

The First Heir 601

Chapter 601

“Stop!”

Yale shouted at this moment. Everyone stopped in their tracks, but one could still feel their anger.

There was extreme self-confidence and anger in Yale’s eyes. He did not care about who died as long as he did not fail. He stared at the man who suddenly appeared next to Philip and sneered. “You have such amazing skills, my friend. I wonder who’s the one who instructed you to do this? Care to tell the little old me who it is? I’ll double their price.”

Yale believed that the other party was ordered by other forces to suppress him. After all, his clan had been terrorizing Golden City for decades, and it was not news that some forces were eyeing his position.

Besides, their people were being reshuffled recently to elect the next president, so Yale was very sensitive!

Philip sneered. “He’s my bodyguard. Don’t even think about leaving tonight, you guys.”

“You’re so conceited!” Huck yelled, then said in a cold tone, “I’ll let you feel the wrath of the Fearsome Tiger Hall tonight, you conceited and arrogant fool! When that happens, don’t piss your pants from fear.”

“Hahahaha!”

After Huck said that, every member of the Fearsome Tiger Hall started laughing. It was as if Philip was just a joke in their eyes.

In Huck’s opinion, Philip might have some powerful people by his side, but now, he was going against all 40 men from Fearsome Tiger Hall. Did he think he could flip the earth upside down?

“Alright, I want to see how powerful the famous Fearsome Tiger Hall is.”

After Philip said that, Rick took a step forward. His imposing manner became more intense instantly.

However, in the next second!

Philip directly landed a kick on Huck’s chest and stomped him down to the ground once again!

Crack!

There was an audible sound of ribs getting broken!

“Argh!”

A miserable howl resounded throughout the lobby of Shangri-La Hotel!

Philip’s follow-up kick had broken a few of Huck’s ribs. There was no room for discussion at all!

Due to the fracture in his ribs, Huck involuntarily let out a scream. His entire chest seemed deflated!

Facing a grim reaper like Philip, no one dared to answer!

Only a fool would jump out at this time. It would be equivalent to seeking death!

This ruthless person had eliminated Yale Caruso who had resonated with the underground forces of Golden City for more than 20 years with his bare hands. Even Huck Thorn was not his opponent!

The blueprint of the underground forces of Golden City would see a change tonight!

In the face of absolute strength, all conspiracies and tricks would be in vain!

In Philip's eyes, he just wanted to say that everyone present in the hall was rubbish!

At the same time, he lamented that he had not been to Golden City for a long time. Had some people already forgotten his existence?

The whole hall was silent and no one dared to take the lead. Without their pillars of support, they were like headless flies!

Yale was lying on the ground, trembling. He had never been defeated like this before. The pain in his legs made him sweat all over!

"Kill him! Kill him for me!"

Yale shouted as he endured the pain. "Whoever hacks him to death shall be the next president!"

Before he could complete his sentence, Philip snatched a saber and threw it out. With a loud clunk, Yale's arm was severed at the wrist!

Darren felt that his brain was unable to process this information!

More than 40 elites were dealt with just like that?

This was a world-class joke!

Huck Thorn was the strongest man in the fraternity, and Fearsome Tiger Hall was the strongest fraternity around!

In Darren's view, this was simply inconceivable!

His brain went blank for a while. He stood by the bed stark naked, his face getting uglier by the minute!

Over the years, he had fought with Huck privately for the top spot!

Nevertheless, they belonged to the same fraternity. Now that everyone was in trouble, he could choose to sit back and watch, but when it came to his father, he could not ignore it!

Wynn was very nervous. Was Philip going to bring her home to the Clarke family? Then, what should she do? Would her father-in-law and the rest of the family members like her? “Wait, Philip, wait a minute!” Wynn immediately grabbed Philip and said bashfully, “I... I need to change.” Philip was startled. He touched Wynn’s head and said, “It’s okay, just follow me.”

After that, Philip pulled Wynn into the BMW and left Longford Park.

When they left, Martha happened to see them at the entrance.

“Where are they going in such a hurry?”

Martha muttered to herself sullenly. She was followed by a group of friends, all dressed up.

“Hey, Martha, is this your villa? It’s so big and lavish.”

“Goodness, this must be First Palace. It’s too luxurious. How much is your Wynn earning again?”

“I’m so envious! Martha is the first among us to live in a villa, and it’s at Longford Park too! I’m so jealous!”

The friends chattered endlessly and could not stop heaping praises on her.

They were just flattering her.

Giada's expression instantly changed from calm to shock, then to anger!

"Do you know what you're talking about?"

Giada admonished. Her aura exploded, and the temperature in the entire hall dropped sharply like a cold winter.

This damn Philip, why did he suddenly mention this?

Did he understand what it meant to bring Wynn back?

Giada would never allow this to happen!

Wynn was stunned. She did not expect that just the topic of going home would make Giada so furious.

She looked at Philip with flickering eyes. She did not understand what the reason was.

Philip merely smiled and said, "Of course, I know what I'm talking about. I also know what you and the Wallis family are doing. I know that you've done a lot to fight the other branches of the family over the years. However, you have to be clear, the Clarke family will always carry the name Clarke. It's impossible for our family to be named Wallis. I'm the eldest son of the Clarke family and the only heir. Even if you give me a restraining order, the outcome won't change."

With that, Philip got up, stared at Giada, and emphasized word by word. "I, Philip Clarke, will bring Wynn and Mila back home. No one can change this decision. By the way, the agreement between you and me is invalid starting from today!"

Giada frowned at the unexpected appearance of Tim Clarke.

"Uncle Tim."

Philip looked at Tim with a smile. The latter also gave him a doting look, patted him on the shoulder, and asked, "Are you alright?"

Philip shrugged and said, "I'm fine."

Tim nodded, turned to Wynn, and said smilingly, "Niece-in-law, we meet again."

Wynn tucked the hair that hung around her ears, politely nodded at Tim, and said, "Uncle Tim."

"Haha, hello!"

Tim was very happy. This greeting was better than anything else.

Wynn was really frightened just now. She did not expect Philip's uncle to appear so suddenly.

Moreover, looking at this scene, Uncle Tim's identity did not seem to be so simple. He had armed men with him!

It was horrifying!

Wynn raised her chin and looked at Philip with doubts in her heart.

Who on earth was her husband? Why was he always so mysterious?

When Tim turned his head, the smile on his face immediately fell grim. He stared at Giada and said coldly, "Giada, what were you going to do to my nephew just now?"

Wynn stepped on the lawn with her hands behind her back. She looked very fresh and attractive.

When the sun shone on her through the mottled leaves, she looked as if she was covered with a layer of gold. It was a stunning sight to see.

"Wynnie."

Philip walked over with his hands in his trouser pockets.

Wynn turned around smilingly and asked, "Are you done?"

Philip nodded and reached out to remove a small leaf from Wynn's hair. The latter asked hesitantly, "By the way, Phil, what does Uncle Tim do? His appearance is so..."

Wynn pointed to the rows of armed men over there, her big eyes filled with suspicions.

Philip considered before saying, "Those belong to my family."

Wynn's eyes widened at those words. She stared at Philip incredulously, then pointed at the armed men over there before asking again, "You, what did you say? Those belong to your family?"

How could that be?

What did that mean?

Those men were all armed with ammunition!

They belonged to her husband's family?!

Philip was full of anger and his face turned grim.

It seemed that Martha had already forgotten the lesson from before as she dared to treat Mila this way again.

Martha was also flustered at the time, especially when she saw Philip rushing in from the door. The latter’s face was full of chills, which reminded her of her beating in the living room that night.

Damn it, why was the timing so coincidental!

“That, Philip, hear me out...” Martha tried to explain.

However...

Philip rushed over, waved his big hand, and slapped Martha angrily!

Smack!

This slap could be said to have exploded directly in the living room.

The old ladies all jumped from the sofa and hid aside in fear.

They were dumbfounded. Was Philip not a wastrel? How dare he hit his mother-in-law?

“What are you doing? How dare you hit Martha? You’re too disrespectful!”

One middle-aged woman wanting to please Martha stood up at this time and pointed at Philip arrogantly.

Instantly, these middle-aged women all picked up their bags and fled the living room in a swarm.

"Martha, we'll come back another time."

Before they left, they did not forget to say a polite remark to Martha.

Very soon, the living room was left with Martha, who was flushed red, Philip, his wife, as well as Anne who carried Mila upstairs.

Wynn held her forehead and looked at Martha. She was absolutely disappointed with her mother.

“Mom, I’ve had enough of you. You’re a retired university lecturer after all. How have you become so unreasonable now?”

Wynn asked helplessly.

Martha was still irritated as she said, “Are you already so grown up that you can speak to me this way?”

Martha was very angry that her daughter was so protective of Philip.

She just did not like Philip. Even if he had some money now, Martha just could not like him.

He was like her enemy from the previous life.

“Mom, can you stop being so unreasonable? You know Philip is the one who bought this villa and you’re still treating him like this. What do you want me to do?” Wynn was really about to cry.

Martha lost all confidence at those words.

Yes, the villa was bought by Philip.

Wynn said, “Mom, apologize to Philip.”
