

The Growth 453

Chapter 453 - 1: One Proof, Eternal Proof

Li Hao's enrollment procedures were not complicated.

With the help of Li Hao's parents and elder sister, he completed all the registration forms and dormitory check-in procedures within a single morning.

Perhaps because they arrived quite early, when Li Hao moved into the dormitory, he was the only one there.

This inevitably dashed Li Hao's parents' hopes of meeting their son's future roommates.

Fortunately, although they regretted not being able to meet Li Hao's future roommates.

But Li Jian Country and Jiang Xin, as a couple, still took a tour around the school, experiencing the lively atmosphere of modern university life.

For the place where their son would live for four years in the future, Li Jian Country and Jiang Xin expressed their satisfaction and even went ahead to greet Li Hao's class advisor.

To this, Li Hao merely played the role of a string puppet throughout, letting his parents handle everything.

As for Li Yun?

Having experienced a similar scene a year ago, she just chuckled unceasingly, making faces at the perennially disheartened Li Hao from time to time.

This situation persisted until the afternoon when the family of four finally left the school.

After having a simple meal, according to Jiang Xin's initial itinerary, the four finally began leisurely touring this ancient capital of thirteen dynasties.

Although today was registration day, there were still a few days before Li Hao's actual military training started.

So in the following days, the family of four focused on visiting various famous sites in Lu'an, determined not to rest until they saw everything.

The only thing to be thankful for was that Lu'an's transportation was indeed convenient.

Led by Li Hao, the "master navigator" with a superhuman memory, the family of four hardly encountered any wrong routes, resulting in a perfectly satisfying travel experience.

Thus, during the day, Li Hao would join the main group for sightseeing, shopping, and tasting Lu'an's specialty foods.

At night, he would return to the hotel room to continue studying the incarnation of the God of Chaos and related abilities that he had recently acquired.

Long ago, Li Hao learned from the other twelve Supreme Gods about the purpose of the God of Chaos.

It was an incarnation created by certain Gods to explore the Fallen Area.

This incarnation not only possessed astounding abilities and performances among All Heavens and Myriad Realms but also maintained connection with the main body even in the law-forbidden Fallen Area.

Unless, like Angel King Metatron, one's main body unfortunately falls into the Fallen Area.

Otherwise, the God of Chaos is simply the best tool for exploring the Fallen Area, the best means for those ambitious Gods to search for Ancient God's Relic, even Heavenly Father's Treasure.

But in this case, a new question arises.

According to the twelve Supreme Gods' logic, since the God of Chaos was born to explore the Fallen Area.

Then theoretically, it should only exist in the era after the First Celestial Father, Haojun, reopened dimensions and divided the Fallen Area and the Ascension Area.

Before Celestial Father Haojun, theoretically, the God of Chaos should not exist.

However, among the currently known twelve Supreme Gods, Li Hao noticed several Supreme Gods come from the ancient era before the dimensional division.

What does this indicate?

This indicates that the existence of the God of Chaos is most likely not linear in the timeline.

Among the Gods who initially created the God of Chaos, there was a truly top-level God of Time.

It is the presence of that God of Time that sent the God of Chaos to various different eras, including the ancient times before the God of Chaos was born.

But continuing to think about it produces a fundamental logical contradiction.

Why would the creators of the God of Chaos send it to an era before the Fallen Area was born?

Could it be that, in the ancient era before the Fallen Area was born, there were also things the creators of the God of Chaos wanted to explore?

Considering the various information and clues collected, Li Hao thinks this possibility is unlikely.

The various characteristics of the God of Chaos are specifically made for the Fallen Area, unlikely to have other purposes.

Then, after eliminating all impossibilities, no matter how unbelievable the remaining guesses are, that's the truth.

The Fallen Area universally exists in all eras.

Or more precisely put, the might of the First Celestial Father, Haojun, far exceeded Li Hao's imagination.

Ever since the Falling Area was born, its existence has overturned time and causality, appearing in any era of All Heavens and Myriad Realms.

Even in the ancient era before the Fallen Area was born.

Since the Fallen Area was born, that ancient era also bore the presence of the Fallen Area.

-- Cause becomes effect, proving eternally.

From the moment of its birth, spanning across time, becoming a common existence since antiquity.

This also explains why today's Gods consider the Fallen Area to be "common knowledge" existing since ancient times.

Because aside from the era born of Celestial Father Haojun being too distant, leading to information about it becoming arcane history.

In the perception of ordinary Gods, even the ancient era existed with the Falling Area, which is a given fact.

Understanding this logic, Li Hao becomes increasingly curious about who exactly created the God of Chaos.

Unfortunately, the clues regarding this aspect are too scarce.

Unable to find related information, Li Hao could only temporarily set aside the exploration of this issue.

However, although he couldn't trace the origin of the God of Chaos for now, it didn't prevent Li Hao from researching the specific abilities of the God of Chaos.

As previously mentioned, including Li Hao himself, the thirteen Supreme Gods using the incarnation of the God of Chaos come from thirteen different eras.

However, this doesn't mean that the God of Chaos only has thirteen users.

On the contrary, across time, across space, across countless parallel space-time, the users of the God of Chaos are innumerable.

The thirteen Supreme Gods who appear at the round table are merely the top among these innumerable users.

Beneath the Supreme Gods, the users of the God of Chaos also include Main Gods, True Gods, and even regular Ascenders.

They similarly belong to different space-times, except they have no connection with each other on the timeline.

Even if they are at the same time node, concepts of parallel space-time and different world lines would appear.

In fact, this was one critical reason Li Hao could create a cross-space-time battlefield to lure Poxun into the parallel space-time Mountain and Sea Realm.

Therefore, when Li Hao researched how to better use the abilities of the God of Chaos, it was inevitable that he would come into contact with other users of the God of Chaos from different timelines and world lines.
