Chapter 444 - 30: Sun and Moon True God

"This is the Mountain and Sea Realm!"

Lowering his head to look at the thunder entwined around his fingertips, Kuilong murmured softly.

At this moment, Kuilong had already revealed his enormous true form, and the Azure Dragons were winding around his body like lightning.

With the power of Kuilong, the human-shaped God, those Azure Dragons freely unleashed lightning, causing devastating blows to the nearby Demon Descendants.

This impact was by no means inferior to an army of one Wu Kui, and in some aspects, it even surpassed them.

In fact, besides Kuilong, the human-shaped God, other Demigods and Gods from the Mountain and Sea Realm were also arriving one after another to join this war specifically targeting the Demon Descendants.

Compared to the users of the Civilization Game, the life forms of the Mountain and Sea Realm worshipped and believed in the Creator unconditionally.

Therefore, even without any reward mechanism, they would help this world to the greatest extent within their abilities to expel those evil Exotic Demon Gods.

"Dad, where should we go next?"

At this moment, the leader of the Canglong Race and the only Ghost Dragon of the Mountain and Sea Realm, Geng Chen, also appeared in this world.

Geng Chen has long become a true God, and his strength has surpassed his adoptive father.

"Go find Ao Xing."

Without the slightest hesitation, Kuilong, who had already made his plan, said.

"Although it is a benign mutant of the Canglong Race, possessing the strength to independently execute tasks at the Evil God Processing Center."

"Given the current situation, it far exceeds its capability, and we must find it as soon as possible."

Regarding the issues happening with Ao Xing, the related personnel of the Heavenly Pearl had long compiled and reported the information to the Central City.

This is the reason a guy like Kuilong could be the first to appear in this world.

"It's a pity this world doesn't have the Seven Stars of the East..."

"Otherwise, with the power of the Seven Stars of the East, I would definitely be able to locate it in the shortest time possible."

Although the Seven Stars of the East in the Mountain and Sea Realm are subordinates of the Mother of All Stars·Doumu Yuanjun, they are also the embodiment of the power of the seven successive Ghost Dragons.

After ascending to deityhood, Ao Xing could manipulate the Seven Stars of the East, essentially making it an "Azure Dragon Star Lord" in a way.

"No need, I already have a rough idea of where it is."

Gazing eastward, Kuilong's eyes seemed to see the moon slowly rising.

The black Demon Dragon and the ferocious Asura King were still entangled in battle.

And despite the shattered core of the moon, it still rose slowly at the same speed as the sun in the west.

When the sun and moon converge, it will be the moment this world sees light again.

"Roar!"

The black Demon Dragon is none other than Ao Xing, who had merged with the Fallen Dragon.

The Fallen Dragon, which merged with the core of the moon, to regain freedom and become the true Moon God.

It naturally chose to assimilate with Ao Xing, who had the "Savior" status.

As mentioned earlier, this choice of Ao Xing entailed great risks.

Because no one knew if that Fallen Dragon would keep its promise, or if Ao Xing would become merely a tool for the Fallen Dragon's rebirth.

However, Ao Xing ultimately chose to merge with the Fallen Dragon.

On one hand, this was because of the strong sense of justice and responsibility instilled in Ao Xing from a young age.

On the other hand, Ao Xing firmly believed that a Fallen Dragon capable of splitting off the Dragon of Suffering could not be an utterly vile person without a bottom line.

The facts proved that Ao Xing's gamble was correct.

In the process of assimilation, the Fallen Dragon did not absorb or dissolve Ao Xing's will.

Instead, the Fallen Dragon preserved Ao Xing's will deep within its brain, even creating a secondary brain specifically to hold it.

While this did not help the Fallen Dragon replicate Ao Xing's abilities further, it maximized the preservation of Ao Xing's character and memory.

Thus, Ao Xing saw the life memories of the Fallen Dragon.

Like the split-off Dragon of Suffering.

In fact, the current Fallen Dragon is not a complete Fallen Dragon either; it is merely half of the original Fallen Dragon.

As for the source of all this?

It traces back to the Keren Race's earlier attempt to replay the ecological circle.

At that time, the Fallen Dragons had not yet split from the Keren Race.

The Keren Race, unaware and acting on instinct, merely wanted to assimilate the entire ecological circle into themselves, thus living forever in this way.

Thus, the Keren Race came into contact with the fallen sun and moon, angering the will of Ji Meng hidden within.

It should be noted that Ji Meng, at that time, had long seized the sun and moon rights, becoming the unique Sun and Moon True God of this world.

If not for the war with the Gods and Divine Abominations, which shattered Ji Meng's body and led to the evolution along with Yuyu into the initial Keren Race, He might have truly become an ancient deity before the world's end.

But there are no 'ifs' in this world.

The fact is that after driving out those invading Gods and Divine Abominations, Ji Meng's will could only hide within the sun and moon, barely clinging to life.

Until the Keren Race attempted to revive the ecological circle and came into contact with the fallen sun and moon.

The proud Ji Meng felt insulted and did not hesitate to launch a counterattack against the Keren Race.

That was a battle of flesh and soul, a struggle of instinct and will.

The Keren Race only had the most primitive survival instincts and Immortality, while Ji Meng symbolized intellect and pride.

This bloodless carnage ultimately resulted in their fusion, nurturing the Fallen Dragon with both the body of the Keren Race and Ji Meng's will.

The Fallen Dragon was neither Keren Race nor Ji Meng.

They are a special group, possessing intellect and wisdom, born from the fusion of the two.

The Fallen Dragon that assimilated with Ao Xing is the very first true Fallen Dragon in this world, the origin of the entire Fallen Dragon lineage.

The Keren Race is not a biological entity in the usual sense.

Additionally, with the special attack method they evolved through hunting—neuroinhibitor.

This directly causes all creatures attempting to attack the Keren Race to become apathetic due to infection with this neuroinhibitor.

When Ji Meng attempted to counterattack the Keren Race, it was naturally seen by them as a rebellious prey, hence they again released neuroinhibitors, attempting to paralyze it.

The outcome is predictable; Ji Meng was completely immune to this physical plane toxin and, instead, influenced some members of the Keren Race with His will.

Combining with the rapidly cooling global environment after Ji Meng's will perished, caused by the sun and moon.

The Keren Race individuals, no longer suppressed by neuroinhibitors, eventually experienced the initial pain, evolving the earliest neural nodes and brain center.
