

The Growth 533

Chapter 533 - 3: Horus' Ring

Inside the other secret military base, just as Li Hao had previously described.

In the face of Huo Dou's absolute power, that Indian who boasted of having a "Vajra Indestructible Body" couldn't stir up any ripples.

When the opponent charged at Huo Dou through a hail of bullets.

Huo Dou decisively threw away the gun in his hand and landed a standard straight punch on the opponent's forehead.

Bang!

The opposing Indian didn't even have time to realize what had happened before collapsing unconscious.

Only at this moment did the slow-reacting Luo God realize what had occurred.

"He... is dead?"

Her tone didn't carry a hint of fear.

Luo God's expression now was more like a mixture of bewilderment and confusion.

"Of course not, I'm not some kind of murderer."

Shaking his head to deny Luo God's statement, Huo Dou then cast his gaze toward the battlefield outside the building.

At the same time as dealing with this Indian, the military base, having entered combat readiness, began counterattacking those intruders.

At this time, the base's formidable strength in combat readiness was displayed.

Apart from being caught off guard by those superpower users at the start, the remaining soldiers quickly adapted to the high-intensity combat rhythm.

From the fall of the defense line to organizing a counterattack, the entire base took less than a few minutes.

By the time those intruders realized something was wrong, the superpower users stationed at the base had already moved out and quickly captured them.

"Looks like this crisis has ended."

As Huo Dou uttered this phrase, the water cup in the office behind them suddenly rippled.

The next second, He Bo's figure emerged from the water cup, immediately looking at the two people and one cat outside the office.

"He Bo!"

Sharing the same abilities as He Bo, Luo God immediately sensed the disturbance from behind.

And Huo Dou, hearing Luo God's voice, likewise turned around in time.

"What happened?"

"Where did these intruders come from?"

With He Bo's presence as the "brain," Huo Dou simply abandoned thinking and directly asked He Bo his questions.

"It's a bit troublesome, the research project here has been exposed."

"Those superpower users who appeared earlier are just the first wave of pawns sent by various forces."

He Bo rubbed his temples, feeling a headache.

Seeing that Huo Dou and Luo God were unharmed, He Bo unconsciously let out a long sigh of relief.

After spending so much time together, the relationship between He Bo and the two had long surpassed that of simple colleagues.

Friend or family, He Bo genuinely didn't want to see them in any danger.

"Is there anything we can help with?"

Seeing He Bo's tired expression, Luo God, a bit concerned for his wellbeing, asked quietly.

He Bo had always been a workaholic, and since arriving at this base, he had been entrusted with significant responsibilities.

Luo God was now very worried that this sudden situation might completely overwhelm He Bo's body.

"You are only here as temporary security personnel; you don't need to think too much."

"I'll apply to have you sent back tomorrow. Staying here is too dangerous for you."

He Bo always acted decisively, and this time was no exception.

After all, one of the main reasons Huo Dou and Luo God came to this base was due to confidentiality principles.

Now that the research project here has been leaked, there is no need to keep it confidential any longer.

For their safety, He Bo had to ensure they leave here as soon as possible.

"But..."

Unable to help but frown, Luo God was about to say something when Huo Dou stopped her.

"You're our leader, and we'll abide by all your decisions."

With a slight pause in his tone, Huo Dou said expressionlessly.

"But this isn't because we are afraid; it's because we believe you can handle these things."

"If there is anything that needs help, please let us know directly."

Hearing Huo Dou say this, He Bo was momentarily stunned, then smiled and said.

"Of course! Do you think I'd be polite with you?"

"If I ever truly need your power, I won't hesitate."

Saying this, He Bo naturally excluded Luo God.

Compared to Luo God, who could only provide support, the consistently powerful Huo Dou was He Bo's real confidence.

"Hmm, that's good."

Without continuing, Huo Dou believed He Bo could handle these matters.

"No need to be so serious; it's just a small probe."

"In the next few days, additional personnel will be sent here to support you two..."

"No, to be precise, the three of you should head back. I will follow in a while."

Sweeping a glance over Ta Xuan, who had completely integrated into this group, He Bo's smile was particularly infectious at this moment.

"Then take this protective talisman; it might save your life when necessary."

After a brief hesitation, Huo Dou reached into his cloak and pulled out a peculiar cross.

This peculiar cross was none other than the Ankh's Talisman, exchanged by Li Hao using the Sun-Hunting Gold Coin.

Li Hao's intuition told Huo Dou that this Ankh's Talisman, capable of resurrecting the dead, would be of use soon.

"Why do I feel like you're cursing me?"

Nimbly accepting the Ankh's Talisman handed over by Huo Dou.

He Bo didn't refuse the other's goodwill but instead joked as usual.

"Don't worry, even if there's a war here in the future, I'll first try to save myself!"

.....

"War?"

In the classroom at Lu'an University, Li Hao casually turned the golden ring on his finger.

Just like the Ankh's Talisman Huo Dou gave to He Bo.

This golden ring was also an Ancient Egyptian Divine Artifact exchanged by Li Hao using the Sun-Hunting Gold Coin.

The name of this golden ring was Horus' Ring, a divine artifact that granted the holder extraordinary spiritual intuition.

Particularly, when concerning the life and death of oneself and those around them, holders of Horus' Ring often sense impending danger in advance.

Among the few Egyptian artifacts exchanged by Li Hao using Sun-Hunting Gold Coin, this one was the most useful to him.

The only thing Li Hao was uncertain about was the sense of crisis that Horus' Ring was giving him.

Was it predicting imminent events on Earth?

Or was it the oncoming crisis in the Mountain and Sea Realm?
