

The Growth 268

Chapter 268 4: Different Space-Time Carrier (1/3)

That day, as night fell.

After a busy day, Li Hao finally returned to his long-awaited bedroom.

Unlike his last rushed homecoming, this time Jiang Xin not only prepared the bed for Li Hao in advance, but also neatly arranged his books, computer, and various ornaments in the apartment.

"This is what home feels like."

With a gentle sigh, Li Hao turned to look at the small ornaments on the desk.

Besides the desk lamp Li Hao frequently used, there were also figurines of a White Serpent and a Black Dog.

It was obvious that they were the disguised forms of Hua She and Huo Dou.

Since he was back home, Li Hao naturally couldn't openly keep Huo Dou.

Thus, Hua She and Huo Dou had to disguise themselves as ornaments and come home with Li Hao.

In contrast, the bookcase and books that Li Jian Country had forcibly brought back appeared as naive and eagerly curious as they were in the apartment.

"What about those stoves, induction cookers, and pots and pans?"

Li Hao hadn't forgotten those everyday items he usually used.

They had absorbed Li Hao's spirituality; if not brought back together, they would eventually cause big trouble.

"Rest assured, I brought them along as well."

The Hua She coiled around the desk lamp quietly lifted its head, then spat out a stream of shrunk-down daily items from its mouth.

When those daily items landed on the desk, they began to leap and bounce like living beings, seeming to inspect their new surroundings.

"Seems I need to think of a way to create a secret base; otherwise, moving them back and forth like this isn't viable."

Li Hao rubbed his temples with a hint of a headache and began pondering how to settle these already animated charms.

After all, based on his future life trajectory, such moving would not be infrequent.

Whether it's for university or for work in the future...

As long as Li Hao eventually chooses to settle in this small city, he will inevitably have to move frequently.

This is the inevitable price Li Hao pays to maintain his social attribute as a "human."

Thinking of this, Li Hao suddenly focused on the "doorbell" hanging on the back of his room door.

That wasn't an ordinary "doorbell"; it was a prank doorbell Li Yun bought online years ago specifically for scaring Li Hao.

This prank doorbell resembles a token overall, and in the center of the token is remarkably a closed eyeball.

Once someone presses this doorbell, the closed eyeball suddenly opens and, under the influence of the internal circuits, emits terrifying and eerie sound effects.

As expected, Li Hao wasn't frightened, but Li Yun was caught by her parents and got a stern scolding.

Especially Jiang Xin, who, pale with fright, chased Li Yun all over the house with a feather duster, while Li Hao watched and laughed.

"I can barely count as the protagonist now, having my own 'spatial equipment' doesn't seem excessive, right?"

Walking to the door to remove the prank doorbell, Li Hao's Celestial Eye suddenly opened in his mind.

The next second, the prank doorbell, despite lacking batteries, suddenly opened its central eye.

Not just simply opening, the eyeball even gently rotated like a living being, until its gaze landed on Li Hao.

Curious, timid, yet eager...

Just like the other entities brought to life by Li Hao, the prank doorbell had turned into a true charm.

However, merely animating the prank doorbell wasn't Li Hao's goal.

Snap!

With a gentle snap of his fingers, the prank doorbell began distorting from the center.

As if time and space were reversing, or like a huge vortex was forming...

The prank doorbell showed a mix of pain and pleasure, as it could feel its essence undergoing some kind of metamorphosis.

Seeing this, the other charms in the room also opened their eyes, curiously observing the prank doorbell which had become a space-time vessel.

Whoosh!

Just as the transformation was about to finish, Li Hao suddenly directed the prank doorbell at the charms in the room.

In an instant, all the charms flew towards the prank doorbell in unison, entering the different space-time within it.

[Artifact: Prank Doorbell]

[Type: Different Space-Time Vessel]

[Quality: Legend]

[Function①]A special entity granted life by the Creator, possessing the ability to distort space-time.]

[Function②]As a carrier of the Power of Space-Time, it connects to a subspace completely different from the real world.]

.....

Inside the prank doorbell.

This is an independent space-time, a subspace where both time and space differ completely from the outside world.

The subspace isn't very large, altogether not exceeding two hundred square meters.

However, due to Li Hao's own habits and preferences, its internal structure completely mimics human architecture.

It's like a massive circular library, wherever the eye can see stand towering bookcases, with various books leaping within.

Here, those animated books no longer need to disguise themselves, constantly skimming and leaping among the bookshelves.

The bookcases themselves also opened their eyes, curiously examining this unique subspace.

"When I move the computer in too after a while, it will be practically perfect."

Also appearing within this special subspace, Li Hao nodded with great satisfaction.

Behind him, Hua She and Huo Dou also resumed their original forms.

Hua She was well-behaved, following Li Hao without showing much interest in the subspace.

Huo Dou, by contrast, dashed wildly around the vast subspace, occasionally colliding with some flying books.

Both Hua She and Huo Dou could sense the uniqueness of this subspace.

Here, they don't need to suppress their powers as they did in the "Fallen Area" to adapt to the lawless environment.

"Is this... the Ascension Area?"

When Hua She looked up and asked Li Hao, he confirmed with a nod.

"To be precise, it's a small subspace with rules similar to the 'Ascension Area'."

This was Li Hao's first attempt to replicate the dimensions and rules of the Ascension Area within the "Fallen Area."

Facts proved that Li Hao's attempt was quite successful and indirectly confirmed the profound differences between the "Ascension Area" and the "Fallen Area."

The "Ascension Area" and the "Fallen Area" have never been physical concepts; they are two completely different dimensions.

As long as there is enough power to support it, even the "Fallen Area" can temporarily become the "Ascension Area."
