

The 80s 494

Chapter 494: People Are Getting Cheaper

Qi Taiguo gave Chiang Qing a cold glare, but she pretended not to see it and leisurely picked up her cup to drink tea, as if the tea was particularly delicious.

Cheng Su's eyes narrowed slightly, and she said with a smile, "So, Old Qi, you still have a side unknown to others, huh?"

"Wife, I..." Qi Taiguo wanted to explain.

But Cheng Su cut him off, continuing, "However, you need to pick the right target for your jokes. Like Doctor Chiang here, you can't just joke around with her. She's still an unmarried young lady! If you ruin her reputation, what are you going to use to compensate her?"

Chiang Qing's tea-drinking paused.

Qi Taiguo's face turned serious, "I will definitely take my wife's teaching to heart and value our reputations."

Cheng Su patted his head, "A teachable child indeed."

Were these displays of affection just to make sure outsiders knew how close they were?

Chiang Qing put down her cup and stood up abruptly.

"Is Doctor Chiang leaving already? Stay a while longer, we haven't started dinner yet," said Cheng Su as she stood up.

Look at that, so uncultured, clearly wanting someone to leave but disguising it as an invitation to stay, leaving no room for criticism.

Chiang Qing thought resentfully, I won't do as you wish.

"No, it's not that. I just wanted to ask where the restroom is?" She suppressed the anger in her heart and asked with a smile.

Cheng Su pointed it out, thinking to herself, this seductive wretch really has no shame. Even after what she said, she still wants to cling to this place.

Cheng Su's eyes flickered toward Qi Taiguo with a slight glare, blaming this instigator for everything!

As soon as the bathroom door closed, Cheng Su crossed her arms and sneered, "Quite the joker, aren't you, Commander Qi!"

"Don't listen to her nonsense, she's just crazy," Qi Taiguo felt slightly uneasy, glanced back, and then spoke again, "Wife, my dear wife, please send her away. Just looking at her is making me feel annoyed!"

"She came here solely for you, and you feel annoyed? I think you're rather pleased with yourself, and awfully vain, too!" She extended her index finger and poked his chest.

Qi Taiguo took the opportunity to kiss her finger, saying, "You get rid of her first, and tonight, I'll do whatever you want."

Cheng Su raised her eyebrows, about to speak, when the bathroom door opened again. She quickly rolled her eyes and, as the sound of high heels approached from behind, deliberately pulled her finger away from Qi Taiguo's hand with a big gesture and glared at him.

Chiang Qing saw it all, her gaze hardening once again.

Were they flaunting their love in front of her on purpose, or were they always this affectionate?

"What were you two whispering about?" Chiang Qing asked casually.

"Nothing much, just chatting about this and that. Nowadays, with the reforms and opening up, everything is getting more expensive, except people are becoming cheaper. No matter how fragrant or stinky something is, they're always trying to get in on it, without considering any morals... Ah, Doctor Chiang, what's wrong? You suddenly look so pale. It couldn't be our tea that's making you feel sick, could it?" Cheng Su pushed Qi Taiguo, "I told you before that this aged Tieguanyin should've been thrown out, but you insisted on liking that taste. Tsk, it's not like it's aged Pu'er, pretending to be all cultured."

Chiang Qing glared, her hand over her mouth, flames practically shooting from her eyes.

Yet Cheng Su still looked concerned, "Doctor Chiang, if you feel unwell, you must tell us. It's rare for you to visit if something happens here, it would be our fault!"

Chiang Qing stood up, "I'm fine, it's getting late, I'm heading off." Then she looked at Qi Taiguo.

"Oh, then no need to see you out!" Cheng Su stood up as well and nudged Qi Taiguo with her mouth, "Go set the table for dinner, Old Qi. Doctor Chiang, take care on your way out!"