

The Growth 288

Chapter 288 3: Arms Dealer of the Mountain and Sea Realm

In the current Mountain and Sea Realm, various races and professions flourish, presenting a scene of prosperity.

Especially on the Fertile Land of the Central Plains, towering cities rise up, and wide roads connect the eight directions.

On this Divine Gifted Plains, referred to as "Fertile Land" by the Hundred Races.

Countless lives shuttle and reproduce, with various advanced technological products creating a peculiar world.

Nine-tailed Fox·Wuhua was born in Qingqiu City on this Fertile Land.

It is an ecological city established by the Nine-tailed Fox Race, woven entirely from natural grass and wood vegetation inside and out, even the city walls are formed by ancient trees.

In this city, all kinds of precious flowers, plants, and trees can be seen everywhere, with grass and wood spirits actively residing among them.

If someone unfamiliar comes to this city, they'll surely be teased by the spirits hidden within the grass and wood.

Of course, although Qingqiu City is an ecological city, it doesn't reject the various mechanical artifacts of the Skeletons.

Especially after the popularization of "Brain-Computers," even the most conservative Nine-tailed Fox would not resist getting an implant-type "Brain-Computer."

After all, while all Nine-tailed Foxes have the potential for cultivating the Exorcism and Demon Control Skill.

But before truly becoming Ascenders, the various implants developed by the Skeletons can still provide them with tremendous help.

However, even in such circumstances, Wuhua's various rebellious acts still give the Prophets of the Nine-tailed Fox Race a headache.

Firstly, Wuhua has undergone a comprehensive mechanical transformation of herself.

Except for retaining part of her brain, Wuhua has apparently become a complete mechanical body.

Outsiders unaware of the facts, upon seeing the current Wuhua, might even suspect she's a mechanical imitation created by the Burrowing Insect Civilization in the likeness of a Nine-tailed Fox.

Intricate and sophisticated mechanical structures...

Lifelike bionic simulations...

Plus that smooth and shiny metal shell...

Bathing in sunlight, Wuhua undoubtedly becomes another form of Nine-tailed Fox.

Through the built-in transformation program, Wuhua can freely switch between a Mechanical Nine-tailed Fox and a Mechanical Humanoid.

When in Qingqiu City, Wuhua is a Mechanical Nine-tailed Fox, hiding among the grass and wood, playing and frolicking with her companions.

But once out of Qingqiu City, Wuhua transforms into a more convenient Mechanical Humanoid, retaining only the distinctive nine tails.

Secondly, Wuhua is also an anomaly within the Nine-tailed Fox Race, preferring a deviant path.

Generally speaking, Nine-tailed Foxes are the most orthodox cultivators of the Exorcism and Demon Control Skill.

The Nine-tailed Foxes often cultivate their spirituality, awaken the spirits of all things, then select the spirits that align with their Path of Cultivation from the Heaven and Earth Ghosts and Gods to become their Guardian Spirits and contracted familiars.

But Wuhua has never cultivated a Guardian Spirit or contracted familiar in the true sense, instead temporarily bestowing spirituality upon all things when necessary, using them as tools.

Lastly, and most critically, Wuhua is a cunning arms dealer.

Leveraging her ability to change forms at will, Wuhua moves among the Hundred Races of Mountains and Seas, selling various items that can be called "weapons."

Especially after the Divine Fall Realm's destruction and Rebirth, the Mountain and Sea Realm officially launched a counterattack against the Godslayer Civilization.

Wuhua began to frequently wander through various realms, selling weapons to those worlds also persecuted by the Godslayer Civilization.

From various micro-implants to bombs that can destroy whole areas...

The weapons Wuhua sells are varied, yet all can significantly enhance one's combat effectiveness and survival ability without exception.

In this context, Wuhua's reputation gradually spread, becoming a renowned arms dealer and war merchant in nearby worlds.

This also affected the Nine-tailed Fox's reputation abroad, leaving the other Nine-tailed Foxes deeply troubled.

Divine Fall Realm, Jidu Gate.

This is the Teleportation Gate formed from a steel ring of Maitreya Buddha after the Divine Fall Realm's Rebirth.

The Divine Fall Realm was originally a semi-open world, as long as the Ascenders from other worlds were willing, it was not difficult to enter the Divine Fall Realm for Ascension through various means.

Therefore, at that time, the Divine Fall Realm did not have a true "Fixed Point Teleportation Device" connecting it to the outside.

But ever since the "Jidu Gate" appeared, the Divine Fall Realm has had a fixed external passage.

Through the "Jidu Gate," even ordinary beings can come and go from the Divine Fall Realm without worrying about getting lost.

If there is a single drawback to the "Jidu Gate," it's probably that the worlds it connects to are primarily those invaded and destroyed by the Godslayer Civilization.

Those who use the "Jidu Gate" to travel to other worlds are mostly war merchants and mercenaries like Wuhua.

"Boss, which world are we heading to this time?"

Standing behind Wuhua, the tiger-headed human-bodied A Meng curiously glanced around.

Near the "Jidu Gate," colossal transportation tools resembling ships and airships can be seen everywhere.

These are transit tools constructed by civilizations from other worlds, capable of enduring the immense pressure of crossing worlds through the "Jidu Gate."

In fact, the transportation tool Wuhua and A Meng were using at that moment was also a "transport tool" rich with the style of the Mountain and Sea Realm.

A worm-like shape, with its entire body covered in metal armor...

The "transport tool" Wuhua and A Meng were aboard was actually a rare Skeleton who chose to alter himself.

"This time, we're heading to the Pandora World..."

"A world that has declined due to the invasion of the Godslayer Civilization."

Slowly opening his giant eyes, the deep and resonant voice of the fourth-generation Skeleton, Chidan, echoed in A Meng's ears.

As Wuhua's initial partner, Chidan chose to become an arms dealer wandering among worlds solely out of sympathy for other worlds and outrage against the Godslayer Civilization.

Recklessly destroying worlds, recklessly slaughtering lives...

In the understanding of the Mountain and Sea Civilization, these are unforgivable sins.

In this context, Chidan resolutely chose to alter himself, becoming a living munitions factory capable of producing various weapons and equipment at any time.

Under normal circumstances, Chidan functions as a transportation tool, carrying Wuhua to different worlds.

But once they encounter an invasion by the Godslayer Civilization, Chidan unhesitatingly transforms into a formidable weapon on the battlefield, repelling those lower beings from the Godslayer Civilization.

In this way, Wuhua and Chidan, this arms dealer duo, managed to make a significant name for themselves.
