

The Growth 527

Chapter 527 25: Ankh's Talisman: Resurrection of the Dead

On that day, Nine Peaks Mountain fell from the sky.

This was the first Immortal Mountain to fall from the sky in nearly a thousand years, but it certainly wouldn't be the last.

Because on this day, everyone heard the roars and howls coming from Nine Peaks Mountain, as well as the continuous sound of explosions.

It was as if a stone falling into a lake, causing ripples to spread out.

Amid a series of chain reactions, the Celestial Human Realm, already on the brink of a powder keg situation, erupted into a series of conflicts in a short time.

The disputes between the Immortal Mountain Archipelago and the Taiping Tao...

The great battles between cultivators and mortals...

Along with those Divine Ability Users, whose lifespan was nearing its end, wishing to seize this opportunity for one last gamble.

A war destined not to end in a short time began and rapidly spread to the entire Celestial Human Realm.

.....

"Finally found you, user of the 'Civilization Game'!"

"But now, should I call you Haoguang? Or Sun Star Monarch?"

At the boundary between heaven and earth, at the intersection of mountains and sea, Haoguang's Primordial Spirit had just undergone Rebirth from the taper stone, when he heard a voice that shocked him immensely.

Gathering the light from the sun, and barely forming a humanoid shape, the Primordial Spirit looked in the direction of the voice.

He saw a humanoid creature, as radiant as the sun, staring at him, surrounded by a giant winged golden snake.

"Are you... the Exotic God behind the 'Taiping Tao'?"

A bit surprised, and a bit enlightened...

Haoguang's Primordial Spirit watched Li Hao with caution, as if trying to gauge when the other discovered the Land of his Rebirth.

"I have nothing to do with 'Taiping Tao,' I've just made a simple trade with Yu Wei."

Shaking his head with a smile to deny Haoguang's Primordial Spirit's words, Li Hao felt this needed clarification.

Otherwise, knowing Haoguang well, the conversation likely wouldn't proceed smoothly.

"Yu Wei allowed me to access the Lotus Sect's scriptures and classics, while I taught her a way to change the existing world order..."

"From the current situation, our transaction is going smoothly."

Pausing the conversation slightly, Li Hao then shifted the topic to Haoguang's Primordial Spirit.

"It's you though; your current state seems much more peculiar than I imagined."

"The dominant personality of the Primordial Spirit is Haoguang, but the essence of the Primordial Spirit originates from the Sun Star Monarch's Power."

"This special way of coexistence is already considered bizarre..."

"But now you have undergone Rebirth using the 'Resurrection Tablet' of the Ancient Egyptian God, and even I don't know how to identify you."

Upon hearing this from Li Hao, Haoguang instinctively looked at the taper stone behind him.

On that tablet, besides carvings of words that Haoguang couldn't understand, the most prominent was the special handled cross symbol.

That was the Life Rune called "Ankh," also known as the "Handled Cross."

Within the Ancient Egyptian God system, this represented the ancient Divine Spirit symbolizing "health" and "life," while also having connotations of "death" and "resurrection."

As one of the oldest Divine Pantheons in the Ascension Area, the Fourth Celestial Father—Sun Hunter Ra's power endures.

The Ankh's Talisman from the Ancient Egyptian God system is said to possess the power to resurrect Gods, a Supreme Treasure sought by countless Gods in All Heavens and Myriad Realms.

Even the Faceless, who has made wide friendships and independently opened a Secret Realm for trades, doesn't have the Ankh's Talisman in the list of trade items.

"Resurrection Tablet?"

"It seems that even in the Outer Realm, this thing is very precious!"

Soon regaining his composure, Haoguang suddenly laughed lightly and slowly reached towards his chest.

"And what about this?"

"What do you call this?"

In Li Hao's surprised gaze, Haoguang unexpectedly pulled out a gold coin from his chest.

It was a gold coin filled with ancient Egyptian style.

On the front was a stern and solemn God with the head of an eagle and a snake crown.

On the back of the coin was an intertwined hexagram surrounding an eye pattern in the center.

Upon seeing that gold coin.

Not only Li Hao, but even Hua She, who often dabbled in the Civilization Game, was left dumbfounded.

Because it was unlike any known Ancient Egyptian Divine Artifact in All Heavens and Myriad Realms.

However, the Solar Power contained within it ensured that this gold coin couldn't be some obscure item.

The Solar Power, full of symbolic significance, even shattered Hua She's concept of "Sun."

[How is it possible!?!]

[How can such a magnificent sun totem exist in this world!?)

Ignoring Hua She's exclamations, Li Hao thoughtfully rotated his eyes and answered Haoguang's question with a definitive tone.

"That's Sun Hunter Ra's Totem, you may temporarily call it the 'Sun-Hunting Gold Coin.'

"The Power contained within this coin isn't particularly strong, but its symbolic meaning far exceeds your imagination."

"To be honest, I had already overestimated the fortunate encounters you've had."

"But after truly meeting you, I realized I still underestimated your opportunities."

"Civilization Game Invitation, the Ankh's Talisman with the power to resurrect a Divine Spirit, and now this coin from Sun Hunter Ra..."

Counting the items on Haoguang from other worlds, Li Hao drew a very apparent conclusion.

"You must have received Ra's inheritance!"

When Li Hao said this, his tone was very certain.

"Ra? So that's his name, Ra!"

Listening to Li Hao, a complex and subtle expression, beyond words, began to appear on Haoguang's face.

To Haoguang, this unknown God from the Exotic Realm had almost dominated his entire life.

Haoguang, initially a mortal, awakened his potential due to the Civilization Game Invitation he received from Ra, and was then exceptionally taken to Nine Peaks Mountain by the previous Sect Leader of the Golden Crow Sect.

In the last War of the End of the Dharma, Haoguang also barely survived with the Power of the Sun-Hunting Gold Coin.

Even when facing Yu Wei's revenge this time, Haoguang had long been prepared to sacrifice himself.

Yet he was resurrected again with the help of the Ankh's Talisman.

"What a pity, I'm not a qualified Inheritor..."

"If He had chosen Senior Brother at the time, perhaps everything would have been different!"