

Tale Of A Flaming Butch.

T.O.A.F.B. By Simon E. Evans

T.O.A.F.B CHAPTER 10

Nathan.

I was shivering over conditions that seems to reshape my mind, notwithstanding, part of me was greatly thrusts into another dimension. Confidence sparkling within me, drew a line of intolerance, and i was made to felt different amidst facing disasters. Indeed! No one wants to be in a very bad situation, where they have their life at risk, with many threats shocking their lungs out of breath. What a mess? What shit? When troubling humans feels they'll inhale forever. You don't wanna be in a bad situation, believe that, yeah! A situation so bad that your butts got kicked twice or as many times as possible. Trust me, you don't want to face a devastation.

Shortly after Nathan Roogan Hovah began his awakening into reality. Just when he felt completely revived from body malfunctioning and fatiqueness, he's gripped by surrounding threats in the forest of Craddo's town.

As gunshot-sounds loudly and more increasingly, flying bullets flew unhindered into many directions, and for fear of being hit by a flying bullets, Nathan took cover and hid himself in the forest while observing the group of armed men as they made their chase and keep shooting at a man, probably, their target.

The man, yep! He was running as fast as he could, head-on and in a zig-sag patterned. One of the armed-men, who's distance away, pulls his trigger and open fire unannounced, his shootings wrecked a havoc and brought chaos upon the man on the run, this time he was struck from behind, he stumbled and fell due to the impact of bullets spray, somersaulting like he's been severely bruised and assaulted to his death.

Darkness could hardly shines a light, and it's hard to see when it is so dark.

Something whispering inside of me, couldn't convince me that the darkness was fair enough to look into.

At this moment, I felt maybe I'm not suppose to be here to witness a crime as such as this. What if this men finds me? I'll be death too, i communed with myself, even before fate could possibly take the turn on me.

The armed men hastily arrived on the spot where the running man had stumbled but couldn't find him.

Oh yeah! Not made to die today, This man survives all the gunshots at him, he'd manage to picked himself up and gets away with lots of bullet wounds. I wonder where he's gone.

In less than two minutes they'd arrived on the spot and looking so dangerously armed. At this point, I could place a count on the armed-men, they were just six in numbers. They hurriedly arrived, when i mean hurry! It was so quick that they could barely notice anyone hiding and watching on the moves they're making.

By the way, what will someone be doing in a lonely place, so dangerous, in a forest of this kind?

This armed men doesn't even care who's watching on their moves, it doesn't even matter to them, their concerned is the man on the run.

Where is he? Where the fuck is he? One of armed-men believed to be the leader of the gang, screamed to the top of his voice so furiously. I want him dead or alive he says, we can't let him get away or there'll be serious trouble, he talks with the other armed men. Immediately, he began ordering the other armed men and giving them directives, they all wanna make sure the running man doesn't escape. Any of the armed-men who finds him first, was technically giving an order to eliminate the man on the run.

My observation continues, as I keep watching from a hidden position.

The group of armed men took orders from the lead-man, who adjourn them all to a different strategy to continue chasing the man on the run, so that he doesn't get away.

The leader calls on the other armed men, they quickly made a triangular formation within themselves, on a different strategy.

He uses the pistol in his hand to give the other armed men some directives to pursue the the man on the run.

After creating a triangular formation, he assumes the running man has continued his run either straight and north-wise or east-ward or he made his run to the west.

He calls out two armed men from the triangular formation, intertwined relatively parallel in opposite direction to navigate north-east and expand their chase towards that direction, nonetheless, another two armed men was ordered north west to expand their pursuit towards that direction. Meanwhile, the leader of the gang and his second in command was heading straight and north-ward, from the triangular formation, assuming the running man, had gotten away in that direction.

They all pursued after the running man, and making strategic moves in their operations.

Immediately, after they'd all disappeared from my sight, I felt a bit of relief, So I took a bold step out of a hidden position.

I'd never been in a situation like this before, I was deeply contemplating.

Should I continue to look out for Lisa my sister?

Should I abandoned my search for Lisa and just go home and rest my head for a little while?

The man on the run, yeah! The man on the run, he's wanted dead or alive. What has he done to this people, to made them decree such fate upon him?

What did he stole from this people?

What did he took away from them? Is he indebted to someone? What's the value on the debt?

I always wish I could see into his situation, why he's wanted dead or alive.

I contemplated for a short while, not knowing what was going on, I couldn't see into the Dark, yet a stronger force pulled me towards the direction of this men.
