Chapter 81

Chloe stared in shock at the scene unfolding before her, Rose's words from this afternoon flashing through her mind.

She shivered involuntarily.

This must be Keira's crazy fans.

From afar, she watched Nate get out of the driver's seat and expertly take down a few guys.

At the same time, a few security guards from the complex came running over.

When Nate got a chance, he made a call, and Damon's phone immediately rang.

"Hmm" The voice was filled with authority, without even opening his mouth.

"Sir, we have a situation here. I can handle it, but it'll take time." novelbin

"I know. Get to the bottom of this. Don't let these guys off the hook, no matter what!"

"Yes, sir!"

After it hung up, Chloe felt lost. She kept her eyes firmly on the scene, waiting for those people to leave before she could approach.

But then the scenery outside the window slowly started to move. She turned to Damon in surprise.

He was silently turning the car around.

"Damon, I haven't gotten out yet!"

"No!"

“But I’m home!”

After Damon turned the car around, he stepped on the gas and headed out of the complex.

“Damon!” Chloe growled in anger.

“Do you think you can still live there? Are you sure there aren’t other people lurking around to ambush you? What if someone breaks in while you’re sleeping? Chloe, think. Your personal information has been leaked! There are dangers you can’t even think of when you’re alone. Are you sure you still want to live there?”

“But I…”

“Come to my place.” Damon cut her off decisively.

“What?” Chloe was taken aback. She thought she must have misunderstood something.

“Come live with me.”

Chloe blinked, “At Grandmas? It’s late. if we suddenly turn around, it might scare her.”

Damon was silent for a moment, “You’re right.”

“So…”

Damon didn’t say anything more. The car slowly merged into the city traffic, heading north.

They drove along wide roads lined with fluffy flowers, took a few turns, and arrived at a mansion.

Behind the tall black and gold wrought iron gates was a majestic villa.

Surrounded by mountains and calm waters, a few tendrils of mist floated above the villa as night fell, giving it a mysterious aura.

Damon honked twice, and the villa lit up.

The gates slowly opened.

The car slowly drove in, winding past flower beds and fountains before stopping at the villa's entrance

"This is...."

"My house. You live here from now on."

Damon said gently, then unbuckled his seatbelt and leaned towards Chloe without a word.

Chloe immediately pressed her back against the seat, her eyes watching him warily.

Damon's sudden closeness, especially his unique cold and domineering aura, made Chloe tense up and hold her breath, her face red. Damon quickly noticed her tense and alert demeanor, his eyebrows furrowing slightly.

His gaze slid over her slightly heaving chest, then quickly looked into Chloe's eyes.

Then, ignoring Chloe's reaction, he leaned closer and closer to her under her astonished gaze.

Chapter 82

Chapter 82

Their breaths were mingling, so close that they could each feel the warmth of the other's breath.

Chloe's heart was about to leap out of her chest. She wanted to push him away, but he was so close that there was no room to flinch.

All she could do was lean back, but Damon moved in closer, their noses almost touching.

His scent enveloped her.

Chloe finally couldn't help but put her hand on Damon's shoulder.

"Damon."

She tried to stop him, but before she could get the words out, her lips brushed against his.

The cool temperature, the soft sensation.

Damon's eyes narrowed slightly, the brief contact making her nervous.

It was over before it even started, leaving a frustrating sense of regret.

The sight of those red, moist lips, the intoxicating fragrance, it was all too tempting novel

Chloe's hand on his shoulder clenched into a fist.

What the hell.

Was that considered her making the first move?

Damon lowered his gaze and unbuckled her seat belt.

"If I hadn't brought you here tonight, I would've definitely responded to that kiss."

"But bringing you to my place is already making you uncomfortable. If I took advantage of that, I wouldn't be a gentleman..."

After saying that, Damon paused and chuckled, "Even gangsters have their principles."

Chloe's tension gradually faded.

Damon then got out of the car and opened the door for her.

"Welcome to the gangster's lair. I have kidnaped you. Let's go, the future first lady of the gang."

Chloe blushed a little but got out of the car.

She took a quick look around – mountains and water surrounded the place.

She pursed her lips and chuckled lightly, "The location does make it seem like a typical gangster's den."

Damon grinned, "Then you better be careful. There's no turning back once you're in."

He led Chloe into the main house, where several servants stood respectfully.

"Prepare a guest room," Damon ordered.

"Yes, sir." The servant went off to do as told.

"It's getting late. You will stay in the guest room tonight. Tomorrow, you can look around, and you can choose to live in a few villas in the backyard."

"But, I can't, Damon. Tonight is enough."

Damon turned around, his voice frosty.

"I've been trying to avoid making you uncomfortable. Letting you choose a villa is the biggest concession I can make. You're in the back. I'm in the front. We're not under the same roof. It's a safe distance. What else are you worried about?"

*1..." Chloe bit her lip, frowning slightly. That wasn't what she meant.

Damon moved closer, gently brushing her hair off her shoulder, and looked at her intently.

"Don't feel embarrassed. Consider it as getting familiar with the place. Sooner or later, all of this will be yours." Chloe looked up at him, her lips moving but not making a sound, her clear eyes revealing a hint of helplessness. Damon smiled, "Don't look at me like that. If you dare to reject me, I don't mind doing what a gangster should do

Chapter 83

Chapter 83

Chloe did move into the guest room Damon had arranged for her

After a quick shower, she looked around the unfamiliar room and sighed in relief, feeling more at ease than she ever had before

She's always been the independent type, but being with Damon, she felt surprisingly secure

Remembering the scene she saw at the apartment building earlier, and those people's crazed actions, she felt a shiver go down her spine just thinking about a

If it hadn't been for Damon insisting on driving her home tonight, if he hadn't suggested Nate drive her car, she might have been in a horrific accident, losing her car and possibly her life

Thank goodness for Damon

Taking a deep breath, she finally climbed into the comfortable bed. Too much had happened today, draining all her energy

Meanwhile, in the study on the other side, Damon sat in a heavy chair, his eyes deep and dark

Keep the pressure on. Squeeze them hard. If they insist on going all out for that woman, let's see how tough they are

His voice was shallow, a mix of calm and arrogance that made Nate on the other end of the phone nervous, hurriedly responding with a respectful "Yes, sir"

The following day, the ethereal chirping of birds gently pulled Chloe from her slumber

Slowly opening her eyes, the unfamiliar room made her pause, but she quickly adjusted

Getting out of bed and opening the curtains, she couldn't help but gasp at the view outside

Having arrived under the cover of night, she could not clearly see her surroundings

Now, looking out at the miles of plain, neatly arranged green lawns had a few white cement paths winding through, and surrounded by lush woods an artificial river encircled the entire estate

The estate's beauty was beyond words, making her admire the wisdom and artistry of the architect and artisans who built it

But what she saw was just a small part of the estate.

How rich must one be to turn their home into a castle?

She couldn't wait to explore the place

Quickly heading into the bathroom for a quick wash and brush, Chloe left her room. novelbin

The living room downstairs was quiet, with the housekeepers busily tidying up, barely making a sound.

Seeing Chloe come down, they all stopped their work, nodding respectfully at her.

The leader was a middle-aged woman with a plain expression.

"Ms. Summers, you're awake"

Chloe nodded slightly, her voice a bit hoarse.

*Good morning"

A hint of surprise flashed in Marina's eyes, her tense face relaxing a bit.

"Please have breakfast, Ms. Summers."

Marina said respectfully as the housekeepers busily tidying up the living room quietly retreated.

But for some reason, Chloe felt something odd.

While it's normal for wealthy families to have a few housekeepers, they're not usually such deferential.

Could Damon be that intimidating?

Marina led her to the dining room, where breakfast was already laid out.

"Where's Damon?"

Shouldn't they have prepared breakfast for him too?

“The sir has gone to work. He instructed that after breakfast I should take you for a tour around the estate.”

“Oh.” Chloe nodded slowly, looking at the exquisite breakfast in front of her, and sat down.

After breakfast, Marina took her outside the villa

The earthy fragrance and the scent of fresh grass and the spring air mixed with the humidity of water made Chloe refreshed, she secretly admiring Damon for not compromising on his comforts to build such a magnificent estate in a place like P City Setting foot here felt even more impressive than the bedroom.

But while Chloe was enjoying her moment, things weren't going so well for Keira.

Meanwhile, Chloe seemed to be having a blast while Keira was going through a rough patch, having been upset about the whole thing all night.

The Incident last night that her fans went to Chloe's apartment to ambush Chloe and smash her car, came to light. novelbin

Keira initially thought that even if this incident blew up, it could be settled with money through a PR intervention, given the Summers family's reputation in P City.

But she never expected things to escalate this much. No matter how much the Public Relations Department tried to suppress the story, it kept spreading like wildfire. It was as if someone was deliberately working against them.

Every time their PR team paid to bury the news, someone would pay to keep it in the headlines! Every time they tried to push harder, the other side pushed back even more challenging every time they tried to push harder. Ultimately, “the topic idol Keira's crazy fans assault in vengeance for her” was getting hotter and hotter.

Of course, Keira's fans also vowed to protect their idol.

‘Most people know about what happened this afternoon at New World Plaza. A crazy woman smashed Keira’s Ferrari in broad daylight, who does she think she is? Even torturing her wouldn’t be enough!’

“Our Keira is kind and innocent, but that doesn’t mean anyone can bully her. Do they think we’re pushovers?”

“That wretched woman is jealous that our Keira replaced her at the Olson Group. She was kicked out of the Olson Group. Isn’t it obvious she’s seeking revenge? Wasn’t one of the cars she smashed the CEO of the Olson Group’s?”

“Gosh, she’s got no talent and resorts to such lowly measures. Not just smashing cars, she ought to be beaten to death!”

“What do you mean everyone knows about New World Plaza? You only care that your idol’s car was smashed, but have you ever thought about why she targeted her car at

“I was there today. Keira was driving her Ferrari not on the main road. But scraping against the curb and almost hitting people! Was she trying to draw attention by risking pe Just to show off her 8–million– dollar luxury car!”

“If she used my family to show off like that, I wouldn’t just smash her car. I’d slap her hundreds of times till her mom can’t recognize her!”

The incident at New World Plaza, which was just suppressed in the afternoon, was brought up again. However, in every video, Chloe’s to was blurred out.

Even “Chloe,” “Miss Summers family,” “Keira’s sister,” and all other phrases related to Chloe were banned. Any user using these words would be blocked.

It’s the same on all major online platforms, even in obscure forums.

Any intelligent person could see that Chloe had been completely shielded.

The person shielding Chloe also subtly warned them no one could harm Chloe.

Several entertainment bloggers with large fan bases cleverly understood the underlying stakes and unanimously posted articles siding with Chloe. Among these well-known bloggers, a few had a good reputation online. hence the online debate quickly and clearly presented the winner and the loser.

However, Keira's fans were not to be trifled with. They gathered at the entrance of Pulse Entertainment all night long, defending their idol online with their phones.

Keira was in her office at Summit Ridge High School, looking worried. Seeing her fans gathering downstairs didn't make her happy.

Who exactly is that commanding man in the car?

Chapter 85

Chapter 85

Who the hell was that guy? That was the question she couldn't stop thinking about!

Ever since this afternoon at New World Plaza, she felt the man in the car had a complicated identity.

And with tonight's events, she could sense his powerful aura through the internet.

What kind of man had Chloe come into contact with?

At this moment, Chen Na, Keira's assistant for two years, hurried into the office.

"Keira, we've got a problem."

Keira turned to look at her, "I can see that!"

Chen Na felt awkward, "Not this issue, but the police. They're not willing to release the people."

Keira's face darkened as she tightly held her phone, looking extremely upset.

"What do you mean they're not willing to release them? Haven't we already coordinated with the police station? Everything went smoothly in the past, why is it difficult this time?!" novelbin

“But...” Chen Na hesitated, but the answer was obvious.

Their opponent today was just too powerful.

Keira’s eyes were cold, and her heart filled with anger and jealousy.

Who on earth had Chloe met? Who was that man who showed up this afternoon? What kind of background did he have to wield such influence?

The company had invested a lot of effort and money to maintain good relations with various parties!

Her grandmother and father had personally dealt with some sensitive departments always with a smile on their faces!

How could the network of relationships built over more than a decade suddenly become so fragile?!

Keira was shaking with anger, “Who was Chloe’s driver tonight? Where is that man now?”

Chen Na shook her head, “I can’t contact with him. I asked the people at the police station, and they all said they didn’t know him. The police station won’t disclose any information, and my investigation attempts have been fruitless.”

“Keira, what should we do now? We can’t let those fans stay there for too long, or things will worsen.”

They initially thought getting those troublesome fans out of the police station would boost their popularity and make them more loyal to Keira, but things had taken an unexpected turn.

Keira clenched her teeth as their plan to solve this privately failed.

She rechecked the internet, and her fans on her side had already been silenced with the label “No quality”.

Looking at the fans’ comments, they seemed desperate due to the overwhelming numbers against them, starting to argue and even cursing, in foul language everywhere.

In the end, headlines like “Keira’s fans are fierce,” “Don’t mess with Keira’s fans,” and “Keira’s fans of infamy” dominated the trending topics.

Although there were many fans, the most eye-catching part was still “Keira.”

Keira’s hand holding the phone shook involuntarily. Trying to hold back her emotions, she clicked on the headline “Keira’s fans make a big splash”.

As expected, several posts including pictures, screenshots from Twitter, where fans’ comments had been translated into English, caused quite a stir. It was so embarrassing that it even reached international audience.

Chapter 86

Chapter 86

Keira couldn’t take it anymore and slammed her phone on the floor.

She had just gotten two endorsements overseas this year, and if things kept going like this, she worried she’d lose them too.

Just as she was thinking that her agent, Belinda, walked in with a gloomy face.

He came to her side, looked at the gathered fans outside the window, and sighed,

“Thanks to your fans, those two foreign advertisers have opted to terminate the contracts.”

Keira’s face turned pale!

Her first step into the international market was ruined just as she started expanding overseas.

“Tell them to get lost!”

In the end, they were causing her more trouble! Were they trying to support her or bring her down?! novelbin

“They’re all a bunch of idiots!”

Keira was so angry that she gritted her teeth. Finally, she sat down on the sofa and forced herself to calm down.

“First, get those people out of the police station...”

Nina and Belinda exchanged glances and hurriedly left the office.

But after a night of effort, the people in the police station still weren't released. Even Nick Summers' intervention didn't change anything.

Those locked up inside thought they would be bailed out quickly, but they were held for an entire night and started to panic.

Among them were a few young college students who had helped Keira deal with some trouble before, and after they helped her, she in turn helped them resolve any issues with any records.

So, when they were found by Keira's assistant again and learned that their idol was being bullied, they didn't hesitate to help her.

It wasn't the weekend, and they had classes. If they skipped school without a reason and the school found out, their futures would be ruined.

They anxiously waited, only for a lawyer in a suit to arrive in the end.

They were charged with breaking and entering, attempted murder, intentional destruction of property, illegally obtaining personal information, and picking fights. Just the attempted murder charge alone could result in a sentence of over ten years.

"What attempted murder? We never planned to kill anyone!"

After hearing such charges, they were at a loss.

But the gentlemanly lawyer just calmly adjusted his glasses and said indifferently, "Save it for the court."

"We didn't plan to kill anyone!"

All they got in response was a cold back turned on them.

Outside Pulse Entertainment, reporters and onlookers gathered.

The parents of the locked-up students made a scene and demanded Keira come out to explain.

They all had chat records of their children being instigated, as if they had arranged it in advance.

They were all official members of Keira's fan group, and a person in the group had found them and given them Chloe's home address, car model, and license plate number. And that person was the group's admin, Keira's assistant, Nina.

Inside the office, Nick, Viviana Reeves, and Keira's faces were all very heavy, and the atmosphere was extremely tense.

"Nina, things have gotten to this point, the company must make a statement," Nick said seriously.

Chapter 87

Chapter 87

Nina stood in front of her desk, sneering, "So you guys decided to let me take the fall for this, huh?"

"How can you say we're making you take the fall when you did it yourself? You've been Keira's assistant for two years, don't you know to be careful and cautious? Stirring up fans with your own account, what were you thinking?" novelbin Viviana retorted sharply, extremely dissatisfied with Nina's attitude.

"You think those fans are idiots? If I used a fake account to talk to them, who would believe it?"

"You... Who told you to go after her?!"

Viviana wanted to say more, but Nick interrupted her.

"Enough." Then he paused and looked at Nina with a sigh, "I know you're upset, but you were really careless. Just take responsibility for this and let it go."

Nina sneered again. But what could she do? As a minor character, how could she possibly fight against these big shots?

It's not like she was the one being wronged. If Keira hadn't been unable to hold back, she wouldn't have helped her.

In the end, Nina admitted to everything, saying that she had done it all on her own and that Keira knew nothing about it.

But she also said that she had only wanted to help Keira and had not encouraged them to do anything too extreme. What they did afterward was their own business and had nothing to do with her. Nina tried her best to defend herself.

Keira remained being the innocent princess. Later, Pulse Entertainment officially issued a statement asking all fans to calm down and included the news of two overseas endorsements being canceled.

Keira paid a heavy price for her fans' extreme actions. But at the press conference, she appeared calm and composed, not minding at all. She even thanked her fans for their support and protection but urged them to be calm and rational in the future.

With her beautiful face showing deep exhaustion and haggardness, she instantly won everyone's sympathy. Keira's fans stopped making excessive comments, and the controversy on the internet gradually diminished.

The online storm slowly died down, with Keira taking the biggest hit.

Although she tried her best to salvage the situation, the two lost endorsements could never be regained.

The bigger challenge was at the police station, where the mysterious man seemed determined to make those people pay.

With the parents causing a fuss, the company had no choice but to temporarily arrange lawyers to appease them.

At the Harper Group, Nate was summarizing the incident.

"Sir, the person directly responsible has been identified. A junior assistant from Pulse Entertainment took all the blame. Keira lost two international endorsements, and Pulse Entertainment has arranged lawyers for the individuals directly responsible."

Damon was dealing with documents, and his voice was cold.

"Can't we win the lawsuit?"

“We can!” The lawyer beside him immediately replied.

As for the Summers family, it was still unclear how much affection the woman had left for them.

“Sir, Marina told me that Ms. Summers really loves Pinewood Manor. She even has her lunches on the lawn by the lake.”

Damon, who had been focused on his work, finally stopped when he heard this and smiled slightly.

“I’m glad she likes it.”

Nate remained expressionless. This must be the sweetness of love.

“Ms. Summers is so in love with the manor that she doesn’t even know about the incident online today!”

Damon squinted his eyes and then nodded, saying:

“Then let’s remove all the news from the internet to avoid her getting upset if she sees it.”

“Alright!”

Ah, the sweetness of love.

Chapter 88

Chapter 88

The online dispute has died down for now, but the aftershocks are still there. Pulse Entertainment tried hard to get major websites to remove the related news, but they never succeeded. Just when they were out of ideas, ready to give up and look for other solutions, the major websites suddenly accepted the high offer from Pulse Entertainment and took down the news one after another.

Within minutes, the news about this incident vanished without a trace, as if a gust of wind blew past, leaving no mark behind.

This move caught Pulse Entertainment off guard, forcing them to pay an unprecedentedly high price and causing them to lose nearly ten million in an instant.

Keira took a deep breath but still looked puzzled at Nick and Viviana.

“Why did they suddenly decide to take down the news?”

I’m not sure, maybe they misunderstood you, so they took it down? Viviana said uncertainly.

“Maybe they’ve already spent all the money they had left, so the websites accepted our money!”

This got Keira very excited.

Apparently, the guy Chloe found was nothing special after all.

Chloe loved it here.

Here, she could stay away from the worldly troubles outside, and lived her ideal life.

She loved here so much that she wished time could stop.

After spending some time together, Marina’s vigilance toward Chloe gradually decreased.

Chloe had a quiet and elegant temperament, like a breeze. She seemed cold, but in fact, she was not aggressive at all. She always maintained a proper distance from the gentleman, harboring no ambitions to any of them.

“There are several villas in the manor, the last one has a hot spring next to it, and there are a few plum trees beside the hot spring. The snowfall in winter should be a beautiful sight to see

Marina said lightly, thinking that this woman would probably like this place.

“Plum blossoms?”

“The gentleman specially planted most of the plants in the manor at a very high price.”

Chloe was slightly surprised.

Marina took Chloe to the villa in the backyard, “Ms. Summers, the gentleman said you can choose a villa to live in.”

Chloe frowned slightly, feeling inappropriate living in someone else’s house.

Seeing her hesitation, Marina said lightly,

“Ms. Summers, this manor is the gentleman’s private residence. Since it was built, besides his few friends, you are the only woman who has been brought here.”

Chloe smiled faintly, “So what?”

“You are special to the gentleman. So whatever decision he makes, it’s for your own good.” Marina spoke calmly.

Chloe’s eyes flickered.

Whatever decision he makes, it’s for her own good.

Although it was just a simple sentence, Chloe’s heart couldn’t help but tremble.

There were very few people in this world who were good to her.

Chloe eventually chose the first villa temporarily, the one closest to the main building.

In the afternoon, Chloe toured the manor again, but this time she had a purpose.

As a perfumer, plant fragrances were her main concern.

At six in the evening, Chloe was still busy in the yard.

“Ms. Summers, it’s time for dinner.”

Chloe stopped her work, “Has Damon returned?”

“Not yet.”

“Then let’s wait for him to eat together.” novelbin

After saying this, Chloe continued her work.

Marina opened her mouth, but in the end, she just said “okay” and turned to leave.

Ms. Summers might not know that the gentleman has been so busy these days that he has hardly returned.

Yesterday was his first time here since returning to the country.

Chapter 89

Chapter 89

Marina went back to her room, thought for a moment, and decided to give Damon a call anyway

“Amen. “His voice was low and cold

“Su, are you still at the office?

Even though Manns was being super careful Demon could still sense something was up

He stayed silent for less than a second, which made Marina feel even more pressured

She knew that Damon didn’t like anyone disturbing his work

She immediately said, Ms Summers mentioned she’d like to have dinner with you tonight

Damon’s eyes flashed with surprise. He glanced at the unfinished paperwork beside him, hesitated for two seconds, and then put the papers down

‘T be right there”

“Ainight, sir

Marina replied and then hung up the phone

At 7 pm, an understated but luxurious car slowly pulled into the mansion

Chloe was sitting on the living room sofs, feeling sleepy es she hadn't taken a nap during the day

When Damon walked in, he saw her dozing off on the sofa, leaning on the armrest with her her slightly scamered on her shoulders, and her wekes sparking under the

She was taking a little nap with her head down

Marina was about to greet Damon, but she was stopped by his hand. Then she quirly left the room

Damon approached the sofs, and the light above Chilor's head cast a halo around her

He couldn't help but bend down, gently brushing away the hair on her shoulder

Chloe smelled the familiar scent, opened her eyes, and saw Damon's face

Her heartbeat suddenly quickened, and she moved her body backward, creating some distance between then,

"You're back?"

Damon didn't answer, he just straightened up

"Why are you sleeping here? Aren't you afraid of catching a cold?" novelbin

It's fine, I just took a short nap "Chibe said, standing up.

She glanced at the clock above the TV, "Do you always come home this latex

Damon had already taken off his suit jacket, and he casually replied, Tm used to it

Chloe frowned slightly That wasn't a good habit.

He had already entered the bathroom on the first floor

During dinner, the only sound was the clinking of porcelain,

As Chibe was almost finished eating, she said, The chosen the first villa at the back to stay in. I look for a place in a couple of days, so I hope it's not too much trouble for your Damon put down his knives and forks and elegantly wiped the corner of his mouth.

Then he looked at Chiloe, 1 don't mind. You can stay here without worrying about anything"

Chice shook her head with a smile, "u, s not quite right

Damon's eyes gradually turned serious, "But yourut!

Chibe booked at him, sensing that his mood seemed to be off, but just as she was about to say something a phone suddenly rang in the living room

It was Chibe's phone ringing

She picked up a napkin to wipe her mouth, then got up and walked to the living room to pick up the phone.

Upon seeing the caller ID on the screen, her beautiful face instantly

Chapter 90

Chapter 90

The phone kept ringing for a long time, and it wasn't until Damon walked up behind her that she finally picked it up.

"Why did it take you so long to answer?"

As soon as the call connected, she heard Nick's annoyed voice.

Chloe's tone was cold, "What do you want?"

"Jeez, can't I just call you when there's nothing up?"

The living room was very quiet, and Nick's voice was loud and clear. Chloe couldn't help but move the phone slightly away from her ear, glancing at Damon, who was glaring at her, and then turned her back.

“If there’s nothing, I’m hanging up”

“Come home tomorrow!” Nick demanded.

“Why?” Chloe scoffed, knowing full well why

Today, she slapped Keira at New World Plaza and smashed her car. She knew Keira would definitely go home and cry about it.

The Summers family loved to settle scores later, and she had completely gotten used to it.

This time, she knew they naturally wanted to get justice for Keira.

“We’ll talk more when you come back!” Nick said impatiently.

She thought the call would end there, but Nick added, “Your grandpa misses you. Think about how long it’s been since you last saw him!”

Chloe wasn’t planning on going back, but Nick’s last sentence weighed heavily on her heart.

Grandpa...

The only person she cared about in the Summers family was her grandpa.

When she was young, her grandpa doted on her. She would act spoiled in his arms, sit on his shoulders, fly kites, and fish with him, and he even braided her hair, even though it wasn’t pretty.

She wasn’t a heartless person. And after all these years, the only one who might still care about her was her grandpa.

She had to go see him, it had been a long time since she last saw him, maybe half a year.

After hanging up, Chloe pressed the cold phone to her forehead and took a deep breath.

Turning around, she looked at Damon, who was still in the living room, and said

"I might have to go back to my family tomorrow."

"I'll have someone take you." novelbin

Chloe nodded. From here to her family, she indeed needed someone to take her.

"Do

you want to go for a walk?" Damon asked, looking at her. "It's good to get some exercise after dinner." "Sure. The environment here was nice, so going for a walk after dinner was a good choice.

There was a big temperature difference in early spring. It was warm during the day, but chilly at night. Damon grabbed a suit jacket before going out and draped it over Chloe's shoulders as they left.

Chloe looked at him and felt a warmth inside.

She tightened the jacket around her and discovered that his scent was really nice.

A faint, cool fragrance, she pictured Damon's unique scent in her mind.

"What are you thinking about?" Damon asked.

"Your scent."

Chloe answered without hesitation, and Damon's steps gradually slowed.

Chloe turned to face him, and her face slightly flushed, "What I mean is... in this world, what kind of scent could match you?"

A hint of amusement flickered in Damon's eyes, "Are you planning to customize a perfume for me?"

"Would you use it?"

"Of course. I'd want it to be one of a kind."
