

The Deadly 77

Chapter 77 Want To Know My Bottom Line, Huh?

Emma was pleased to hear Sam's response and took a step forward, pointing at Robin, and said, "Stop right there!"

"I already warned you in the parking lot. If you provoke me, get ready to face my boyfriend's wrath!"

Robin nced at Emma and said. "You're acting recklessly. Just go home and take your medicine!"

Looking at Raymond, who was covering his check, he shook his head, saying, "Don't you feel ashamed for a woman like this?"

Seeing Robin speak, Vera quickly pulled Raymond, saying, "Let's go!"

Seeing that Robin didn't even acknowledge him, Sam said angrily, "Kid, what's your deal? Are you me like I'm invisible?

treating

Robin gave him a nce. "Considering you as air is already apliment. You're just a nuisance. Get lost! I don't have time to listen to your babbling and waste my time." Robin's arrogant and dismissive attitude shocked everyone in the bar.

"Who is this guy? He even dares to talk back to the young master of the Brookhaven Martial Alliance. That's bold!"

"It seems like he knows Raymond

Sarah, Grace, and the others were startled.

They hadn't expected that the man brought along would be so reckless.

Perhaps he didn't even know that the man, in front of him was the eldest son leader of Brookhaven Martial Alliance?

Sarah quickly pulled Vera aside and whispered, "Vera, get him to apologize to Sam immediately."

Vera had initiall ye to persuade Raymond to stop the conflict, not realizing Robin also had past issues with Emma.

Now, even if she wanted to stop Robin from provoking them further, it was impossible.

Sam was infuriated and clenched his fists, ready to unleash his rage.

At that moment, two men came down from the second floor of the bar, surrounded by bodyguards who immediately encircled Robin. "Robin, I've been looking for you for a long time. Finally found you..." Vera looked up, recognizing that the neer was Eric!

Dmn it, just my luck. Running into this je k here as well!

Grace and the others were also stunned, whispering, "Vera, does Eric have issues with him too? Your friend really brings trouble!"

Vera knew that Eric was specifically here to hassle Robin over the incident a few days ago at Violetcrest

Bar

But seeing the fierce-looking man next to Eric, she was startled,

This man was Shaun, the nephew of Rygar.

Known as the reigning Harmonfield champion at the underground boxing arena in Abyssal Dominion.

Countless fighters fall each year to his iron fists.

Shaun is nicknamed the Harmonfield's Little Overlord of Abyssal Dominion.

His skills even surpass those of Rowan's.

Eric leaned towards Shaun, pointing at Robin. "Shaun, that's Robin. He's the one who beat me up at Violetcrest Bar.

Shaun raised his eyes, giving Robin a scrutinizing look

Meanwhile, not far away, Leo watched Shaun with interest.

So, he's the Harmonfield's Little Overlord of Abyssal Dominion? Tonight is turning out to be quite interesting.

Fiona whispered, "Sir, Mr. Leo said that our Poison King Sect's first obstacle in Abyssal Dominion would be. Demon's Den. It's said that Shaun Todd is Rygar's nephew, one of his best men." Leo didn't respond. He just smiled.

He didn't quite see it that way.

To uphold his reputation as the reigning champion of the underground boxing arena, Shaun Todd couldn't be a simple man.

At this point, some people in the bar crowd started whispering to each other.

"Who is that guy who dares to hit the second son of the Hamilton family?"

The Hamilton family held serious power in Harmonfield. Plus, they were on good terms with Mr. Rygar.

"Hitting the second son of the Hamilton family... is he looking for trouble?"

Tonight, Eric brought the Little Overlord here for revenge. This guy's about to be carried out horizontally!

Sarah and Emily, seeing the situation, quickly pulled Vera aside and whispered, "Vera, we should keep our distance from the man you brought!" Shaun and Sam looked like they were going to beat him up. It seems not going to be easy for him to leave. Before Vera could respond, Raymond also sensed the seriousness of the situation.

Feeling partly responsible, he stepped forward, saying, Robin, Vera, you two should leave. This has nothing to do with you."

Robin, who was about to leave, looked at Raymond, still bleeding from his face, and paused.

Unexpectedly, he saw that Raymond had some backbone.

Robin shoved Raymond aside, "Get back! What I do is none of your business."

Shaun, seeing Robin's arrogant stance, suddenly grew cold in his gaze,

At that moment, Sam, who had initially nneed to teach Robin a lesson, hesitated upon seeing this scene.

He exchanged a nce with Leo and said, "Didn't expect this guy to stir up so much trouble. Let's hold off and see what happens.

"It's obvious he's new to this scene and hasn't faced real consequences before, haha...

Raymond, pushed aside by Robin, regained some rity.

Watching Robin back, he felt a deep sense of guilt.

Because of his issues with Emma, he had attracted all these dangerous figures, dragging Robin into it as well.

The son of Brookhaven Martial Alliance leader.

The sect leader of Poison King Sect.

Even Shaun, the nephew of Harmonfield's Mr. Rygar and reigning champion of the Demon's Den underground arena, was now targeting Robin. However, Shaun and Eric didn't show up because of him.

If Vera hadn't brought Robin here for his sake, none of this would have happened.

Shaun took a step forward, looking coldly at Robin. "Did you hit Eric?"

At that moment, Robin's phone rang.

Robin didn't even glance at Shaun and answered his phone directly.

It was a call from Shirley.

"What's up, Ms. Dunn? Calling me sote?"

There was a pause on the other end before Shirley spoke, "Robin, could you stop calling me Ms. Dunn?"

"If I don't call you Ms. Dunn, what should I call you?" Robin was confused. Had she called him this just to say this?

"Just... just call me Shirley from now on. When you call me Ms. Dunn, it feels like you're addressing some stern teacher... is that okay?"

Robin thought for a moment. "Alright, I'll call you Shirley. So Shirley, what's up?"

There was silence on the other end for a while, as if she was covering her mouth to suppress augh. 3/5

After a while, Shirley spoke softly, "Robin, I've sent you the document for tomorrow morning's executive meeting at the Eastvale Development Company." Robin replied directly, "Alright, I'll take a look right away."

Ending the call, Robin opened his email and started reading the document Shirley had sent.

"Kid, I'm talking to you! Didn't you hear me? Are you ignoring me like I'm invisible?" Shaun, seeing Robinpletely dismiss him, was furious.

Robin shrugged. "Why should I care about you?"

Then he continued reading Shirley's email.

Robin words made everyone gasp in shock.

"What the... Is this guy crazy?"

"Did he seriously just talk to the Little Overlord like that?"

Sam let out a sneer, looking at Robin as if he were a clown.

In his mind, he imagined that the next moment, Robin would be dead on the spot.

Logan and the others were stunned; they hadn't expected the guy Vera brought along to be so reckless.

"Does he think he can survive after offending these people?"

He immediately pulled Grace aside, "Let's go quickly! If they redirect their anger toward us, we're in big trouble!

Grace nodded. "Vera, let's get out of here! If they remember we're with Robin, we're doomed."

But Vera didn't move.

She knew that, in front of Robin, these people were nothing to worry about..

Grace saw Vera and Raymond standing behind Robin without moving. The others decided to back away.

Fearing they'd be dragged into Robin Ramsey troubles

Eric watched Robin's reckless behavior in front of Shaur and nearly yuged himself sick.

"Robin, I don't know where you get your arrogance from, but what's giving you that confidence?"

At this moment, Robin finished reading the email and put away his phone.

He looked at Eric and said, "You want to know what gives me confidence, huh?"

Before Eric could react, Robin pped him across the face.

Eric flew out of the bar like a kite with its string cut, nding heavily on the steps outside.

A gasp echoed through the bar.

"Whoa! This guy actually pped the Hamilton family's second right in front of the Little Overlord? Is he insane?"

Shaun was instantly furious. "Kid, you really dared to hit him right in front of me?"

Robin mouth twitched slightly. "And who do you think you are? So what if I hit him in front of you?"