

The Growth 466

Chapter 466 - 14: King Slayer's Spear·Cassius!

Boom!

Even though the body was pierced by the Lance of Longinus...

Even though the connection with the Yawei World was severed by Adam...

Enoch, with thirty-six wings spread wide, still displayed an indifferent attitude.

"Is this your limit?"

"The Godslaying Spear, formed from the Tree of Life, seems to be just so."

Enoch anticipated Adam to unleash a stronger power, as only this could extend the life of the Yawei World to its fullest.

After all, though Enoch did not consider himself the Savior of the Yawei World, his actions were always selfless.

This is why the Yawei Gods willingly submitted to him, honoring him as the "King of Angels."

"As expected, worthy of the 'King of Angels'..."

"The current you is far stronger than the Holy Spirit of the past."

Gazing at Enoch with nearly awe-struck eyes, Adam sighed sincerely.

As the eldest son of the Holy Spirit, Adam had personally witnessed the battle between the Holy Spirit and Dawn Angel Lucifer.

But even the Holy Spirit who could retreat Lucifer with just a word back then was far inferior to today's powerful Enoch.

Moreover, the domineering aura that Enoch exuded was not something an "old man" like the long-lived Holy Spirit possessed.

Adam was once equally domineering in his past, but he had long lost that spirit now.

"However, underestimating your ancestor will cost you."

Before the words faded, the giant Cross behind Adam radiated light once again.

In the next moment, Adam appeared before Enoch, firmly gripping the end of the Lance of Longinus.

Tear!

Penetrating dimensions, suppressing time and space.

The Lance of Longinus seemed to traverse time, attacking Enoch before he became the "King of Angels."

This is the true power of the Lance of Longinus, as well as the essence of its ability to slay gods.

No matter how powerful an individual, tracing back to the moment of their birth is when they are most vulnerable.

And the Lance of Longinus, which can pierce through the timeline and attack the past, possesses the divine power to forcibly rewrite the past and slay the present.

"Phew!"

For the first time, since his appearance, the calm Enoch spat blood.

As the golden blood dripped onto the earth, all life forms in contact with it were forcibly initiated into the [Ascension Ladder], becoming small angels exclusive to the Yawei World.

Particularly, those Godslaying Mecha pilots bewitched by the hymns mindlessly piloted their winged Godslaying Mechas to attack their comrades.

"Do not touch that blood!"

"Quick! Retreat underground!"

"Beware of those assimilated Mechas, they are now controlling the pilots!"

...

Amidst the clamor of calls, the aware Godslaying Mecha pilots fled the area, attempting to avoid the torrential blood rain.

In fact, similar events occurred in every corner of the Mithra World.

Every creature assimilated by the golden blood instinctively perceived other beings as enemies and launched ferocious attacks against those "mysterious creatures" different from themselves.

In the mythological system of the Yawei World, the blood of the Holy Spirit has a special effect of forgiving sins and sanctifying humans.

In a sense, this legend is indeed true.

Unfortunately, creatures tainted with the Holy Spirit's Blood will also inevitably convert to the Holy Spirit, completely losing their self.

.....

"I admit, I did underestimate you a bit."

"But haven't you considered that your 'Godslaying Spear' is renowned in the Yawei World? Did you think I would come to you unprepared?"

Gently gripping the Lance of Longinus that had impaled his body.

At this moment, Enoch's formidable side as the Creator was displayed vividly.

Facing such a direct attack on the past, Enoch also retaliated by distorting time.

After all, possessing the qualification to be called the "Creator," the ability of the Time Element is invariably a chosen option.

Zzzz...

When Enoch from the past also gripped the Lance of Longinus, the Holy Spirit's Blood synchronously soaked the Lance of Longinus.

The golden light slowly spread from Enoch's wound along the Lance of Longinus.

Adam, realizing something was wrong, instinctively tried to pull out the Godslaying Spear, but was shocked to find himself losing control over the spear.

No, it wasn't just losing control of the Lance of Longinus.

Adam distinctly sensed Enoch's plundering of the spear, even his own powers.

The power from the Tree of Life, soaking in the Holy Spirit's Blood, was gradually becoming part of Enoch.

This meant that Enoch was plundering the "Power of the Holy Father" from Adam.

"Truly unexpected, that the once reticent child would grow to such a degree today."

Faced with this situation, Adam decisively abandoned the snatching of the Lance of Longinus in favor of reaching his freed hand toward the giant Cross behind him.

"It seems, despite the Holy Spirit's poor character, his insights are always sharp."

Acutely aware of the danger, Enoch instinctively wanted to intervene to stop Adam's actions.

However, the struggle for the Lance of Longinus occupied most of Enoch's focus, forcing him to watch as Adam drew another spear from the massive Cross.

Just like the Lance of Longinus, formed from a halo, that spear drawn from the Cross was also a manifestation of divine power.

The Lance of Longinus represents the Tree of Life, being a Godslaying Spear specialized against the "Immortal."

And that spear drawn from the Cross was an embodiment of the Fruit of Wisdom, with a special symbolic and targeted significance.

"King of Angels, huh?"

"Let me see now if you are worthy of the title 'King'!"

While it was a conversation loaded with killing intent, Enoch seemed to hear a hint of expectation in Adam's words.

Rustle—Boom!

In the next second, the spear formed from the Fruit of Wisdom flew forth at full speed.

Without the slightest surprise, Enoch's body was once again pierced by the spear.

This time, Enoch felt the spear striking directly at the essence of his own being.

Be it the King of Angels, or the Yawei Holy Spirit...

In the eyes of this spear, outward appearances and entities held no significance at all.

Analyzing Enoch's various facades and directly attacking his existential essence is where this spear's terror lies.

To use a gaming term, this spear deals true damage that even the Creator cannot mitigate or become immune to.

Because this ability had never appeared in the Yawei World, gained by Adam after his exile from Eden.

Thus, even Enoch did not defend against this lethal strike.
