

The Growth 109

Chapter 109 - 12: Immortal Technique (2/5)

In the Netherworld, on the Reincarnation Altar that symbolizes the Divine Format.

The souls that arrive here through the River of Oblivion are being reborn in the Mountain and Sea Realm via the Reincarnation Altar.

Every rotation of the Reincarnation Altar means that tens of thousands of beings will obtain a new life.

However, just at the instant when the Reincarnation Altar rotates once more.

A Yao Xin incarnation, specifically tasked with guarding the Reincarnation Altar, suddenly turned to look at the center of the Reincarnation Altar.

In the next second, a script representing the "Authority of Death God" swiftly flew out of the Reincarnation Altar.

Whoosh!

The Celestial Eye between her brows instantly opened, and Yao Xin reached out to grasp the script that was flying straight towards her.

At the moment of making contact with the script, Yao Xin saw the Creator Altar in Divine Concealment Land and Luo Fu, who was forming a contract with Bone Chant.

"Immortal Technique?"

Somewhat surprised and also astounded...

Yao Xin pondered for a moment but never let go of the script in her hand.

Because the developer of this "Immortal Technique" is none other than Yao Xin's true form, the Immortal Goddess at the World's Peak.

The essence of this magic is to share one's life with others, achievable only through the Authority of Death God.

But the question is, what if the life being shared is with an Immortal?

This originally simple divine magic for life-sharing, when applied to an Immortal, would create another immortal entity.

It would give up all its life, entrusting it to reside within the Immortal.

As long as the Immortal does not terminate the magic or die, this immortal existence, even if reduced to smoke and dust, will undergo rebirth within the Immortal.

It is due to this characteristic that when Yao Xin initially developed this "Immortal Technique," she particularly emphasized to the Immortals that this magic should only be used to form contracts with significant persons.

Unless your soul partner, even if you utilize this magic, you will absolutely not pass through.

.....

At the same time, below the Creator Altar.

The great MinAseerpentg She raised its head to look at the Eye of the Creator, its expression appearing a bit at a loss and tense.

"Is this enough?"

After understanding how to open the passage to the Marz World.

Balian brought Luo Fu and Bone Chant to the Creator Altar to conduct the contract ritual.

Bone Chant, who already had a death wish, certainly had no reason to refuse; he had long been prepared to face any situation.

However, shortly after the ritual took place, the great Eye of the Creator merely flashed a light and no other status appeared.

Observing Balian, Luo Fu, and the expressions of other Immortals, Bone Chant realized that something unexpected had probably happened during the contract ritual.

Faced with the Eye of the Creator, which had not reacted for a long time, the nearby Immortals even began discussing it again.

"Yao Xin?"

At this moment, a figure suddenly projected out from the Eye of the Creator.

It was a female figure.

A graceful goddess whose charm transcended gender, race, and even the boundaries of living beings.

At the instant of seeing her, besides feeling an allure that transcended perception, Bone Chant also felt a trembling and terror stemming from the heart.

Even with just a slight glance over him, Bone Chant could sense the lament and wailing from the depths of his soul.

If it hadn't been for previously being acknowledged by the Creator, Bone Chant would have no doubt that even just that glance would be enough to shatter his soul.

"I remember I should have said that the Immortal Technique can only be used on one's most important person."

Without even glancing at Luo Fu, Yao Xin knew that this contract ritual must have been led by Balian.

Towards this head among Immortals, Yao Xin truly respected him from the heart.

But likewise, she also loved those Immortals, who were akin to her younger siblings, from the bottom of her heart.

Allowing Luo Fu to sign such a "shared life and death" contract with a shapeshifter from an Exotic Realm evidently crossed Yao Xin's bottom line.

"A Xin, this was my own decision!"

Before Balian could explain, Luo Fu stepped forward with a bright smile.

"Originally, Balian intended to sign the contract himself, but I think I might be more suitable."

"After all, I've observed Bone Chant for a long time and have a thorough understanding of him."

"Besides his identity, I actually admire his character and abilities quite a bit."

Luo Fu wasn't lying; she genuinely liked how Bone Chant tenaciously researched various technologies.

This allowed Luo Fu, for the first time outside the Immortal group, to feel a hobby akin to similar beings.

More critically, Bone Chant not only enjoyed researching but also had the same talent in this aspect as Luo Fu.

"Even so, that's not the reason for you to sign the contract with him."

The anger in her heart slightly subsided, but Yao Xin still couldn't resist giving Balian a glare.

Yao Xin knew better than anyone that Balian might indeed not be the main culprit for all this.

But things could develop to this point, and it definitely was inseparable from his indulgence.

He knew Luo Fu was the least mature among the Immortals, yet allowed her to interact with someone like Bone Chant, who was full of charismatic leadership.

"A Xin! I've grown up already! I know what I'm doing!"

Approaching closer, Luo Fu grasped Yao Xin's hand and began to act coquettishly.

"Please help me! At worst, we can dissolve the contract later!"

Hearing Luo Fu's plea, Yao Xin flicked her on the forehead, but refrained from saying anything further.

However, in her heart, Yao Xin silently shook her head.

The "Immortal Technique" is no ordinary magic.

This is a godly magic that Yao Xin developed to allow Immortals to have a soul mate with shared life and death.

In a certain sense, Yao Xin was already using the Authority of the Death God without authorization.

"Since you insist, then so be it!"

The Celestial Eye between her brows suddenly opened, and a divine light shot from Yao Xin's third eye towards Bone Chant.

Immediately afterward, Bone Chant could clearly feel that something more essential than the soul was being extracted from his body and transferred into a more powerful body possessing infinite life force.

And as for his original flesh, it transformed into something similar to a "Flesh Puppet" at that moment.

Even if that body turned to ashes, even if his soul shattered...

Bone Chant's essence could regenerate a new body and a new soul through that infinite life force.

——Life and Death Source Flow: Life Assimilation!