Chapter 761

“What are you talking about?”

Philip chuckled and glossed over it. “Stay here. I’ll go there alone.”

“The scene might get a bit bloody later, so it’s not suitable for a woman like you to be there. What if you suffer from psychological trauma?” Philip explained.

After all, there was a dead guy and another one who was seriously injured. Philip wanted to find out who was the mastermind behind the scenes, and he would definitely use some bloody methods. If he took Wynn with him, it would not be suitable or conducive to Philip’s operation.

“But they were here to kill me.”

Wynn’s stubbornness flared again. She walked up to Philip, looked at his eyes, and said seriously, “This matter involves me, so I must go!”

“Wynn, why won’t you listen to me?”

Philip frowned and got slightly angry. He stood in front of Wynn, grabbed her arms, and said, “Be obedient and stay here. I’ll deal with it. Trust me.”

“No, I want to go with you.”

Juan's face became sullen, and his eyes were stern. He stared at Philip angrily as he said, "My friend works here. That person told me about it, so I rushed here. Are you suspecting me?"

"Who's the friend?" Philip was relentless.

However, at this moment, the door of the director's office was pushed open again. Nina Jacques ran in, flustered. She was nodding and apologizing, "Madam Johnston, I'm sorry. I told Mr. Parker about it."

Nina's sudden appearance disrupted Philip's rhythm.

Interesting.

Philip looked at Juan coldly, then glanced at Nina.

This cover was well played.

Wynn was also taken aback and asked, "Nina, do you know Juan?"

Nina explained, "Well, Mr. Parker has helped me before. We were classmates from high school."

When Nina said this, her face was impassive and her eyes were unblinking as if what she was saying was true.

Philip nodded, patted Fabio on his shoulder, and said, "Well done. I'll ask my wife to give you a raise."

Wynn frowned when she heard this. She could hardly wait to trample Philip under the soles of her feet!

They were in the company. How could Philip not pay any attention to their image!

"Please rest assured, Brother Clarke. All members of the security team will wait for your instructions."

Fabio was full of joy when he heard that he would be getting a raise. He was bursting with energy.

"Just guard the door and don't allow anyone to enter without my permission!"

"Yes! Don't worry, Brother Clarke, we promise to complete the task!"

Fabio puffed his chest out, performed a standard salute, then turned his head to say to the staff next to him, "Did you hear what Brother Clarke said? Send 20 men over here quickly and block this floor completely. No one is allowed to enter!"

As soon as the team member heard it, he also responded with a salute and hurried away.

Philip stood at the door, glanced at Wynn standing beside him, and asked, "Are you ready?"

Wynn said nothing. Philip looked at her delicate profile and shook his head slightly.

During the extremely dangerous situation earlier, Wynn had put up a brave display.

However, once a person calmed down and recalled the situation again, there would be dark shadows in their hearts. It would inevitably be a little uncomfortable.

“Also, before recruiting them into the company, I investigated their backgrounds and there was no problem.”

Philip was silent as he looked at the two guys on the ground. He asked, “How are they usually like? Do they interact with other people? Are there any attendance records?”

Wynn glanced at Vulture who lay in a pool of blood. Fortunately, the window was open and fresh air could come in. Otherwise, standing in this utility room would be quite scary.

“The two of them didn’t really talk much. Their personalities were not bad, but they’re both scientific researchers. As such, their communication skills are quite average. They were mostly focused on research. Generally speaking, the people who were in contact with them are the workers in the laboratory. Access records should be available and can be checked later.”

Wynn was right. The people they usually came into contact with were colleagues in the research room, and they did not interact with other colleagues in the company. These people were focused on research and very organized, so nothing much ever happened.

Even the entry and exit records of the researchers were very clearly recorded, so it was almost impossible to contact the people outside.

“That’s weird. From what I can see today, these two people are both first-class killers, which don’t fit what you just said.”

Philip frowned. “This is indeed too abnormal. Even if they’ve prepared for the role before you recruited them, it would’ve been difficult for them to keep up the act this entire time.”

Wynn nodded. She could not help recalling the scene in the laboratory just now. When North Wolf strangled her, he did not seem to be a researcher at all. His murderous aura was terrifying!

Wynn trembled and suddenly felt a chill running down her back.

The security system in the research room was built by a foreign team. It was the most advanced security system in the world, but even so, it was absolutely insignificant in front of these people!

“You said they can disguise their faces?”

Wynn then recalled the keywords in Philip’s explanation, and a cold sweat drenched her back again.

“Well, if my guess is correct.”

A flash of chill appeared in Philip’s eyes. He walked up to North Wolf stoically, reached out his hand, and fumbled for a while on his cheek. Then, he pulled the skin on his face and ripped it!

Hiss!

Wynn went pale with fright. She covered her small mouth, her eyes full of panic!

Philip was carrying a human face in his hands!

That scene was simply too mortifying and was just like a plot in a TV drama. Wynn was so scared that she quickly closed her eyes, her body shaking like a leaf!

Even if she was a little braver than ordinary people, she would inevitably be affected at this moment.

What Philip carried in his hand was indeed human skin. To be precise, it was a real human face that was torn from someone else’s face and glued to North Wolf’s face using advanced technology!

Philip guessed Vulture's thoughts and sneered, "You want to know what happened to your companion?
Too bad, he's dead."

How was that possible?

When Philip said this, Vulture was full of disbelief. His body suddenly stiffened!

He twisted his head and saw North Wolf lying in a pool of blood!

Moreover, his true face was revealed!

A trace of panic flashed across Vulture's face. He hurriedly touched his cheek, then sat on the ground like a deflated balloon. He was laughing miserably.

The human skin technology in the organization was so advanced. This technology alone could be sold at sky-high prices in domestic and foreign markets, and ordinary people could not discover it!

However, the man in front of him had obviously discovered their secret!

At this time, Vulture had no more desire to resist. He recalled the terrifying skills of the other party. Only people who had undergone special training would possess such skills!

Juan sneered and continued with a frown, "Philip Clarke isn't as simple as the young master of Clarke Group in Capital City! Although his family is now bankrupt, he isn't!

"Take a closer look! He has invested ten million in Gopher Delivery Services!

"And this. He even has shares and invested in Apex Group, the company of the richest man in our city, George Thomas.

"Wynn, I found this out. Philip lied to you. He always had money, but he just refuses to spend it on you and Mila. He's up to no good!"

Juan kept telling her about the information he found, and Wynn frowned as she looked through the information.

Philip had lied to her indeed.

Not only had he bought Gopher Delivery Services, but he also invested in Apex Group.

This happened many months ago. In other words, Philip had been deceiving her since then.

Wynn was rattled and did not know what to say. She threw the materials down and forced out a smile. "Juan, I know all of this. Philip told me before. It's nothing."

She knew?

Impossible!

Juan was stunned. This was the information he got at a high price. Would Philip have told Wynn all this?

“You already mentioned this just now.” Philip’s expression gradually cooled down as he said, “If you continue telling me unnecessary things, I don’t mind making you end up like your companion!”

Vulture was not a death warrior. Killer organizations were unlike gangster societies that put loyalty above everything else. In their eyes, only money and missions prevailed!

Their loyalty toward the organization was the lowest because they lived on the tip of a knife every day. Therefore, staying alive was the most important to them.

“Are there only the two of you in this mission? Is there a third person?” Philip asked.

“There are only two of us. We were confident that our plan was foolproof,” Vulture said earnestly.

“Do you know who’s behind the scenes? Who’s your employer?”

“The Beauty Killers hired us. We were also quite bewildered at first. The Beauty Killers are also a killer organization, but they hired us.”

Chapter 769

Philip came to Wynn’s office.

After experiencing the incident in the morning, Wynn was not affected at all. She still displayed the persona of a Snow Queen, but from Philip’s perspective, he was keenly aware of a difference in her.

Wynn’s eyes looked a bit confused and absent, and she was also unable to concentrate whether she was looking at documents or reports. Sometimes, her eyes would even linger on a page without moving.

This was unlike Wynn. Obviously, she was restless.

Philip sat across from her and noticed her expression clearly. He said, “Are you still thinking about what happened this morning?”

Wynn shook her head in firm denial.

“Stop pretending. I can tell.”

Philip suddenly felt that she was a little cute. She was obviously very upset but still pretended to be calm.

Why was she being so hard on herself?

Wynn was not Philip, so she would naturally take some time to digest everything.

Wynn said with a frown, "There are hundreds of employees in Beacon Group. If we start an investigation now, it's going to take a long time. It's not going to be something that can be done in half a day."

"You don't have to worry about this. With me around, everything will be resolved. You can just continue working as usual," Philip said.

"And then?"

"And then, I'll just..."

As he said that, Philip got up and walked to Wynn's side. Leaning his whole body over to her, his cheeks almost pressed against Wynn's ear!

"You... What are you doing?"

Wynn had no idea what Philip was doing and thought he was going to...

They were in the company, but her husband was being so bold.

How embarrassing!

“This is a secret operation. Of course, I have to get closer. What if the wall has ears? It’ll be exposed then,” Philip said earnestly.

“This...”

Wynn blushed furiously. She had misunderstood Philip and became more bashful because of that.
