

The Growth 158

Chapter 158 - 13: Epic Divine Artifact (2/3)

After a moment, in Li Hao's apartment.

"The Faceless who knows all secrets?"

Contemplatively twirling the pen in his hand.

Li Hao seemed to somewhat understand the origin of the title "The Faceless who knows all secrets."

However, exchanging undiscovered secrets for the position of Long-Eyed God was not a losing proposition for Li Hao.

After all, at the level of Li Hao and the Faceless, ordinary resources and divine artifacts no longer held much meaning.

Only those truths buried beneath the history of time were truly worth their pursuit.

Oddly, Li Hao seemed to touch upon some truths about becoming a powerful god.

"God of Gods? Are you planning to seek out the Long-Eyed God next?"

Witnessing the entire interaction between Li Hao and the Faceless, Hua She only now dared to cautiously ask.

"Yes, of course, otherwise wouldn't that waste the good intentions of the Faceless?"

Awaking from contemplation, Li Hao looked down at his phone screen again.

At this moment, on the main interface of the Civilization Game on the phone, a circular arch resembling a black hole prominently occupied the entire screen.

[Artifact: Gate of Ten Thousand Realms (Disposable)]

[Type: Door]

[Quality: Rare Treasure]

[Function: A portal to the multiverse, capable of reaching any location conceived in the user's mind.]

...

The divine artifact called the Gate of Ten Thousand Realms was borrowed from the Faceless for Li Hao to seek the Long-Eyed God.

According to the Faceless, with the Evil God Mask as a medium, even if Li Hao was unaware of the Long-Eyed God's location, he could still arrive in the world where it resided.

The pity was, it was merely a one-time-use artifact.

And under the witness of the Balance of Truth, Li Hao could only use it to look for the Long-Eyed God.

[A disposable artifact that could still be evaluated as a rare treasure.]

[I'm beginning to wonder now if the full version of the Gate of Ten Thousand Realms is truly an epic level divine artifact.]

This thought flashed through Li Hao's mind, and he timely suppressed his curiosity.

The foundation of the Faceless was evident; Li Hao couldn't believe they only had a single epic level divine artifact.

Their willingness to lend the Gate of Ten Thousand Realms to him was, in part, a manner of trust, but on the other hand, was it not also a test?

Using a one-time-use divine artifact to understand the real stance and some secrets of an Ancient God.

If it were Li Hao, he wouldn't mind trying it once either.

"Indeed, quite wealthy!"

With a smile on his lips, Li Hao continued speaking under Hua She's bewildered gaze.

"However, since you wish to test my secrets, I naturally won't disappoint you."

With the Gate of Ten Thousand Realms in place and the Evil God Mask prepared, the next step was deciding who should go to the Long-Eyed God's location.

Under normal circumstances, only the Divine or Apostles under their command were qualified to act as the gods' pawns.

Li Hao believed that the Faceless had made ample preparations, waiting for his Messenger to appear.

However, Li Hao decided to break the protocol and sent another of his generals to the stage.

Thus began Li Hao's first gambit as a True God.

The boundless universe, the magnificent stars.

This was an unknown universe not yet observed by humanity.

A "fish" as large as a satellite wandered in the void, attempting to reach the nearest star system to itself.

Due to its transparent, crystalline hue, one can see the various organs and structures inside this "fish" just by observation.

Every moment, the engine inside this "fish" generated a giant vortex, creating an energy field comparable to a constant star level.

If you penetrated this "fish" internally, you could even discover traces of life within that giant vortex.

On the surface of planets, these lives were epic level giant beasts of disaster.

But inside the "fish," they survived with difficulty like "microbes" relying on leftover scraps.

Whoa...whoa...whoa...

As the "fish" restarted its internal Void Engine, planning a space-time leap across cosmic distances, its totem suddenly emitted light, becoming the only source of illumination in the dark, boundless universe.

Roar!

Without any hesitation, the "fish" excitedly leaped up as soon as the totem lit.

The next second, the "fish's" body began to become ethereal, and its whole existence started transitioning to a higher dimension.

During this process, the "fish's" body began to form even more intricate and exaggerated organs, evolving its being into higher-dimensional capabilities.

To be honest, such an exaggerated evolution rate and tendency shouldn't have appeared in the Fallen Area.

But the Creator Totem sparingly provided it with divine power and power of faith, making such an extraordinary evolution a possibility.

Zzzzz...

Vaguely, a Holy Grail image entangled by a snake seemed to appear on the "fish's" body surface.

——Cup of Hygeia: Life Transformation!

This was the first time Li Hao used the power of the epic level divine artifact, Cup of Hygeia, since obtaining it.

The result was unexpectedly smooth, and the effect was surprisingly good.

Under the transformation of the Cup of Hygeia, the Hunting Fish indeed had the potential for easy traversal between the Ascension Area and the Fallen Area.

To Li Hao, this was not a Cup of Hygeia; it was clearly a universal wishing machine!

He only needed to provide the divine power and power of faith.

The Cup of Hygeia could, according to his wishes, automatically generate and perfect the transformation of the Hunting Fish.

"The gods of the Dokwi Divine Pantheon are really wasting such a treasure..."

Forcibly plundering life from other worlds and then using the Cup of Hygeia to enrich their own world was an effective approach.

But using the power of the Cup of Hygeia to transform and create the life they desired was its true usage.

Here, Li Hao evidently overlooked a crucial point.

Not everyone, like him, could invest such vast amounts of faith power and divine power without considering the cost into a completely unknown transformation.

Moreover, not every life form is as powerful as the Hunting Fish, capable of enduring until the completion of the Cup of Hygeia's transformation.

In the eyes of most gods, even considering just the cost-effectiveness, this was a loss-making venture.
