

The Growth 259

Chapter 259 19: The Fourth Celestial Calamity · Crimson Dragon (1/3)

[Multiverse Game Hub] The newly introduced True Game - Gods' Calamity is an extremely challenging game.

As more and more players flood into it, it has gradually become a consensus among most players.

All the main quests, side quests, NPCs, and BOSSES in this game cannot be tackled in the same way a second time.

The main quests and side quests change at every moment, and the conditions to trigger NPCs and BOSSES are also different each time.

This directly results in the absence of "dungeon strategy guides" that are common in other games in the game of Gods' Calamity.

All divine beings who understand the Multiverse Game Hub are clear that the "Game Spirit" created by Tranyas could absolutely not achieve such a level.

If just a mere Game Spirit could dominate the evolution and fate of a world.

Then Tranyas, who created these Game Spirits, might have long become an existence like the Celestial Father.

Fortunately, aside from the exceptions of Samael and the Hua She, few Gods indulge in games, so no God actually cares about the anomalies in this True Game.

Because compared to the storyline in the game, the Gods care more about those True Artifacts that can be taken out of this world.

Thanks to this, the currently still in closed beta phase [Gods' Calamity] has welcomed many professional players, even Divine Incarnations.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

On this day, under the watchful eyes of numerous permanent players.

The Ruined Divine Hall in the final BOSS area suddenly emitted a series of terrifying explosions.

Even before the players could react, the final BOSS, the Four Armed Vajra, suddenly appeared, transforming into a giant that stood towering into the heavens.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

Two faces scanned the surroundings, with four arms wielding weapons.

The Four Armed Vajra displayed agility and nimbleness completely mismatched with its size, seemingly battling something.

Wherever one looked, those two angry faces were majestically dignified like the Ming King, with flames entwined around it as vivid as a Red Lotus.

Even though just watching from a distance, players could feel that suffocating pressure.

"This crappy game... actually dares to use a Demigod as the BOSS!?"

When the first player who was watching exclaimed, the onlooking players were also shocked and opened their mouths wide.

"Isn't this about more than just being a Demigod?"

"We haven't even figured out how to advance our Professions, yet someone is already challenging the final BOSS?"

"Who on earth is fighting the BOSS? Could it be a Divine Incarnation cheating?"

Amidst the rising chatter, the other side in this battle finally revealed its true form under the pressure of the Four Armed Vajra.

Bang!

Under the scorching Red Lotus Karmic Fire, a Winged Red Serpent suddenly revealed its form.

In an instant, the Winged Red Serpent also transformed into a huge figure, entangled with the Four Armed Vajra.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

The battle between the two was earth-shaking and thunderous.

Several players who had advanced quickly and were close to the battlefield were immediately killed by the aftershocks from both sides of the war, without having time to retreat.

Their items dropped completely, and the hard-earned levels reverted to the beginning...

The rejected players could only curse and choose to log off, hoping that by the next time they logged in, this BOSS battle would be over.

Otherwise, according to the harsh penalty mechanics of this broken game, the dropped items and levels would have to be ground from scratch again.

.....

Unlike the first impressions of the spectators.

Tianyou, who was one of the main characters of the battle incarnated as the Four Armed Vajra, felt particularly uncomfortable.

Clearly having the power to crush the opponent, yet unable to touch the opponent even a bit for various reasons.

It must be known that Tianyou, who is under the BOSS template, is a genuine Demigod, one of the top beings among the Ascenders.

If not for the home-field advantage and the support of the Celestial Tao System, Tianyou, not yet having accessed the Ascension Ladder, would not have such formidable strength at all.

Of course, if the hard power isn't enough, Tianyou wouldn't have much to complain about.

But now the problem is, on the other side, that Winged Red Serpent hasn't accessed the Ascension Ladder either.

At the very least in this game, that Winged Red Serpent hasn't even reached the highest Level, not even having determined its specific Profession.

The reason the opponent can battle Tianyou until now is purely due to its rich battle experience and the strange artifacts it holds.

—Gustav's Gaze: No Life can resist the gaze of the Ancient God, becoming paralyzed in place for one second.

—Mask of Evil Omen: When an enemy attacks the holder, there is a 30% chance to trigger a tripping effect.

—Blessing of the Disaster Star: Each attack costs 100 gold coins, forcing one point of damage to the opponent regardless of the Level difference.

—Hermes' Flying Robe: Increases flight speed by 20% for aerial units, inevitably arousing the anger and attack intent of the BOSS.

...

Under the support of various artifacts with not particularly strong offenses but highly bizarre actual effects, the Winged Red Serpent fully demonstrated what true "Fourth Celestial Calamity" means.

As long as it can break the defense and cause even a point of forced damage, the professional player, Winged Red Serpent, will make the BOSS understand what it means to feel suffocated.

Thus, under the series of attacks by the Winged Red Serpent, Tianyou couldn't help but complain about its Creator for the first time.

Why create so many artifacts with bizarre effects in this world?

Wouldn't it be simple to focus on increasing stats and enhancing levels through equipment?

And who exactly is that player on the other side?

Even if I'm inexperienced, I'm at least a genuine Demigod in this world.

To be endlessly toyed with like a dog, watching my HP bar chip away bit by bit, is a bit too humiliating, isn't it?

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

If Tianyou was feeling repressed, then the one incarnated as the Winged Red Serpent, Samael, was unprecedentedly delighted.

As the former Death Angel, the most powerful War God under the Holy Spirit.

Samael savored this thrill of dancing on the edge of the blade, enjoying the delight of slaying powerful foes.

Unfortunately, with the continuous enhancement of strength and status, Samael can only experience such feelings of overcoming the strong with the weak in the world of the game now.

However, as the battle continued, Samael seemed to suddenly discover something.

When Samael again dodged the attack of the Four Armed Vajra and stared into its eyes, a strange sense of familiarity surged unbidden in his heart.

This sense of familiarity didn't come from the Four Armed Vajra, but rather from Tianyou, who was playing the role of BOSS behind the Four Armed Vajra.

BOOM!

And at this brief moment of distraction.

Finally, the Four Armed Vajra seized the opportunity, slicing the Winged Red Serpent in half and completely ending this BOSS battle.