

The Deadly 105

Chapter 105 The Dunns Must Give Us an Exnation

Zachary, Grace, and Daniel quickly made their way to the front of the rooms determined to get awes

"Ms. Jennings, could you please verify the list of contractors? Are we missing from or

Amber disyed the contract list prominently for everyone

"Ladies and gentlemen, we have a total of 17 approved partners, and each of their contractste on the signing table to your left."

Grace, unwilling to ept this, pushed back. "Ms. Jenner, please take another look het Haven Realty listed among those contractors?"

"Earlier today, Mr. Dixon announced that there would be 20panies moving forward in the signing process, and Haven Realty was one of them. Why is that no longer the case? This feels decepriser Amber acknowledged her statement. "That"s correct. Mr. Dixon"s announcement did indude Haven Reality: along with the Miller Group and the Gill Group

"However, this list is not the final one for signing" she continued. The 20panies chosen today il require final approval from our group before they can officially partner with the Dunns "Following the CEO's review, threepanies were removed from that list

"Thosepanies are the Miller Group, Gill Group, and Haven Realty

■"Their qualifications did not meet the necessary standards for the Dunns Eastvale Ecological Projec partnership. As a result, we have finalized a list of 17 approvedpanies

"The slots left vacant by the removal of these threepanies were filled by selections made directly the CEO's office.

"Do you understand my exnation? If you represent Haven Reality, you should recognize way your qualifications were deemed insufficient."

Grace, filled with fury, pointed an using finger at Amber. "You Dunns are nothing but decertat You're going back on your word! Why aren't our qualifications adequate? You're just making excuses" Daniel attempted to intervene, but Grace's frustration had already erupted.

Alice joined in, equally enraged. This morning, we passed your qualification review, and now you're suddenly iming we don't meet the standards? The Dunns owe us an exnation"

In the back, Howard glanced at Robin and quietly remarked to Shirley, "M. Dunn do you see how situation could tarnish our reputation?"

Shirley shot him an icy glare but chose to remain silent

Howard assumed that Shirley was worried about the drama unfolding in front of them. -

Outside the signing hall, the media from Harmonfield had gathered in full force.

if this incident made headlines, it would swiftly point the finger as untrustworthy.

This could have devastating consequences for the Turin Gregis reputation

There was even a chance of a significant drop in their stock value

drop

Alice and Grace's heated remarks quickly hushed the crowd

Everyone was acutely aware that if the Burns failed to provide a convincing explanation, their reputation would take a serious blow, affecting their standing in the stock market. Amber frowned, remaining silent in the face of Alice and Grace's accusations.

After a tense pause, she said, "I think it's better if we don't discuss these issues here to avoid further complications-

Before Amber could finish, Grace interrupted, convinced the Dunns wouldn't justify their decision to remove Haven Realty and the other two companies.

No way! I demand to know why the Dunns are excluding us, or I won't let this go!

"If we don't get a reasonable answer right now, we'll take this outside the signing hall and let the media in Tarmonhield judge the situation!"

Alice hesitated, wanting to prevent Grace from escalating matters.

If this situation spiraled out of control, it could lead to losses for everyone involved.

After all, the three businesses were like tiny insects paled to the vast power of the Dunn Group.

But Grace, fueled by adrenaline, was undeterred.

She continued to point at Amber, demanding. "Are you going to give us a reasonable explanation or not?"

"I can offer you two pieces of advice, she stated firmly. First, reinstate all three of ourpanies to the official signing list for the Eastvale project.

"Second, if the Dunns intend to dismiss us like this, then we will ask all media in Harmonfield to judge this situation fairly!"

Daniel watched in rm as Grace confronted Amber, wishing he could stop her, but feeling it was toote.

Seeing Grace"s emotional outburst, Amber responded. "Ms. Moore, please try to calm down. The Dunn Group is not misleading anyone regarding the contract issues with our Eastvale Business District partners. "And we certainly won"t treat you unfairly. I hope you can approach this matter with a level head!

"If there"s anything you don"t understand, we can discuss it privately after the signing meeting.

The Dunns will not let sincere partners feel wronged.

If conditions allow, the Dunns will offer all interested partners more opportunities in other areas."
"No!" Grace retorted defiantly.

She sensed Amber"s tone suggested the Dunns felt guilty about the situation.

"The Dunns must give us an exnation! If you want to resolve this quietly, then add our names bark the signing list, and we'll consider it settled!"

Amber sighed heavily. "Ms. Moore, it's better to resolve matters peacefully. If you continue in this threatening manner, you might find yourself worse off

After saying this, she turned to Alice. "Ms. Miller, do you share the same sentiment?"

Caught off guard by Amber's sudden question, Alice struggled to respond.

Amber then turned her gaze to Zachary. "And you, Mr. Gill? What are your thought?

"Ms. Jennings, I... Zachary hesitated, unwilling to confront the Dunn Group directly.

He understood that even if the Dunn Group had a solid reason to deny them a contract, it wouldn't be surprising

However, if he provoked the Dunn Group too aggressively, he knew what the outcome would likely be

The Dunn Group, owned by the foremost family in Harmonfield, had always maintained a friendly from

Yet, few understood the terrifying methods they employed when angered.

If they carelessly provoked this powerful entity, the Gills and Millers would be crushed under the Dunns wrath.

In the face of the Dunns, they felt as small as ants.

Haven Realty was even less significant in this context.

Zachary couldn't believe Grace had the audacity to confront the Dunns so boldly in this environment

He nced at Grace, admiring yet puzzled by her daring spirit

She was acting so recklessly, simply unaware of the potential consequences!

He tugged at Alice from behind, hoping to persuade her. "Maybe we should Alice, meanwhile, was plotting an escape.

But when she noticed Robin standing next to Shirley with a smug expression, anger surged within her

This entire situation bore Robin's fingerprints!

That jrk is trying to show off in front of me, employing these underhanded tactics-disgusting!

Fine! Since you want to stir things up, I'll give you a show!

I'll ensure this escates!

Let's see how the Dunn Group deals with this mess and how Shirley will react to you!

Once I present my case, she'll make a mess of the Dunns. Will you even be able to keep working with them after this?

With that thought in mind, Alice replied coldly, "Of course we demand a reasonable exnation"

Zachary tried to pull her back. "Alice, please calm down. Let's discuss this....

Alice shook off Zachary's grip and continued, "We won't rest until we get a reasonable response from the Dunns today!"

Zachary thought to himself, This is it. It's over. Alice is acting just as irrationally as Grace

Seeing Alice join her cause, Grace became even more energized.

She turned away from Amber and called out to Shirley and Howard in the back. "Mr. Dixon, you made us a promise! How did we end up in this situation? Don't you have anything to say about this?" "Ms. Dunn, you always say the Dunns are trustworthy, fair, and just. But today, if you don't provide a reasonable explanation, how will the Dunns maintain their standing in Harmonfield?"
