

The Growth 544

Chapter 544 - 14: Mountain and Sea Civilization Mobilization

As Tianyou decisively agreed to Haoguang's terms, the entire Mountain and Sea Civilization immediately mobilized.

From the Immortals, known as the "Eldest Son of God"...

To Epic Level individual life forms existing outside of civilization...

Most of the Mountain and Sea People were aware of the Celestial Human Realm's plea for help, and also understood the decision of the Zhiku's leadership to launch a rescue for that world.

Meanwhile, specific information regarding the Celestial Human Realm and intelligence about the Invaders were also spreading through the Mountain and Sea Network.

Especially through the official information channels of the Central City, where the intelligence of the Celestial Human Realm was directly pinned to the top.

It turns out the "Return of the Celestial Beings" crisis in the Celestial Human Realm was not simple.

According to the intelligence provided by Haoguang, the successive return of the Celestial Beings even involved the Enlighteners—the Godslayer Civilization.

In the Celestial Human Realm, Ascension to become a Celestial Being has been a tradition since ancient times.

However, few have pondered where a Celestial Being should go after Ascension.

Abandoning the world that nurtured them, only to achieve their own immortality...

Such beings, although not notoriously infamous across All Heavens and Myriad Realms, are not welcomed by any world for their selfish nature.

Particularly for most Celestial Beings, they rarely consider their situation post-Ascension.

Thus, after Ascension, Celestial Beings scatter across All Heavens and Myriad Realms, becoming even lonelier than the Lost Gods.

Yet, Celestial Beings are different from true Gods; they cannot use faith for positioning and can only wander for long periods in the disordered chaos.

Nevertheless, all life seeks its own path.

Being outstanding among intelligent life—Celestial Beings are no exception.

During their lengthy wanderings, one Celestial Being encountered the Enlightened Civilization and joined as a new Godslayer.

The subsequent events were predictable.

Under the introduction of this Celestial Being, more and more Celestial Beings chose to join the Enlightened Civilization.

As time passed, the renamed Celestial Beings even became a particular branch under the Enlightened Civilization's banner.

The Enlightened Civilization is known as the "Godslayer" because this civilization is extremely hostile to the existence of Gods, considering them tumors of All Heavens and Myriad Realms.

To the Enlightened Civilization, such civilizations inherently opposing Gods, like the Celestial Beings, are the best vessels for mass-producing "Godslayers."

Thus, once the Celestial Beings formed a certain scale within the Enlightened Civilization, their missions became "actively recruiting Celestial Beings" and "searching for the Celestial Human Realm."

It must be mentioned here, the Ascension ceremony of the Celestial Beings is entirely random.

Each newly Ascended Celestial Being appears in different locations, making them unaware of the specific coordinates of the Celestial Human Realm.

Until a few centuries ago, Haoguang dispersed links to the Celestial Human Realm within the Civilization Game, attempting to find a way to change the Celestial Human Realm, catching the attention of the Enlighteners.

Unfortunately, Haoguang was too cautious, and not everyone can have connections like the Faceless.

Hence, the progress of the Enlightened Civilization in locating the Celestial Human Realm stalled and they have never pinpointed its precise coordinates.

This "Return of the Celestial Beings" phenomenon in the Celestial Human Realm emerged against this broad backdrop.

As for how the Enlightened Civilization eventually located the Celestial Human Realm?

No information in the currently disclosed intelligence from the Mountain and Sea Realm explains this.

The only certainty is that the Enlightened Civilization is determined to conquer the Celestial Human Realm.

Just to lock onto the location of the Celestial Human Realm, the Enlightened Civilization deployed several hundred Celestial Beings nearby.

Although most of these Celestial Beings are unable to reach the Celestial Human Realm.

A few who made it could already serve as a coordinate for the Enlightened Civilization.

If these Celestial Beings are not eradicated before the Enlightened Civilization's arrival, the Celestial Human Realm is destined to face a massive inter-realm war.

.....

Central City, an unassuming specialty shop.

When Yu Wei pushed open the shop door, she was greeted by a man absorbed in the Mountain and Sea Network.

On the virtual screen projected in front of the man, Yu Wei saw a series of swordsmanship training videos.

The man was watching the swordsmanship training videos while occasionally moving his hands in a Finger Sword gesture, appearing deeply immersed and studiously learning.

Not far from the man was the real counter of this specialty shop.

A woman as transparent as flowing water was tending to the counter with an air of elegance, looking quite bored.

"Hello, welcome!"

At the moment Yu Wei pushed the door open, the transparent woman immediately became solid and warmly greeted her.

Soon after, the man absorbed in swordsmanship raised his eyelids slightly and gave Yu Wei a friendly smile.

"Hello, I was introduced by Quan Ke."

Seeing this, Yu Wei calmed her internal surprise and spoke in as steady a tone as possible.

Quan Ke in Yu Wei's words naturally referred to her Merfolk shareholder behind the scenes.

A long time ago, Yu Wei learned about this magical shop from Quan Ke.

It is said to be a miraculous shop with branches in every city.

The shop owner and his wife could almost sell any Rare Treasure imaginable.

As a regular customer of this shop, Quan Ke would occasionally show off some Rare Treasures to Yu Wei.

Whether intentionally or not, whenever Quan Ke mentioned this shop, he would hint to Yu Wei—should you ever find yourself in trouble, you could seek help from this shop.

"Quan Ke?"

Blinking in slight confusion.

The shop owner's wife was about to reply but the shop owner behind her raised his eyelids again.

"It's that 'Dog Rich,' who you tricked into giving you a Jue Pearl last month."

The tone was purely neutral and calm as if the shop owner was completely unaware of his inappropriate phrasing.

Or perhaps, in the shop owner's context, words were merely tools for expressing his thoughts without any moral distinction.

"Ah! So it was him!"

Clapping her hands, the shop owner's wife immediately remembered Quan Ke.

But then, the shop owner's wife turned her head to the shop owner with a near-exasperated tone to correct him.

"A Lang, you shouldn't call others 'Dog Rich' in front of outsiders."

"And it wasn't trickery; it was a regular transaction."

"At most, I took a small advantage, but he didn't lose much either."

Tilting his head slightly, A Lang looked at the shop owner's wife... or rather Flora, for a while, before obediently nodding.

"Oh, I understand."