

The Growth 529

Chapter 529 27: Faith-Minted Coin

Fallen Area, on Earth.

When Li Hao's mortal incarnation returned to Dormitory 318.

The morning light was faint, and the sun had yet to fully rise.

For Li Hao, whose true form was now permanently stationed at the [Divine Treasure Vault], this incarnation was his body walking amongst mortals.

Calling it severing might seem inappropriate, but Li Hao was indeed trying to minimize the extraordinary displays of this body.

Yet as Hua She had mentioned earlier.

As the Creator's incarnation in the mortal realm, this body inevitably falls under the influence of high-dimensional power.

The previously awakened "Qi Refining" talent was merely a natural ability embedded in this body's genes.

The abilities truly influenced and nurtured by the Creator have only just begun to show some signs.

"I thought the influence from the true form would reveal the 'Immortal Body' instead?"

Speaking of Li Hao's strongest power, it's not his Creator abilities, but his Immortal Body which once allowed him to battle Candle Dragon.

It turns out the initial suppression and selection measures Li Hao took when crafting this incarnation were indeed effective.

This incarnation did not develop any Immortality; even his self-healing is at a level of a typical human.

If he hadn't practiced the "True Martial Demon-Vanquishing Scripture," Li Hao wouldn't even have the slightest self-healing capabilities.

"Is this the manifestation of fantasy, or a rewriting of concepts?"

Li Hao gently snapped his fingers, producing a new [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] in his hand out of thin air.

Though the power contained isn't as potent as the genuine [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] in Haoguang's possession, this coin essentially differs in no manner from the original.

Similarly, it embodies the Solar Divine Power and similarly possesses the potential to rewrite reality.

After manifesting this [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin], Li Hao finally understood how Haoguang's [Ankh's Talisman] came to be.

...

[Artifact: Sun-Hunting Gold Coin (Replica)]

[Type: Equivalent Exchange]

[Quality: Rare Treasure]

[Function①: Incarnation of Fourth Celestial Father Ra's power, forged with the Power of Faith, inherently possesses solar power.]

[Function②Can achieve equivalent exchanges for Egyptian Gods divine artifacts of the same level by consuming this coin.]

[Function③Due to being a replica, this coin has no function for self-replication, unable to spawn the next tier of Sun-Hunting Gold Coins.]

...

The genuine [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] in Haoguang's hand is an Epic Divine Artifact.

It can infinitely generate Rare Treasure-level [Sun-Hunting Gold Coins] for exchanging Egyptian Gods' divine artifacts of the same level.

Haoguang's [Civilization Game Invitation] and [Ankh's Talisman] came about this way.

Admittedly, even merely the Rare Treasure-level [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] holds value far beyond the imagination of ordinary gods.

Using a Rare Treasure-level [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] to exchange for an equally leveled [Ankh's Talisman] seems reasonable.

At least, the pure value difference between these two artifacts isn't large.

However, Haoguang's initial act of using [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] to exchange for [Civilization Game Invitation] appears as a shockingly wasteful move.

To enlist as many people as possible in the [Civilization Game].

Ninth Celestial Father Hathor reduced the manufacturing level of [Civilization Game Invitation] to Rare Level, a tier lower than the Legendary Level intermediary between it and the Rare Treasure-level [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin].

Exchanging a [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] for a [Civilization Game Invitation] is akin to using a Hundred Yuan Bill to buy a snack; feasible but extravagant.

From Haoguang's perspective at the time, his choice was quite understandable.

After all, a Rare Treasure-level [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] not only earned him a [Civilization Game Invitation] but also endowed him with the qualification to cultivate.

"With this in mind, Haoguang actually showed foresight."

"Upon obtaining the first usable 'Sun-Hunting Gold Coin'..."

"He didn't blindly exchange for powerful artifacts he could never hold onto but rather for two indispensable tools for growth and expanding his vision."

By simply putting oneself in his place, it is evident that Haoguang displayed considerable insight and self-control even as a mortal.

"The unique usage of faith power among Ancient Egyptian Gods is worth referencing."

Amidst myriad thoughts, Li Hao shifted focus back to the replica [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] in his hand.

Across All Heavens and Myriad Realms, faith is a ladder for gods to ascend and surpass.

However, such ascent is limited to gods below the Supreme God level.

Not to mention Supreme Gods, certain powerful Main Gods often disregard faith.

For this reason, despite the universality of faith's value across All Heavens and Myriad Realms, it has never truly become an "equivalent exchange object."

Yet, the [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] from Fourth Celestial Father Ra shatters the awkward restraint of faith.

By forging faith into coinage bearing divine power.

Thus minted [XX Coins] not only embodies the god's power but serves as a currency for exchanging specified artifacts.

"The real question now is..."

"How is this unique 'transaction attribute' achieved?"

Intrigued, Li Hao decided to utilize the replica [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] in his hand.

In an instant, his vision filled with numerous Ancient Egyptian-style divine artifacts.

Crown of Snake, Scepter, Golden Ring, Eye, Scales, Cross, Pyramids, Obelisk...

With just a cursory glance, Li Hao instinctively understood which Egyptian divine artifacts he could exchange with his [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin].

"Even in the 'Fallen Area' this coin can be used?"

With a somewhat astonished look, Li Hao felt as if he had unveiled a hidden secret.

Upon further reflection, the usability of [Sun-Hunting Coins] in [Fallen Area] seems not too surprising.

Aside from the fact the End of the Dharma environment of the Celestial Human Realm closely resembles the [Fallen Area] itself.

The bridging role from the trans-temporal group of Gods of Chaos demonstrates enough.

God-level beings exploring a [Fallen Area] isn't inherently difficult; the key, however, lies in their willingness to pay the price.

"Still need firsthand experience to truly understand what model this 'transaction' follows."

Deciding to find out, Li Hao reached out towards the diverse set of Egyptian-style artifacts.

Suddenly, those divine artifacts existing solely in Li Hao's perspective started to rouse with excitement, eager for the holder of a [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] to choose them.