

The First Heir 3231

Chapter 3231

At this moment, everyone noticed that Philip and his team were right in the middle.

Even Cougar was startled when he saw this and asked, "How did you get in the middle?"

Cougar knew that the people in Cougar Squad had opinions about Philip and his team, and there was no reason to protect them at all. Thus, Cougar was curious about this situation, which was why he asked.

However, his words made the people in Cougar Squad think that their commander was standing up for them.

Someone promptly made a sarcastic remark, "How else could they have gotten to the middle? It must be because they're timid and afraid of dying. They're the Women's Brigade after all, but they insist on coming here to act as heroes!"

Leopard and Iris were angry when they heard this and were about to charge at those people. However, Philip stopped Leopard and chuckled.

He said, "Iris, switch positions with Emily now. You'll stand on guard."

Philip stepped up to the person who spoke just

Philip's voice was sharp.

"Our heroes, since you guys are so amazing, we shall hand over the lookout mission to you."

This was the team that took first place on the virtual battlefield test. The person who spoke to Philip was none other than their captain.

In the sudden battle just now, their team was also one of the few teams with zero casualties.

Hearing that, Philip simply nodded.

“Switch teams every two hours. Four teams will go together.”

The Cougar Squad members seemed receptive to Philip’s orders and did not have any opinions.

Leopard followed behind Philip and asked along the way, “Boss, why should we listen to him? He’s not a commander!”

Philip simply smiled at Leopard’s remark.

“No matter what, rotating lookout duties can’t be avoided. Every team is the same and will be on the lookout sooner or later!”

At this time, the four guarded one direction of Cougar Squad, but this time, they were not on the trees but under the trees. The four stood in a square with their backs to their teammates. However, those black humanoid creatures seemed quiet. It had been more than half an hour with no signs of those creatures.

Bang!

Bang! Bang!

Several gunshots scared the man away.

Philip looked into the distance and saw Lorna standing not far away. Two women with sniper rifles in their hands stood behind her.

"I thought you were powerful, but it seems I was mistaken. You actually allowed someone to sneak up on you and control you. It seems that I overestimated you!"

Lorna kept mocking Philip.

Philip simply chuckled. He did not explain nor saw the need to explain. Some things were not meant to be explained. Moreover, this matter was of great significance to Philip. However, at this moment, Philip suddenly saw a black figure flying behind Lorna.

Leopard grinned at Philip and said, "They're over there. I completed my mission. I protected them!"

Philip nodded.

Looking at the two shivering on the side, Philip said, "Attack!"

Hearing Philip's roar, Iris said to Philip, "No way, it won't work. Our attack can only leave a small wound on its body. We can't stop it at all!"

Emily also said anxiously, "My attack has no effect on it at all!"

Philip frowned. This seemed quite interesting.

Philip started observing the exotic beast, which looked like a large Tibetan Mastiff. Although it did not make a move, it had been staring at Philip the whole time.

That man said grimly, "What do you mean by that? Are you saying that we didn't save you on purpose?"

Philip snorted. By doing this, they forced themselves into a corner. If anything else happened after this, Philip would definitely not help the people of Cougar Squad again.

At first, Philip thought that they were just unhappy with him, but they would still take action at a critical moment. However, Philip realized now that he had overestimated them.

At this time, Cougar arrived. "Philip, what's the matter? What happened?"

Philip shook his head and said, "It's no big deal. Everything's settled."

After saying that, Philip did not even look at Cougar. Although Cougar knew that something was wrong, he did not know what was going on, so he could only pull someone to the side.

Philip knew that the other party had noticed something amiss, but they were also silent. Just like Philip, they started looking for cover.

In fact, Philip had used the communicator to notify Cougar while he was supporting Leopard.

His message only contained two words, 'tails behind'.

But, Cougar did not reveal anything. He did not even turn his head around and simply walked ahead. Nonetheless, Philip noticed several people on the edge slowly leaving the larger group.

Not long after walking ahead, Philip saw a few people from Cougar Squad walking over with several people in tow. They were the people who left the team.

Seeing this scene, Philip instinctively felt that something was wrong because instead of the fear of being caught, these people had faint smiles on their faces.

Lorna approached. It seemed that she wanted to make a move just now, but Cougar did not give her the chance.

“Members of Cougar Squad, listen up. From now on, we’ll set up camp here and triple the lookout range!”

As Cougar gave this order, Lorna followed suit.

Cougar then waved his hand to Philip and said, “Philip, come here. I want to talk to you.”

Philip walked to Cougar.

Cougar sighed and said, “I think someone must have premeditated this attack on us today. Our equipment is now useless. I want you to go back and get some people to bring us some gear.”

Philip knew that Cougar was feeling resentful at being ambushed. However, he did not believe that the other party went to such efforts just to trap them here.

With a whistling sound, the flames rushed toward the giant black humanoid creature.

Roar!

The giant opened its mouth and swallowed the fireball thrown by Philip.

Boom!

The body of the black humanoid swelled and burst into flames. It quickly became a huge fireball. Due to the connecting black threads, the flames spread to the rest of the black humanoid creatures too.

In an instant, the entire area was drowned in flames. However, Philip's flames could not stop the giant. It took one step forward and punched Philip!

While thinking, Philip walked forward.

At Philip's command, the other three followed Philip from a distance. However, before he got far, Philip found many traps under his feet, which were laid out by wood and fire elemental practitioners.

Lush greenery was wrapped around the violent fire element. If the greenery was triggered, the fire element would be released.

With this discovery, Philip dared not move on a whim. Although he could find these traps, the three teammates behind him could not. Once they touched the trap, a chain explosion awaited.

Philip took a deep breath and motioned for them to stop. However, at this moment, two people suddenly appeared behind a tree not far away.

One was short and the other was tall.

When they saw Philip stop, they said to Philip, "Not bad. You actually discovered the traps we set up. It seems that the people of Cougar Squad have made a lot of progress!"

As soon as Philip finished speaking, someone laughed and said, "If you want to turn back now, I can only say that you're too naive!"

Philip turned around abruptly and saw the captain of First Team from Arlene Shannon's family!

"It's you..." Philip was startled.

The captain smiled and said to Philip, "It's me alright. I've been planning for years in the Shannon family, just waiting for this opportunity!"

Philip immediately realized. This captain was a dark elemental practitioner. Now that he found this dark elemental mine, he would never let it slip through his fingers.

"So you mobilized so many people to ambush us just to occupy this dark elemental mine?"

Hearing that Philip knew about the mine, the captain's expression changed immediately.
