

The 80s 325

Chapter 325: Too Imprudent

This time, the military doctors and nurses who came to the grassroots level in the troops amounted to six people, all of whom were women. In this thoroughly male-dominated army, they truly added a fresh and beautiful landscape.

Since they were all women, and the troops were all men, in order to avoid causing any unfavorable influence, their dormitory was not set up inside the troops' barracks, but rather in the family compound, only serving their shifts in the Military Health Office.

Qi Taiguo brought a few soldiers to help move the luggage and personally led Chiang Qing and the others to the compound.

"Goodwill Place." Chiang Qing read the name of the compound and smiled, "This compound has a nice name."

Qi Taiguo smiled faintly as a response.

Chiang Qing's eyes drifted over and she asked with a smile, "Is Commander Qi always this reticent?"

Qi Taiguo gave her a glance and said seriously, "Doctor Chiang, do you have any unfamiliar places or things you don't understand? I'll have a sentry explain them to you later."

Unhappy with his non-answer, Chiang Qing purposefully said, "Commander Qi, you seem rather cold and detached even to your lifesaver!"

That tone...

Why did it sound somewhat resentful!

Qi Taiguo felt inexplicably strange; Doctor Chiang's way of speaking seemed a bit immodest. Was it his imagination?

Seeing that he didn't say anything, Chiang Qing became even more encouraged. She was just about to speak when someone interrupted her.

"Taiguo?"

Chiang Qing looked over and saw an old lady dressed in simple and worn-out clothes and a young woman holding a child walking towards them.

Who were they?

Chiang Qing looked at the woman holding the child and saw her smile was gentle, her eyes warm as she looked at Qi Taiguo. Chiang Qing couldn't help but frown slightly.

Could this be Qi Taiguo's wife? So old-fashioned, they were quite a mismatch! But, did they already have a child?

"Mom, Big Sister." Qi Taiguo took a couple of steps forward and called out.

Only then did Chiang Qing realize; they were his mother and big sister!

"Taiguo, you came back so early today? No training?" Qi Fenglian asked.

"Taiguo, who is this person?" Mother Qi noticed the pretty woman behind Qi Taiguo, giving her a thorough once-over.

Dressed so nicely, shoes so high, and even her hair is curled. Clearly, she's from the city. Who is she?

"Old Lady Qi, Big Sister Qi, good day. I'm a military doctor in Commander Qi's troop, called Chiang Qing, just moved in today!" Chiang Qing didn't wait for Qi Taiguo to introduce her, as she smiled and introduced herself.

Mother Qi and Qi Fenglian exchanged glances and asked Qi Taiguo, "A military doctor, is that a doctor?"

Chiang Qing laughed out loud, Doctor, that's something only country folks would say, right?

Qi Taiguo said, "Yes, that's a doctor. Mom, Big Sister, I was just helping them settle in. Tonight our troop is having a welcome party, so I won't be back for dinner. Could you pass the message to Susu?"

Susu, is that his wife?

"Doctor Chiang, let's go," Qi Taiguo called to Chiang Qing.

Chiang Qing's eyes twinkled, and she smiled at Mother Qi and Qi Fenglian, "Old Madam Qi, Aunt Qi, I'll be staying in the northwest side; we'll probably see each other often."

"Oh," Qi Fenglian responded distractedly.

"Hey, this woman seems to really like our Taiguo," Mother Qi remarked, watching Chiang Qing speak to Qi Taiguo.

Qi Fenglian pursed her lips and said, "I think she's not paying any attention to propriety. Taiguo is already married; she's coming on so close to him. What does that look like? Far too immodest."

Mother Qi was startled and looked over. Indeed, Chiang Qing was almost clinging to Taiguo's side.