

The 80s 331

Chapter 331: Piercing Through

As soon as Mother Qi's words were out, Qi Taiguo's heart sank, and sure enough, Cheng Su pulled open the door, lips pressed tightly together, giving him a cold look.

"Susu..." He walked over, trying to persuade her.

Cheng Su shook off his hand and said to Mother Qi, "Mother-in-law, let's not even mention that Taiguo and I have only been married for half a year, and there is no hurry if we don't have a child right away. But you didn't even inform me and used the trick of pretending to be ill to coax me into the hospital for a check-up, treating me like a fool? If you had any respect for me, you wouldn't resort to such tactics!"

She felt a serious blow to her self-esteem. She hadn't forgotten the doctor's look, the embarrassment of it all.

"What tricks, what tactics? It's just a check-up, if there's nothing wrong with your body, why fear a medical examination?" Mother Qi retorted with a darkened face.

She didn't understand. It was just a doctor's visit. Why was she reacting as if it were a matter of life and death? What was there to be so afraid of?

"I am not afraid of check-ups, provided they are voluntary, not deceived by you into a secret registration for a doctor's visit. I really thought you were unwell, only to find out my concern was a joke," Cheng Su said expressionlessly, with a cold laugh.

Mother Qi's gaze fluttered, and she retorted strongly, "I truly was feeling dizzy; I just took the opportunity to have you get a check-up for your own good!"

Cheng Su scoffed, "Mother-in-law, whether you're really feeling unwell or not, you know in your heart. Not to mention whether I'm sick or not, if I really had any issues and couldn't have children, would you want me and Taiguo to divorce, is that it?"

"Cheng Su!" Taiguo's heart tensed, grabbing her arm.

Qi Fenglian was also taken aback. His sister-in-law really did speak shockingly!

As for Mother Qi, her face was as ugly as if she had eaten excrement, so terrible that her pointing hand trembled, unable to speak a word.

"Mom, Xiao Bao is about to wake up. He'll probably cry if he doesn't see you, so go and comfort him," said Fenglian, seeing the mood was off and quickly urging Mother Qi to go into the room, sending a meaningful glance Taiguo's way.

Taiguo also urgently pulled Cheng Su into the room, "Susu, let's talk."

"Stand there, explain clearly what this means, this business about not being able to have children!" bellowed Mother Qi.

"Mom, she's just talking nonsense. Don't listen to her," Taiguo said, eyebrows knitted while casting a pleading look at Cheng Su.

Cheng Su looked at him indifferently, then addressed Mother Qi, "I won't hide it from you. I'm not planning to have children for the next year or two. Give up that thought. Taiguo has agreed to it!"

"Cheng Su!" Taiguo was a bit angry.

He hadn't expected Cheng Su to reveal their private agreement. Didn't she know his mother's heart was set on a grandchild? Was it really necessary to stab her in the heart like this?

Mother Qi was startled, looking at him incredulously, feeling a moment of dizziness, and she began to sway.

"Mom!" Fenglian shouted in alarm, holding her, "Taiguo!"

"Let's go, we're leaving for the countryside. We can't live here any longer. Let's leave right now!" Mother Qi said through gritted teeth, holding onto Fenglian's hand.

Taiguo, forced to let go of Cheng Su, came over to support the elder lady but was pushed away, only to see her pushing Fenglian into the room.

"Are you satisfied now?" Taiguo looked at Cheng Su.

Cheng Su met his gaze steadily, a glimmer of disappointment in her eyes. Without a word, she turned and went back into her room, closing the door behind her.

Taiguo felt a pang of panic. He moved instinctively toward her, but hearing Fenglian inside the room comforting their mother, he bit his lip and decided to go in and try to help calm things down first.
