman put them in her surveillance.

She did not know that but Alex did, So when she was about to call the one of the 7 most powerful women in the country crazy, He knew how thin ice she was walking on.

He quickly reacted and blocked her mouth with his other hand to prevent her from saying something she couldn't take back, As for Xiao Bai in his arms he was holding?

Well, She was still there like a koala attached to his body without any support from him, She just hung herself to his neck while her body was sticking as close to him as possible.

"Grace, I expected stupid like this from someone like her not you, You've seen how powerful she is right?"

Alex after saving a day, Got close to Grace and whispered to her. She while speaking did not forget to look at Liza who through a struggle of hiding her panties came behind them.

At first, she ran ahead thinking if she reached there first no one would get a chance to come behind her and see her embarrassing condition but she quickly found out she was not as agile as she thought and others quickly caught up to her.

So she had to stop and let others pass her and come behind them, though Sandra was still slow so she was not the last person to come here.

"Hey, what do you mean by that? I have 4 PhD and you know that, I come nowhere to the word stupid."

As soon as Liza reached the 3rd floor, She heard Alex's word emphasising "her" in his words looking at her, So she was clearly offended.

She is a smart woman who had 4 PhDs, On average having 2 is quite a rare and exceptional feat and yet knowing all that Alex still called stupid forced her to complain about it.

"I know you have a high IQ but your EQ is questionable, I even suspect you might trade it for your IQ."

Alex did not back down, Yes so what if she has 4 PhDs? She is still the stupidest one in this group EQ wise and in the real world, EQ matters not IQ.

Enough EQ gives you the power to control over other people and with enough of it can control the world, While with enough IQ one can do the same but if there is not enough, one will be nothing but an annoyance to the average person.

"Hey, I- "

"And because of it I trust and like you unicorn, Now let's go we have to see what's wrong with Aunty."

Liza wanted to argue but as she heard Alex's words, All that argument was gone rather she was glad she was stupid in his eyes. This is the scary thing about obsession, Other person has too much power over it to influence one's emotions.

"I understand Alex, I am sorry."

Grace ignores Liza and the comment of Alex for her. She focused on the key fact and understood what big mistake she was about to make. She did not know how powerful Helen is but she knew that she was quite strong.

As she with her own eyes saw the condition of that lunatic pervert man that was bothering her before, Plus she also saw that Alex was being wary of her before, So that woman was definitely not wise to offend.

She knows this before Alex reminds her it's just the fact that women try to take Alex away from her that made her hate Helen too much, So much that the fear and caution she should normally have was ignored by her.

She just did not want that woman anywhere near Alex, Yes she knew she couldn't do this, Not only Madam Miller has a strong background but also not it appears she has quite the strength of herself.

It's just when does the heart listen to logic? All she knows is that women are trying to take Alex away from her, So resists her without thinking about the consequences.

But now that Alex reminded her, She understands that her irrational action will not only be going to affect her but also him, Which helped her realise her mistake and she apologises.

"It's nothing, Just make sure not to repeat it, Now for sure let's go, Aunt, After all, there is still an unfinished deal of yours Grace."

Alex looked at Grace with a teasing smile as he said it, Liza was standing there not understanding what kinda deal he was talking about but her face of Grace turned red in embarrassment, She could only nod to give him confirmation of it.

"Code Blue in ward 3-B ICU, Call the doctor fast."

Alex wanted to tease her more but then these words fell on his ears making him quickly dash towards ward 3-B ICU, A new separate ward of Gloria.

Others too did not waste a second and just quickly ran towards the ward after him.

(A/N : Did you know what code blue means in hospital?

Also sorry for taking a long break like this without any announcement, I apologise, Now for surely expect regular updates like before, Once again I am sorry 🙏

Quick question, Do you guys like 1.5k words a day or 1k words of 2 chapters a day?

- 1.5 k (1 chapter a day)
- 1K (2 chapters a day) (Note next 16 chapters will be 1.5 words and you get 1.5k words 2 chapters a day for 8 next day for this option)

Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 190 188. Unknown Casue

"How did this happen?"

Alex was rushing towards the ICU ward as he was thinking to himself. He was very confused and taken aback by the words he heard. In his mind, it was impossible to happen.

After all, How can Gloria have a code blue? Code blue is only used for the patient when they need urgent medical attention or they either have cardiac arrest aka heart attack or it's completely stopped.

This is very strange as in common words heart-stopping means the death of an individual, Which is why he could not understand how someone like Gloria who has a heroine status.

He could have accepted if there were protagonists present near her as it's more than likely it would happen because of the triggering of the protagonist's halo but knew it was impossible.

He himself took care of Jake personally, So he knew there was no way he could recover this quickly at all. Even his survival from the backlash of that artifact is nothing less of a miracle.

So only one protagonist was remaining, Nathan but even he should be in no condition to move, After he too had to deal with S-rank and on top of that he should have used the forbidden technique because of course, he will.

The protagonist is never able to take that level of disrespect even if in front of them is the current world's strongest-ranked powerhouse, They are likely to jump head-first into trouble.

'System, How much RP do I need to give to get one holy blessing use?'

As he got closer to the ward, He asked the system in his mind, He thought has the best doctor one can ask for, There are also two top-ranked doctors in this hospital including him.

But he still did not want to take any chance, It's more than likely world will try to fix the messed up worldline after failing to solve it using Jake as a bait.

"Give me a report on what medicines she was given and their doses, Also do this test as soon as possible, Also put her under observation for a while."

As Alex entered the ICU ward, Those words fell on his ears, He quickly looked at Gloria and using his peak mortal-level skills, He was able to conclude that she is out of trouble.

Right now she is quite stable. Rather she was quite healthy from his first look inspection, Just like she was before in the morning he saw through the glass window.

[Ding! Host it's not recommended to do this as it will be too costly and not worth it, As it will need 90% of your current RP.

It's suggested that you wait for a few hours till midnight to rest at the counter.]

System voice rang in his mind and answered to him and gave its own suggestion.

'Okay then but just to be sure, Be prepared to buy life saving medicine on the moment's notice.'

Alex did not argue with the system as he understood that the big thing is saving someone's life and improving them to their peak condition, So it's reasonable for the price to be that high.

So he agreed to the system suggestion but still asked to prepare the life saving medicine from the system, Which though might not be able to cure Gloria but give him enough time to wait till midnight.

After that he just cure her without any worry at all, it's just the worry still lingering in his heart even after there was a solution, So he still fasted his speed.

"By the way, who is her attending doctor? Call and inform them about the situation, Ask them if they can come right now and take a look at her, I also need to consult with them."

Xin Yan was wearing her white doctor's coat and examining the reports of Gloria as she said to the nurse standing next to her, completely ignorant about the new presence in the ward.

All her attention was on her patient and the report in her hand, She rubbed the back tip of her pen in annoyance trying to figure out the cause of this sudden episode of this patient.

She was working in the ER like always. It's just that she decided to take a break and come upstairs to get her favourite milk tea, Because for some reason the downstairs canteen did not sell those.

When she was on the third floor ready to go to the canteen and get her tea she heard the call about the code blue, So even though it was not her duty but because she was close to the ward, She came and quickly ready operated on her.

After checking it turns out this patient did not have a cardiac arrest, But the heart was completely stopped for no reason, And then before she could do CPR and if that did not work then try the defibrillator to restart it, It started beating again as if nothing had happened.

It was Xin Yan's first time to encounter something like this. She performed a few basic quick checks on her but found the strange thing that there is nothing wrong with her at all. She was quite healthy, and So do her heart.

She suspected a liver problem or might even be a strange blood disease, So she asked to do the tests to make sure. She also thought about a kidney problem as there was an emergency operation of a tumour she heard of.

But to do that she needs to consult the appointment doctor of this patient but as it turns out they are not in the hospital right now, So that had to be put on hold.

"Hey, are you listening? I asked you to do this test as quickly as possible, "Do not stand there like a statue."

Xin Yan finally looked up from the reports when she did not receive any reply from the nurse standing near her, So in a little irritation she asked out loud to her.

Normally there are male nurses, But now seeing they are being harassed Hospital changed to female for the women's ward, IShe normally should have no problem with this change.

But it's just that they are all new recruits without any experience in this field, So she babysits this person, Which gets annoying a lot and quite quickly.

"Are you listening? Answer me, What are you staring at!!!"

Even when asking about why she did not get an answer Xin Yan helplessly had to turn around and look at the new nurse beside her, She now asked in a stern voice as she did not have this attitude when handling the patients.

One should always be prepared to do things quickly and pay utmost attention when doctors are talking to them as if they didn't they might make a mistake that puts someone in between life and death trouble.

She was ready to be stern and hard as possible on this new nurse to teach her the basic ethics of this job but when she saw she was staring at the entrance without blinking it took her aback.

So in curiosity, she turned and looked towards the entrance and then froze in place. There was a blast in her mind that stopped all other useless functions like logical thinking and just kept looking at that fallen fairy standing in front of her.

"How was she?"

Alex looked into the two pairs of eyes staring at him and softly, like a rubbing smooth silky fur of the cat, asked them without hurry or worry in his voice.

He checks Gloria standing this far away thanks to his eyes of truth, So he was relaxed finding out there was nothing life-threatening condition about her, Which means he can wait for a few hours before eradicating that unknown problem once and for all.

"How is mom? Is everything okay?"

Xin Yan did not answer Alex, She just stared at Alex without blinking as if she did not hear anything Alex asked her.

Grace also comes into panic mode and hurriedly asks the lady in a white coat like boats do to the lighthouse on the dark new moon's night.

Then without waiting for the answer of Xin Yan's answer, She came to Gloria but did not dare to go near or touch her fearing she might do something that would harm her.

"You guys, why are you running off without me? I am the doctor you need here."

Liza too came after Grace and yelled at them in annoyance but that did not stop her from going to Gloria and quickly started inspecting her checking her condition, After she found there was nothing wrong with her, She did not stop her search but also started to look for the reasons.

"Well she looks fine, There is also nothing wrong with her liver nor does she have any blood disease, It might be her body just acting out? I need to test more to find the cause of it."

Liza didn't need to see reports to tell what was wrong with Gloria, She at first glance found out that her heart stopped beating but the reason for it was still unknown, Which was bothering even her.

"Argghh!!"

She wanted to go and ask Xin Yan about her findings but stopped and looked in shock and disbelief towards Gloria as she groaned and started moving her body little by little.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 191 189. Drug Gloria

Liza in utter shock looked at Gloria as she groaned and started to gain her consciousness and mobility little by little on the hospital bed.

Liza racks her brain trying to figure out why and how this was all happening as she makes sure Gloria will not wake up no sooner than 24 hours as her body still needs time to heal, So she is given an appropriate dose of medicines for it.

Which is the cause of her shock as those medicines were quite strong. There is no way Gloria was able to wake up today with that much dose but proof was in front of her.

Gloria though yet to become fully conscious, She was showing all the signs of waking up, It will not take more than an hour for her to wake fully. That too an estimate Liza was not sure about now as the speed of recovery of Gloria is too fast and quick.

"No, She should not wake up just yet, Quick she needs to be put back into it."

Liza recovered from shock as she quickly took action and started to increase the amount of anaesthesia given to Gloria to keep her in a coma. It was turned off when her heart had stopped, Which normally should be fine as it will take a long time to wear off the effects of it.

But Gloria's case is different. She somehow rapidly recovered from the effects of those medicines, Even she who is in this field never saw this happening to any normal person.

"Xin Yan, What medicines have you given her now?"

After activating and increasing the amount of drugs given to Gloria, Liza turned to look at Xin Yan as the one who operated on Gloria before they came here. She needs to know the critical information about treatment, So she is able to take the next steps of treatment.

"Wait! Mother was waking up and you put her again in a coma? Why did you do that? Are you trying to harm her?"

Grace who was acting like a bystander to prevent and get into the treatment of doctors had shrieked like a madwoman at Liza and roared at her questioning her actions.

When she saw her mother finally waking up, She was very happy. It's been a very long time since she heard her mother's voice. She was ready to take the scolding from her mother as she knew she would be angry if she knew about the fact that she was not attending school for a while.

But she was ready to take that head-on with a happy smile on her face. She did not care what her mother would say to her as long as she could talk to her, That's all she wanted and wished for.

"I know you are angry but if she wakes up without healing properly, There is a high chance she will go into shock, And trust me a controlled coma is way better than shock."

Liza as a professional doctor had encountered situations like this quite a lot, Especially since she used to treat high-profile cases who are rather protective of their family and ask and blame her from time to time.

Which is the reason she stopped treating them as no one should stop and take an objection on the things they know close to nothing. Still in the case of Grace she looked away as it's more emotional here than authoritative, Just to show their family power.

Liza is more worried about Gloria, There is definitely something wrong with her as there is no way someone's heart just stops for no goddamn reason, and there is also this quick recovery which is impossible to happen.

So she did not want to take the risk of her body going into shock and setting a domino effect. That's why she rather put her in a coma as it is more of a controlled condition than to stimulate her body and let unexpected things happen.

"Grace calm down, Even though I often make fun of her but she is a very good doctor, Let her do what she is good at, Sandra please take her outside."

Alex come to Grace as she was still angry but that anger was not targeted at Liza but at her helplessness of not being able to do anything for her mother, It was this helplessness that forced her to act out.

He can feel that, So he decided that it will best for everyone that Grace will not stay here and look at her mother like this, Sandra came in the ward for quite a while but not daring to stay in the spotlight in front of Alex.

She just stands in the corner present there but with as low a presence as possible, Alex saw her and was kinda happy seeing her act like this, He had to thank his peach blossom eyes because he was sure it was thanks to that she cooked up something her mind for her to act like this.

Alex did not want to destroy this very suitable mood of Sandra, So he decided to send her outside with Grace lowering the chances of that happening and he was even able to get Grace away from her, It was a win-win situation for him.

"No Alex let me stay, I-"

"No, You listen to me, Go in the waiting room and wait for me there, Nothing will happen to Aunty, After all, I like her more than yo-Ahem What I mean is go away I will handle it here."

Grace hearing Alex's words snapped and wanted to struggle to convince him to let her stay but he outright destroyed her argument before she even get a chance and said in a stern voice.

Then he looked at Sandra and gestured for her to take Grace away with her, Which she did hurriedly, Grace too was afraid of making him angry, When she heard the reassuring words of his especially that classic tsundere-type words of his, She was assured and go away with Sandra.

"Okay Liza, Tell me what do you think should be wrong with her? Pufft!~"

After they had gone, Alex put his focus on Liza who was trying to get the attention of Xin Yan by jumping in front of her, and with her small stature she was looking too comical.

Alex seeing it all of a sudden after the serious atmosphere created here could not able to hold his laugh back as he burst out laughing holding his stomach or at least he intended to but a soft doll hanging on him stopped that from happening, All he did was just to feel the soft unusually warm body in his arms.

"Hey, What you laughing at? Is this all funny to you?"

Liza stopped trying to get the attention if Xin Yan as she heard their laugh of Alex, She take a moment to understand why he was laughing and when she did, She was both angry and embarrassed.

She like an angry cat try to make her bigger by puffing her cheeks as she ran towards him to make him apologize but no matter how hard she tried she was nowhere near threatening but a lot close to being a cute loli.

"Kinda, You looked too cute doing that, Why not continue doing that?"

Alex did not back off and just own it, He was really loving to see her doing that again and again as it was really funny.

So he even asked her to do it as if he did not see her hair standing up in fury but as she heard rest of his words she did not know what to do anymore.

On one hand it's the satisfaction of making him say she is cute but on other hand is her own self-respect did not allow her to do that lowly thing just because he asked her, She is better than that or she thoughts so.

"Like this? Ahem Xin Yan look at me, Are you okay? Answer me damn it."

Liza like the good girl she is, Goes back to doing what she was doing, Jumping in front of Xin Yan trying to get her attention on her, She still needs to ask a question about what treatment she had given Gloria.

The only difference this time is that, She doing more for to look cute in his eyes then to actually get Xin Yan's attention.

But soon she found the abnormality in Xin Yan, Before she thought Xin Yan is salty that she took her position of head of the department that's why she was not paying her attention.

But after trying for a while, This woman was not even blinked once just staring intently in one direction as if she was a life-size statue, Thie worried her and she was seriously considering asking for help as it's look serious to her.

Then she looked at beside Xin Yan, A nurse who was also in the same condition, This scared her shitless as she thought it was some type of new epidemic that made people turn into statues.

And now she was this close to them means she should be infected by whatever the thing made them like that.

"Don't worry, She is fine, It's just she could not able to process seeing the work of god like me."

Alex seeing worry about Liza has to say it, Before he could have teased her but he needed her to treat Gloria, So he had to drop that idea.

He just told her the reason why Xin Yan was in a frozen state, This new nurse should also stay like that because of him as he was not wearing the face mask he usually wears.

"That, It should not be that case-"

"Ahhh!!! It's you!!!"

Liza did not buy their explanation of Alex as no matter how handsome he is, It was impossible to freeze people in place but before she could finish, A loud shout reverberated in the ward.

(A/N : Like Always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 192 190. Nee-Chan Vs Loli

Chapter 192 190. Nee-Chan Vs Loli

Xin Yan looked in surprise and euphoria at Alex as she shrieked in a joy-filled voice of hers.

It was so sudden that Liza was caught off guard and jumped up like a cat hiding behind Alex.

"Are you crazy?"

Liza ducked her head from behind Alex's back and yelled at Xin Yan for scaring her like this, Because of Belladonna's issue, She is jumpy and this sudden shriek of Xin Yan nearly gave her a heart attack.

"You- You...You..."

Xin Yan completely ignored her as she just pointed out her long index finger at Alex and tried to say something but might be because of excitement or shock she was not able to say anything she was just repeating one thing again and again.

Her eye was hyper-fixed on his figure and was not willing to look away, She was like a person put on some kinda frozen or charm spell just standing there captivated by his beauty.

"Huh!? Hey Alex, do you still think she is alright? I think we should call our mental department here to deal with her."

Liza seeing Xin Yan acting weirdly could not help to think there was something wrong with her. As a doctor she thought this was signs of some mental underlying problem that was acting out.

So she wanted to let their mental professionals deal with her. Though she does have a degree and was qualified to study and treat mental problems but Liza being Liza did not like to go near them as she was afraid of them.

Yes, she thought officially in her 40s, She still acts like a child because of Loli's logic. Bear with it like every brain-dead thing in this world .

"No, Didn't I say she was just excited to see me, You guys don't appreciate my charms enough, doesn't mean others are also blind."

Alex just rebutted Liza as he walked close to Xin Yan leaving confuse Liza not knowing what she did wrong?/Didn't she say he is the most handsome? Isn't that not enough compliment?

But she did not dare to say it, She was not that level of stupid to shoot herself in the foot and then wonder why she was bleeding. She was smarter than that, She threw her foot on the axe

"Doctor Xin Yan, Do you remember me?"

Alex gracefully walked towards the stunned Xin Yan and with his devilishly charming voice spoke to her as softly as possible so as not to stimulate her even more.

The last time he accidentally touched her, She passed out after having an instance of orgasum, So he still maintained his distance with her. It's just that this woman is not coming out of her trance at all.

'Did I really break her mind?'

Even after he himself went near her trying to pull her out of her trance and yet she did not come out of it, Alex started to doubt that he might really break.

Now that he thinks about it he did receive lots of extra things that might be added to her charm like a halo of perfection of Sandra, A dual cultivation body from Helen and much more.

So the appearance of this in theory can indeed break someone's mind accidentally, Which might be happening here.

'System use "Thought reader" on her.'

Still just to make sure what was cooking in her mind, Alex decided to use the skill he did not use much even though even having OP its power like literally hearing the thoughts of a people is because of his ego and constant search for challenge.

But this time seeing there was no way around he had to use it, So he commanded a system that quickly put it in motion targeting Xin Yan as a target of the skill.

'AHHH! HE IS HERE, WHY AM I ACTING LIKE THIS? MOVE YOU STUPID BODY DAMN IT! HE WILL THINK OF ME AS A WEIRDO IF I KEEP DOING THIS AHHH!'

As Alex used the skill on her, All he heard was the loud shout and cursing, yelling of Xin Yan cursed herself as she did her best to try to move her body but because of her nervousness, she was not able to move at all.

She yesterday all night was contemplating if she calls the him or not but she could not able e to decide at all, There was a time she even dialled the call but the next second before the call could connect she just cut it because of anxiety.

So someone like her who could not even be able to decide whether to call him or not because of nervousness and anxiety will definitely go into fight and flight response when she sees him out of the blue.

It's just her response is to freeze in place, Which is not that rare for someone like her to do it as her anxiety forces her to decide on fight or flight which takes quite some time making them appear frozen in place.

"See she was not waking up, She should have gone crazy because of losing to me, I call the mental doctor to deal with her, You should not be around her as I heard it might be contiguous."

Liza saw how softly he spoke with Xin Yan, Her so-called competitor and got jealous, She had not forgotten that Alex called this woman a better doctor than her, Even if that was a joke of his she does not allow her to be near him.

Not when he called her friend, And now she knows how hard it is for Alex to keep his pants on, It is a cuck risk if she allows them to stay together and Xin Yan is the last person she would like to share Alex with.

So she decided to use this opportunity to create some distance between them. Anyway, didn't they say stupidly that it is contiguous if that is the case then mental problems might also be contiguous, You could never know.

Liza, A doctor who has 4 PhDs in the medical field said this in her mind calmly without hesitating for a bit.

'Why is this kid here? And why is she trying to separate this fairy man away from me? Does this kid also want to fight with me for him? No, I can't do all that, I can't lose to a kid, You useless body if mine move now or I will make sure you have to pay for your sins.'

Alex, listening to Liza, wanted to go and tease her for saying stupid stuff like that. It is not only stupid but also a weak and obvious reason she came up with making him doubt she might have bought her way through college with the power of money.

But as he was about to do it, He heard the inner voice of Xin Yan make him stop in his tracks as it was even more fucked up logic being used here, He try to warp his mind around how she can able to make her body pay for its sin when she was the one in control of it.

There was a fact that she was calling a 42-year-old woman a kid, Which somehow made sense, So he let that slide and focused on the fact that she was blaming her body for not moving while she was the one who was too afraid to move.

"Xin Yan, My heart problem is yet to be treated. Are you not going to treat it? If that is the case I have to compromise with this unicorn here Sigh Have a good day."

Alex decided to force her out of her safe zone, So he remained her the "reason" why he went to her before but then in a sad voice decided to change the doctor as he put on his disappointed face.

Liza seeing this was not sure if she should be happy or sad, she could be happy with the fact that Alex is going to come and get treated by her which will give her time to spend with him.

Or sad with the fact that she is his second choice, Which was heaving havoc in her mind.

"Wait!! I-I will treat you don't need to bother Senior for petty things like that, She is a legendary doctor and does not treat normal case patients but I will."

Seeing Alex was ready to turn around and go to Liza, Xin Yan finally break through her contemplation as she hurriedly spoke to Alex maintaining a respectful distance from him as she did not want to offend him or make him uncomfortable.

But as said she did not forget what Liza tried to do, So she too fired a shot at her because at this time jealousy, fighting spirit and the fear of losing him overwhelmed her anxiety making her quite bold.

"Hey- He is a special case, I can treat him as a head of the department. I have the authority to choose my patients."

Liza did not back down and also fired back. She was in her anger and was about to say why Alex is not a normal case but quickly recovered and directly without much talk took her authority to show off.

"True but patients can choose their doctors and he chooses me."

Xin Yan did not lose her cool as if she knew what Liza will say, So she threw back the answer that she already prepared.

"You- Alex say something."

Liza was taken aback by her answer, What was worse was that she did not have a counter for her answer, So being helpless she turned to Alex asking for help.

"What I did-"

Alex here was enjoying their throwbacks but suddenly he was also being dragged between their arguments. He wanted to pull himself out and just enjoy the fighting but before he could finish he was cut off by another voice.

"What with all this noise? Can't I even sleep in peace?"

Everyone became silent and quickly turned towards Gloria who was now fully awake and looking at them with annoyance.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

- Chapter 193 191. Mister Death Is Back

Chapter 193 191. Mister Death Is Back

Chapter 193 191. Mister Death Is Back

"Ahh Why do my head so much? Did someone hit me?"

Gloria held her head because of the sharp pain in her head. In irritation of the pain she just started to pull off the tubes attached to her, She even pulled out her IV which resulted in her hand starting bleeding, staining bed sheets in a bloody mess.

"Hey, what do you think you are doing? Those were there to save you."

"Mama please calm down, It will not do you any good by taking those things out."

Both Liza and Xin Yan were quick to action. They quickly rushed to Gloria and tried to hold her back from harming herself by doing that. The anaesthesia might still have affected her, Which made her numb to the pain of her body.

Liza tried to hold the hand of Gloria but she was too short to be able to do that, So Xin Yan had to take a lead, Liza in helplessness could only do one thing, that is just to shut off the supply of anaesthetic drugs.

"Who are you people? Where is Grace? Get away from me."

Gloria still had a muddle head. She was not able to process what was happening with her. She was at home doing her everyday job when it suddenly turned dark in front of her eyes and she might have fallen on the ground.

After that she didn't know what happened. Now that she woke up she was in a strange place which was definitely not her home, So she panicked and reacted like that fearing those people might have gotten hold of her.

In her trance, all she worried about was the well-being of her daughter. She wanted to get up and go search for her but her body did not have much strength for being able to do that action.

"How did she even wake up? It was almost twice the anaesthesia dose given to her."

Liza looked at the IV of a drug as she questioned herself in wonder, It was not a new thing she saw someone resistant to a drug as it was a daily encounter, So the simple solution should be just to increase the dose of it making sure it will not be too much.

She thought it would be the same case for Gloria, Hence why she was starting to wake, Though this is a far fetched idea but it is the most logical she could come up with at that time.

So she increased a dose of it thinking it would be enough but still nearly giving her double dose which might put any normal person into serious danger, Gloria was able to wake up as if that drug was not anaesthesia but a glucose saline.

"Why are you asking this right now? We need to administer her a rapid tranquillizer, I can't hold her down much longer."

Xin Yan was dumbfounded looking at Liza who was standing in front of anaesthesia's IV questioning herself and ignoring the distressed patient who already harmed herself and will do further harm if not calmed her down soon enough.

It was the first time she saw this irresponsible doctor. Where are the ethics, and priorities of patients' well-being? In her eyes, it is irresponsible behaviour for a doctor and should be fixed as soon as possible.

"Are you stupid? She was on a heavy dose of anaesthesia not a minute ago. What do you think would happen if we gave her a rapid tranquilizer?"

Liza turned to her in annoyance and said the reason why she was not hurrying to call rapid tranquillizer drugs, Normally they would not do much damage if given together which can be outweighed by the result of it.

But in Gloria's case, She already has a large amount of anaesthesia running in her veins, Which should have already lowered her heartbeats. If they had given her tranquillizer now then it would lower her heartbeats even more.

And you don't need to have a doctorate degree to know what will happen then, Not to mention Gloria's heart was stopped not just a moment ago, It will be lethal to administer tranquilizers to her now.

"Do you think I know that? We can't give her the full dose but can give enough for her to calm down, Which will not be that dangerous, So go and please get those to calm her down, I really can't hold her much longer."

Xin Yan was not affected by the words of Liza, She already knows what will be consequences of giving her those things but now do have any other option? Gloria was struggling with all her might.

Even though she became weak after being in a coma for quite some time, She was still strong enough that Xin Yan could not hold her back much longer, Only if there was another person to help her but there was no one.

Liza is out of the question for obvious reasons, The one who was any help to the nurse who was with her was also no good as she So she was helpless, Gloria was not willing to hear anything she just had tried to break free from her hands and go see her daughter, In was now laying on the floor and passed out when Alex got near them.

So she was helpless, Gloria was not willing to hear anything she just had tried to break free from her hands and go see her daughter, In which she was not afraid to harm herself which was quite worry, Bleeding from her yanking out her IV is stopped but it still needs to be treated to avoid infection.

Right now her body should be an immune compromise because of the drugs given to her from preventing her body from attacking and killing herself, But if she gets an infection now it will do quite more damage than it usually would do.

"You let me go, I don't have any connection with the family anymore, My daughter doesn't know anything about it, At least let her go."

Gloria was still under the influence of drugs as she tried to break free from the hold of Xin Yan but seeing it was no good she also started to say stuff like she didn't have anything to do anymore.

She also said that Grace didn't know anything about it. She was really scared that they would do something to Grace, Though she knew no one had the guts to do anything to her daughter.

After all, even if she didn't have anything to do with her family, She still has blood running through the veins of that family. They might not care if she dies in some ditch by natural causes but they take things very seriously if someone tries to harm her.

As it will be like a slap on the face and a challenge to the authority of the family, Those self-centred people will never allow that to happen, So Gloria was sure of it still her mother's heart was worried about Grace.

"I'm going to call Grace here."

Seeing the situation was really getting worse, The hamster in Liza's mind went to sleep as it worked too much today, And because of that Liza once again said some dumb shit.

Alex standing on the sideline could not help but to facepalm as he knew this will surely piss Xin Yan off and as she really did.

She looked menacingly at Liza as if she wanted to open her head of her to see if everything was alright in there, She was hardly able to hold Gloria and now herself back for different reasons.

"Greeting Teeth Senior you wanted to bring a family member of a patient in front of the patient who is having a panic attack and trying to harm themselves? Do you not see anything wrong with that statement?"

Xin Yan greeting her teeth said to Liza giving last a try to make this woman see the hole in her statement.

This is not a movie scene where doing things like that will calm the patient, Rather it will make them more panic and there is a huge chance that things might go out of control.

And in that chaos not only the patient but there is a chance of a relative of it and even the caretaking personnel might get harmed, So it will be a really stupid thing to try and bring the patient's relative here in this condition of Gloria.

It was a protocol of the hospital, Which every doctor out of residency is quite familiar with, So it should be impossible for the head of the department to not know about it.

"What's wrong with that? It will- "

"Sigh Let me talk to her."

Liza was confused as she always did this thing and patients were calmed down, Not once there was any bad encounter, So she thinks it is okay to do it not knowing she was able to do all that thanks to her heroine halo protecting her all the time.

But as she was about it and angry Xin Yan even further, Alex cut her off as he moved towards Gloria, He was standing here not doing anything thinking he might hear some important information but Gloria didn't say much he didn't know about.

So he decided to take action and come close to Gloria, Xin Yan wanted to warn him to stay away from her but before she gathered her courage to speak, Alex was standing beside her, almost touching her shoulder.

All the words she was ready to say were swallowed back by her as she silently held Gloria down a little tightly fearing she might harm him accidentally.

"Aunty, Calm down, It's me, Alex. Grace is fine, Don't worry about her."

Alex got close to her as he spoke in the calm soothing voice, Looking at her and giving her a graceful smile.

[Ding! +50 Favorability of Gloria increased for the host (Current : 70 Crush)]

"I am dead, Didn't I mister death?"

Gloria stopped moving and looked at Alex, Who was too confused to react to it.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 194 192. Reappearance Of Mister Death

Chapter 194 192. Reappearance Of Mister Death

Gloria was lying helplessly on the bed no longer resisting or trying to go away as if she had accepted her fate and was convinced that her time had come, Her two honey-brown eyes though never moved away from Alex's face as she without blinking looked at him.

"I died like this? Well, I never thought I would die this soon. What is that stupid woman going to do without me? She can't even see through the disguise of that green tea man."

Gloria muttered to herself making Alex standing near him blush in a little shame, After all the green tea in her mouth is him and he can't even counter as that is true fact.

But as shameless as he is, He quickly gets over it and was rather proud of the person he is now than before even though there was no contribution of his in it at all.

"Aunty you are not dead, You are in hospital right now not in the afterlife."

Alex stopped talking much as he didn't want to stimulate her more not only because she might overreact but because of fear he might raid her before the system initiated the raiding task.

Before he ignored them as it was very easy to forget about the fact that his system is a raiding system not fuck till conquer one, Which made him lose quite a few goods that might have given him something overpowered things.

So did not want to repeat that same mistake and just get that raid target-related reward, A Peach Blossom Eyes gotten by Rose is proof of how powerful those rewards can be.

"Huh?! Oh, right death comes to meet people who are about to die to bring them to the afterlife. Still, it will not do much as I am still going to die soon."

Gloria stopped hearing Alex's words but then she thought of the urban legends of a handsome man coming to meet people before they die, Who is known as mister death by the masses. Now that she is experiencing it she thought it might be the case.

So she figures out she might really be in hospital on her deathbed, Hence why he comes to her to give her peace to let go of these mortal bondings, Which means she was still alive but this information made her helpless as even knowing this thing she can't do much.

She was too weak to go to see her daughter. These people will believe her if she said she was seeing death in front of her, Which means they will not call and bring her daughter here.

The only option she had was to argue with "death" in front of her but the moment she saw his face she knew it was impossible to do it. The mere presence of his was igniting the fire in her body which was revitalising the new profound emotions inside her.

Her body felt itchy all over as if thousands of ants crawling on her biting into her tender flesh, But to her surprise, it was a pleasurable feeling which was quite contrary to its description.

Her face turned beat red as an enchanting hue of pink spread all over her milky white curvy body of a proper milf, Her breath was quickened which looked quite obvious and tempting in her hospital gown.

'Now what is happening with her?'

Alex looked at her strange reaction and couldn't help but to seek help from the almighty system as she was acting quite weird though it might be because of the drugs still running through her veins.

It's just that those drugs were supposed to make her sleepy not horny, He looked at her honey-brown eyes which stick to his figure desiring to devour him whole in one bite.

Normally his charm pushes people to this extent but even then it was pure emotions of wanting to win his heart to get his body, Gloria skipped that part and directly jumped on the last wanting to get his body one.

[Ding! The reason why she was acting like this is because of your "Milf Hunter" title.]

The system came out and answered him to quench his thirst for curiosity of his like the friendly system it is.

'Then why hasn't it worked on others yet?'

Alex was taken back by the answer and then he had to ask about the reason why it didn't work on others.

Helen and Isabella are both qualified women to trigger the effect of this title but none of them did, At least they didn't show it like Gloria.

[Ding! The host are not qualified enough to trigger the effect of it, Helen and Isabella were both virgins, Helen because of her body's characteristics and Isabella because never gave birth.]

System once again answered him but this time the answer really made him question reality as he could not fathom and rationalise this answer at all.

How can Isabella never give birth? She has two living offspring and they are definitely related to her by blood but he also knows that there should be the same old dumb reason that he will be dumbfounded to hear about.

[Ding! Host, She had those two by surrogacy, Though normally she still should be affected by it and she did but because of her power of A-rank warrior she was able to control showing it to you.

The reason why she agrees to your invitation is not only because of your look but also because she was under its title effect.]

System answered him, While Alex was enlightened by the new information.

'Well, surprisingly this is a reasonable excuse.'

Alex couldn't help but to have a little respect for the author who wrote this plot, At least he gave a logical excuse for her being a virgin, though still far-fetched at least it is reasonable.

[Ding!The host is was done by the author not to get into trouble because of incest, Author did not want to put together blood-related people together.]

But as Alex has little respect for the known dumb author in the past, System jumped up and poured cold water over those dumb thoughts of Alex.

'It's my fault, I expect too much from it.'

Alex was stunned and then shook his head and accepted the reality. He was thinking too much from that stupid author and this novel plot. It is really a brain-dead one.

He dropped that thought and put his attention back on Gloria who was blushing looking at him.

'At least she should be the mother of Grace, Who gave birth to her.'

Alex looking at her could not help but wish Gloria would be a simple woman. He can't handle more brain-dead things like this for a while as he hates stupidity.

"Aunty, You should still be under the effect of drugs. It will take quite some time to go away but remember you are not dead nor will you die anytime soon."

Alex just pulled the blanket over Gloria covering her torso as he said intending for her to sleep for a while as no matter what he says she is not going to understand it.

After doing this, He had to go to Helen to make sure she doesn't do something wild and provoke his family, Though he made up his mother being Noble head which can stop her from doing too much but as Heroine there is a chance that she will dive head first into the first sign of trouble.

"Okay, Mister Death."

Gloria said to him and closed her eyes with a big bright smile on her face, Which made her look too calm but her slightly shaking body shows that she is not as relaxed as she is trying to show it.

Since he appeared in front of her, Her body was reacting strangely. She did not understand what was happening to it and because of that, she was afraid, Afraid of the thoughts that urged her to do something she knew she would regret later.

So there was turmoil going on in her heart, On one hand, she wants him to stay around her as she thinks it is her last moment in life but on the other she wants him to stay away from her as she did not know what she will do if he stays here any longer as her body was acting weird.

That's why she let him decide, If he wants to stay she will be happy but if he chooses to leave she will be relaxed and not have to worry about doing something insane.

"Senior as doctor of Ms. Gloria, please do a check-up on her to see if she is alright, Until then I enjoy my little remaining time of the break."

Xin Yan seeing that Alex was ready to leave quickly reacted, She came to Alex and grabbed the cuff of his shirt and dragged him out of the ward before Liza could react to what had just happened they both were out of her sight.

"Damn, It."

When Liza found out about her sneaky move, She was reasonably frustrated but also was helpless as she couldn't do much. Before she was ready to order Xin Yan to do a check-up on Gloria but Xin Yan was one step ahead of her.

Gloria too on the bed was reculent to let him see go away but was also glad that he was gone as she finally gave in to the drugs and fell asleep.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 195 193. Xin Yan's Monologue

Chapter 195 193. Xin Yan's Monologue

"Huff Huff Hehe senior I am one step ahead of you."

Xin Yan was huffing for air standing in the corner hiding behind the pillar from fear of Liza catching up to them but when she saw that Liza did not follow them she was happy as she laughed and became proud of herself.

She could not contain her excitement for finally being able to win against that woman. Since Liza came to this hospital she was always getting the short end of the stick. She even wondered if that woman was purposefully targeting her.

She has a lot of reasons to suspect that like one time there was a patient that needed urgent medical attention but she, being a careful doctor, wanted to look through the medical records of that patient like every good doctor should to figure out what might be happening to them.

But this turned out to be a big mistake in the eyes of Liza as she rushed to them and pushed everyone back or at least that was what she thought she did but in reality, they feared to provoke her and give her away.

Then without even checking the medical background of the patient she administered medicine to, Xin Yan understands there are some circumstances where one should ignore the records and prioritise saving a life but when the cause is unknown and have enough time to give to research one should give it.

That was what she was doing, The thing she learned in not only medical college but also in practice which saved upto now countless people's lives but this popular thing in the eyes of Liza was lazy and being irresponsible.

I mean she was the one who gave medicine to a person that she did not know anything about. What if that person is allergic to that medicine? And then she has to say she was being irresponsible.

Yes the medicine administered by Liza was quickly able to save that person's life, Which she was grateful for but she did not comedone that kinda practice. If it's work one time doesn't mean it always works.

Well she was wrong as it turns out everytime when she tried to go and ask the medical records of the patient which would not take more than 5 minutes, Liza out there already has been giving them medicine without checking for anything.

And what is worse and good is that they all were fine, Xin Yan thinks this is worse because seeing Liza doing it others might also try to copy her which will definitely be going to harm someone which hates to happen.

So even though she understands that Liza is quite an expert and experienced doctor but her doing that will influence others to do this practice, Up until now only Liza was doing this thing and so there were no casualties.

But if someone new, not knowing who Liza is or how good she is decided to do that thinking it is just normal practice then not only that person will put someone else in between life and death but also might destroy their life as because of that mistake they might lose their licence to practise.

Though nothing bad happened, the backlash has fallen on her as every time she waits for the medical records, People look at her weirdly as if she was doing something strange or bad to check to make sure if what she wanted to do will not harm the patient.

Because of that she had to go through the day being weird out by everyone. Not only that though upper management gave different reasons for it but she knew it was all because of Liza's stunt she was demoted from her post of head of the medical department to Head of ER.

It was a demotion, not the transfer as they said it to be, She knows and accepts that she is not as good as Liza but she was not bad either, If she wants she too with one look can see what is not suitable to treat the patient but she never did it because she not only wanted to rely on it.

She only does something like that if it was necessary, If not she more believes in the tested and proven medical records than the superstition feeling of hers.

Maybe Liza knows she too can do it but chose not to do it, Maybe because of that she is doing this to provoke her and force her to use it, After that she can openly challenge her and beat her.

Xin Yan thinks for Liza's medical practice is fun and she love to find challenges and overcome them, Which was not bad but when someone's life on the line no matter how good Liza thinks she are or she confident she is in her treatment, Xin Yan wanted her to treated as a server thing while Liza treated as a hard game.

That is why Xin Yan suspects Liza of purposefully challenging her, challenging her to fight and prove she is the best doctor, Just there is no evidence of it.

"If you are done with your monologue, Can you let me go or do you want to take right here and now to cure my disease, If that's the case go for it, I am all yours miss beautiful doctor."

Alex looked at in trance Xin Yan, He wanted to be a gentlewoman and wait for her to finish her train of thoughts like any good person should but after seeing she was taking too much time he ran out of patience.

He is not a good man, So it was okay for him to do that. He looked at Xin Yan wondering how and where did this woman get the courage to not only hold him but also drag him away.

Last time with his just simple touch she was on cloud nine of euphoria and now she was not being that affected, System does say that people will start to get used to his charm slowly to handle it but this is too fast, Still not faster than the gun of men in this word.

"What!? Huh? Ohh I am so sorry, I-I didn't realise I dragged you with me, Please don't misunderstand me, I did not have any bad thoughts, I just wanted to win for once, You might not know, I am from a big well-respected family, I have tons of money, Which were earned by all good means of selling genuine medicines, I am also the sole heir of the family without any contender for it, And I am also good girl, I never had a boyfriend as I was much into books than boys,

Wait that didn't mean I don't like boys, No, I mean not boys but men, But I don't have anything wrong with women liking women, I just do not born like that and I-

"Stop, You are ruining the mood, Take a deep breath and tell me if you like men?"

Xin Yan, taken aback hearing the sound beside her as she came out her thoughts, saw the man of her dreams standing beside her, Too close to her that she could feel that smoothing warmth his body radiating, Then her eyes fell down as she saw she was holding the cuff of his shirt.

This put her in panic mode as she was not sure what was wrong with her, Why she had to drag him, She read men don't like rough and like the good girls over bad ones after a certain age, That's all she read that article as she was not interested in boy- Ahem in man at that time.

But now that one was near her, she somehow remembers that then she just started ranting about it. She was not sure what she was even saying. All she knew was that she must keep talking to make him forgive her for her actions.

Alex seeing her condition had to stop this going further as she was already derailed from the topic. If he let her talk further, who knows what she might start talking about? Maybe even she did not know about it.

So he asked her a straight question to pull her out of the barrage of her answers.

"I like men, I mean not all of them, Wait I-I mean is that-"

"You like men, Then do you like me?"

Xin Yan was stunned hearing his question but out of instinct she was started talking as she started it she was once again brink of derailing but Alex pulled the break by asking her another question.

".....y-e-s whisper"

Xin Yan once again stopped by him and again out of instinct she wanted to answer but stopped realising what was being asked of her. Her anxiety was through the roof but she still held her heart as she said in a mosquito-like low voice.

"I didn't hear it, Say it aloud."

Alex did not let go of this easily as he was enjoying her flustered look, She looked quite cute like this, Given she did not pass out being too close to him.

"y-e-s."

Xin Yan was embarrassed to even say it but she still did not want to defy him and answered him as loud but her voice was still just barely audible.

"Ohh, Then you're not going to have a problem treating me right?"

Alex got a little closer to Xin Yan as she out of instinct backed off but was not able to because of the wall.

"That- That"

Xin Yan was not able to answer as her mind was clouded by too many emotions that it could not process the information giving it to it, She just kept looking at Alex.

"Hey Alex, what are you doing here?"

But before Alex takes things forward, A surprise voice breaks the atmosphere between them.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 196 194. Dumbass Is Back

Chapter 196 194. Dumbass Is Back

Alex turned his head around just to see that the carrier of the contagious disease named Dumbness was standing beside him looking at him strangely as he was leaning toward Xin Yan.

"Rose? What are you doing here? Aren't you punished by your sister?"

It was Rose, who was absent in his life for quite some time now standing in front of him. He thought that he would not be able to get to meet her as soon as Alia asked her to do too much work which will take someone dumb as her quite some time.

But here she was standing in front of him and like always ruining the thing he wanted to do, He did not want to see her for a while as he had yet to know who is Violate in her.

It could be a double personality or some strange soul residing in her body. He did not know what was the case but he knew one thing: that she is dangerous and quite strong.

Though he did not have to fear her doing anything to him, but that did not guarantee that she would not harm a person close to him, Though not his harem as they are also protected by Harem protection halo but there are other people she might target

He was sure that Rose has no guts not to listen to her sister's order and leave the office without completing her task, So he highly suspect the one standing in front of him is a Violate not Rose or at least it is Violet who brings her here.

"She did but I completed all the left-out paperwork. Those people in her office were all useless, I had to do it from the beginning as it was easier to do and- Wait?! Forget about that, why a child hanging on your body? Tell me the truth, did you kidnap her? You know it is a crime."

Rose, hearing Alex's question, was irritated and answered him in an annoyed tone. She had to work all night to do all that work that sister told her to do. It was a mess. She had not even a sleep and just an hour before she was able to finish all that work.

She came here to check on her mother knowing that she now woken up from her come, She wanted to meet her mother and discreetly complain about Alia of her bullying, Only her mother is the one Alia is afraid of and respects.

So she thought that if her mother fights for her then she does not have to work like a donkey anymore, Alia will not put this much pressure on her though she knows she will not be able to escape work completely but it will lessen a lot.

It's just she did not have the guts to say anything against her sister even in front of her mother. A fear and thought of her sister having eyes everywhere scare the hell out of her.

That's why she was hoping to run into someone who would talk on her behalf in front of her mother and then she saw Alex dragged away by someone. She thought he was in danger and rushed after him.

But after the turn at the corner, she lost them and now after searching for them, She found them behind the large pillar in the corner and here she was.

Rose wanted to answer Alex even further to relieve her frustration just to see Xiao Bai hanging on his body like a koala sleeping peacefully without a hint of a worry.

Seeing that Rose's first reaction was being jealous, She still remembers how she got a blue vulva because her sister did not allow her to continue what she was going to do with Alex. It is her most regretful moment in her life.

She wondered why she had to pick up that phone. If she didn't she would have an excuse she thought that Alia and Alex break up, And is even able to say that because she didn't want to waste the money Alia spent on him, She decided to enjoy herself.

She knew her sister would still be angry but then the deed was done and Alia couldn't do too much as long as her mother was still alive. At worst she had to do all the paperwork for a year or two for the whole group.

But if that would be the get to sleep with Alex, She thought it would have been worth it but alas, She picked up the phone as she was too afraid of Alia, Which made her miss the bliss given by Alex.

Well at least she gets to eat divine food made by him, So it was not all bad just, She just regretted what she could have gotten.

"Really, Is it illegal to kidnap children? This is new to me, Thank you Rose for telling me."

Alex looked at her dumbfounded, In which angle did he look like kidnapping Xiao Bai? Also, she saw Xiao Bai but not Xin Yan who was just a few inches away from his face? What kinda vision is that?

He wanted to stay away from this woman. Even though she has the charms of Isabella, a Seductive body compared to Helen and beauty like Alia, Unfortunately, she has an IQ of room temperature when she is not facing Alia.

He loves to meet simple, easy-minded heroines as they make his life easy not having to do complex thought processing in his mind, Always needing to be on the counter and on guard to deal with the trick others might pull.

But there is also a limit to how simple-minded one can be. There is a fine between them, After it is crossed it will become hard and not easy because he could not be sure what their mind will think and do dumb stuff.

"Really? Then it is okay, Don't do it anymore, I will ask my sister to deal with the legal problem, So now that you own me, You have to help me to speak on my behalf."

Rose looked at Alex then Xiao Bai in his arms then smiled not hearing the sarcasm in his words, She really thought he did not know that kidnapping children is illegal, Though it might be reasonable as Alia always do it, So in her eyes Alex might have misunderstood it.

Well given her IQ it is a reasonable hypothesis, It's just that what she said after shocked Alex a little was he looked at her in a questioning gaze.

'Since when did my brain grow to trick me like this?'

Alex was really shocked hearing the last part of hers as it is a trick that she used on him, Which made him ashamed and a little angry at himself.

He had not been tricked by anyone, Not even women like Alia and Belladonna and yet Rose was able to trick him.

He now even suspects that Rose might have made up child kidnapping stuff just to lead him towards the trap she set, It can be argued he was not prepared and she did not successfully trick him yet.

But the fact that she was the first woman who came this close to it makes him look at her in a different light. He knew her IQ came back online when she was in front of Alia but he never thought that she could do the same with him.

He was sure that it was not Violet who did this as the aura and behaviour of the two of them were completely different. Rose is soft, beautiful and enchanting, While Violet is vibrant, aggressive and strong and unyielding nature.

So it was definitely Rose who did this, which is a very impressive thing in Alex's eyes for her to do. Maybe it's not being dumb all the time and using her brain in front of Alia, her survival instinct.

But rather it is to always pretend to be dumb and when needed use my brain here and there. If this is the case then Alex will have a new respect for Rose, Which is a thing he never thought he would ever do.

"You want me to raise the complaint against Alia to Helen on your behalf? Not gonna happen and trust me Rose it is not time to go meet Helen and bother her, especially with the case of mine or Alia, You will get into a lot of trouble."

Alex was not willing to be tricked by this petty trick, He was by shocked that it was done by Rose that's all, Also he didn't want to go expressions of Rose, It will be her light punishment for trying to trick him.

meet Helen yet as if he did that, He can't come out until next morning as sex drive of lust fairy body is not a joke.

He too has a huge libido because of his Golden Kidney and his legendary incubus body, So even he was not able to stop once he started. If that happens then tonight's college dormitory will turn into a battlefield because of his absence.

"Why?"

Rose could not understand why Alex said that and asked in curiosity not knowing the answer will shatter the belief she has from childhood.

"Because she wants me to be your new daddy."

Alex said with a straight face as he enjoyed the change in expressions of Rose, It will be her light punishment for trying to trick him.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 197 195. Rose Is Dumbass But Not Useless

Chapter 197 195. Rose Is Dumbass But Not Useless

"???"

Rose was taken aback by their answer of Alex, She stood in front of him blinking her two gems-like beautiful eyes trying to process what she had just been told by Alex.

Her mind was working on stopping trying to figure out the meaning behind his words but she was not able to interrupt it. Every time only one thing comes back and that is Alex saying her mother wants to marry him.

But how can that be possible? She knows how much her mother hates Alia being with him, Always calling him a green tea bitch and saying that Alia is ruining the majesty and image of their family.

That woman who was even restricted to utter Alex's name in their house wanted to marry him? Of course, it will not be true, It's just that she did not understand the meaning behind him. She just had to think hard enough for her to understand. That's all.

"That...Alex can you say that one more time? I think I misheard it."

Rose stopped trying to figure out what Alex meant and came to the conclusion that she might have misheard it, That's all nothing more to it than this.

She did not have to fight for Alex with her mother as her mother would surely not be into men. Now that she thinks about it, didn't her mother have misandry? She hates men even near her.

So she definitely misheard Alex. Their mother will definitely not go after her daughter's boyfriend even if she was normal. After all, family comes first before any man.

Rose thought that completely forgetting that she was the one who broke Alex with Alia and then the same night was ready to lay with him in the bed, Which might be her safety mechanism protecting her from thinking too much.

"I said your mother, Helen Miller, The madam Miller wanted to marry me by force making me your daddy but I rejected her. So she will be in a very bad mood. Consider my warning and do not go anywhere near that ward."

Alex looked at Rose and said helplessly, He would have loved to make that milf his wife but the problem is that that milf is also one of the 7 strongest people in this country.

With big of status she refrain to share her husband with others, Though there are ways to make her convince for it but that will going to lots of time, Which he didn't have luxury to spend.

So he had to reject her offer regretfully. After all, if he married her then he would be known as a husband of S-rank powerhouse. With that status he was able to do things a lot more with more freedom.

He is though a beastmaster of an S-Rank that too a legendary beast There is a way in his mind how to deal with Bellendona but for that it will be best if their marriage is broken off as he wanted to try the but this is a thing he can't announce to the world or he will invite trouble to him, As for Bellendona being his finance? He doesn't talk about that.

He will be glad if his family wake up one day and break off the engagement with her, Though that woman can be said to be the personification of beauty and charm itself.

But his passion for living didn't not allow him to maintain too much contact with her. He will raid her of course. His ideology says no one should let go but that will be on his terms.

There is a way in his mind how to deal with Bellendona but for that it will be best if their marriage is broken off as he wanted to try the romance novel route where ML is a psychopath, But for that too need time.

So all his planning has to wait. He now wants to deal with Jake with the help of his connection as soon as possible. He just needs Jake to take out that artifact he yearned for.

As being an artifact of the protagonist, It will not be that easy to obtain and there is even a risk it will be lost forever if Jake dies before appears in the world, So he has to wait to finish Jake's plot till that artifact comes out.

Which will not take much time as the first appearance of that artifact made in the hospital to help him against Helen, Now though the plot is changed as being the initial things he took out of it, It will come out soon.

"Stop joking Alex, My mother has misandry, She hates men even near her, Our whole house is filled with one female servant because of that, She didn't even touch the things touched by men.

Do you want to meet my mother? Even in her ward, the people taking care of her are all female. She did not even allow our father to touch her until his last breath, So how can that woman want to marry you?"

Rose could not accept what Alex was saying, She will and could not believe her mother wants to marry Alex, How can that be? She who wanted to see him as husband has to call him dad?

It is worse than brother-in-law, At least there will be a slight chance of something happening between them but if he becomes her dad, wouldn't that be weird to do anything like with him?

Well, Rose because her insufficient brain power did not understand the one simple word of "step*" make the difference between dad and daddy, Though both represent one thing but the difference between the meaning behind the two is like heaven and earth.

So even knowing that her mother is not officially diagnosed as having a misandry wanted to cling to that hope she has and Alex is just messing with her as she knows he loves doing that.

"I am not joking with you, Trust me I rejected her with a bleeding heart, How can one woman be that hot and seductive? But because of my family, I have to do it. I would have loved to see you and Alia calling me daddy, It would have been a cherry on top."

Alex wanted to say something but Xiao Bai in his arm flinched, gesturing to him that someone was eavesdropping on their conversation. Alex did not have to guess who that person could be, So he quickly changed the complaints to compliments.

He hoped that Rose would get a hint that also follows his suit. He was baiting on the fact that her brain would go online and perceive the severity of the situation and not use the survival instinct of a deer in front of the car.

"Hot and seductive? Alex, you don't have any sense of aesthetics at all, Yes my mother is beautiful and mature but she could not compare with the charm of young women.

Men only go after old women like her when they have money, Well call them gold miners, so there is no way you are into my mother.

Even if for the sake of argument we said that you are after the money of the Miller family then you still have two better options than her, Sister is going to be the next head of the family, and I too have a hot body.

This is called hot body Alex, I know I might not have the temperament like my sister but mine is the best, So stop being nice and tell the truth we are only two here."

Unfortunately Rose did have the survival instinct of deer in front of the car, As she ran straight towards the trouble head-on, She became jealous that Alex complimented her mother this much fearing he might have a crush on her mother.

She thought her saying this will change his mind, After all most of young men only go after old women for their money but she knows Alex is not money hungry men as she initially thought

So she in a panic said the words that came to her mind without thinking much, unknown to fact that her words were heard by someone who should be the last person to hear it.

'It will going to hurt a lot.'

Alex could not help but facepalm as he heard her words, He now didn't even need the help of Xiao Bai to tell him that the aura of the person has changed and become violent, Proof of their current mood.

He was sure, Helen after this will surely rearrange the bones in Rose's body, He just hopes she passes out midway so as not to feel that much pain, He thought that he was going to need to use his Holy Blessing not on Gloria but also Rose.

"Hey, but there is a way. Why not marry all three of us? This way you will get beauty like my mother, sister and me with unique features, So you don't even have to go outside to look for other women, We trio can handle all your needs.

Also it will not break the country's rule of monopolizing a men. It's a win-win, How about it? Do you want me to talk to my mother?"

As Alex was ready to go start preparing a bed for Rose here, She said these words that made him look at her in shock and love.

(A/N : Rose is dumbass but not useless.

Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 198 196. Aged Meat

Chapter 198 196. Aged Meat

"Are you serious?"

Alex asked in an astonishing voice but in his heart, he was laughing maniacally, Rose just like Liza got a new place in his heart.

Here he was thinking about how to suggest this thing to Helen as it is a deadly game to do that to an S-rank warrior. One wrong move and he will be in some unknown dungeon by that person to have a monopoly on him.

But Rose, as dumbass as she is it turns out she was not useless, She solved the biggest hurdle on his way to conquering both the trio of mother and daughter with her one sentence.

Not for the fact that Helen was spaying in them, He would have hugged her tightly in his arms and showered her with kisses. That's how happy he was for her doing this.

Now that the suggestion appeared in front of Helen, All he had to do was to subtly push it in her throat until she "herself" suggest or say will "force" him to do it, And he "reluctantly" has to follow the suit.

Rose has no idea. The door which to open Alex thought he would need quite some time, Rose with her one simple sentence wide open giving Alex the choice to do whatever he wants to do.

"Yes I am serious, Think about it Alex, You will get mature beauty like my mother, A ice-cold beauty like my sister and me hot one on top of that we are also rich, This is a steal of the offer.

I suggest you quickly grab it before my sister finds out and take it back. Also If anyone asks It will be your idea as I am not sure if I will have any "accident" if those two knew about it."

Rose said to Alex with full of confidence but her inner mind was screaming at her asking her what the fuck she was even talking about to Alex, Her mind and heart constantly yelling at her to stop her mouth just keep going on without paying they any attention.

She thought Alex has a crush on her mother and is in love with her sister, Which made her feel being left out, So she just wanted to add herself using this trick, While totally ignoring the fact Alex liked her mother and sister at once as if that is not a big of a deal.

All Rose wanted to do was to find a way that she was able to put herself in front of his eyes, Make him see her as a woman, not a sister of his ex-girlfriend, Which she was the reason they broke off.

She didn't say it but it hurt her a lot when while kissing her he called out to her sister's name, That sensual name Alia outspoken by his drunk self just after kissing her was a scene she will never ever forget.

Both good and bad memories were attached to it. She knew it was his first kiss, Which means she had gotten the first kiss of Alex, Though it was also her first kiss but women don't care about that their first much here.

She knew if no one stopped, They have already crossed the thin line between friendship and relationship. She was hoping that it would happen, Let her experience the joy of being a woman for the first time.

And then he called her Alia, Her sister's name. She was not sure how to react to that. She wanted to cry. Her heart felt like it would be shattered into a million pieces at any moment.

Until that moment she always feared her sister but she also had lots of respect for her, But at that time she hated her though later she felt guilty because of it but she couldn't help it.

Why does she always get better things and not her? Since childhood, she was just walking behind the shadow of her sister without her own freewill or choice to say in any matter.

She was okay with it all that time. It was not that big of a deal for her as all the hard tasks were done by her sister Alia for her but at that time she really hated that way. For the first time in her life, she genuinely wanted but that too was taken away by her sister.

Yes, She knows he already belonged to Alia, She was the one who broke them, Yes she also agrees that he loves Alia and not her but that didn't change her questing heart of why that is the case.

Why could he not belong to her? Why does Alia get to be loved by him and not her? She too is beautiful, hot and rich just like Alia then why does she not get what Alia has?

She knows that it is all stupid and unreasonable wanting of hers, She feels guilty for thinking like this but she still can't stop this question as she really wanted him to be hers.

And now, Not only her sister but even her mother was somehow able to get the upper hand in this case. She should have been the first but was left on the sideline.

Which was her breaking point, It's okay for those two to have him, She was not that petty to take that away from them. If her mother gets over the fear of men because of Alex she would be happy.

If her sister has a smile on her always stiff face then she will also be happy but she too wanted to be pampered by him, she too is cared for by him they can't have it all for themselves.

So this thought was unconsciously spoken by her, She didn't know what she was saying or how Alex was reacting to it, All she knew was to just say it, And if he offended then just say she was kidding around.

Now she was just waiting for his answer, To see if she got what she yearned for all this time.

"Well, Rose this is quite a good suggestion from someone like you but are you sure you three mother and daughters are able to handle me? Can you satisfy my hunger for the young soft tender bodies?"

Alex didn't know what was going on in their mind of Rose, He just thought that now that Rose had done it he should start his pushing for Helen to convince him not only their mother and daughters but others to join the fun.

Helen knows even she and Alia together could not keep up with his infinite stamina, So even if she adds Rose on top of it it will still not be enough to satisfy him, After all, it will be a matter of time before he gets permission from her to officially open the harem.

As for Alia, He could just fuck her till she gives up and grant him permission to the harem, And it was all happening thanks to Rose, He going to make sure to give her special care.

Maybe with Liza as it will be a good combination of seeing cute and hot laying in his arms.

He just felt a little guilty that he judged her too harshly. She is not that dumb.

"Do you eat people?! That's why you kidnapped this kid?"

Rose hearing the words of Alex first turned red in shyness but after hearing his last words exclaimed and asked aloud to him in shock.

Scratch that he was absolutely right, She is too dumb to plan all that to trick him, It was pure luck.

'Why is she this dumb?'

Alex facepalmed hearing her words, He was not sure what was wrong with her, Is Aila so scary that it broke her mind? What kinda childhood trauma did Rose have that made her this way or she just fell on her head as a child?

Too many unanswered questions, He even had the urge to just go and open her head to see if everything is alright in there, If a piece or two was missing or not.

He could handle stupidly like Rebbecca Valentine as she at least has a working normal brain with just a little low IQ but Rose is pure dumb when she is not in front of Alia, Which is hard to bear for someone like him because of her dumbness.

"Rose, Love, What I mean is that I will eat you up? Do you understand?"

Alex takes a deep breath and after calming down he explains to her what he meant by saying all that. He just hopes that she will get it as he really could not handle her.

Some wise women said, Never argue with dumb people. They will bring you down to their level and beat you with their experience.

"You want to eat us? I-I don't taste good, Sister should taste good, My mother also has aged meat, She too will taste good, Eat them."

Unfortunately, he underestimated her, Because Rose indeed used her non-working-out-of-commission brain and answered him with a straight face, Even making Xin Yan who was just standing silently on the side and Xiao Bai looked at her dumbfoundedly.

"I am aged meat, hehe, Okay good good, Natasha go and ask Rose to come meet me."

In the ward, Helen was laughing beautifully, shaking her bountiful bosom rhythmically with her body, making her look happy but the coldness in her eyes said otherwise.

She said to Natasha who was trembling with fear seeing laughing Madam Miller as just like her daughter, She too laughed when they wanted to carnage.

"Okay Madam"

Natasha quickly said and exited the ward, Her smooth forehead was filled with beads of sweat, While fear filled her face.

'Rest in peace young miss, You will be greatly missed.'

Natasha said as headed towards the reception desk.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 199 197. Believer

Chapter 199 197. Believer

Alex did not say or he was not able to say anything, He just foolishly looked at her thinking about how she was able to dodge the beating making him proud of her just to dive head in the much bigger trouble than that one.

He did not care that she thought he was talking about literally eating them, The main focus was on the fact she called Helen aged meat, Aged is a focus here.

Someone like Helen before might not care about her age but with his experience with women, They do after meeting him all thanks to his world-breaking charm.

So, Rose, a normal mortal, At least not when Violet is in control pressed the paining nerve of an S-rank warrior, The one who can topple over the whole city just by one move.

He did not understand to praise her bravery or condemn her stupidity as both can be valid here. In any case, it might be Rose who has to deal with her angry mother, That is for sure.

"Alex, you know, My mother is like a fine wine, elegant and intoxicating. You definitely are going to like her, Well if you jump over the point of eating them. You will see how good she is, After she is my mother."

Just as Alex thought that it was done, Rose will have to pay for her stupidity once and for all. He heard her words and halted that though as in shock he looked at her.

This woman is on the run back to back, She just went near certain death and just ran back after touching it, twice. He now gets how this woman survived in that household all this time.

this woman definitely has a lot of luck, It was this luck which always counters her dumbness.

It's not that all about her IQ goes back online seeing her sister but this woman definitely has a lot of luck, It was this luck which always counters her dumbness.

Helen should definitely be appeased by these words as she was praising her in front of him, Which with his experiences is a big deal for this womens.

"Rose, What I mean by eating is...well sleeping with you guys, In simple terms sex, I have a very high libido, Your mother might see the reason why that is the case, So even if you three joined. I will come out victorious."

Alex wanted to say a simple analogy but thinking she might once again use her non-working lump of fat and salt, He just gave her the answer to keep her busy by making her shy.

There are lots of secrets in this woman's body. Normally he would see this as an adventure but not with this one, Others are simple things which can be ignored or taken lightly but her situation is different.

She is too mysterious, so much so that he can't take risks. He needs to see what is making her special, As she is way too different from the heroes he met till now.

Most of those are the prime or core heroines and yet those were not hidden mich mystery as this side heroine has, Though stupid but she is special.

"What?! I-I-I didn't do it bu-but I think I-I we c-can handle it."

As Alex expected, When Rose heard his words her seductive face flushed red, Her two gem-like eyes were wandering randomly not knowing where to look in anxiousness.

Rose never thought that Alex will be this straight, Though this can still be just a joke, There is a heavy possibility of being that would be the case but the slimmer chance that he was not joking, she would hit the lottery.

Alex should already know much about Alia he was/is in love with her, So she did not bother with trying to tell Plus point of Alia to him, she who thought Alex might have a crush on her mother started to tell all the nice things she could about her mother to him.

A daughter was wingmanning for her mother to the man she know she definitely is in love, Yeah situation is fucked up but so do this world as it is, even though it is not that common it is allowed and fully accepted thing by law.

So in Rose's mind if Alex is in love with her sister Alia and has a crush on her mother Helen then there is the possibility that he will do the same to her if given enough time. It is in her favour if he stays close to her as it will increase her chance.

Though she did not think that deeply, she thought that Alex loves Alia, has a crush on Helen and so will have an affair with her. That's all her reasoning and thinking process.

'System uses the eyes of truth on her.'

While Rose was busy running her brain thinking about what he said, He opened the system panel and asked the system to show him her stats. All things will be revealed in front of him then.

Name : Rose Miller

Status : Non-Awaken

Rank : Null

Strength : 100

Agility : 100

Charm : 145

Luck : 99,999 (Heroine) (Locked)

Skills :

Business (LV 10), Driving (LV 4)...

Talent :

Dumb as box of rocks : As the name suggests the possessor of this talent will be too dumb to do any other task that needs little more than average brain power, Even then it will take a time to think deeply about it.

But once there was a need for brain power, it would start up and run brain at full speed given a boosted IQ for a short time.

(Note : This talent is most powerful when the possessor is in the presence of someone, When alone there will be an enhanced boosted IQ for that time period unknown to the possessor.)

Superpower : Believer (SSS-Rank) (Partially unlocked)

Believer : This unique skill of superpower, As its name its power of believing, If the holder of this power wholeheartedly believes in something it will turn into reality.

This is an intermediate level of reality-bending superpower and will become strong as superpower unlock further.

(Note : Believing in something while being in any kinda influence will not be counted.)

Passive Halo:

Close Call : This halo grants it's possessor aura that help them survive very close calls, No matter what the situation is or how bad things has gotten, Possessor of this luck alway able to escape without even knowing about what crisis they were in.

This is a type of meta luck, Possessor of this alway be lucky to escape any type of crisis but also unfortunate enough to get into situations like those.

Perks :

Dumb : Very dumb when no buff of her talents were active.

Spoiler: Once someone conquers her heart, She will spoil them too much. No matter what the other party wants, She will agree without any questions.

Favorability : 102 (Unhealthy Obsession)

Summary : She is a simple-minded very lucky girl, Who though not the world but can destroy a country if she believed hard enough.]

System came out and showed all the information of Rose that can be viewed by him without considering the mental health of Alex.

'FUCK!! A reality bender?'

Alex could not help but be excited about this news. Who have thought that a broken power like this was just walking around with her empty head?

He now even regrets not bedding this woman when he had a chance. Think about it if he had reality-bending power. Does he have to do all this planning to deal with Jake?

He could just use his power and make it the way that it will be a very suitable situation just by mere thought without having to plan and prepare to deal with Jake.

[Ding! Host for that to happen you had completely believe in something, Are you sure you are capable of doing that?]

The system came up and poured cold water on his plan like alway. According to the condition of the superpower one has to totally believe in something for reality bending to take place.

But that is only possible for dumb people as only they can totally believe in something without any concern while normal people alway going to have doubts even if they know what they are seeing is the truth.

Vaccin is a case of it, Though they know how it works and they trust in it but a little part of them do doubt them, There is always worry about the quality and such because of loopholes those companies might have used to get past the rating system.

And smart one are the most weird of the much, They like always overanalyze the situation making it their trust in this things quite thin, They do not have concerned about will the vaccine work, They know it works they are rather worried about all the outside matters.

Like the needles of the injection being not clean enough, The temperature of the box containing vaccines are not low enough etc, They just keep thinking making them not allow to believe something completely.

And then there is Alex, which even can be doubted did not trust his own shadow, So for him this power seems useless.

'System that is true but are you forgetting I have something that can bypass that condition?'

Unlike before Alex this was calm as it already prepared for the answer, Which he said it with a smug smile in the system space.

(A/N: Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊.)

Chapter 200 198. Fairy

Chapter 200 198. Fairy

Alex smirked as he asked the question to the system. Indeed he can't trust anyone, not even his own shadow completely but that doesn't mean he can use loopholes to make it happen.

There are lots of ways he could exploit this rule but for this he just had to use his god-level acting to pass through the needed requirements.

'System you forgot my god-level acting skill.'

He told the system after the system, not giving him an answer, He could not imagine how much-crazed stuff he would be able to do if he just got the power of reality-bending.

He might not be able to kill the protagonist on one thought but he could make their life hell to make them bleed their luck so much so that they would lose their protagonist status and then it will be easy to take care of them.

[Ding! Yes indeed, You can use god-level skill but are you forgetting {Sex-Copy} skill will copy the appropriate skill to you not as it is, Also even if it is copied as it is, It will still not work as the moment you shut off the acting skill. The reality-bending power also lost its effect as it was not real but an artificial belief.]

The system did not know how much thought and way Alex thought of to use this power destroyed all those thoughts at once revealing the things Alex didn't know about.

In Rose's case as she is the inherent possessor of the both Believer superpower and the talent of Dumb as box of rocks, Even if she at one point did not believe in something reality will not change as it will be integrated into the reality, So it is irreversible.

But in Alex's case he did not have that power at all, So the moment he drops his acting skill power he will because of his doubtful nature not only stop believing in it but also by default go against it.

Which will trigger reality-bending power, Which will turn it back as things were without doing of Alex as it is his nature to always think of the opposite of things to create counters, He can't change it.

Thankfully the system knows this and so do {Sex-Copy} skill of his, So there is a high chance that Alex will not receive the "Believer" superpower of Rose but something similar to the SSS-rank one.

'That...fair enough but still, My SS-Rank Fire Emperor superpower can break through the dimensions barriers of S-Rank warriors, I could not imagine what SSS-rank supower can do.'

Alex wanted to argue with the system but he also quickly understood that the system has a point. Even if he used reality-bending power the moment he will be out of his acting skills it will go back to normal.

And when he would have the Time element superpower of Rebecca, It might also trigger because of his belief and just reverse the time, Though even Rebecca can't turn back time but if this power mixed with the reality-bending one, There is a possibility of it.

'Also system why is her luck so high? It is more than 5 times more lucky than the protagonist. Not to mention why she has SSS-rank superpower? Aren't SSS-rank supposed to come out in the mid-late plot after Reiki is revitalised by Nathan opening the door to the new world?'

After Alex gets discouraged by the reality-bending power, He finally notices another abnormality in Rose. Her luck was through the roof. It was just one number from becoming the 6-digit luck, Thousand times more than an average person.

He also was confused why she who was just a gag heroine character in the plot as the SSS-rank superpower which even the main heroine in the 2 different plots of the novel did not have.

He can understand luck being that high as it was technically for two people, Violet's luck is also counted with hers and he also comes to find out that luck did not matter as much as status matters.

Jake had nearly 3 times as much luck then Nathan but he lost more than half in instances with just one attack from Alex but Nathan even after suffering this much from him and his "bodyguards", he not only did not lose much luck he even got stronger by his beating.

All because Nathan is the main protagonist of this world while Jake is just a spare bait one, Which shows that the status does matter.

That is a reason why someone like Rose gets an SSS-rank superpower, While Alia only has an SS-rank one, It is not following the basic rules of the novels which shows the main heroine has to be the strongest and most talented one.

'Wait! Is Rose that legendary type who is always more talented than the main heroine?'

Alex is wondering about the issue and then it clicks him. Rose might not be the main heroine but her status can be changed to another type of heroine, A fairy one.

The one who either comes from an upper world's higher class family or a recreation of some fallen fairy, They most of the time are the main heroine but once in a blue moon, they become a side heroine.

This type indeed has all the qualifications to be more powerful and talented than the main heroine until she catches up with them, And seeing there is the presence of Violet in Rose there is a high chance she is a fallen fairy.

[Ding! She is so high because of the presence of Violet, System can't provide any more information about this topic because of the lack of level of the system, hence the lack of authority of the host.

As for how Rose can have an SSS-rank superpower is simple, It was a by-product of two superpowers merging and upgrading their ranks.]

System voice rang in his mind, giving Alex the answer he needed. He was now 90% sure either Rose is an incarceration of some fallen fairy or a soul is residing in her body of a fallen fairy.

Either the case he has to deal with a higher being giving him anxiety and wondering if his skill would work on her or not.

'It's getting interesting. It would be fun to mess with a fairy.'

Alex, though anxious, was equally excited and happy that now he gets to see the fairy this early. Though fallen with only a fraction of the being she used to be, it is still a fairy with the potential to rise above and beyond once again.

And he also knows if one fairy appears then there will also be another one that will surely pop-up soon as this is a law of these types of novels, He just has to wait and figure out when and where they pop up.

"Alex, my mother called me, Do you want to come with me?"

Alex closed the system window while still lost in his thoughts predicting which type of heroine will be next. Then he heard the words of Rose pulling him out of his thoughts.

He looked up and saw that flushed face Rose with a tempting red hue spread on her slightly chubby cheeks making it hard to resist not to bite at it, Then his eyes fell on Natasha who was looking at Rose with pity.

The look on her eyes while seeing Rose was that of pitying this ignorant child not knowing she was just going to step into the den of woman eating lioness, Who will devour whole without giving her a chance.

Natasaha did not know what Rose did to piss her Madam, But knew one thing that it will not be easy to survive for her, She was just angry about why she had to be present here when her madam was in a bad mood.

Before she was just sitting in her car but Alia came and took the car rushing somewhere without taking her asking her to stay with Helen. When she came everything was normal, But then her madam suddenly became happy for a while and then her face turned to grime.

Atmosphere in the room at that time was giving her so much pressure that she even had an urge to just dash out of the door running away from this crazy woman but alas, Door of the room was locked, And she was the stupid one who locked the door.

So she had to stand in the corner lowering her sense of existence as low as possible fearing if she caught Helen's attention, She might be the one who Helen took out her frustration.

She can't take chances with these crazy womens, If not for the pay and she was too lazy to go look for another job, she would have quitted a long time ago.

"Do I want to come? Let me think....Hell no!! But just to give her a hand, Say that I like your plan, Let her think about it, It will calm her down."

Alex too looked at her with pity, Rose is really too dumb to guess what going to happen to her in her mother's room, He just hopes her halo kick in early saving her from the wrath of her mother.

(A/N : Like always thank you for reading and have a good day 😊).
