Chapter 881

Baloo turned around and scoffed. "Are you threatening me? Mr. Quinn, you should realize that this is the private property of the Hane family, not the bodyguard room of your Joo family. Besides, empty threats don't work on me. Even if your identity isn't simple, it makes no difference.

"At my place, you have to follow my rules!"

Mack shook his head, feeling sorry for Baloo. He said, "Baloo, it's not a threat, and I don't have to threaten you either. I'm just explaining a fact to you. Philip Clarke is not someone you can provoke. You still have 25 minutes."

Hardy also looked at Baloo at this time with pity in his eyes.

This guy was still putting on airs at this time!

They had no idea what it would be like when Third Young Miss lost her temper!

They really did not expect the Hane family to be in such a mess. They were simply a nest of vipers!

After being repeatedly ridiculed and threatened, Baloo finally had enough.

Besides, he was one of the three top gamblers in Riverdale, so he turned around and said angrily, "Fact? What fact? The only thing I can see now is this group of people from the Joo family relying on your special identities to forcibly trespass into the Hane family's private property. You're even arrogantly declaring that you want us to release a person who was captured by the Hane family! I won't let this matter go and neither will the Hane family!"

Hardy folded his arms and scorned. "Mack, stop wasting your time with these people. Just look at them. They're still so ignorant at this point. So stupid! They're just asking for it. Let's stop talking nonsense with them and we'll see who has the last laugh!"

Klein frowned and glared at Hardy furiously!

Mack quickly interrupted. "We're not hungry. We hope Third Master Hane can deal with this matter as soon as possible and we can return to our stations too."

Klein retracted his gaze. With a face full of smiles, he returned to his pretentious harmonious demeanor. He signaled to Baloo to continue his investigation while he remained in the courtyard with Mack and the others.

He had no alternative. If they refused to enter the house, Klein could not enter either. He needed to use his identity to suppress them.

Baloo's expression turned cold as he said with a slightly menacing sneer, "Is that important?"

"You're right. They'll end up dead anyway."

Philip grinned, showing his white teeth while looking innocent.

However, that smile only made Baloo shudder!

From Philip's grin and eyes, he felt the ferocity of a beast!

The look in this guy's eyes was so terrifying!

Was this the reason why the boss was apprehensive about him?

Philip scoffed. "I need to remind you, don't fan the flames and set yourself on fire. Be careful or the flames will burn everyone behind you to death."

this, Baloo frowned. A wave of anger welled within him,

I know you're on good terms with Theo and have some tricks up your sleeve, so I don't plan to torture you. I'll give you two options. One is to explain Young Master Hane's beating, and the other is to find a way to get away from the Hane family. Obviously, the second option is

In the huge courtyard, Mack stood motionlessly while staring fixedly at the gate. He would check his watch from time to time. Next to him, Klein spoke incessantly with a smiling face.

Klein could not help it. The special class bodyguards of the Joo family had extraordinary background and status. Even if he was the third master of the Hane family, he needed to treat them with courtesy.

It was because these people, to a certain extent, represented the patriarch of the Joo family and even Old Master Joo himself!

"I say, it's not appropriate for you to stand here all the time. Why don't we head to the restaurant across the street? Let me be the host."

Klein's objective was very simple—to divert the attention of Mack and his men and create favorable conditions for Baloo to act.

Everyone was dumbstruck. Who was Deaton Wade?

He was the boss of the top bodyguard agency in Riverdale!

At this moment, he was willing to act as a valet and open car doors. One could imagine how amazing the identity of the person sitting in the Cadillac was!

Vivi Joo stepped out in her black high heels. She could be seen wearing a black dress. She got out of the car with a stern face and smiled at Deaton.

“Third Young Miss.”

Mack, Hardy, and Roy walked over and greeted her respectfully.

Vivi nodded, looked at the private residence of the Hane family, and asked coldly, “Where is he?”

Mack was a little nervous as he glanced at Klein. He said, “Still inside.”

Vivi frowned slightly and glanced at Deaton. Deaton immediately called out to Klein, “Hey, Klein, come here.”

Klein was already stunned. He was not a fool. He knew at first glance the identity of the woman who had just gotten out of the car!

Klein sneered inwardly, but on the surface, he made a lot of effort for his performance that was full of excitement.

In fact, he was taking advantage of the situation to say this to Vivi.

In other words, he was saying that he represented the Hane family while Vivi was not qualified to talk here.

Of course, he dared not say this openly.

“Shut up!”

This time, Klein was being shouted at!

However, it was not Mack, or Hardy, nor Vivi who shouted at him, but Deaton instead!

Getting shouted at in public, Klein’s dignity suffered a blow as his expression collapsed immediately.

In the end, Mack decided to expose his identity. He took out a small badge from his jacket and said to Baloo solemnly, “Special Field Bodyguard of the Joo family in Capital City—Mack Quinn!”

Now, it was Baloo and his men’s turn to be stunned!

Especially Baloo, who had an uncertain expression on his face. He quickly walked over, wanting to take a closer look at the little badge.

After he looked at it clearly, Baloo’s back was already drenched. How did things turn out this way?

They were actually people from the Joo family!

Special field bodyguards at that!

Holy sh*t!

Looking at Philip's young and immature face, Baloo suddenly felt his heart twitching violently! This guy was no ordinary person. Their previous investigations were wrong! He had to be the young master of an affluent family in Capital City with an identity that countless people could not even imagine!

Juan Parker had gotten him into deep sh*t!

No wonder the boss kept emphasizing that he could not alert the enemy!

Baloo felt a little dizzy. He thought he had a chance of winning, but the tables were suddenly turned against him!

"Klein Hane, I hope you think this over carefully and don't do anything you'll regret!"

Vivi's eyes were cold while her tone was stern, making those who heard her tremble.
