

The Growth 464

Chapter 464 - 12: Godslaying Spear·Lance

[Huh?]

Crossing the barriers of space-time, Li Hao, who was observing the Yawei World and Mithra World, immediately sensed something unusual.

Just at that moment, there was a collision of Supreme God-Level Divine Power inside the Mithra World.

Under this clash of Divine Power, the outer wall of the whole world instantly cracked open.

The sky shattered, the earth collapsed, the sea surged...

Everywhere in sight, even the Angel Army and Godslaying Mecha locked in battle paused for a moment.

Upon sensing one of the Divine Powers, the Divine Abomination incarnated by Gus roared and sped up, rushing towards the Yawei World at a speed that defies description.

[This power... why does it look so familiar?]

With a hint of curiosity, Li Hao once again used his power to intervene in this space-time.

In an instant, Li Hao's perspective was shifted to the interior of the Mithra World, and with the help of the Celestial Tao System, the battle destined to be remembered by both worlds was replayed.

Boom!

Under the fractured sky, a rain of feathers fell...

Golden rays of light bloomed from every crack in the earth...

From the depths of the surging sea, countless little angels sang...

Amidst these anomalies defying the world's rules, Enoch backed by the Holy Spirit and unfurling thirty-six wings, first revealed his form.

His form was so grand, occupying the entire sky of the Mithra World.

All angels touched by his holy light, affected by his hymn, invariably showed extreme worship and excitement.

Not only the angels of Yawei World, but even the pilots driving the Godslaying Mecha showed a sense of bewilderment from the hymn and holy light.

No one would doubt that these pilots might defect in the next moment.

This is the power of the Holy Spirit, the sovereign of Yawei World.

"God said, the great power of the world is mine!"

Just as the Mithra Gods were about to make a move, a booming voice suddenly interrupted the angels' chants.

In an instant, the hymn that resounded through the world disappeared, and the holy light illuminating the land retreated.

Replaced by supreme majesty and a majestic silhouette.

He did not have Enoch's thirty-six wings, nor that all-encompassing hymn and light.

When those slender golden wings spread, a huge cross appeared behind Adam.

Like a pillar reaching to heaven, the immense cross constantly radiated sacred majesty.

"Enoch! Go back!"

"This world has nothing you desire!"

Slowly raising his head to gaze at the sky, Adam's voice remained calm and helpless.

Unfortunately, Enoch just smiled indifferently, eyes filled with determination.

"It's not up to you to decide."

In an instant, countless feathers turned into sharp arrows shooting towards Adam.

Every feather here held the power to penetrate a Divine Body, an interference from a higher dimension against a lower one.

The surreal feeling between existence and nonexistence arose from the differences between dimensions.

This meant that ordinary defenses couldn't resist the rain of arrows, only defenses from higher dimensions could barely withstand them.

However, all these statements only applied to ordinary Gods.

Adam didn't even glance at the rain of arrows, a vast circle of light rapidly expanded from above his head, forming a highly three-dimensional shield on a higher dimensional plane.

Clink, clink, clink...

Amidst a series of crisp collisions, Adam's counterattack arrived as expected.

The dazzling circle of light rapidly compressed and converged, eventually transforming into a spear that seemed to pierce everything in its path.

Whizz—Boom!

In a flash of lightning and sparks, Enoch's body was pierced by a large hole.

Through that massive void, the beings of Mithra World could even see the Holy Spirit behind it.

This was a passage to the Yawei World, also the source of the Angel Army.

This spear that pierced everything didn't just penetrate Enoch's body, it also severed the connection between Yawei World and Mithra World.

—Godslaying Spear·Lance!

.....

[Are there two Creators in the Yawei World?]

Watching the battle in the Mithra World, Li Hao couldn't help but raise his eyebrows.

Li Hao had realized where that previous unusual sensation originated from.

Back when Immortal Meng Ji explored the Life Realm, he encountered a being with similar powers—Raphael.

After devouring the Fruit of Life, the former Healing Angel Raphael transformed into a Creation Angel.

In the Life Realm, Raphael back then was the supreme Creator, able to steer the world back to Chaos.

If not for the appearance of the Seven-headed Ten-horned Great Red Dragon, Raphael might have succeeded in transforming the Life Realm into a new Eden as he desired.

Of course, standing in the current timeline, Raphael still resides in Yawei World, still serving under the Angel King Metatron.

[In terms of strength, these two Creators have far more 'complete' power than Raphael.]

Keeping his gaze on Enoch and Adam, Li Hao quickly discerned the differences among the three.

The Creator is a type of authority, while the Supreme God is an identity.

To unite all powers and achieve the possibility of being "All-Knowing and All-Powerful," such beings are typically seen as Creators.

The Supreme God can be an All-Knowing and All-Powerful being, or one who has pushed a singular power or authority to the utmost, surpassing other Gods.

Originating from the Yawei World, Raphael, Enoch, and Adam clearly all pursued the All-Knowing and All-Powerful path.

The difference lay in that Enoch and Adam each possessed one-third of the authority of a complete Creator, and even leaving Yawei World, they could still be called Supreme Gods.

Future Raphael would need the Tree of Life from the Life Realm to become the "Creator of this World" within its confines.

However, from Li Hao's perspective, none of these three deserved to be called true Creators.

Because although Enoch and Adam possessed Creator authority, their authority was divided into three, only possessing the potential to become a Creator as a Supreme God.

Future Raphael, although he borrowed the power of the Life Realm to prematurely gain Creator authority, this power was flawed and insufficient to make him a true Creator.

Once outside the Life Realm, Raphael would revert to being one of the Seven Great Creation Angels, the Healing Angel.

[So, not only is the Yawei World itself incomplete, but even their Creators are incomplete?]