Chapter 1121

Before Philip knew what was going on, two security guards had rushed over and taken him down.

“Hey, what is this? When did I touch you? I just accidentally bumped into you,” Philip explained with a look of anger.

What was the situation?

He could not even take a walk without being regarded as a pervert now?!

Zee could not care less. Relying on her status as a celebrity, she pointed at Philip and reprimanded, “It’s you! Just now, you pretended to be making a call, walked past me, and tried to touch me!”

As she said this, she turned her head to look at the security guards and reprimanded, “What’s the matter with you? How could you let such people in? Do you know that I’m Zee of Flame Girls? I’m here to participate in Elizabeth Cruise’s performance tonight. If anything happens to me, can you bear the consequences?”

Zee felt that she was completely justified and gave all sorts of unforgiving remarks.

All the surrounding brainwashed fans on the scene also supported Zee enthusiastically.

“Yes! Just how are you security guards maintaining the scene here? What if people break in and hurt our Zee?”

“Goddess Zee, don’t be angry. Don’t worry, we’ll expose this guy for you!”

“Too disgusting! Too disgraceful! How dare he defile our baby Zee?!”

Suddenly, those brain-dead fans pointed at Philip one after another, cursing at him with all kinds of vulgar and condemning words.

Zee, with her hands around her chest, stood aside as if she was watching a show. She looked at Philip victoriously and said, “You’re finished!”

Very quickly, Tim asked his assistant to call the head of the High Seas Chamber of Commerce, Jonas Sachs. He was the head butler of the Elizabeth family and the highest person in charge of this chamber of commerce.

At the same time, Jonas had been in this country for 13 years, working for the Elizabeth family.

He was also the regional president of the Elizabeth family in Orienta.

At the same time in the largest and most luxurious main hall of White Horse Hotel.

A lot of prominent people from all over the world gathered, and almost all nationalities were present.

In the center of this group of people, a man who looked to be about 40 or 50 years old, wearing gold-framed glasses, was introducing something to the people around him.

Obviously, the people around him fawned over Jonas.

After all, he was the head of the High Seas Chamber of Commerce tonight, the steward of the Elizabeth family!

It was an eminent position!

It could be said that he was the person with the strongest identity and background in the audience. a good relationship with such a person, it would practically mean that the company or family would face fewer struggles for 10 or even

"Boy, I'm warning you, quickly get lost! If our captain sees you here, the consequences will be disastrous! Also, don't force us to be rough. We're all civilized..."

The chubby security guard was p*ssed even before he finished speaking.

It was because Philip had pulled a chair directly from the security station on the side and sat down on it swaggeringly.

Furthermore, he also propped his legs up and crossed his arms, looking indifferent and casual.

That was right.

Philip was waiting, waiting for the person in charge to come over and apologize to him!

“Damn it! Kid, hurry up and get lost! You really want us to use force on you, huh? We’re trained in martial arts and masters of Taekwondo!”

The fat security guard was already very dissatisfied.

Was this guy blatantly provoking them?

If he refused to listen to advice, then they would use force!

Philip frowned slightly. Martial arts and Taekwondo?

He could not be bothered with these two security guards and said directly, “I’m waiting for your person in charge to come over and apologize to me!”

“Boy, stop playing tricks and get out! This is the final warning! This place is closed to the public today!”

Captain Jackson lost all patience and shouted.

It was getting very busy inside. He did not have the time to play around with kids.

With that said, Captain Jackson ordered the two security guards, “You two, hurry up and throw him out. Don’t affect the admission of the guests. If the guests inside notice anything and it affects the reputation of White Horse Hotel, you have to answer for it!”

“Yes, Captain!”

The two security guards quickly nodded.

Then, they turned around and looked at Philip with cold faces. Holding the anti-riot batons in their hands, they squeezed them in their palms and said viciously, “Young man, we already warned you just now. Don’t be stupid. Now, get out or we’ll do it for you!”

However, Philip still looked calm while gazing at the three of them.

At this moment, the two security guards were irritated, and they were about to use force on Philip!

However, in the next second, a sharp yell rang behind them!

“Stop! You fools!”

Jonas rushed over at this moment. Seeing this scene, his eyes were spitting fire as he was furious!

For a while, Jackson and the two security guards were afraid to speak. They only looked at Philip suspiciously and uneasily.

How could this be possible?

How could this hillbilly, with his unremarkable appearance, be the guest of honor?

All the guests entering the venue were escorted by luxury cars, and even the rich second-generation would drive over in person.

As a VIP, he should at least have a Roll-Royce to send him here, right?

"President, is there a misunderstanding? How could this guy be a VIP? Just look at him. Which part of him looks like a VIP? He looks more like a penniless loafer."

Jackson could not believe the scene before his eyes.

The other two security guards were quick to agree. "Yes, how could he be a VIP? Just now, this guy was kicked out because he insulted the girl group, Flame Girls. Many people at the scene can testify."

When Jackson heard this, he immediately glared at the fat security guard and shouted, "Why didn't you say it earlier?!"

Philip angrily. He shouted, "President, you heard that clearly. This guy is a rogue, definitely not the VIP you're referring to. He must be impersonating someone.

Hearing that, Jackson was very frightened. He staggered to Philip on his knees and bowed repeatedly, saying, "Mr. Clarke, I'm sorry, please forgive my ill manners. Please let us go this time. We won't do it again!"

With that, Jackson and the two security guards put their heads on the ground, shaking all over.

Fear filled their hearts.

Who would have thought that an ordinary man could have such a big background?!

He had a status higher than that of Jonas Sachs!

Originally, Jonas was already the person with the highest status in the audience tonight. He was also the head butler of the royal family and the president of the domestic region!

Now, it was inconceivable that such a highly-regarded person actually respected the ordinary man in front of him so much!

Thus, Jackson finally realized what a big mistake he had made. He was practically dancing on the edge of death now!

Philip did not speak. He lowered his eyebrows and looked down at the three people who were kneeling in front of him before walking over directly.

Zee looked over doubtfully too. It was indeed familiar.

"Hey, why do I feel like he's the pervert who touched you just now?"

The girl in the pink dress blinked her big eyes that had on glittering eyeshadow and covered her small mouth while saying in surprise.

Hearing that, Zee took a few serious glances before jeering, "How is it possible that the pervert is a person who Jonas Sachs would receive in person? Just think about it. That scum was kicked out a long time ago. This person's back just looks a little familiar, that's all."

Zee refused to believe that the pervert could be a VIP.

That would be a world-class joke!

"Hey, Zee, what if that's really the case? You had always dreamed of marrying into a wealthy family. If you've offended a rich young master, are you going to beg for forgiveness by offering yourself?"

The girl in the pink dress nudged at Zee's waist, deliberately teasing her.

Zee turned around and rolled her eyes at her before joining in the teasing too. "Are you still talking nonsense? If he really turns out to be a rich young master, I'll gouge my eyeballs and quit the entertainment circle."

Zee said so confidently. While speaking, she glanced in the direction of the side door.

At this time, two people hurriedly walked over from the side door of the clubhouse's hall—a man and a woman.

The man was in his 40s, wearing a black suit with his hair combed back. There was a conspicuous gold watch on his wrist and a string of praying beads in his hand. The sleek face revealed the steadiness and cunningness of a businessman.

A person of faith was easier to communicate with.

The woman was likely his assistant. She was very young, in her 20s, and very beautiful with a sexy figure and black-framed glasses. Her hair was tied into a ponytail, and she was wearing a white shirt paired with a red skirt.

The moment she saw Philip, the female assistant bowed and smiled slightly. She gently pushed the frame of the glasses with her left hand, appearing quite intellectual.

Philip looked sideways at Jonas who stood respectfully behind him.

Jonas hurriedly extended his arms and explained animatedly, "Dear Mr. Clarke, let me introduce you. This is the president of the hotel and the club, Kyle Lent. He's also the person in charge before we board the cruise tonight. I'm the one who told him to come here and meet Mr. Clarke."

Philip nodded, stretched out his hand, shook hands with Kyle, and said, "Mr. Lent, it's nice to meet you."

Kyle nodded hurriedly and shook Philip's hand with a face full of excitement. He smiled and said, "Mr. Clarke, you're too polite. I didn't expect Mr. Clarke, who is held in high regards by President Sachs, to be so young."

Philip shrugged and said with a smile, "Why shouldn't I be here?"

Upon hearing this, Zee suddenly exploded in anger and gritted her teeth.

With a frown, she crossed her arms around her chest, put on a ferocious mocking look on her face, and said, "Hehe, for a pervert like you to get in here, you're quite capable. You can't be an employee here, right? A janitor, perhaps?"

Zee looked down on Philip. This guy was dressed in ordinary casual clothes. Although he was not too bad-looking, compared to the rich second-generation young masters and bosses here today, he was nothing but a stinking fleabag.

Exceptionally putrid!

Too bad. Some people were simply incomparable.

Philip raised his eyebrows, somewhat helpless.

Before he came here, he had deliberately changed his clothes to look unassuming, but they were not that bad.

Who would have thought that the rich second-generation young masters coming here tonight would be so exaggerated and show off like that?

In comparison, Philip was really less than mediocre.

Zee rolled her colorful eyes and continued with the unbridled mockery. "Why, can't you answer? Aren't you getting out of my way yet? Don't stand in the way of others! If you delay my business, you can't afford the consequences!"

Having said that, Zee pushed Philip away roughly and walked ahead with her straight, slender fair legs.

Instantly, the two security guards were anxious.

This was the only route leading to the private clubhouse. Both of them went out for a smoke just now and walked around. Unexpectedly, they encountered such a situation!

Would ordinary people appear here?

After they saw Zee, they were even more certain that the young man opposite was the troublemaker!

Of course, they could recognize their goddess, Zee. They were die-hard fans too!

Zee was the guest performer for tonight!

Thus, the thief she spoke of must be that man!

As such, they immediately walked toward Philip coldly and pointed at him while yelling, “Hey, you. Put your hands on your head and stand against the wall!”

However, as soon as they finished shouting, Philip only looked at them coldly. They were suddenly shocked.
