Chapter 1291

Leonard finished speaking, got into his car, and left.

8 p.m.

Inside Riverside Villa.

Sean, Zander, and Jeffrey gathered together, talking about something.

Sally and her mother-in-law Connie had cleaned up everything and returned to their room to rest.

Sally, Connie, and her mother-in-law had been taking care of Sean and the rest these days.

Sean did not want them to work so hard, but they felt embarrassed if they did nothing. Therefore, Sean could only let them do whatever they wanted.

“Commander, I don’t think they’re comfortable here.”

Jeffrey said quietly, looking at Sean.

“I know.”

Sean nodded gently. He could see that Sally and her family were not used to it.

Especially Sally, who was a widow. It seemed somewhat inappropriate for her to live in the same house as men like Zander.

However, it was all they could do for now.

“I’m going to join an auction the day after tomorrow. I’m going to bid on Patrick’s land.

“I’m going to take over this land and build a school in the open area at the front.

“I’ll build a housing area at the back so they can move there when the time comes.

“Patrick’s grave will also be preserved.”

Sean looked at Jeffrey and explained softly.

“Got it!”

Jeffrey nodded quickly.

Just then, a voice came from outside.

Caitlyn and May turned around to look and frowned immediately.

A man and a woman were walking this way.

One of them was Albert.

The girl also grew up here, but she was now working with Albert.

Some children from the orphanage had names.

Some had no name, and May let them come up with a name with her last name.

May originally named the girl after her last name Randall.

However, she disliked it once she grew up, so she took Albert's last name and changed it to Sophie Neeson.

Albert and Sophie wore designer outfits, and they were both dressed expensively.

The money the two spent on their outfit was enough to cover the orphanage children's living expenses for

May gritted her teeth and said as she glared at Sophie.

"Aunt May, what are you saying? How is that improper?"

"We only drink with the customers, and we get a commission for the drinks they consume.

"I got more than 3,000 dollars in commission last night."

Sophie curled her lips and frowned as she looked at May.

"More than 3,000 dollars?"

Caitlyn was stunned. She had no idea Sophie's job was making so much money.

"3,000 dollars is nothing.

"I'll help you make 30,000 dollars if you want."

Sophie grinned and said proudly.

Albert and Sophie turned to look in the direction of the voice.

Caitlyn and May, who were facing the door, saw the person as soon as they looked up.

"Brother Sean!"

Caitlyn exclaimed after seeing who it was.

It was Sean.

Sean walked over slowly with his hands behind him.

He had just arrived at the door when he heard Sophie's conversation with Caitlyn earlier.

"It's you.

"Haha. A stupid phone? Can you afford a stupid phone?"

Albert sneered, his face disdainful.

"I'd like to ask what phone you use?"

Sophie asked with a sneer, her arms folded in front of her.

A regular phone."

Sean replied indifferently as he walked.

“Haha, regular...”

“How dare you call an iPhone stupid when you use a low-end phone?”

“Have you grown stupid from being in the army? You’ve never seen much.”

Sophie’s eyes grew more disdainful.

“Look at the era we’re in. And you’re still using your worship of foreign things to show your superiority.

“Don’t you think it’s funny?”

Sean shook his head. He did not have much in common with Sophie.

“Hmph! What’s the point of saying so much?”

“I can still afford an iPhone, whereas you can only afford a low-end phone.

“Caitlyn has had her phone for two years. Buy her an iPhone if you can afford it. You...”

Sophie sneered and instantly shut up before she could finish.

It was because she saw Sean’s hand, which he had been holding behind him, slowly stretching forward.

He then handed Caitlyn a box.

“Take it.

“It’s for you.”

Sean smiled at Caitlyn and gently placed it in her hand.

Sophie’s iPhone was only worth 10,000 dollars.

However, the phone she thought was low–end cost 18,000 dollars.

Sophie’s face reddened and burned as she thought about what she had just said.

Caitlyn did not hear the conversation and only looked curiously at the box in her hand.

“How come I never knew there were phones that cost more than the iPhone?”

Sophie asked Albert after gritting her teeth slightly.

“Because you can’t get it even if you can afford it.

“It was sold out as soon as it went on sale.

“You can’t get it if you have no connections.”

Albert shook his head before glancing at Sean with mixed feelings.

He realized that he seemed to have underestimated Sean.

After all, not many people could spend 20 thousand dollars on a phone.

If he did not have millions of dollars in fortune, who would use such a good phone?

Did Sean receive millions of dollars for discharging from the army?

Albert remained silent, and Sophie silently put away her phone and stopped talking.

“Albert, I have two things to say. Listen well.

“I won’t say anything if you wanna help out at the orphanage.

“But I’ll kill you if you have any funny ideas.”

Sean stepped forward and touched Albert's chest. His tone was icy.

"You! Hmph!"

Albert stared into Sean's eyes for a few seconds, but he still dared not retort to them.

"Catie, come with me."

Sean turned his head and said to Caitlyn.

"Let's ditch it, Brother. I really don't want to go."

Caitlyn shook her head, wanting to refuse.

"Be good."

Sean uttered two words softly.

"Alright..."

Caitlyn sent Sean the address without saying more.

Joules Town, Swiss Hotel.

The hotel was better than the one Ray and Sean went to yesterday.

The magnificent decoration made Caitlyn walk cautiously.

The floor that could reflect one's figure made any cash-strapped person feel deeply inferior.

Sean saw Caitlyn’s embarrassment and said with a smile.

That sentence alone made Caitlyn feel at ease.

The two went to a private room by referring to the private room number given by Caitlyn’s friend. There were already a dozen young men and women in the private room.

“Ah, here comes Catie. Hurry over and have a seat!”

“It’s so hard to get you here. Come over!”

“Catie, if you ask me, don’t work too hard. We can help you raise money for your orphanage later.”

The crowd of men and women rose to welcome Caitlyn when they saw her.

Although Caitlyn was poor, she was quite popular at school.

Besides that, Caitlyn’s appearance made her popular among men. No one would treat her badly.

Therefore, dozens of young men and women called out to Caitlyn enthusiastically. They had no intention of looking down on her.

“Sorry, I’m late.”

Caitlyn smiled and nodded before walking into the private room with Sean.

“Just like how it’s hard to do anything without money in the real world.

“So it’s good to come back early and make money.

“My dad’s new company needs security. I can refer you.

Wes was killing two birds with one stone by buying Sean and making himself sound good.

“No thanks.”

Sean waved his hand slightly.

“What’s the matter? Is being a security guard a bad thing?

“Bro, I’m not criticizing you, but there’s no shame in making money.

“When you have no money, it will be embarrassing that Catie can’t afford to buy a dress if she wants.

“You’re only considered a man when you’re willing to let go of your dignity to make money.”

Wes criticized Sean like he knew better.

Sean’s impression of Wes could not have been worse.

He would not allow Caitlyn to be with someone like him.

“I’ll buy Catie anything she wants.”

Sean shook his head slightly. He admitted he was Caitlyn’s boyfriend by saying that.

“How are you going to afford it?

“Look at how long has Catie worn the clothes she’s wearing?”

Wes curled her lip, his face disdainful.

Just then, Caitlyn’s phone rang in her pocket.

“Hello? Aunt May, what’s the matter?”

Caitlyn asked into the phone after picking it up.

What she did not realize was that several girls nearby immediately looked at her phone when she took it out.

Wes only took a casual glance at first. Then he turned his head and looked over in shock.

When Sean stayed silent, Wes looked at him with disdain. Besides that, he glanced at what Sean was wearing.

Not a single piece of clothing was designer. It looked shabby to Wes.

In front of Sean, Wes's sense of self-entitlement came pouring out.

He even regarded the phone Sean bought Caitlyn for 20,000 dollars as a joke where he pretended to be someone he was not.

“Let’s order!”

Wes was in a good mood and immediately opened the menu.

“Hey, bro, do you want this liquor?”

Wes asked with a straight face, pointing to the liquor section.

“You can’t afford it. Haha!”

Wes laughed before Sean could answer.

“Would you like to try this dish?”

Wes asked again, pointing to another expensive dish.

“I can’t afford it.”

Sean smiled indifferently and said.

“Hey, haha! Okay, let’s order it then.”

Wes froze and looked smugger.

“Young Master Jordan, we’re all friends. That’s enough.”

One of Caitlyn’s close female classmates said with a frown.

“What does this have to do with you?”

“What’s the matter? Are you not allowing me to order? It doesn’t cost you any money.

“Waiter, give everyone a bottle of your best wine, and bring me all your best dishes.”

Wes closed the menu and said obnoxiously.

The waiter nearby froze before hurriedly nodding.

Wes felt a pang of grievance at this.

However, he could not leave if he did not settle the bill. He had no way to back down!

“Well, I went out in a hurry today and don’t have that much money. Why don’t we go Dutch?”

Wes was silent for a moment before looking up at his classmates.

“Haha...”

However, no one replied to him.

Logan, who had been the loudest of all, winced and said nothing.

“I’m asking you to go Dutch.”

Wes knew it would be humiliating, but he had no choice.

“Young Master Jordan, isn’t this dishonest?”

“You just said today is your treat. You ordered so many things, and now you want us to pay. Is this a joke?”

A girl looked at Wes, her tone upset.

The total bill was more than 200,000 dollars. Even if they went Dutch, everyone had to pay more than 10,000 dollars.

Not many people here could afford it.

“What’s the matter? I ordered, but didn’t you eat it?”

Wes banged the table and shouted at the girl.

“Either way, I don’t have that kind of money.”

The girl turned her head to one side indignantly.

“Neither have I.

“Forget it. We won’t eat. Young Master Jordan, you can eat yourself.

“Come on. Let’s leave.”

Everyone got up to leave.

Wes had been showing off since the beginning.

He had put on a show.

Now, he was asking the others to pay for his show?

They were not stupid. They refused to pay even if they could afford it.

It seemed the class reunion was about to end on an unhappy note.

Mr. Dickson quickly waved his hand and left with the waiter while bowing.

He looked very respectful as if Sean was the boss.

Thud!

The private room door closed.

Everyone in the room was still quiet.

Everyone stood up and looked at Sean with wide eyes.

There were shock, admiration, and curiosity in their eyes...

They had to admit that they had underestimated Sean earlier!

At this point, Sean did not need money to protect his reputation.

Using his status was more powerful than his bank cards!

“Sit down.”

Sean waved his hand gently and sat down.

He already said the meal was a thank you to Caitlyn’s good friends.

They should finish the meal, of course.

“Ah, okay...”

It was not until Sean spoke that everyone sat down.

However, the atmosphere in the private room had changed beyond recognition.

Wes lost his sense of superiority and blushed in embarrassment.

Sean did not pay for the meal, but it was considered his treat.

If it had not been for Sean today, they probably would not have been able to afford this meal with all their savings.
