

The Growth 351

Chapter 351 - 21: Creator of This World

[There are indeed no innocents in this world.]

Silently gazing at Meng Ji, who had recovered all her memories, Li Hao in the ethereal realm approved of the other's thinking.

The true "Master of Cui Lu" had long been deceased.

The "Spirit of Nature" was merely a leftover instinct meant to maintain the order of the world after the master's death.

To the "Spirit of Nature," which is neither good nor evil, nor possesses a self, deceiving an Immortal from the Outer Realm was nothing if it meant the world could continue.

In fact, the arrangement made by the "Spirit of Nature" had indeed taken effect.

The curse of the "Lord Cangbai" was completely sealed within Meng Ji's body, and a symmetrical life form was once again born in this world.

Xiaohai was the vanguard among them, but it wasn't the only new symmetrical being.

As time goes by, more symmetrical life forms like Xiaohai will come into existence.

By then, this world will once again nurture wisdom and civilization, and the curse of "Lord Cangbai" will naturally be broken as well.

Unfortunately, Meng Ji's Rebirth disrupted the "Spirit of Nature's" plan.

When the newly reborn Meng Ji came into contact with the Ancient Demon formed from her past self, this world, on its way to the right path, was once more shrouded by the curse of "Lord Cangbai."

In response to this, Li Hao could only say that it was good that it was broken.

After all, no matter how merciful, or how much he tried to hold himself to the standards of a God, Li Hao couldn't bear to watch an Immortal like his own child take on such inexplicable humiliation.

In the end, with the extreme personality exhibited by Meng Ji, it was because the other side used the "Creator Totem" to gain her trust that she believed in the "Spirit of Nature" so readily.

From this perspective alone, Li Hao found it hard to have any fondness for the "Spirit of Nature."

Moreover, using the Immortal Body of an Immortal to seal the curse of "Lord Cangbai" was purely a unilateral arrangement by the "Spirit of Nature."

The original plan was to cultivate a perfect sealing vessel using the power of the "Master of the Void."

Even as a last resort, using the Fruit of Life to re-incubate Six-winged Blazing Angel Raphael would be much more reliable than the "Spirit of Nature's" method.

These are three completely distinct methods of salvation, representing the choices of three different Gods.

[Then what exactly is that 'Void Entity'?]

[Or what kind of God is He really?]

With a gaze that became distant and profound, Li Hao knew that perhaps only one God in this world could answer the question lingering in his heart.

[Raphael, are you really dead?]

.....
At the roots of the Tree of Life, where the Evil Dragon Ao Wo resided.

As the sealing container shattered and the curse of "Lord Cangbai" resurfaced, Ao Wo couldn't help but laugh maniacally.

"I knew it! You wouldn't repeat the same mistakes!"

"This is a world without innocents! Your sacrifice is utterly meaningless!"

"Abandon the mission that the 'Spirit of Nature' imposed on you, and return to your own world, that's what you should do!"

It was hard to say whether Ao Wo's words were from his own perspective, or whether he was genuinely considering Meng Ji's well-being.

But undeniably, with the reappearance of "Lord Cangbai," both the strength of the Primordial Demigods and the power of the Tree of Life were being diminished.

This meant that Ao Wo's complete liberation was not far off.

"Has it finally come to this point?"

With a gentle sigh, a voice suddenly emerged from Ao Wo's body.

This voice was so sacred, so majestic.

Upon its appearance, it immediately took control of Ao Wo's body.

"You..."

With a tone slightly tinged with fear, Ao Wo opened its mouth wide, able to feel the Fruit of Life that had originally been swallowed and digested by itself reappearing within.

Upon realizing this, Ao Wo instantly awoke.

The one who had taken over its body was none other than the legendary God of Civilization Raphael.

Unfortunately, by the time Ao Wo realized this, it was already too late; its body was being devoured by the Fruit of Life within.

Whoosh!

In just the blink of an eye, the twisted, hideous Evil Dragon vanished from the roots of the Tree of Life, replaced by a Life Fruit emanating golden light.

Called a fruit, it was actually more akin to an egg of some kind of creature.

On the surface of this golden giant egg, various sacred patterns appeared intermittently.

[Is this what you truly sought?]

Silently and invisibly, Li Hao's voice echoed within the giant egg through the [Celestial Tao System].

[To cultivate a true Tree of Life at the cost of destroying a world.]

[And then using the fruit borne of the Tree of Life to transform from a Main God into a Supreme God?]

[After all, this is the Fruit of Life that has absorbed the essence of an entire world...]

[In All Heavens and Myriad Realms, there's probably nothing better suited as a stepping stone to becoming the 'Creator' than this.]

As he spoke these words, Li Hao's voice was filled with an air of understanding.

Li Hao was not speculating; he was merely calmly stating a fact.

The Healing Angel Raphael, who brought civilization to this world, had intentions that were impure from the beginning.

Cultivating civilization, gathering faith, challenging the Gods, even planting the Tree of Life...

Everything Raphael did was ultimately aimed at cultivating this Fruit of Life that concentrated the power of the entire world.

From this, Li Hao finally understood the true function of the Fruit of Life.

[Artifact: Fruit of Life]

[Type: Divine Format]

[Quality: Epic]

[Function①]The highest technical crystallization of the Yawei God, a forbidden fruit comparable to the Fruit of Wisdom, capable of granting the user immortality and indestructibility.]

[Function②]A fruit born from the essence of the Tree of Life, absorbing the entire world's faith, life, civilization, and Primordial Power, it is a man-made Supreme Divine Format.]

...

Though the process wasn't as perfect as Raphael had envisioned,

But the current Fruit of Life indeed allowed Him to become the Supreme God of this world, mastering the authority of all creation as the Creator.

As the Fruit of Life cracked open, a Twelve-winged Blazing Angel radiating golden brilliance unfurled its body like a newborn infant.

How majestic He was, with twelve wings shining golden light.

How beautiful He was, a perfect humanoid form embodying the androgynous beauty of both genders.

How benevolent He was, no matter how ferocious a creature, would become docile under His gaze.

—Six-winged Blazing Angel Raphael.

—Holy Spirit of all things united, the Creator of this world.
