Chapter 3431

Without further ado, the snake rushed at Philip at an extremely fast speed. It arrived in front of Philip in an instant and bit his head.

“Have you brushed your teeth?”

Philip could not help scowling. He slapped the snake on the forehead, and a burst of energy burst out from the snake’s body in an instant.

The figure that was more than 30 feet long flew away and smashed several trees before barely coming to a stop. It was covered all over in blood, obviously seriously injured.

“How dare you come out and eat people with your skills? I’m speechless.” Philip could not help mocking.

Compared to the wolfman earlier, this snake was worse off.

With that thought in mind, Philip rushed forward, intending to kill the snake quickly. However, in the next second, there was a whistling sound through the air, and Philip dodged sideways.

The next moment, an arrow pierced into the ground beside Philip.

“You do have some moves, but even if you can kill one, how many more can you kill? I can make countless of these things!”

The man noticed that Philip had seen through the nature of those things and said with a sneer.

Philip frowned slightly. He disliked such mass attacks the most, so he did not expect to encounter such a situation today.

He had wasted some energy fighting the wolfman earlier, and now he had to deal with this guy. Although it was not a big problem, Philip still felt a little annoyed.

“Cut the crap. I’m going to kill you today!” Philip said lightly and turned the Caelum Sword in his hand.

‘He’s quite strong, but compared to the wolfman, his survival instinct is still lacking by far...” Philip mumbled, comparing the wolfman and this guy.

In the end, he concluded that the wolfman was half-human, half-beast, while this guy was an ordinary human, so there was no comparison.

Philip walked up to the man and pulled out Caelum Sword. After wiping the blood on the sword, he rummaged through the man’s belongings, hoping to find something that could identify him.

Sure enough, Philip found a token in the man's pocket after a while. The token was black with some strange characters engraved on it. Philip had no idea what it meant, but it should be some kind of identity token.

"A guild? Interesting..." Philip mumbled but did not think too much about it.

He put away the token and set a fire to burn the body. Then, he wanted to deal with the snake but found that the snake had escaped!

"I've underestimated you, but that's about it. No matter what your reason for doing this is, it has nothing to do with me. But since you want to kill me, I can't let you go!" Philip said coldly, and the atmosphere around him changed instantly.

Murderous intent swept over, and the two women felt as if they were hallucinating. In their minds, Philip looked like a Grim Reaper, stepping on a floor full of corpses as he approached them.

"Damn it, who the hell is this guy?" At this time, the woman in silver armor felt a little uncertain and could not help mumbling.

She promptly grabbed her sister, wanting to run away. However, in the next second, a cold light pierced her body. A sharp blade pierced through her lower abdomen with a spray of blood and flesh.

"Pfft!" The woman spat a mouthful of blood and staggered, almost falling to the ground.

"Sister!"

Blood spattered from the woman's mouth. She looked at Philip with resentment and fell to the ground with a plop.

Seeing this, Philip frowned slightly. Although the two were a bit pitiful, he could not be merciful since the other party wanted to kill him. After all, he was not a saint, and he would not settle such grievances with a smile.

However, when Philip was about to kill these two people, a force suddenly came from a distance. Philip instinctively raised Caelum Sword to block in front of him.

With a bang, Philip was sent flying. The floor cracked due to inertia, and smoke billowed in the alley for a while.

"Who's there?" Philip scolded coldly and patted off the dust on his body.

Although he was not injured, he still felt upset.

His arm that held Caelum Sword felt a little sore, which went to show how powerful that blow was.

"How dare you tease me? Go to hell!"

The woman grimaced and looked at Philip as if she wanted to swallow him alive!

Philip was a little startled, wondering why the woman's eyes were more terrifying than that wolfman's eyes. Sure enough, women were not creatures one could easily mess with!

The woman ignored Philip's stupefied look. She took out a sharp longsword from somewhere and slashed at Philip's head. This sword looked very sharp, as thin as a cicada's wing, and almost transparent.

It looked very strange, but the vibes made Philip dare not underestimate it. Seeing the longsword slashing toward him, he quickly dodged. The longsword tore open a hole several yards long in the ground.

Philip took a deep breath at that sight. He knew that he met his match this time. This woman's combat power was definitely not comparable to those people before. He dared not take it lightly and promptly activated the power of Caelum Sword.

There were gaps all over. It was as if the joints were not close enough, making her look like a robot. However, her behavior was no different from that of a living person, which confused Philip.

But, in the next second, he realized that the opponent had launched an attack, and it was obviously too late to dodge.

Philip was engulfed in the sword shadows, which destroyed everything within a 100-yard radius, and smoke billowed.

The woman sneered at the sight of the wreckage. This piece of trash dared to kill her younger brother, and this attack was enough to kill this opponent without a burial place. The woman turned around and was about to leave.

However, in the next second, the woman's ears moved as if she heard something. She looked back in disbelief and found a figure slowly standing up from the dust.

The figure was not very tall and was stained with blood all over, but he gave off a strange feeling, which made people avert their eyes.

"A man-made thing has such destructive power. I've really underestimated it, but that's about it." Philip said lightly as he patted the dust off his body.

He raised his hand and struck the woman. With a bang, the woman flew out, smashed through a wall,

Seeing that the woman did not stand up immediately, Philip heaved a sigh of relief. He then looked at poured into their bodies.

In an instant, the two women's complexions recovered a little, and their breathing became steadier.

After taking care of this, Philip pondered the woman's situation.

Not long after, the sound stopped in front of Philip. After some time, a voice rang.

“Take him and the two women back. As for the one who ran away, I’ll deal with it.”

The voice seemed female, but Philip was not very sure because he heard it when he was in a daze. Soon, he completely lost consciousness.

After an unknown amount of time, Philip slowly woke up. He looked around and realized that he seemed to be in a prison cell with a small window and a bed, nothing else.

“Damn it, what happened? How did I end up here?”

Philip rubbed his forehead. His memory was a mess. He only remembered that he seemed to be attacked by runes before he lost consciousness. He knew nothing after that.

‘Oh, I seemed to have heard a woman’s voice later, but why I could not remember it...’

‘Damn, this is a waste of time. If I’d known earlier, I wouldn’t have gone after that wolfman. Coming to this place is really a nuisance...’ Philip muttered and could not help rubbing his forehead.

After walking a fair distance, Philip stopped, looked back, and found no trace of the place he left before.

He was relieved. He was just worried of trouble.

After thinking about it, Philip looked at the time and found that it was still far from dawn, so he simply leaned against a tree to rest. The few fights earlier had tired him out.

At this time, the woman watched Philip from a distance. There was a trace of doubt in her eyes, but she watched quietly without a word.

After some time, Philip stood up slowly, took a deep breath, and looked back instinctively. For some reason, he felt someone watching him from behind, which made him a little uncomfortable.

'Maybe it's a hallucination...' Philip mumbled after he explored with his senses.
