

The Growth 346

Chapter 346 - 16: The True God Yet to Be Born

"..."

Silently staring at Meng Ji opposite him, Cui Weng certainly knew he had just deliberately ignored some crucial information.

It wasn't that Cui Weng didn't want to speak, but he was pondering how exactly to persuade Meng Ji.

Because being unable to successfully persuade Meng Ji on these issues would mean that the originally eased relationship between the two would inevitably lead to a complete rupture.

"Actually, just like Raphael and the 'Pale Lord'..."

"The esteemed 'Verdant Lord' has not completely died."

The battle back then affected the entire world, and the "Verdant Lord" also disappeared without a trace after that battle.

However, as a follower of the "Verdant Lord"—Cui Weng knew better than anyone that the "Verdant Lord" had merely transformed into another form of existence as a god.

"His Divine Format shattered, inherited by us primordial demigods."

"His will integrated into this world, becoming the rule and order that sustains this broken world."

Knowing the underlying implications from the hints, Meng Ji, who was never a fool, immediately grasped the subtext.

"Is it the Spirit of Nature?"

"The 'Verdant Lord' became the Spirit of Nature?!"

Nodding affirmatively, Cui Weng candidly continued.

"When Evil Dragon Ao Wo swallowed the Fruit of Life, the Spirit of Nature's will emerged."

"He told us that you are the 'Savior' from the Outer Realm, and informed us how to adjust the 'prophecy'..."

"Most importantly, the Spirit of Nature told us that another god is attempting to save this world."

Upon hearing this, Meng Ji was momentarily stunned, then looked down at Xiaohai under her feet.

Meng Ji's intuition told her that the god Cui Weng mentioned was related to the Dark Life.

Moreover, one significant reason Cui Weng showed up this time was likely because of Xiaohai.

"Besides Raphael, the Pale Lord, and the Spirit of Nature, there is a fourth god in this world?"

Nodding once again, Cui Weng's gaze also lingered on Xiaohai under Meng Ji's feet.

"Or more precisely, it is a yet unborn True God——Master of the Void."

.....

[Master of the Void?]

Li Hao, in the midst of the unknown, repeated this name, his eyes gradually growing profound.

Through the positioning of Meng Ji's line of faith, the intelligence collected by the Celestial Tao System was more comprehensive and accurate than Cui Weng's description.

Li Hao didn't know what this world was originally like.

But after Raphael used the Tree of Life to reconstruct this broken world, it transformed into a world composed of dimensions of Spirituality, Nature, and Void.

The Spirituality within is naturally the dimension where Raphael's own power manifested.

As one of the seven strongest angels under the Holy Spirit, Raphael, known as the "God of Civilization," epitomizes Spirituality.

It was through Raphael's own extraordinary Spirituality that he could cultivate the Tree of Life sustaining the entire world after leaving Eden.

Yes, by now, Li Hao largely understood that Raphael's self-sacrifice was actually to cultivate a complete Tree of Life.

Otherwise, relying solely on the "Pale Lord's" power couldn't possibly inflict serious harm on Raphael.

As to why Raphael cultivated the Tree of Life?

Was it to save this broken world?

Or did he aim to achieve his own transformation through the power of the Fruit of Life?

Perhaps only Raphael himself knew the answer.

The only thing Li Hao knew at present is that the concept of the Natural Dimension emerged after the birth of the Tree of Life.

The Verdant Lord leveraged the concept of the Natural Dimension to transform into the Spirit of Nature after death, continuously maintaining and protecting the Tree of Life's growth.

[Then the question arises, how was the Void Dimension born?]

Staring at the Void Entity parasitizing outside the broken world, twisting all matter and energy like a temporal vortex, a hint of curiosity flickered in Li Hao's eyes.

This Void Dimension doesn't seem like a naturally developed product of this world.

Yet, it is precisely this Void Entity that continuously disrupted the internal operations of the world, leading to the emergence of Dark Life.

As if it were a curse specifically targeting the "Pale Lord."

The Dark Life instinctively cleanses the world's twisted lives, while the Void Entity discreetly alters the internal rules of the world.

Day after day, year after year, culminating in the current state of the broken world.

[It seems this Void Entity is more akin to a safeguard?]

[When this world faces an unpredictable catastrophic crisis, this safeguard would activate, then employ its own method to save this world?]

With this thought, Li Hao turned his gaze once more to Xiaohai under Meng Ji's feet.

Being the most peculiar existence among Dark Life, Xiaohai, who possesses a complete and symmetrical structure, clearly provides the best clue to solve this query.

"You came here for Xiaohai!"

Despite the interrogative phrasing, Meng Ji spoke these words with certainty.

"It is the most perfect Void Incarnation!"

"It is the only vessel capable of replacing the Fruit of Life to seal the 'Pale Lord's' curse."

"This was its purpose since birth, just like its predecessors."

"Your true duty as the 'Savior' is to cultivate it and use it to completely seal the 'Pale Lord'!"

Slightly squinting her eyes, a trace of anger flashed across Meng Ji's face.

"The Savior's duty?"

"I have never acknowledged such a thing!"

As Cui Weng anticipated, failing to successfully persuade Meng Ji ultimately led to the breakdown of the previously easing relations between the two.

"If this was your purpose in coming here, then I can only say you've truly succeeded in angering me."

Initially, Meng Ji adopted Xiaohai indeed out of a certain curiosity.

But undeniably, the time spent together has long made Meng Ji develop genuine feelings for Xiaohai.

Completely disinterested in attending to or pondering what the "Void Incarnation" spoken by Cui Weng truly meant, Meng Ji raised her hand, pulling out a futuristic-looking sniper rifle.

Swoosh—Boom!

In an instant, the potent recoil even caused Xiaohai beneath her feet to stagger.

And Cui Weng, having taken this sniper shot head-on, had a significant portion of his body blasted apart, caught off guard.

Truth be told, Cui Weng had considered the possibility of negotiations collapsing between the two.

But he never anticipated that Meng Ji would attack him without a word and that she would wield such a deadly weapon right off the bat.
