

The Growth 476

Chapter 476 - 24: The Patricide Curse

Gus, although transformed into a Divine Abomination, was not a mindless, unfeeling being.

On the contrary, despite his heart being filled with anger and hatred, having grown as a mortal, he was long accustomed to such a state.

So, taking advantage of Enoch being entangled by Adam, Gus abruptly turned and charged toward the Yawei World, under Leviathan's protection.

Through previous battles and observations, Gus had already noticed how much Enoch valued the Yawei World.

In terms of love, Enoch was no less devoted than Gus was to his own world.

With this in mind, Gus simply gave up attacking Enoch and instead put all his effort into trying to destroy the Yawei World.

After all, killing Enoch might relieve some resentment, but destroying the opponent's beloved world was the ultimate ambition.

As they say, fight fire with fire.

Woosh—Boom!

By the time Enoch reacted, Gus had already recklessly collided with Leviathan.

The next second, the long-waiting Hunting Fish also pounced fiercely, even more aggressive than Gus.

"How dare you!"

With his pupils shaking, Enoch no longer paid attention to fighting Adam for control of the two Holy Spears.

In an instant, he decisively let go of both hands, and his form split into two sixteen-winged angelic figures.

One Enoch remained on the spot to counterattack Adam, while the other Enoch charged furiously toward the Yawei World.

Buzz!

Coincidentally, at this moment, the pained Leviathan recovered his senses.

Countless tentacles and eyes on its body spread out, like a devil eager to consume everything, attempting to swallow Gus and the Hunting Fish.

Unfortunately, the Hunting Fish's ferocity was fully exposed at this moment.

Rustle, rustle...

Completely ignoring Leviathan's counterattack, the Hunting Fish released its energy all at once, with a calm yet cruel hunting method.

Rumble, rumble...

In an instant, Leviathan, about to close its body, was forcibly pried open again.

Seizing this opportunity, Gus once again activated his internal Destiny Weaver, utterly destroying the order of the Yawei World.

This time, the angels within the Yawei World could no longer endure it.

Under the leadership of the high-ranking angels, they charged out from the world's interior, trying to fight to the death with the monsters outside.

Alas, a moment's courage could not stop the destruction of the Yawei World.

If only the Yawei Gods had been a bit braver before, helping Enoch to fight before Adam appeared, the situation wouldn't have deteriorated like this.

It can only be said that if not forced to this desperate situation, these angels would never have fought so desperately,

"Haha... just like you destroyed my world, now experience this despair and anger yourself!"

Looking at the angels desperately charging towards him, Gus seemed to see the hopeless resistance of his own world in the past.

There was no empathy, no pity...

A fallen Saint is far more terrifying than any evildoer, let alone a Saint like Gus, who only knows slaughter.

"You should die!"

As one angel after another fell, Enoch, who finally reached Gus's side, shouted in grief and anger.

However, to Enoch's utter surprise, the well-prepared Gus instantly pivoted his body, his eyes showing a mocking rage.

In an instant, the Destiny Weaver within Gus exploded.

The power unleashed by this epic-level divine artifact ascended to a degree capable of altering the destiny of the Supreme God.

"Since my world was destroyed, I've never thought of living."

Once again demonstrating his resolve with action, Gus forcibly dragged half of Enoch's body into Leviathan's abyssal mouth in a virtually suicidal manner.

"Ah!"

The other Enoch, engaged with Adam, let out a wail.

Leviathan, as the strongest creature created by the Holy Spirit, the last Guardian of the Yawei World, was born to destroy everything.

Even half of Enoch could not escape Leviathan's abyssal mouth.

Whoosh! Whoosh!

Seizing this rare opportunity, Adam, who had regained control of the two spears, wore a cold expression.

In an instant, the Godslaying Lance of Longinus and the King Slayer Cassius' Spear nearly simultaneously pierced through Enoch's body.

Anger, shock, helplessness, despair...

Such complex expressions flashed briefly across Enoch's face.

This King of Angels, who had been trying to save the Yawei World, met the end of his life at this moment.

His corpse would fall into the Fallen Area, and his will would become one of the countless indestructible fragments of the Ancient Gods there.

[Great Holy Spirit!]

[Ultimately, I failed to fulfill the mission you entrusted to me!]

.....

Clang!

Slowly drawing the dual spears from his hands, Adam didn't even give Enoch another look.

Golden blood stained the spears, the dual attributes of Godslaying and King Slayer granting them unprecedented power.

"Holy Spirit, I have returned."

Gazing at Leviathan and the angels still fighting the Hunting Fish nearby, Adam murmured in a voice only he could hear.

The direct cause of Eve's death, Enoch, was now dead.

Adam's next target would be the mastermind hiding in the shadows all along.

For others, this might be extremely difficult, but to Adam, who knew all the Holy Spirit's dark history, it required no guesswork at all.

Adam never believed that Enoch finding him was merely a coincidence.

"Perhaps the curse Lilith spoke of truly exists..."

"No matter how you and I try to prevent that curse from happening, we will ultimately end up there."

When Adam left Eden long ago, he truly didn't wish to have future conflicts with the Holy Spirit.

Yet the countless years had already made Adam invest feelings for Eve that normal people cannot imagine or understand.

Since, back then, he could forsake all he had for the Holy Spirit,

Now he could avenge all those who led to this tragedy for Eve.

This is Adam, a True God who embodies the utmost sincerity and purity.

Whoosh!

Without glancing at the battles on the periphery, Adam transformed into a golden stream of light and rushed into the Yawei World.

The collapse of the Yawei World could no longer be prevented.

And what Adam had to do was personally take revenge on his enemy before the world fell apart.
