

The Enticing CEO's Chosen Bride Novel

Chapter 11

As soon as the old lady finished speaking, the quiet ward suddenly became lively.

"The chairman's son of the Harper Group?!"

"Yeah, he's been helping overseas companies grow for years, and now that they're stable, he's taking over the Harper family business officially!"

"I heard he's coming back in a couple of days!"

"Apparently, he's only 28 and is about to become the global CEO of the Harper Group! That's amazing!"

A wave of envious voices rose and fell, but then someone suddenly said realistically.

"He's so young and capable, but who knows what he looks like. He's been working so hard for the Harper Group's huge business; he might have gone bald already at such a young age

"Yeah, he must have attended a lot of social events. What a pity if he's a bald guy with a big belly!"

"Now that you mention it. My dad used to be a handsome guy when he was young, but ever since he had his own company..."

The room went from boiling excitement to a series of sighs.

In the end, everyone imagined the young chairman of the Harper Group as a bald guy with a big belly.

“But that’s still pretty good, after all, not everyone can attend the Harper Group’s banquets. Keira, your grandma is so nice!”

“Yeah, I’ll talk to my dad when I get home, see if he can take me!”

“Me too!”

“Same here.”

Seeing those women so eager, Keira sneered in her heart.

But on the outside, she still looked sweet and weak, nodding gently and saying “I understand, Grandma.”

Seeing Keira’s well-behaved and sensible appearance, Carolina was very satisfied.

Then she suddenly turned her head to look at Lance, who had been silent, and said, “Lance, you take Keira with you when the time comes.

Keira’s pretty little face immediately flushed, she gently bit her lip, and sneakily glanced at the handsome Lance beside her before quickly lowering her head.

Her shy appearance caught the attention of the men in the room

Lance’s tense mouth gradually relaxed, responding softly, “I will.”

Carolina nodded in satisfaction, then looked at Keira’s flushed face, a smile flickering in her eyes.

“You rest well, Keira I’ll go check the next door!”

Hearing this, Keira’s weak face revealed a hint of pleading. She looked up at Carolina and begged, “Grandma, my sister was underwater longer than me, and she just barely woke up. Please don’t get angry at her again.”

“Alright! Don’t worry about it! I know what I’m doing!”

After saying that, Carolina's face turned serious again, and she turned around Keira showed a sad expression, and as Nick and Viviana passed by her, she said,
"Dad, Mom, don't let Grandma get too angry"

"We know, we know! Silly girl!"

Viviana gave her a sideways glance, then followed Nick, whose face was also not looking too good, and accompanied Carolina out of the room.

In Chloe's room, she had been unconscious for three whole days and had no desire to sleep now. On the contrary, the long period without food made her stomach feel very uncomfortable

She wanted to get out of bed and find something to eat on her own, but at that moment, there was a knock on the door of the ward.
