

The Growth 469

Chapter 469 - 17: Descendants of Olympus

Clang! Clang! Clang!

There were no reckless words, nor furious howls.

Enoch quickly accepted the fact that he was schemed by the God of Chaos from another space-time.

After all, this is just one of the God of Chaos' ecosystems, and falling to this point is just a matter of one's skills not being as good as others'.

Rather than worrying about the God of Chaos, who has never shown up and dares not reveal his identity, what is more important for Enoch now is to quickly resolve the two terrifying Divine Abominations before him.

At this moment, the Lance of Longinus and Cassius' Spear that Enoch just acquired played a significant role.

Although Gus's Dragon-slaying Greatsword also belonged to the Divine Artifact Level, it could not compare with the Lance of Longinus and Cassius' Spear.

Every time they clashed with these two lances,

Gus had to use the power of the Destiny Weaver to reverse cause and effect, rewriting probabilities to temporarily gain weapon strength matching Enoch's.

After a few repetitions of this, Enoch also noticed Gus's abnormality.

Soon after, Enoch perceived Gus's identity, and a look of realization appeared on his face.

"Is it you? A descendant of Olympus?"

When Enoch uttered the words "a descendant of Olympus," Li Hao, who was watching in the unseen, was momentarily stunned.

Li Hao was a little unsure whether the "Olympus" he heard was the Olympus he had in mind.

On the contrary, Enoch, after gaining insight into Gus's identity, quickly adjusted his mentality to one of composure.

The present Yawei World is the world-class Ark once created by the Olympian God King, Zeus.

But this does not mean the descendants of Olympus are only in the Yawei World.

On the contrary, with Zeus's famous "Stallion" attributes, his offspring and descendants are spread across All Heavens and Myriad Realms.

The world to which Gus belonged was one among them.

Even Enoch's journey to Gus's world to seek the incarnation of the God of Chaos was thanks to the information left by the Olympian Gods.

As mentioned repeatedly before, the God of Chaos is a special incarnation that exists across space and time.

Even in the era in which the Olympian Gods existed, there were all sorts of legends about the God of Chaos.

For Zeus, who wholeheartedly wanted to break free from the curse of the second-generation Greek God King, Cronus, the God of Chaos was also one of his hopes.

The one who placed the Destiny Weaver in Gus's world back then was that Olympian God King.

Unfortunately, Zeus never waited for the arrival of the God of Chaos and could only leave Gus's world unwillingly and helplessly in the end.

Enoch's knowledge of relevant information about the God of Chaos and the idea to use the God of Chaos to search for the Power of the Holy Son in the Fallen Area was also inspired by the Olympian Gods.

Of course, this was good news for Enoch, but it was a great tragedy for Gus's world.

Having learned in advance of the God of Chaos's characteristics, Enoch never left any clues related to his own identity.

If it weren't for Li Hao's sudden emergence, Gus might never have known who destroyed his world up until his dying day.

"At the time, I was too soft-hearted, so I didn't completely exterminate you all."

"In hindsight, I should have been more ruthless then."

Looking coldly over the restless Hunting Fish, Enoch said this to Gus.

The result was predictable. Filled with anger and hatred, Gus roared in near madness again.

"Soft-hearted?"

"You massacred my civilization, destroyed my world, and you still think you're merciful?"

Gus's body twisted again in a grotesque manner visible to the naked eye, and this chaotic space-time seemed to be subtly changing.

"In that case, let me show you my 'soft heart'!"

Suddenly, Enoch's pupils contracted. Realizing something, he no longer cared about the nearby Hunting Fish and launched a fierce attack on Gus.

Swoosh! Swoosh!

With the dual lances in hand, Enoch tore through the chaos like a stream of light.

Unfortunately, Gus, who didn't care about injury or death at all, opened his "heart" in the physical sense, revealing the Destiny Weaver hidden within.

ZZZ...

In an instant, the light of the Holy Spirit illuminated this chaotic space-time.

Gus actually used the resonance between the Destiny Weaver and the Yawei World, forcibly drawing it into this disorderly chaos.

It was clear that through Enoch's earlier words, "a descendant of Olympus," Gus had perceived the connection between the Destiny Weaver and the Yawei World.

Thus, under the guidance of the Zeus' Power that had vanished unknown how long ago, these two entities of the same origin produced intense resonance at this moment.

—The prelude to the world's destruction... thus began!

Rumble...

In this chaos where there are no rules whatsoever, the Yawei World that was forcibly pulled in began to collapse.

Countless angels and gods howled and wailed within the world, and the annihilation of matter and energy permeated every corner of the Yawei World.

This was a scene Enoch had never imagined, nor was it an outcome he could possibly accept.

"You... bastard!"

With bloodshot eyes, Enoch charged towards the Yawei World, attempting to protect this world on the verge of destruction with his divine power.

However, the long-waiting Hunting Fish made its move at this moment.

Shhh...

In a flash, the Creator Totem on the forehead of the Hunting Fish emitted light.

And under the guidance of this holy light, the body of the Hunting Fish, constantly changing between existence and non-existence, happened to strike Enoch.

Rip...

Although it was just a simple collision, the Hunting Fish seemed to bite off some part of Enoch's body.

"Ah!"

In such a scene, Enoch let out a painful scream for the first time.

Whether it was because of his injury or his worries over the Yawei World, Enoch's wails reverberated through the entire Chaotic Void.

In a daze, Enoch seemed to return to the time when he walked with the "God" for three hundred years, seeing that initial Holy Spirit who once dominated the entire Yawei World.

"God said, this world needs a Guardian!"

This was Enoch's voice, but it was not Enoch speaking.

The initial Holy Spirit seemed to cross the barriers of time and space, taking action once again at this final moment when the Yawei World was about to be destroyed.

"Thus, this world had a Guardian!"

Before the words had fallen, the entire Yawei World split from the middle, and a terrifying monstrous serpent emerged from within.

——Deep Sea Giant Snake Leviathan!
