

The First Heir 1371

Chapter 1371

This apology was heard by the entire audience and the viewers all around the world watching the live broadcasts!

The Lopez family had officially bowed their heads to the national martial arts!

At this moment, the entire venue was abuzz!

Many people hugged each other and cried for joy!

It had not been easy!

The national martial arts had been in decline in recent years and was constantly criticized by many people, even humiliated by foreign martial arts circles.

The inheritors of the national martial arts, as well as the disciples of national martial arts families, had long had enough!

Among them, the Fusha martial arts circle had been targeting the national martial arts. In major competitions, the criticism toward and humiliation of national martial arts had never stopped!

However, today, the Lopez family, the first family of Fusha boxing, apologized to the national martial arts!

Everyone was excited!

Many heads and disciples of national martial arts families had reddened eyes at this moment.

Mitch Cole continued, "Are you aware of the 12 Sacred Halls of the West, Young Master?"

Philip nodded and said, "I know a little about their existence. You may continue."

"According to the comprehensive information we received, a total of four forces from different halls have snuck in during the world tournament earlier. We have arranged for monitoring and tracking of these people in batches."

While Mitch was talking, the monitoring screen simultaneously displayed the personnel distribution of the four forces of the halls.

"We have identified the identities of these people. They belong to Hades, the King of the Underworld, and Poseidon, the God of the Sea. We have yet to determine the remaining two forces," Mitch said.

Philip's eyes twitched as he looked at the monitoring screen. He fell into deep thought before asking, "Have you found out what's their intention?"

Mitch shook his head and said, "We don't know yet. Earlier, these people just pretended to be part of the crowd and snuck in. They haven't done anything that crossed the line.

"However, a few minutes ago, we lost contact with the squad that we arranged to tail the five members from the Hall of Hades. Since then, we haven't been able to reach them."

On the other end of the phone, a middle-aged man's voice said heartily, "No problem. I'll dispatch however many people you need and make immediate arrangements for you."

Philip thought for a while and gave an estimate, "Three combatant squads."

"Sure. Will it be enough? If not, I can send more," Tim Clarke replied.

Philip smiled and said, "It's enough. Too many will only attract attention."

The reason for this personnel transfer was just to make a trip to Country M and visit the Hall of Hades.

Too many people would make it difficult to cross the border.

Tim hummed before saying in a low voice, "By the way, I need to ask you. Did you detain Connor Clarke, Allen Clarke, and Levi Clarke of the branch family?"

After hanging up the phone, Philip did not stay here for long but returned to the hotel with Josh and the others.

The aftermath of the world tournament was handed over to the Jensen family.

As for Connor Clarke and the rest, they were being watched over by Theo's people. They were simply confined in a hotel without any other excessive treatment.

Several of them were confined in the room with good food and drinks. They just could not communicate with the outside world.

"It's too hateful! How dare Philip detain us like this?!"

Allen was very emotional at the moment, pacing around the room with a face full of anger!

Connor took it in stride. He sat on the sofa calmly, drinking coffee and reading the newspaper. He said, "Allen, don't wander around. Just sit and be at ease. I'd like to see what that little guy can do."

"Connor, why are you so calm? Philip is trying to make a move against our branch family!"

When did this kid arrive?

Had Philip heard their conversation just now?

Connor's face darkened as a cold glint appeared in his eyes.

Allen and Levi also panicked. After all, what they had just discussed was too confidential. They wanted to step over the line and attempt to seize the main Clarke family's power!

Anyone who heard it would be surprised!

Furthermore, standing at the door was the heir of the Clarke family, Philip Clarke!

This was bad!

Levi glanced at Connor and whispered, "Grandpa, what should we do? Do you think he heard everything?"

Levi was still a little flustered. After all, if the main family heard those treacherous words just now, he could really be expelled from the Clarke family!

Philip had raised his hand and slapped Connor directly on the face angrily. He then shouted darkly, "Old man, show some respect! Wynn is my wife and the young madam of the Clarke family! As long as I take her back, add her to the family registry, and receive initiation at the memorial hall, even you, Connor Clarke, and your branch family will have to kneel down and respect her!"

Philip was angry. Connor, this old thing, was relying on his seniority in the branch family to ignore him, the heir of the main Clarke family!

Of course, this slap also made Connor angry.

He stared at Philip with round eyes while gasping for breath, shouting furiously, "Philip Clarke, how dare you hit me?! I'm Connor Clarke, the most senior person in the Clarke family! Even if your father is here, he wouldn't dare to make a move against me!"

Connor was livid!

As an elder, he was actually hit in the face by a junior with a shaky foundation!

If news of this got out, how could he gain a foothold in the branch family?

Allen also shouted coldly at this moment, "Philip, you're being too reckless! What you did just now has violated the Clarke family's rules! You're being brash and disrespectful! I must go back and report this matter to the elders of the Law Enforcement Hall and make sure that your father punishes you severely!”

Connor Clarke was more than 80 years old and had never been afraid of anyone!

How dare a junior make a bet with him?

Okay then, he would fulfill his wish of courting death!

Since Philip said so, he would have no worries about making a move against the main family!

“Good, let’s put it on paper then.” Philip suddenly asked his men to bring over a pen and paper.

Connor got angry and shouted, “Don’t you believe what I said?”

Philip chuckled. “It’s not that I don’t believe you, but I need a guarantee—one that allows me to strike out at your branch family without any misgivings.”

Only a handful of people knew about this plan.

It was because this plan was too earth-shattering, tantamount to undermining the foundation of the main family!

If Roger Clarke found out about it, he would no longer tolerate the branch family!

Connor nodded and said, "Get the manpower ready. Once we have the results, for better or worse, we must capture that b*tch!"

"Yes, Grandpa!" Levi nodded in response.

Back to Fulton Hash. He was currently talking to someone over the phone with a respectful look in his eyes, saying, "My lord, I have something to report to you. Connor Clarke and Levi Clarke of the branch family have made a move against the young madam. Their aim is most likely the door."

An old voice sounded from the other end of the phone, and from his tone, the man seemed to have known about it for a long time. He said without any emotional fluctuations, "I know. They're still too anxious, so eager to get their hands on the door and to achieve their unspeakable motives. But they forgot one thing—the door is not accessible to just anyone."

Hearing that, Philip's brows furrowed deeply and his face became extremely gloomy!

Wylan Jensen, the outcast of the Jensen family!

How dare he kidnap Wynn and Mila?!

He was looking for death!

Philip had already given him a way out, but unexpectedly, he still came looking for death!

Very well!

The killing intent in Philip's eyes was obvious, and all the men at the scene were horrified because they could sense an extremely strong murderous aura coming from Philip who was in front of them!

Philip was angry.

"Where's Lydia Jensen?" Philip asked. After all, he had told Lydia to stay with Wynn.

The man replied, "She's also been kidnapped. There were too many people on the other side and they were all very strong. We weren't a match for them."

The man was very upset.

Philip's frown deepened as he understood the situation.

Mila opened her eyes and murmured in pain, "Mom, it hurts."

Wynn held Mila in her arms as she stared resentfully at Wylan, shouting hysterically, "You b*stard! She's still a child. Just come at me if there's anything!"

Wylan sneered, waved his hand, and said to the two men behind him, "Take that kid out."

"Yes, Master Jensen."

The two men responded, rushed over fiercely, and snatched Mila away from Wynn's arms!

Of course, Wynn was unwilling to let go of her daughter. She pounced on them, grabbed their hands, and yelled out, "No, give her back to me! Give her back! Please don't take her!"
