Chapter 386 - 8: Divine Treasure Vault

The mysterious deity whose name no one knows...

Holds an authority in the Civilization Game second only to Celestial Father Hathor...

He controls a Realm of No Space-Time, independent of All Heavens and Myriad Realms...

And possesses the Gate of Ten Thousand Realms, which reportedly formed from fragments of the shattered Wheel of All Realms, connecting any world...

All these intriguing points make it hard for Li Hao not to suspect that the Faceless might indeed be Celestial Father Gu A.

"No matter what, a Celestial Father is a Celestial Father."

"Even the remains left after the death of an incarnation can maintain their integrity in the Fallen Area."

Sweeping his gaze over the remnants of True Gods all around that have completely lost their divinity, Li Hao gains a new understanding of the uniqueness of a Celestial Father.

Li Hao even slightly suspects that if it weren't for his unexpected appearance.

Perhaps the Twisted Humanoid could indeed revive in the Fallen Area, under the identity of "Gu A."

At that time, Earth would see the emergence of a deity not a deity, akin to Mazu Lin Momei.

Unfortunately, reality is not mere speculation.

The pawn shop now, as the Twisted Humanoid is assimilated by the Prank Doorbell, has gradually become part of the Prank Doorbell.

Whirl... Whirl... Whirl...

Surrounding objects begin to distort, with a massive vortex appearing out of thin air.

Li Hao, with the head of a dragon and the body of a human, stands calmly and assuredly within this void vortex.

Because he knows this is the inevitable process of the Prank Doorbell swallowing and assimilating this Divine Format.

The Prank Doorbell was originally a legendary-level artifact Li Hao specially crafted to conveniently hide his secrets, containing a subspace within.

Li Hao initially only used that subspace as his library or book room to store books that have gained sentience and daily items.

In reality, that subspace, aside from briefly possessing Ascension Area rules due to Li Hao's support of divine power, is not particularly remarkable on its own.

However, as the Prank Doorbell began to swallow and assimilate this pawn shop, symbolizing "Divine Format," its essence rapidly enhanced, visibly.

It ascended from a legendary-level artifact to a rare treasure-level divine artifact.

The Prank Doorbell no longer needs Li Hao's support of divine power and can independently evolve an independently ruled subspace.

The various demons and ghosts dwelling within can even feel the nourishment and feedback of the entire subspace towards them.

But for the current Li Hao, a mere rare treasure-level divine artifact is obviously not of much help.

So when he saw that the Prank Doorbell couldn't fully digest the power of the Divine Format, Li Hao's Celestial Eye opened once again on his forehead.

At the same moment, Li Hao merged the soul of the Clever Ghost into the Prank Doorbell.

"Wasting it would still be wasting it, so just consider it an investment!"

With the Clever Ghost's soul sharing the power of the Divine Format.

The originally stagnant upgrade trend of the Prank Doorbell accelerated once more.

Yet looking at the current Prank Doorbell, the instigator Li Hao couldn't help but frown.

If divine artifacts also have thresholds, upgrading from rare treasure to epic is the biggest one.

No matter how miraculous and unique rare treasure-level artifacts and divine artifacts might be, they can be studied and replicated.

Only epic-level divine artifacts are one-of-a-kind and incorruptible items across all heavens and myriad realms, embodiments of True Divine Power.

Normally, divine format artifacts are epitomes of the epic level.

Yet after splitting the pawn shop's power into two, neither the standalone Prank Doorbell nor Clever Ghost's soul alone can be considered true epic-level divine artifacts.

Even forcibly merging the two can't yield the epic-level divine artifact Li Hao truly desires.

"This divine artifact currently lacks a core 'concept'..."

Li Hao, having ample experience in crafting an epic-level divine artifact, muttered a sentence.

Having eradicated the pawn shop's "transaction concept," Li Hao must imbue a new concept into this epic-level divine artifact.

And this concept must be related to the "God of Wealth" to preserve the power of the Divine Format to the greatest extent.

Especially since this "Wealth Divine Format" originated from Celestial Father Gu A.

Creating an epic-level divine artifact comparable to the Celestial Tao System from it is not an impossible task.

"Since that's the case, we might as well be a bit extravagant!"

If it were ordinary deities, they would most likely fill the concept relating to their own divine position.

But being the Creator of the entire Mountain and Sea Realm, the concepts Li Hao owns and symbolizes nearly equate to the entirety of the Mountain and Sea World.

Both innate natural phenomena and later sculpted civilization concepts are manifestations and materializations of Li Hao's power.

In such circumstances, Li Hao only needs to find the concept most compatible with an epic-level divine artifact and then merge it within.

"Gemstones, gold and silver, copper and iron..."

Whispering thus, countless conceptual entities manifested behind Li Hao simultaneously.

These are the forces of the entire Mountain and Sea Realm and symbolic of Li Hao's identity as the "Creator."

"Knowledge, technology, civilization..."

Each time Li Hao utters a word signifying a concept, a conceptual entity eagerly jumps forth to merge with the Prank Doorbell.

Conversely, corresponding entities within the Mountain and Sea Realm undergo some mystical alteration.

"Plunder, containment, replication..."

A moment later, when Li Hao stops his chanting, the Prank Doorbell officially upgraded from rare treasure-level to epic-level.

Moreover, gazing at the Prank Doorbell radiating golden light abundantly, anyone with eyes can discern its power at that moment.

Even across the list of epic-level divine artifacts, the current Prank Doorbell definitely ranks among the top.

"It seems no longer apt to keep calling you 'Prank Doorbell'."

Watching the eye that appeared alive, winking at him, Li Hao commented with a chuckle.

"Since you were born embodying the concept of 'wealth' and have integrated the civilization concept of the entire Mountain and Sea Realm, I'll name you 'Divine Treasure Vault'!"

As if responding to Li Hao's naming, the eye of the Divine Treasure Vault suddenly radiated brilliance.

Within this light, a series of objects—gold, silver treasures, copper, iron, steel, titanium, blades, spears, swords, halberds, axes, hooks, forks, guns, machinery, drone swarms, floating airships, even Sky Cities—vanished in a flash.

And ultimately manifested as entities kept within the Divine Treasure Vault, becoming a part akin to an original text.
