Chapter 393 - 15: The Potential "Intelligent Mechanism Crisis

Duo Mu ultimately couldn't oppose Celestial Monarch Yan and decided to personally take A Lang to the Divine Fall Realm.

Of course, since they're planning to head to the Divine Fall Realm, they naturally have to go through the Brilliant Realm.

Thus, when Duo Mu appeared in the Brilliant Realm with A Lang, they were immediately noticed by the "Lord of Spirits and Gods" of the Brilliant Realm.

Whew!

The strong wind took form, naturally endowed with a will.

The "Lord of Spirits and Gods," taking the form of a Storm Giant, curiously examined A Lang behind Duo Mu.

"Duo Mu, I heard you attempted suicide again?"

Glaring at the "Lord of Spirits and Gods" without good humor, Duo Mu immediately retorted.

"Where did you hear that rumor? Don't spread or believe rumors. Do I really need to teach you this principle?"

"Where is Balian now? I have something to discuss with him!"

Half-skeptical, the "Lord of Spirits and Gods" glanced at Duo Mu and straightforwardly asked.

"Does it have something to do with the Innate God behind you?"

After hesitating for a moment, the "Lord of Spirits and Gods" finally opted to refer to A Lang as "Innate God."

After all, aside from his soul and power being somewhat weak, in all other aspects, he quite matches the standards of an Innate God.

At least, in the Mountain and Sea Realm, only Innate Gods would possess such a pure soul.

"His situation is somewhat special; he is not an Innate God."

Knowing that A Lang's situation couldn't be hidden from the "Lord of Spirits and Gods."

After saying this, Duo Mu took A Lang towards the direction of the Creator Altar.

"Balian! I'm back!"

Ignoring the puzzled expression of the "Lord of Spirits and Gods," Duo Mu shouted loudly while advancing.

A Lang, following closely, naturally didn't pay much attention to the "Lord of Spirits and Gods," and hurried to catch up with Duo Mu.

During this process, the "Lord of Spirits and Gods" seemed to realize something as his expression gradually shifted from confusion to realization.

"An Ascender using the Skillful Path?"

"What era is this? There's still such ancient cultivators?"

With a gaze filled with interest, the form of the Storm Giant of the "Lord of Spirits and Gods" gradually dissipated, but his will silently accompanied Duo Mu and A Lang.

Unaware that they had piqued the interest of the "Lord of Spirits and Gods."

Duo Mu swiftly led A Lang through the Immortal quarters of the Brilliant Realm, reaching the vicinity of the Creator Altar at its center.

"No need to shout anymore; I heard your voice from afar."

Slowly pushing open the door of the Prophet's Residence, Balian somewhat reluctantly stopped Duo Mu's clamoring.

Behind Balian, a Dragon Wolf as large as a mountain turned to gaze at Duo Mu and A Lang.

Due to its enormous size.

When the Dragon Wolf turned, a tremor in the earth was inevitable.

Fortunately, aside from A Lang, no one present was surprised, as they were already accustomed to the Dragon Wolf's presence.

"It's been a long time, A Dui!"

Excitedly waving, greeting Dragon Wolf A Dui, Duo Mu couldn't remember how long it had been since he last met them.

Compared to Balian, Dragon Wolf A Dui was more welcomed by the Immortals in all aspects.

Especially for Immortals like Duo Mu who wander outside year-round.

Every time he saw Dragon Wolf A Dui, it reminded him of the daily interactions with them in the past.

"Awoo!"

Responding similarly in a low tone to Duo Mu's greeting, Dragon Wolf A Dui wagged his tail twice.

.....

Moments later, inside the Prophet's Residence.

Unlike the ancient and simple exterior, the interior of the Prophet's Residence was filled with modern decorations.

Various equipment and mechanisms from the Mountain and Sea Realm could be seen all over the Prophet's Residence.

With sharp eyes, Duo Mu even spotted a few living plants with "self-will."

They are a branch of Heaven and Earth Ghosts and Gods.

They were also specifically created by the Mountain and Sea Civilization as carriers of "Power of the Ghost God" to facilitate ordinary individuals using Ascender power.

In today's Mountain and Sea Civilization, the existence of these living plants is as common as implants.

"I thought someone as traditional as you would refuse to use these living plants?"

Shooting a glance at the seemingly shy plants, Duo Mu teased playfully.

"The Creator once said that the primitive accumulation of all technologies is bloody."

"Since the Mountain and Sea Civilization is destined to develop this 'living plant' technology, why should I resist such an inevitable trend?"

Reaching out to comfort the sunflower beside him, Balian spoke calmly and confidently.

"Using intelligent beings as consumables or weapons indeed violates the Creator's original intent..."

"But this is just a transitional stage in the progress of the Mountain and Sea Civilization, and it won't exist for long."

"I believe they will eventually realize this and rectify it."

"Until then, all I can do is inform them of the danger of this path."

Understanding the implication, Duo Mu's eyes widened in realization.

"What sneaky bad thing did you do this time?"

With a disgruntled glance at Duo Mu, Balian immediately corrected him.

"What do you mean by bad thing?"

"I just want them to learn a lesson, to know that intelligent life cannot be enslaved forever."

Upon hearing this, Duo Mu then noticed the living plants in the room, seemingly shy but subtly exhibiting a hint of aggression and attack.

"Are you cultivating a rebellious mindset in these living plants?"

"Do you plan to incite a conflict between Mountain and Sea People and the living plants in the Mountain and Sea Realm?"

Faced with a Mountain and Sea Realm crisis reminiscent of a "Machine Intelligence Crisis," Duo Mu was momentarily speechless.

Balian indeed was worthy of being the Prophet among Immortals.

As the saying goes, "Silent for a time, then earth-shattering," aptly describes a person like him.

In contrast, the other Immortals' daily madness seemed trivial and insignificant.

"I think the Mountain and Sea People don't want to receive this 'lesson'."

Offering a simple jab, Duo Mu quickly steered the conversation back.

"Anyway, these matters have nothing to do with me. I have serious business in finding you this time."

Under Balian's surprised gaze, Duo Mu pulled A Lang from behind and said.

"Celestial Monarch Yan intends to send this fellow to train in the Divine Fall Realm, requiring transit through the Brilliant Realm..."

"Besides, to be safe, I also need to accompany him to the Divine Fall Realm."

Seeing Balian's seemingly skeptical expression, Duo Mu added further.

"Of course, I know I have a lot of prior offenses and you might not believe me."

"I have Celestial Monarch Yan's private communication channel here; you can contact her through the Creator Altar to confirm."
