Chapter 2421

Faced with such intensive firepower, even a disciple of the fourth zone would choose to evade or launch defense. However, at that moment, Philip faced the firepower head-on and raised his arms.

Boom!

Endless raging energy pressure surged around him, and a steel wall half a meter thick suddenly appeared in front of his hands. At this moment, the steel bars and some metallic objects in the walls of the surrounding buildings flew toward the steel wall at high speed. They merged into the wall that was now the size of half a basketball court.

Boom!

Rat-tat-tat!

Rapid firepower bombarded that steel wall and caused an explosion that blasted into the sky. The scene was like modern warfare and looked very shocking.

At that time, several tracking missiles went around the steel wall and blasted right at Philip. Philip's eyes were cold as he raised his hand and grabbed the missiles with flaming tails.

He was actually the Sun God Apollo.

'Oh my God!' Talina felt a little flustered.

In the West, Sun God Apollo was taboo.

At this time, in the surrounding streets and distant sky, dozens of armored vehicles and battle tanks, as well as several Apache fighters, suddenly approached at high speed. All the artillery muzzles and focus points were aimed at this group of guards surrounding Fennel and Philip.

The leaders were naturally Hans and Georgina. They brought nearly a hundred guards and surrounded the place.

Thud!

Hans jumped down from the battle tank in his combat boots with a heavy machine gun in his hand and several missiles on his back. He looked like a battle maniac. He glanced coldly at Talina in the crowd, and the golden sun badge on his chest was extremely eye-catching.

Rikes walked over and humbly asked, "Lord Envoy, what should we do next?"

Talina glared at Rikes angrily and said, "Hmph! Keep a close eye on them and let me know if there's any unusual movement! Also, notify the Fantastic Four who are on a mission and have them rush back immediately!"

With cold sweat on his forehead, Rikes said, "Yes, my lord!"

Finally, Talina took a last glance at Fennel's departing group before she turned around and got into a large Mercedes SUV.

"Go back!" Talina said coldly to the driver.

Then, the car started and headed back to the Hall of the Underworld's base camp in Sendona.

At this time, the door of the suite was pushed open.

Talina strutted in while swaying her hips. She stood behind Hades, lowered her head, and said apologetically, "I'm sorry, Lord Hades, I failed."

At this moment, Hades took the warm towel brought by the servant on a gold tray and wiped the sweat from his face. He hummed in a muffled voice, turned around to look at Talina, and asked, "Have you seen him?"

Talina hurriedly replied respectfully, "Yes, I have."

"What do you think?" Hades asked.

Talina hesitated for a moment and said, "Very strong..."

Hades smiled and said with a nod, "If I went up against him, who do you think will win?"

Talina replied, "My honored Lord Hades, of course. Apollo, that coward, is not worthy to be compared to Lord Hades!"

A group of guards training in the Hall of the Sun stood forward. Hans also stood among them. He was the most indignant. In his heart, Sun God Apollo was the only one worthy of his respect and obedience.

No one else!

Hans was not even willing to listen to the Strategist, but he had high prestige in the Hall of the Sun. Many times, Hans had no choice but to obey orders.

"Okay, then. Let's try out the standards of the so-called Hall of the Sun," Philip said casually.

He knew that Fennel did this on purpose.

Seeing Philip's nonchalance, many people got annoyed.

“Wasn’t he just appointed the position? How pretentious!”

Philip shook his head helplessly and met Tyler’s punch easily. Philip turned around smoothly, switched the punch he had prepared to a palm strike, and knocked Tyler down with a simple attack using his palm.

The rules here stated that they could not use the strength of a disciple indiscriminately.

After all, no one could afford for anything to happen. Thus, they could only rely on their physical strength. At this point, dead silence filled the training ground. Tyler quickly got up from the ground, his face full of disbelief.

“Impossible! I wasn’t prepared just now. Let’s start again!”

Philip stood in the same spot and looked around. He saw everyone’s questioning gazes. Hence, he cleared his throat, and his voice echoed clearly on the training ground.

“All of you can come at me together.”

As he said that, everyone was a little stunned, but they soon started talking loudly.

“What is he talking about? How dare he ask us to attack him together? We have nearly 100 people here!”

Philip was helpless and followed Fennel out of the base camp of the Hall of the Sun. Hans and Georgina followed closely behind them.

Hans now admired Philip from the bottom of his heart because he was a man who revered strength. Now, in his mind, the boss was number one and Philip was number two. Hence, he followed with a chuckle and said, “Philip, teach me something next time. The moves you did just now were simply too dashing!”

Philip smiled. He could tell that Hans was a man true to his nature. He was very forthright.

“No problem,” Philip replied.

Hans grinned broadly. Fennel also shook his head helplessly and chuckled.

The three men walked toward a jeep parked on the side of the road. Georgina followed closely behind, her eyes stuck on Fennel. They were full of admiration. Even though Philip was amazing enough just now, in her heart, Apollo was unbeatable!

"Black and White Furies? What an unusual name." Philip frowned.

Fennel responded, "They've gone through countless life and death battles with Hades for many years. They're the killing machines that Hades personally developed. In the 12 Sacred Halls of the West, excluding the 12 hall masters, the strength of these two can be ranked in the top ten among the envoys."

Philip nodded at his words, and his gaze fell on Hans who was chatting with a hot girl over there. He asked, "What about in comparison to him?"

Fennel shook his head and said, "Hans is not a match for the two of them, but if it's one on one, Hans can draw a tie with either of them. If it's one against two, Hans' chances of winning are very low. Even for me, it's a little tricky."

"They're that powerful?" Philip was a little surprised.

Fennel shrugged, while Georgina interrupted from the other side, "That's because the ability of Black and White Furies is quite special."

"Special?" Philip was puzzled.

According to Fennel, the strength of the Black and White Furies was ranked in the top ten among the envoys. Fennel was the king of disciples in the fifth zone, so in terms of strength, it should be easy to deal with them.

The man who grabbed Hans' collar looked angry. He clenched his fist, waved it in front of Hans, and said, "Brat! Look at my fist. I can easily beat you to the ground!"

After saying that, he looked at his friends around him with a smile and said smugly, "Look, this is a loser from the East. Hahaha, watch how I beat him to his knees until he begs for mercy!"

The people around also raised the drinks in their hands and cheered. "Yeah, Charlie, f*ck him up!"

Immediately, someone shouted, "Oh, it's the Michael family! Look at the symbol of the golden cobra on their chests!"

"They must be here to avenge Charlie! Those damned Orientas who offended the Michael family are doomed!"

"Guess who will show up? Rick Michael or Matlin Michael?"

Fennel and the others had just gotten up from the booth when they were surrounded by a group of bodyguards in suits with the golden cobra logo on their chests.

"What Michael family?" Philip asked in puzzlement.

Georgina replied, "The Michael family is one of the four great families in Sendona. They control a quarter of the economy in Sendona and also own the largest casino and bar here! They're the king of the casinos and bars here in Sendona! Moreover, they have the backing of the Hall of Evil. Their patriarch is one of the great envoys of the Hall of Evil! This family of theirs is the most vengeful. It seems that the person Hans dealt with just now is a member of the Michael family."

Hans' face was ugly at the moment. He yelled as he stepped forward, "Damn it! The hell with the Michael family! And that Rick Michael has been pissing me off since day one! If not for the boss preventing me from making a move, I'd have killed him long ago!"

The Michael family had had contact with the Hall of the Sun. Of course, it was over some financial dispute. However, because the patriarch of the Michael family was one of the seven envoys of the Hall of Evil, Fennel never crossed the line.
