

The First Heir 150

Chapter 150

“Director Wade, this old man shall thank you then. Next year, I plan to invest in the construction of a police school to support the social development of Riverdale,” George said.

Gulp!

Deaton was dumbfounded!

A police school?!

It was shocking! Too astounding!

“Thank you for your great support toward our work! I’ll handle the matter personally. Please wait for a moment, and I’ll definitely give you a satisfactory answer!”

Deaton hurriedly thanked George before hanging up the phone. He then took a long breath and recovered from the shock.

Afterward, Deaton hastily donned his hat and prepared to go out.

Apart from excitement, there was also anger!

To have randomly arrested the young master of Mr. Thomas, his men were too reckless!

At this time, the phone on his desk rang again.

Deaton was already very anxious. He grabbed the receiver and asked impatiently, “Who is this? Can’t you call back later?”

His tone was extremely unfriendly.
