

The Growth 358

Chapter 358 4: Canglong Remains

With the assistance of sufficiently advanced equipment and technology, Kuilong and his team quickly confirmed this hypothesis.

Most of the islands within this thousand-mile radius are formed from the remains of Canglongs that died here.

Moreover, when Kuilong and his team approached the desolate island where the dragon fell, attempting to bring back the Canglong's remains for research, more shadows rose from the depths beneath the sea.

These were Canglongs who sensed the presence of the ship and were trying to prevent Kuilong and his team from taking away the dragon remains.

Only then did everyone realize that the previously seen Canglong was not particularly large.

Compared to those giants with a body length of tens of meters, a Canglong that is over ten meters long is merely a youth or even a juvenile of the race.

"Roar!"

Amidst the rising sound of dragon roars.

The ship, without the slightest hesitation, ascended into the sky, dragging the Canglong's remains.

Being one of the most advanced reconnaissance ships of Mountain and Sea Civilization, Kuilong's ship was equipped with an antigravity field.

Thus, dragging a Canglong weighing dozens of tons wasn't a big deal at all.

Under the traction and assistance of the antigravity field, the Canglong's remains perfectly maintained its falling state, heading in the opposite direction of Yu Yuan.

Under such circumstances, the surrounding Canglongs roared with anger, their powerful power of thunder transforming into electric light to illuminate the dusk.

ZZZZZZ...

Fortunately, the ship's gravity barrier became effective at this moment, promptly blocking the strikes of thunder and lightning.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

The collision of lightning and barriers illuminated the dusk of Yu Yuan into daylight.

Within the ship, everyone remained calm, without any sense of being besieged.

In fact, if not for protecting the ecology of these Canglongs, this ship could have directly obliterated the entire sea area within a thousand-mile radius.

After all, the combat power of the ecological survey ship initially benchmarked against the "strongest demigod."

This is the power of civilization, as well as the joint effort of Mountain and Sea People.

A single Mountain and Sea Person might be weak.

But when many Mountain and Sea People concentrate their wisdom and power in one place, even Ascenders capable of bending rules must concede three points.

Not to mention this group of Canglongs who aren't even Ascenders.

"Roar!"

Angry dragon roars couldn't stop the survey ship from departing, and lightning and storms couldn't prevent its disappearance.

Once the Canglongs gradually dispersed, the accelerated flying survey ship had already returned to the front line of the Secret Seekers—back near the island base temporarily built by numerous Secret Seekers.

Just inevitably, the behavior of the Canglongs gathering to summon lightning storms alarmed the prophets of the Zhiku.

Therefore, when Kuilong's survey ship slowly descended with the dragon remains.

The general manager of this ecological survey operation—Gui Zhang was already standing at the entrance of the spaceport, staring intensely at the distinctively characterized ecological survey ship.

Gui Zhang wasn't a member of the Hundred Races of Mountains and Seas, he was from the Netherworld Race of the Netherworld.

With the development of Mountain and Sea Realm civilization, the existence of the Netherworld Race was no longer a secret.

Everyone knows that the Netherworld Race is the followers under the Death Goddess Yao Xin, hands to those Ancient Celestial Monarchs.

They are responsible for the life and death reincarnation throughout the Mountain and Sea Realm, serving as the ferryman responsible for guiding souls.

However, just like the continuous progress of Mountain and Sea Civilization.

The Netherworld Race from the Netherworld has also kept pace with the times, developing different civilizations and systems.

The "ferryman system" responsible for maintaining the balance of Yin and Yang Realms, so...

Every once in a while, proactively thrown into reincarnation as the "reincarnation system," is equally so...

Up until now, in order to alleviate the depression and self-destruction tendencies caused by long-time death exposure, the Netherworld Race would send members to Mountain and Sea Realm for vacation every century.

Gui Zhang came to Mountain and Sea Realm under such circumstances and became the general manager of this ecological survey activity.

As for why let Gui Zhang such an "outsider" serve as this investigation activity's general manager?

The reason is simple, because it's close to Yu Yuan, the legendary location connecting to the Netherworld.

Having someone like Gui Zhang at home, even if something goes wrong, fetching Secret Seekers from the Netherworld wouldn't be any difficult... right?

These are all the ideas of Zhiku gentlemen.

Gui Zhang just found it interesting, so he agreed to take on the task.

.....

"Kuilong, what was that noise just now?"

When Gui Zhang asked this question, his gaze never left the dragon remains behind the ecological survey ship.

Gui Zhang knew in his heart that this unknown creature resembling a python is likely the greatest find of Kuilong's trip.

What he needs to determine now is whether Kuilong didn't follow regulations to hunt this unknown creature or if some unexpected incident occurred during the survey.

"Don't worry, I didn't cause trouble for you."

Seeming quite familiar with Gui Zhang, Kuilong explained.

"This is a special biological group we discovered while collecting ecological information."

"They seem to be a type of dragon, with a life energy level at the rank of Epic Creatures, but live together in a unique clan style."

"Most critically, these special types of dragons have the ability to harness lightning."

Raising an eyebrow slightly, Gui Zhang instantly realized the risk involved.

"Epic Creatures existing in a clan form?"

"Able to harness the power of thunder without activating 'Ascension Ladder'?"

Nodding confidently, Kuilong's assurance instantly made Gui Zhang's expression serious.

"So the noise just now... was caused by other individuals of this dragon type?"

Not denying this point, Kuilong went further to say.

"From the current observed situation, the clan consciousness of these dragon types is stronger than expected."

"I suspect that in the coming time, these dragon types will frequently show up near the base, trying to retrieve this dragon remains."

Understanding the implication, Gui Zhang immediately reacted.

"You suspect that these special Epic Creatures have already begun to develop intelligence?"

"And it's not individual intelligence, but signs of civilization development throughout the entire clan?"

At this point, without needing Kuilong to answer Gui Zhang's question, the skeleton people, who always followed him, timely explained.

"Civilization may not be the case, but these dragon types have learned to use the corpses of their kin to build nests..."

"Simultaneously, these dragon types also have rituals akin to 'rite of passage'."

"With little guidance, they can easily develop the most primitive totem worship and enter the tribal civilization stage."