

WILL THE ALOOF BILLIONAIRE DIVORCE TODAY?

Chapter 15: The Toad Wants to Eat Swan Meat

He looked at the jade pendant on her neck, his eyes flickering slightly, but he said nothing.

Scarlett Yates followed his gaze downwards, froze for a moment, and gradually understood.

So, he wanted this jade pendant.

The jade pendant was originally a token of affection given to the Yates Family by the Saxon Family. Scarlett Yates accepted the money and agreed to break off the engagement with the Saxon Family. By rights, she should return the token.

But...

Although the jade pendant belonged to the Saxon Family, she had worn it since the day she was born. It was her closest accessory, and suddenly being asked to return it made Scarlett Yates a bit reluctant.

Just a moment's hesitation and delay led to Matthew Saxon's misunderstanding, mistakenly thinking she intended to keep it for herself and not return it.

His disdain and disgust were written all over his face, without any consideration. He extended his long arm and violently pulled Scarlett Yates into his arms.

Scarlett Yates struggled, "Let go of me."

His cool fingers brushed against the skin on her chest, grabbed the necklace, and pulled hard...

And so, what followed was a scene that once again shocked everyone present.

In front of everyone, Young Master Saxon not only snatched all the money from a female student but also took the most valuable necklace from her.

The actions were brutish and violent, and his behavior was abominable.

Scarlett Yates couldn't believe she was robbed just like that, with so many onlookers, yet not a single person stepped forward to stop it.

No one dared to offend Matthew Saxon, this domineering second young master was someone they couldn't afford to cross.

Anyone who inadvertently provokes him can only hope for the best.

The onlookers all looked at Scarlett Yates with sympathy, shaking their heads, sighing as they sighed.

Such a pure and lovely girl, she seemed lovable, yet she was unlucky enough to provoke a demon, truly pitiable...

Matthew Saxon took the jade pendant and tossed the chain onto the table.

The jade pendant in his palm still carried the residual warmth from her body, making him frown uncomfortably.

A strong and angry gaze pierced towards him, Matthew Saxon put away the jade pendant and looked up to see Scarlett Yates still standing there.

Her face was ashen, her body trembling, and her dark eyes were red with anger.

Matthew Saxon's brow furrowed again, and he said coldly, "You can leave now."

Scarlett Yates stood still, stretched out her hand, her voice trembling with anger, "Give it back to me."

"Give it back?" Matthew Saxon said indifferently, "It never belonged to you, you have no right to ask for it back."

Her expression changed, unable to deny it, yet still unwilling in her heart. She looked at him angrily, "You can't just take it away..."

He had no patience to argue with her further, his eyes narrowed, and the temperature around them dropped a few degrees...

George acted on his cue and immediately called for security, "Take this young lady out."

Unable to timely prevent Scarlett Yates earlier had caused her to intrude into the restricted area, leading to a series of subsequent events that angered their young master.

This time, several security guards, with the intent to redeem their mistake, were no longer polite as they escorted Scarlett Yates straight out.

The security guards were all tall and strong, holding her one on each side. Scarlett Yates was like the filling in a sandwich, half twisted and half dragged out by the two men.

The lobby manager was afraid she would cause trouble again, so he had people closely watch her and forbade her from entering again.

--

Scarlett Yates stood penniless outside the hotel door.

Someone passed by her, first sneering with disdain, then mocking, "A toad wanting to eat swan meat, doesn't even see what she's like, still trying to use tricks to attract the attention of Young Master Saxon, really shameless."
