

The Growth 313

Chapter 313 - 4: The Immortal's Illegitimate Child

When Long Bo walked out of the ruins, cradling an infant slowly in his arms.

All the Mountain and Sea People involved in the operation were stunned.

Some who reacted quicker even rubbed their eyes in disbelief.

"Long Bo, how did you manage to have an illegitimate child in such a short time?"

With a hint of teasing, the Burrowing Insect straightened his upper body and began using his built-in life instruments to detect the infant's physical characteristics.

Only half a beat later, other Mountain and Sea People also deployed their scouting-type implants to scan and analyze the baby's various data.

Thanks to the establishment of the Information Network.

Nowadays, the Mountain and Sea People can skillfully connect to the Cyber Dimension of the Game Realm, using the stored information data to identify unknown things they encounter.

Because of this, this network based on "Game Realm" was officially named Cyber Network by Zhiku members.

Specifically to distinguish it from the Mountain and Sea Network built by the Mountain and Sea People within the Mountain and Sea Realm.

To put it simply, the Mountain and Sea People have divided the existing information network into "local network" and "wide-area network".

The "wide-area network" that connects All Heavens and Myriad Realms is the Cyber Network.

The "local network" that can only be used within the Mountain and Sea Realm is the Mountain and Sea Network.

Compared to the Mountain and Sea Network, the Cyber Network directly connected to the Game Realm possesses unrivaled superiority in every aspect.

However, the Mountain and Sea Network is the true independent development of the Mountain and Sea People.

With time, as the technology for building the Mountain and Sea Network further develops, it will eventually catch up and even surpass the Cyber Network.

This is an undeniable fact, and the future all Mountain and Sea People look forward to.

After all, the Cyber Network is a gift from the Creator, its highest authority forever held by the Creator.

While the Mountain and Sea Network is a technological product developed by the Mountain and Sea People themselves, which they can freely modify and enhance.

"Ascender? And a whole new Ascension Ladder?"

"Isn't this unbelievable? Her vital signs indeed show she's just a newborn infant!"

"Wait, this baby actually has a carbon-based DNA sequence, and its composition is identical to that of the Immortals?"

...

Amidst the rising cries of surprise, the Burrowing Insect's initially joking phrase "illegitimate child" gradually became a consensus.

Realizing this, most Mountain and Sea People present stared at Long Bo with a strange look.

Although they had long known Immortals disregarded taboos, capable of doing anything outrageous.

However, the emergence of a baby with an Immortal DNA sequence still profoundly shocked the Mountain and Sea People's worldview.

"What are you thinking!?"

"Don't ruin my reputation! This child isn't my illegitimate child!"

Clearly recognizing the seriousness of the situation, the originally unconcerned Long Bo immediately widened his eyes and, in a panicked tone, opened to refute.

"Feishu, help me explain!"

When Long Bo anxiously turned to Feishu for help, he was stunned to find that Feishu had already flown off his shoulder, landing atop the head of the other Burrowing Insect, appearing to enjoy the show.

"Explain? Explain what?"

"From a certain perspective, this child is indeed your offspring—is there something wrong with that?"

Gloatingly murmuring so, Feishu completely ignored Long Bo's now darkening face and turned to ask the Mountain and Sea People behind him.

"Speaking of which, does anyone know the whereabouts of the Saintly Divine Being?"

.....

Saintly Divine Being-Yayu has always been a legend in the Mountain and Sea Realm.

As a theoretically most relatable Legendary Level figure in the daily lives of the Mountain and Sea People, few have truly seen its true form.

This is partly because Yayu's whereabouts are unpredictable, never staying in any one place.

And partly because most of Yayu's activities revolve around those ancient ruins.

So from this perspective, exploration teams engaged in long-term ancient ruin excavations are the group most likely to encounter the Saintly Divine Being.

"Is this why you managed to find me?"

Accompanied by a gentle voice.

Yayu, with a human body and snake tail, slithered out slowly from an ancient ruin.

After sweeping over the positions of Long Bo and Feishu, Yayu's gaze fell directly on the infant in Long Bo's arms.

"Gosh, such a small Immortal?"

"What kind of stunt are you Immortals pulling again?"

Clearly, Yayu too felt a headache dealing with this group of the Creator's firstborn.

Upon noticing the infant, Yayu instinctively felt that this was probably another chaotic incident caused by the Immortals.

"Is it a failed Transformation attempt? Thus resulting in this state?"

"Or did you genuinely believe the Burrowing Insect's words and replicate a new self using your life code?"

Yayu's tone conveyed both curiosity and helplessness.

Immortals' audaciousness is not recent, Yayu firmly believed the other side could pull off such things.

"None of them, I'm really innocent this time!"

Having explained multiple times along the way, Long Bo exclaimed his innocence.

Even though he knew his kin had a poor reputation in the Mountain and Sea Realm, the skeptical eyes all around made Long Bo feel tired.

"I came to find you for help!"

"This girl emerged from my chest after a unique spore parasitized me during our excavation of a prehistoric ruin."

"Feishu said perhaps you know the origin of these special spores and can resolve... this incident."

After hesitating for a long time, Long Bo ultimately used the word "incident" to describe the unexpected birth of this infant.

"Hmph..."

After pondering briefly, Yayu ultimately did not refuse Long Bo's plea for help.

For this is Saintly Divine Being-Yayu, a being regarded as a "Wishing Star" by the Mountain and Sea Realm.

As long as within its capability, Yayu never understood how to refuse requests, even gladly assisting others.

"Your situation is somewhat troublesome."

"I think I roughly guessed the origin of those unique spores."

"However, you still need to describe the specifics to me, particularly regarding the scale and setup of that ancient ruin."