Just as Meng Yao was in a daze, gradually remembering the things that had happened to her.

Li Hao, who had already added an extra fried egg to his bowl, was also curiously examining the personal attribute panel that only he could see.

Despite Li Hao's current identity and abilities, the simplistic attribute panel from the Dragon Race Inheritance was already outdated in terms of practicality and reliability.

But it's undeniable that some of the information provided by the Dragon Race Inheritance still holds certain reference value.

Take Meng Yao for example.

Compared to the personal attribute panel Li Hao saw yesterday.

Today, Meng Yao not only had two extra entries in the Mythical Ability section, namely "Ascension Ladder" and "Immortal Rebirth".

Even the final evaluation changed from "potentially becoming a Divine Agent" to "a Desecrator seizing Ancient God power".

The Mythical Ability "Ascension Ladder" is easy to understand.

Meng Yao, who obtained part of the wisdom and memory of the Great Serpent, is transforming into a new Ascender.

As for the entry "Immortal Rebirth", it seems a bit absurd.

If Li Hao didn't remember wrong, this was clearly the ability the Great Serpent gained after becoming a God.

Now, for some unknown reason, it appears on Meng Yao.

Considering the vagueness and uncertainty consistently shown by the Dragon Race Inheritance in Mythical Abilities.

Li Hao believes that this probably stems from Meng Yao's Ancient God bloodline acting up.

But what kind of Ancient God could allow their descendant to forcibly seize the power of a True God?

Even if it was a God who had reincarnated and lost all Divine Format.

That would still be a genuine True God!

.....

"So... I really have died once?"

Staring blankly at Li Hao, who was casually eating breakfast, Meng Yao, once again awakened by hunger, had to accept this harsh reality.

Have I really died once?

And seemed to have turned into some kind of... monster?

Thinking of this, Meng Yao uncertainly shook her shoulders.

Then, afraid of shaking her head off again, Meng Yao abruptly halted her movement and seriously pondered over Li Hao's identity.

"Who... are you?"

"Was that Great Serpent... eliminated by you?"

Even though she had figured out what happened to her, Meng Yao still didn't know the identity of that Great Serpent.

The only thing Meng Yao could ascertain was, the Great Serpent sneaked into Li Hao's apartment last night, and never came out again.

"Are you, like me, also a person targeted by those monsters?"

In truth, when Meng Yao said this, she was instinctively trying to cover for Li Hao.

Because Meng Yao was now terrified that if Li Hao didn't agree with a word, he might transform into a more terrifying monster than the Great Serpent.

"From a certain point of view, that's indeed the case."

Seeing Meng Yao, whose head seemed about to detach from her neck again.

Li Hao had to put down his bowl and chopsticks and spoke in a calm and unhurried tone.

"You were targeted by a serpent, and I was targeted by a dragon, that's all."

Hearing this, Meng Yao immediately breathed a sigh of relief, her demeanor relaxing.

However, this relaxation lasted for less than a second.

As if suddenly realizing something, Meng Yao's eyes widened again.

"Dragon?"

"Are you saying you were targeted by a dragon?"

If the Great Serpent that targeted herself was already so terrifying, Meng Yao could hardly imagine what kind of existence the dragon Li Hao mentioned was.

"Rest assured, whether it's a dragon or a serpent, they pose no threat now."

As he said this, Li Hao's voice paused slightly.

"Instead of worrying about them, I think you should first get used to your new abilities."

"After all, the scene where your head suddenly flies off while you're speaking is quite scary."

Li Hao's words startled Meng Yao, prompting her to cover her head immediately.

Once she was sure her head hadn't really flown off.

Meng Yao glared at the guy across from her who seemed indifferent to her mood, with a full head of exasperation.

"No wonder I've never heard any scandal about you at school, your personality is simply too vile!"

Perhaps because she realized Li Hao wasn't some kind of monster, Meng Yao's mood lightened up, and her words became more brazen.

"If we're talking about vileness, your personality is pretty vile too."

"If I hadn't seen it with my own eyes, I'd find it hard to relate the current you to the 'good girl' at school."

Picking up his bowl of noodles again, Li Hao didn't even bother to glance at Meng Yao this time.

It's not that Li Hao disliked this seemingly two-faced persona of Meng Yao.

It's really because this girl seemed to be pushing her luck.

Li Hao feared that if he appeared any more gentle, this girl might soon take over the place.

Did this silly girl never consider that a person who could deal with both a serpent and a dragon might be even more dangerous?

Or was she so afraid that she instinctively rejected that kind of thought?

"If I don't act all good, how am I supposed to get a scholarship?"

As if completely oblivious to Li Hao's thoughts, Meng Yao cheekily stuck her tongue out at him.

"Hmm, that's a decent reason."

Not even lifting an eyelid, Li Hao showed an indifferent attitude towards it.

Acting well-behaved is probably a good bonus for ordinary students.

But for a top student like Meng Yao, who has already been pre-selected by several top universities, that excuse seemed half-baked.

"Speaking of which, you didn't go home all night, aren't you worried your family will be concerned?"

At Li Hao's sudden concern, the once lively Meng Yao first froze, and her face then turned gloomy.

"My grandmother... passed away."
