Chapter 1341

Connor's eyes went red as he was pinned to the ground.

This was his first time being insulted like this in his life!

Utter humiliation!

"I'm making a vow today. If I don't revoke your status as the heir and if I don't expel you from the Clarke family, I, Connor Clarke, will hang myself in the family's memorial hall!"

Connor roared in a cold voice with deep hatred in his eyes!

Philip looked indifferent and smiled lightly, saying, "When the time comes, I'll prepare a good coffin for you!"

"You!"

Connor was so angry that he almost vomited blood!

Philip was simply too arrogant!

Following that, Philip turned around and walked over to Levi who was also pinned to the ground.

"You did these?" Wynn asked with a heartbroken expression.

Vincent Foley, now with a bruised and swollen face, begged desperately, "Madam Johnston, I was wrong. I won't do this again. I was just confused."

Wynn stopped looking at him, and Philip ordered his men, "Take him out, break his limbs, and throw him out into the streets. Let him fend for himself."

Immediately after, Vincent's frantic cries were heard as he got dragged out!

Wynn felt a little distraught and wanted to plead for mercy, but Philip said, "Your kind-heartedness is an opportunity for them to harm you, understand?"

Wynn bit her red lip and nodded.

Soon, everyone left Burton Manor.

On the way back, Wynn asked tentatively, "Phil, can you tell me who you are now? What is the Clarke family? What's up with those people today?"

Eight people.

They were none other than the eight Dragon Warriors!

Although Crawford knew what had happened at Dragon Gate that night, he could not help but ask worriedly at this moment, "Young Master Clarke, are you sure you'll only let the eight of them compete? We're facing a group of martial arts representatives from 23 countries and regions this time. Do you need me to select more outstanding national arts talents..."

Crawford was not looking down on the eight Dragon Warriors. It was just that he was worried.

After all, they were facing the martial arts delegations of 23 countries and regions.

Moreover, the tournament this time was a challenge to the whole world. In case something went wrong, the entire national martial arts circle would bear the shame.

Therefore, Crawford had to proceed with caution.

Philip shook his head and said, "No need. Just arrange it like this. Also, make a public announcement tonight that only eight participants from the national martial arts circle will challenge all the martial arts delegations. If anyone from the eight loses, our national martial arts will withdraw from the World Martial Arts Association."

After Philip said that, the members of the Jensen family who filled the room looked incredulous.

Even the six Aces were shocked.

Back to Wynn. She and Lydia were in a bedroom having a girl's talk.

"Sister Wynn, let me ask you something. If I like a man but this man has someone he likes and it will always stay that way, should I give up?" Lydia asked, blinking her big soulful eyes.

Wynn sat on the bed, rubbed her stomach, and asked, "How much do you like that man?"

"I can die for him," Lydia quickly replied.

Wynn thought for a moment and said, "Liking someone is up to the individual. If you really like him, find the opportunity to express your feelings. If the other party still refuses, I'd give the other party my blessing and leave. Because if you really like someone, you won't cause trouble to the other party."

"What about love?" Lydia asked again.

Wynn raised her head, looked at the window, and a pretty smile appeared on her mouth. She said, "Love is a matter between two people. Only when you love each other can it be called love."

Lydia pouted with her hands propped on her chin, asking, "Isn't like and love the same? Isn't love also liking someone?"

Wynn smiled and said, "You're still young and don't understand. Like is like, love is love. It's not the same."

Lydia shook her head and said, "It's so difficult."

Uppercreek was exceptionally busy and lively today.

All the TV stations and platforms were broadcasting today's world tournament live. It had already created a lot of hype both domestically and internationally!

Early in the morning, the martial arts delegations of 23 countries and regions went from their respective hotels to the world tournament venue in specially assigned vehicles.

The main roads in the entire city leading to the venue of the world tournament were closed to the public!

This was also to ensure that the participating delegations could arrive at the venue on time.

On the street, many tourists and local citizens looked at the luxury cars that sped past in front of them with excited gazes.

Many foreign tourists asked in confusion, "Holy sh*t, what's happening in Uppercreek today? Why are there so many luxurious cars? Even the roads are closed."

"Yeah, it seems very lively. Where are they going?"

The locals laughed and explained, "Are you from out of town? Today is the Martial Arts World Tournament. The national martial arts circle will be challenging the global martial arts alliance right here in Uppercreek Square."

"World tournament? It sounds very impressive. Is it very exciting?" someone asked.

In front of the surveillance screens, seven or eight middle-aged men and women in black suits were looking at the screens seriously.

Among them, the middle-aged man with a square jaw was the Mr. Cole who the person was referring to, Mitch Cole.

He turned around, stood with his hands behind his back, and solemnly commanded, "Monitor closely. No emergencies can occur! Also, those forces that snuck in under disguise must be monitored one-on-one. If they do anything that crosses the line in any way, take them down directly!"

"Yes, sir!" the man in the combat uniform replied respectfully, turned around, and went out.

Inside the tent, Mitch looked at the 3D electronic map and said to his men next to him, "Contact Crawford Jensen and find out how long it'll take for them to arrive. Also, report our deployment to Supreme Williams."

"Yes, sir," another man answered.

There was another middle-aged man with a round face and wearing glasses. He always had a smile on his face. Looking at the surveillance screens, he asked Mitch, "Mr. Cole, why are you making such a big deal this time? Who are you trying to guard against?"

He just came in and was temporarily reassigned to this mission from the higher-ups.

Hannah was already dressed up at the moment, sitting on the bed and waiting for Margot's arrival.

The door of the ward was pushed open. Margot was dressed in a black trench coat paired with a long red dress, looking very enchanting and charming.

No matter from which angle, she was a woman with the poise of a vixen who could entice people's hearts with just one look and a smile.

"Sister Margot, you're finally here."

Hannah raised her small face, looked at Margot with a smile, and could not wait to get up to leave.

Margot shook her head helplessly and looked at the somewhat excited Hannah, saying, "Are you really in such a hurry to get there?"

Hannah smiled sweetly and said, "I want to see my brother."

With that said, Hannah got up and took Margot's arm to go out.

However, Margot did not move. She looked at Hannah with some helplessness and guilt as she whispered, "I'm sorry, we may not be able to go."

Hearing this, Hannah's heart trembled and her hand dropped from Margot's arm. She looked at the other party in confusion and asked, "Why?"

Margot did not answer.

Roxy came back to her senses and turned around to follow Mobius into the hospital.
Soon, they came to the ward that Philip had mentioned but only saw the nurse making the bed.
"Nurse, where's the patient here?"
Roxy frowned and panicked.
The nurse said, "She's been discharged."
"Discharged?"
Mobius anxiously asked, "Do you know where she went?"
The nurse shook her head and left the ward.
Inside the ward, Mobius and Roxy looked at each other in surprise.

After Philip gave the orders, a cold light burst from his eyes.

Whoever dared to take Hannah away, no matter who the other party was, Philip would track them down to the end!

Even if he had to turn the entire Uppercreek upside down, Philip must find his sister!

“Phil, how is it?”

At this time, Wynn walked out of the car while supporting her stomach. She had a worried look on her face.

Philip hurriedly walked over, helped Wynn, and said, “It’s okay, I’ll handle it. I’ll have someone send you back to the hotel first.”

Coincidentally, Lydia’s car arrived.

She jumped out of the car, hurriedly jogged over, and asked, “What’s the matter, Brother Philip?”

Philip glanced at Lydia and said, “You came just in time. Go back to the hotel with your sister-in-law. I have some things to deal with here.”

Lydia pouted in agreement and left the hospital following Wynn’s car.

Or, a civilization?

"Hey, what are you thinking?" Fennel asked.

Philip's eyes darkened as he said, "The door, what kind of existence is it?"

"You can think of it as a special organization full of lunatics, and these lunatics don't usually come out. Those who have come out from there have achieved success or became giants. Take, for example, Supreme Reed Williams. He's a disciple. Moreover, the lords of the 12 Sacred Halls of the West are also disciples," Fennel explained briefly.

Speaking of the 12 Sacred Halls of the West, Philip suddenly thought of something and said, "By the way, do you know Lord Hades?"

On the other end of the phone, there was a sudden silence. With a hint of chill, Fennel asked, "Does Hades, that son of a b*tch, have friction with you?"
