

The First Heir 124

Chapter 124

Juan was startled. With a suspicious look, he said, "What do you mean?"

Suddenly, he felt that the Philip in front of him today was a little different. However, he could not really put a finger on what was different about Philip.

Philip said indifferently, "Don't worry about it. I just want to tell you that I can do what you can't do."

Philip had endured Juan's provocation for a long time.

Today, he did not mind letting Juan know about his actual capabilities.

"Philip, have you gone mad? Are you trying to tell me that the patient that Professor Turner is meeting today is Mila?" Juan said in a mocking tone with a cold expression in his eyes.

'Who does this piece of trash think he is? Professor Turner is a legend. Even for someone with my background, I had to beg him for a long time. So how can someone like Philip get in contact with him?'

Philip did not deny it but instead smiled faintly. "You'll find out in a while."

"Okay, Philip, you have become a better liar now. Do you know how much work it takes to get Professor Turner to see a patient? There are hundreds of rich and powerful people asking for him every day... But do you think that just because one is rich and powerful, they can get Professor Turner to take them on as a patient? Do you know how many entrepreneurs and rich people have been rejected by Professor Turner?"

Juan looked at Philip sarcastically, his expression cold. "Professor Turner's medical fees alone cost several million. Can you afford that?"

Philip. The main issue here was that it was really almost impossible to get Professor Turner perhaps Professor Turner would not even to Wynn's arms and said calmly, "Nothing is absolute. How can you be so sure that I can't get his head to look at Wynn and pointed at Philip accusingly, "Wynn, are you seeing this? Philip is not even blushing when he is lying.

not in contact with Professor Turner, don't worry about it. There is no need to talk about this to embarrass Philip. She turned to Juan with a smile, "Juan, sorry, don't blame Philip. I really appreciate you helping me, but you also know how it is with Mila's condition. We'll also did not want to embarrass touch with Professor Turner, but I hope you will consider whether Philip can give you and Mila a good life.

not even blush after such an obvious said coldly, "Juan, you don't need to worry about Wynn and Mila's

He was very upset.

bring to the table for Wynn and was the one that had nothing to show moment, Philip's phone rang. The tension between him and Juan noticed that it was Professor you?" Professor Turner was being today for a long time and brought was to conduct a targeted check-up with Mr. Clarke's daughter and optimize a treatment emergency room building," wait for me." Professor Turner