

The Growth 272

Chapter 272 8: Someone's Glitching the System! (2/3)

"How long has Little Stone been missing?"

Sitting solemnly in the main seat of the Divine Hall of Death, the gigantic Goddess of Death lowered her head.

The stone body, after being possessed by a Divine Spirit, exuded an indescribable sense of majesty and oppression.

"Three years!"

"It has been three years since I confirmed the truth of this news."

Quinn, troubled, scratched his skull, producing a series of odd scratching sounds.

Having stayed in the Divine Fall Realm for so long, and even guided the uprising and rise of the Undead Camp...

Now, Quinn already considers himself half a native of the Divine Fall Realm, so he knows better than anyone the impact of the mysterious disappearance of the Immortal Stone on this world.

In the Divine Fall Realm, gods are forbidden to exist.

Any True God who succeeds in Ascension to Divinity, if not hunted down by the endless stream of Ascenders, will eventually be expelled by the power left in this world by the two supreme beings.

Under such circumstances, Demigods who are infinitely close to gods but have never raised the Divine Throne become the pinnacle of power in this world.

Among them, the Immortal Stone and The Merciless Guanyin, who have successfully hunted gods multiple times, are the strongest.

As the strongest primordial Demigods in the World of Fallen Gods, if the Immortal Stone and The Merciless Guanyin were to raise the Divine Throne, they could very likely become True Gods at the Main God Level.

Thus, the subsequent impact of their disappearance is simply unimaginable.

"The Merciless Guanyin has also disappeared, Huang Mei told me this."

"And judging by the time of disappearance, it seems to have disappeared at the same time as Little Stone."

"Combining this with the Godslayer Civilization's declaration of war on the Divine Fall Realm, this is clearly no coincidence."

A hint of confusion leaked from the majestic voice, and the statue of the Goddess of Death, human-like, curled its lips.

Yao Xin hates trouble, especially this kind of unexpected trouble.

"As far as I know, the Godslayer Civilization is not a fixed race."

"They have been recruiting other Desecrators from All Heavens and Myriad Realms into their civilization..."

Opening his mouth and then stopping, the meticulous Quinn said nothing more, but Yao Xin already understood the implication in his words.

"Little Stone has slain gods, and not just one."

"Even by the standards of the Godslayer Civilization, it is an excellent 'seed' contestant."

"The Merciless Guanyin is slightly weaker, but only in terms of achievements..."

"In pure strength, it might even be stronger than Little Stone."

In this regard, Yao Xin's evaluation is quite fair.

The Immortal Stone follows the Vajra Indestructible path, proving the Tao with strength. Its characteristics are too distinct, making it easy for enemies to target.

In contrast, The Merciless Guanyin, with its wisdom and ability, is equally outstanding and has almost no weaknesses, making it one of the toughest types even among Ascenders.

"If Little Stone and The Merciless Guanyin really joined the Godslayer Civilization, what should we do?"

Quinn, lacking much confidence, asked this question.

Little Stone is one thing, but The Merciless Guanyin is truly from an enemy camp.

Even if they don't join the Godslayer Civilization, simply receiving some technical and equipment support from the Godslayers is enough to change the entire Divine Fall Realm's situation.

Limited by his own perspective, Quinn's view is still confined to the current situation of the Divine Fall Realm.

Standing at a higher perspective, Yao Xin is already contemplating the possibility of going to war with the Godslayer Civilization.

This is neither abrupt nor beyond Yao Xin's scope of authority.

While Yao Xin is certainly Li Hao's Divine, she is also the ruler of a world, the supreme Death God.

With Li Hao's intentional indulgence and nurturing, the Netherworld under Yao Xin's command is even stronger than the main worlds of some Divine Pantheons.

Without even mentioning it, just the Ancient Celestial Monarchs under its command are among the top tier Demigods of All Heavens and Myriad Realms.

The only flaw of the Netherworld might be that in terms of high-end combat power, there is only Yao Xin as a True God.

"Don't worry, the Creator will always be watching us."

.....

So, the question arises, what exactly is the Creator in Yao Xin's words doing now?

The answer is, Li Hao is currently sitting in front of his computer desk, frustratedly modifying the code logic of the Celestial Tao System.

"This thing actually has a bug? That's too buggy, isn't it?"

Seeing the snow intermittently flashing across the screen symbolizing the "Divine Fall Realm," Li Hao knew this was someone deliberately interfering with his control over this world.

Given the declaration of war by the Godslayer Civilization on the Divine Fall Realm, this cannot possibly be Maitreya's doing.

"Even though I've intentionally controlled the interference power of the 'Celestial Tao System' on the Divine Fall Realm..."

"But the fact that the Godslayer Civilization can interfere with the normal operation of the 'Celestial Tao System' is a bit too outrageous?"

To know, even the Ancient God Maitreya cannot completely interfere with the operation of the Celestial Tao System.

How did a newly born civilization, barely ten thousand years old, manage to achieve this?

"Great God of Gods, do you need me to personally go to the Divine Fall Realm?"

Watching Li Hao scratching his head, Hua She timely descended from the desk lamp to ask.

After all, the Celestial Tao System is merely a system acting on behalf of the heavens, not a true Creator.

As long as Li Hao wishes, he can solve this small-scale interference the moment he enters dreams.

"Have you ever seen anyone start with a bombshell play?"

Giving Hua She a sideways glance, Li Hao retorted crankily.

"Besides, I have an agreement with Maitreya..."

"Except for the two 'Deputies,' Yao Xin and Huang Mei, we must not let the power of True Gods interfere with the operation of the Divine Fall Realm—even from our own camp."

"With just this minor issue now, it's not worth me breaking the agreement."

Li Hao did not lie about this.

The Divine Fall Realm has developed to this extent precisely because the two supreme beings of this world counterbalance each other, adhering to every term of the 'World Treaty' in tacit agreement.

Only thus have the Ascenders from All Heavens and Myriad Realms been able to feel at ease, coming to this world to seek that tiny opportunity for Ascension to Divinity.

Otherwise, what Ascender would be foolish enough to attempt Ascension in someone else's home field?

Are they truly unafraid of being harvested like crops by those Ascenders under the control of the two supreme beings, who also long for Ascension?

—In any case, the power of True Gods is not allowed to appear in the Divine Fall Realm!

This is an absolute clause mandated into the world's rules, the cornerstone underpinning the current prosperity of the Divine Fall Realm.

"Anyway, let's fix the bug first!"
